holders, I believe the defendants in this suit, and to force them to contest their rights in the courts. After a protracted discussion with the governor and the attorney-general, the object of the meeting failed, and Col. Stewart declared his purpose to be to seek the aid of a court of equity, by filing a bill to injoin the governor, and test the rights of the Dutch bondholders in the courts. Having determined on this course, the question then arose who represented the Florida Central Railroad Co., which gave rise to an investigation and a search for the books and records of said company, which search, at the request of said Stewart, I joined. We failed to find any one who was willing to go before the courts in behalf of said company, and were equally unsuccessful in finding the books and records of said company. The only information indicating the whereabouts of said books was obtained from Robert Walker, esq., who was alleged to be an officer of the company, in some capacity, who said he thought the books were in possession of an individual named Taylor, then residing in the city of Savannah, and in the employment of the Atlantic & Gulf Railroad Company. We failed to find the books or any person who was willing to defend the said company against the seizure and threatened sale of the road.

4. Ques. Do you know, or can you state, any other matter or thing of benefit to either party, and material to this your examination, beyond what you have been interrogated unto? And, if yea, please state same fully and at large in your answer, as if you were particularly interrogated thereto.

Ans. I know nothing further of importance to either party.

Met pursuant to adjournment. Present, Joseph B. Stewart, esq., solicitor for complainant.

GEO. P. RANEY offered as a witness on the part of the complainant, and the said Geo. P. Raney having been duly sworn, deposes and says:

1. Ques. Please state your name, residence, age, and occupation.

Ans. Geo. P. Raney; I reside in Tallahassee, Florida; I am 32 years of age; I am by profession an attorney at law.

2. Ques. What office, if any, do you at the present time hold, and how long have you held the same?

Ans. I am attorney-general of the State of Florida. I have held this office since early in January, 1877.

3. Ques. Please look at the paper now shown you, a copy of which is made a part of this question, marked G. P. R. No. 1, and state when you first saw this paper, if at any time, and for what purpose the same was brought to your attention, the said paper being addressed to "His Excellency Hon. M. L. Stearns, governor of the State of Florida," and signed Frank R. Sherwin, and sworn to on the 22d day of September, 1876.

Ans. I first saw it in January, 1877. It was brought to my attention in connection with the application of Mr. Sherwin, who represented himself to be the agent of the holders of the Florida State bonds therein mentioned, to have Governor Drew seize the Florida Central Railroad, and advertise the same, under the provision of the acts of the legislature of the State of Florida relating to the perfecting the public works of the State.

4. Ques. Had or had not a seizure of said road been ordered by M. L. Stearns, late governor of the State of Florida, who preceded Governor Drew in office, according to the prayer of said petition?

Ans. My recollection is that the road was advertised by Gov. Stearns to be sold under the provisions of said acts.

5. Ques. Please look at the paper now shown you, a copy of which is made part of this question, marked G. P. R., No. 2, being in print and addressed to "His Excellency George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida," and signed J. Fred Schutte, Joan. Prins, merchant;
1390 Adrianus Prins, M. P.; Heinrich Uluici, underwriter; Elias Fuld, J. Baorzo, Edward Isaac Asser, LL. D., Gideon Maria Boissevain, Dr. Nicholas, Jacob Den Tex, by Charles D. Willard, attorney, attorney-in-fact, dated Tallahassee, Florida, March 31st, 1877, and state when you first saw said paper, and what proceedings, if any, were had upon it.

Ans. The J., P. & M. Railroad had also been advertised under said acts, by Governor Stearns, who had received possession of the same from the Supreme Court of the United States, and Governor Drew had received possession of that road from Governor Stearns. Not deeming the paper marked G. P. R. No. 1 as sufficient evidence of either Mr. Sherwin's agency, or of the fact that there were bona fide holders of State bonds issued in exchange for bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, Governor Drew refused to make this paper, or Mr. Sherwin's representations, the basis of action upon his part, and so notified Mr. Sherwin and Mr. Willard, and discontinued the advertisement for the sale of the Florida Central Railroad which had been by Governor Stearns. In March, 1877, the paper marked G. P. R. No. 2 was presented to Governor Drew by Mr. Charles D. Willard, Mr. Willard applying for the seizure and sale of the Florida Central Railroad under said acts, upon the part of the bondholders named therein, and asking that both roads be sold at the same time. This paper and a sworn statement of Gideon Maria Boissevain, and a certificate of Charles Mueller, United States consul at Amsterdam, which are either on file in the Schutte case in this court, or in the secretary of state's office in Tallahassee, and which, presented to the governor, by Mr. Willard shortly before paper marked G. P. R. No. 2 was, but for the same purpose, were deemed sufficient to justify the governor in recognizing Mr. Willard as agent for such bondholders, and to base proceedings for the sale of the Florida Central Railroad upon.

6. Ques. Was or was not any proceedings had in this court wherein said petitions and papers were read in evidence, and wherein you appeared as counsel? and if yea, please state when said proceedings occurred, and whether the same are still pending for final hearing.

Ans. The original papers mentioned were read before Judge Bradley in this case, and the case of the same plaintiff against Gov. Drew and others, involving the Florida Central Railroad upon the application before Judge Bradley, at Tallahassee, in May, 1877, for an injunction restraining the sale of said railroads by Governor Drew, under 1391, 1392 said acts. I acted with Gen. W. G. M. Davis for the governor and trustees of the internal improvement fund, in resisting the application for the injunction. This was before the Schutte bill was filed and the holders of a large majority of the bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies were in accord with the memorandum plan and favored such sale, and had requested the governor and trustees to make the same. I was not the paid counsel of the governor as trustee, but was merely advising him and representing him in a matter which I considered was to the interests of the cestui que trusts of the trustees of the internal improvement fund aforesaid, and which a majority in amount of the said Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad bondholders were, as the trustees understood, in accord with the holders of the State bonds also.

Depositions of witnesses to be read as evidence on the part of the complainant, at the trial of the above cause, taken at Ashville, N. C., before J. E. Reed, esq., special examiner.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Western District of North Carolina, ss:

Be it remembered that on this 25th day of April, A. D. 1878, and by authority of the order and commission of the honorable circuit court of the United States for the northern district of Florida, hereto annexed, appointing and constituting the undersigned, James E. Reed, clerk of the circuit court of the United States for the western district of 1407 North Carolina, at Asheville, N. C., a special examiner to take depositions of witnesses, to be used as evidence in two certain suits in equity pending in said court, wherein the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company is complainant, and George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida, as trustee for Gideon M. Boissevain, Adrian J. Mildeus, Joseph Zaddock, and Adrian Stoop, and other holders of certain bonds of the State of Florida, residing in and subjects of the King of Holland; and Gerge F. Drew, governor, Walter Gwynn, treasurer, Columbus Drew, comptroller, George P. Raney, attorney-general, and Hugh A. Corley, commissioner of land and immigration, trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and the Florida Central Railroad Company, and others in said bill of complaint mentioned, are defendants—copies of which said bills, answers and pleadings being furnished the undersigned for the purposes of this examination, and the undersigned having signified his acceptance of said commission and appointment as such special examiner, and that he would proceed with such examination on this day, and due notice thereof being certified and served on the respective parties, defendants, or their respective solicitors, attorneys-in-fact, and agents, which said notice the evidence of the service thereof is hereto annexed; and that, pursuant to said notice, the undersigned did, at the time and place therein named, convene for the examination of such witnesses as might be presented, and no witness being present, adjourned to the hour of four o'clock p. m.

And now, at the hour of four o'clock p. m., on this 25th day of April, A. D. 1878, at the place aforesaid, comes the complainant, by its solicitor, Joseph B. Stewart, esq., no counsel appearing on the part of the defendants, when—

W. W. ROLLINS was presented as a witness on the part of the complainant, who, being duly sworn, deposes and says as follows:

1. Question. State your name, age, residence, and occupation.

Answer. Wallace W. Rollins; thirty-nine years old; residence, Marshall, N. C.; by occupation a farmer.

2. Ques. What relation have you, if any, with the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, the complainant in the suits in equity mentioned in the caption?

Ans. I am a stockholder and president of said company, and have been a director of the same from its organization, in 1868.

1408 3. Ques. How long have you been president of said company?

Ans. Since October, A. D. 1870.

4. Ques. Beside your relation as stockholder and president of said company, have you occupied any other relation thereto, and, if so, what?

Ans. I was one of the commissioners appointed under an act of the legislature of North Carolina, passed in the early part of the year 1870, to seek to recover the money and assets due to, and belonging to, said company, which had been misappropriated by George W. Swepson and others, while acting as fiduciaries and agents of said company.

5. Ques. Was, or was not, any settlement of the matters referred to arrived at, in whole or in part, with said parties?

Ans. There was a conditional settlement arrived at.

At the request of, and to afford witness an opportunity to examine papers, the examination is adjourned until Friday morning, April 26th, at eight o'clock.

And on Friday morning, the 26th day of April, 1878, at the place above said, I proceeded with said examination, according to previous adjournment, when and where the said Wallace W. Rollins further deposed and said as follows:

6. Ques. When and where did the settlement take place?

Ans. On or about the 16th day of April, 1870, in the city of Washington, D. C.

7. Ques. In what capacity were you acting when said conditional settlement occurred?

Ans. I was acting as one of the commission, under the act of the legislature of the State of North Carolina, before mentioned.

8. Ques. Who, besides yourself, were present at and participated in said settlement?

Ans. Nicholas W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, W. P. Welch, and myself, on the part of the State of North Carolina, and George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield, as parties representing the fund and assets belonging to the complainant, and which we were seeking to recover.

1409 9. Ques. Please state what was the special object intended by the commission, of which you were a member, in seeking the settlement to which you have referred?

Ans. The first and primary object was to ascertain what amount of money or assets, belonging to the complainant corporation, had come into Swepson's hands while acting as president and fiduciary of the complainant corporation, and then to ascertain, as far as possible, in what manner the same had been used and disposed of.

10. Ques. What amount, if any, of either money or assets, did your commission ascertain had come into the hands of Swepson while acting as president; and state in what capacity, and under what circumstances, and for what purpose he received the same?

Ans. During the latter yart of the year 1868, and until October, 1869, said Swepson was the president, fiduciary, and agent of the complainant company, and, as such president, he received about $6,666,000 of bonds of the State of North Carolina, which were issued and paid by said State, in payment for its capital stock in the complainant corporation. These bonds said Swepson, as such president and fiduciary, but acting upon his own motion, took to New York, and there sold and hypothecated, and otherwise raised on them about $3,000,000. The exact amount we never could ascertain. He received the bonds of the State of North Carolina for the purpose of applying the same, or the proceeds thereof, to the construction and equipping the road of the complainant corporation.

11. Ques. What disposition did your commission ascertain the said Swepson had made of the said assets, or the proceeds thereof, which he had received as president of the complainant company?

Ans. We found from the statements of said Swepson, and from papers shown us by him, that he had paid out a small portion, the exact amount not remembered, in the construction of the road of the complainant company; but that much the larger portion thereof, and, indeed, more than nine-tenths of it, had been used and appropriated by said Swepson for his own purposes; and among others, that he had invested a large portion of the money belonging to the complainant company in purchasing stock and bonds of certain Florida railroads; that is to say, in purchasing the capital stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and purchasing bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, which were, by a subsequent sale and purchase, to which said Swepson was a party, organized into what is now the 1410 Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, which, together with the said Florida Central Railroad Company, are parties defendant to this suit.

12. Ques. Had or had not said Swepson any right or authority by reason of his position as president of said complainant company, or otherwise to use, invest, or apply its assets or money in the purchase of the stock or bonds of any company or corporation whatever?

Ans. He had not.

13. Ques. When did it first come to your knowledge, as a stockholder or director, or that of the commission of which you were a member, that said Swepson had used and misappropriated the assets and money of the complainant company?

Ans. Not until April, 1870, about the time of the conditional settlement above mentioned.

14. Ques. Referring now specially to the use and appropriation by said Swepson of the complainant company's money and assets, in purchasing the stock and bonds of the said Florida railroads above mentioned, did or did not your commission ascertain what amount of money had been so used in Florida? And if yea, please state the sum to the best of your recollection.

Ans. The commission did ascertain the amount, which was shown to be about $1,287,436.

15. Ques. Was or was not the terms of said conditional settlement reduced to writing; and if yea, will you produce the same, or a copy thereof, as part of your answer to this question?

Ans. The result of said conditional settlement was reduced to writing in two papers of even date, viz, April 16th, 1870, signed by the parties as interested therein, the originals of which I now present for inspection and comparison, but as I desire to retain the same, as president of said company, for business reasons, I furnish copies thereof, and make the same part of this answer, marked W. W. R., No. 1, and W. W. R., No. 2, respectively.

16. Ques. Was there or was there not any provision made or agreed to be made for receiving and having returned to the complainant company the said $1,287,000, or any part thereof, so appropriated by Swepson in the purchase of said stock and bonds of said Florida railroads? And if yea, please state in what manner the return of said money was proposed to be secured.

Ans. As shown by the two papers of April 16th, 1870, above mentioned, there was a proposal made by said Swepson and Littlefield, 1411 which was conditionally accepted by said commissioners, for the return to the complainant company of its said money, so misapplied by said Swepson. By the terms of the proposal so made and accepted, the complainant company was to receive one-half the proceeds of the sale of bonds of the State of Florida, a sufficient amount to return back to the complainant company its said money so illegally appropriated by said Swepson to the amount of $1,287,000, as aforesaid.

17. Ques. Was or was not the terms of said conditional settlement complied with?

Ans. They were not.

18. Ques. You have spoken of bonds of the State of Florida which were to be applied, or the proceeds thereof, in returning the money due the complainant company. Will you please state in what manner the said bonds were to be issued by the said State of Florida, and for what purpose, and in what manner the same were to be obtained, or pass into the hands of said Swepson and Littlefield or either of them, as indicated in the said papers of the 16th of April, 1870?

Ans. I had no knowledge whatever as an individual, or as a member of said commission, or otherwise, of the origin, character and object of said Florida State bonds, or for what purpose they were to be issued, or in what manner they were to come into the hands of, or be subject to the control of, said Swepson and Littlefield or either of them, nor do I believe that either of my associate members of said commission had any knowledge whatever of the origin, character and object of said bonds. I myself had not, nor do I believe that either of my associates had heard of said Florida State bonds till they were mentioned in the conditional settlement above stated, and referred to in one of the papers of the 16th of April, 1870. The action of the commission in making said conditional settlement was based wholly upon the proposition—first, that said $1,287,000 of the complainant company's money had been illegally and fraudulently invested in the purchase of the stock and bonds of the said Florida roads; and second, that the equivalent in value in Florida State bonds were being issued, and would come back into the hands of said Littlefield and Swepson, or one of them, and which he or they could apply and would have the lawful right to apply to restoring to the complainant company its money which had been so illegally used, and acting upon these two propositions, with no other knowledge or information whatever, the commissioners appointed by 1412 the legislature of North Carolina, when so advised of the means of settlement, accepted the same on condition that the same was carried out.

19. Ques. Had you or had you not yourself individually or as a member of said commission, or within your knowledge, information or belief, had, or had not, said commission seen or read, or been advised of, the act of the legislature of the State of Florida under which the bonds of said State were to be issued, or the terms, objects and conditions thereof?

Ans. I certainly had not, myself, ever seen or read the act of the legislature of Florida under which said bonds were then being issued, and I know that the same was not, in any manner, discussed by the members of the commission. As before stated, we were seeking to get the best security we could for the complainant company, in obtaining the restoration of its money so illegally used; that the whole of the $1,287,000 of the complainant company's money had gone into the State of Florida, and been applied to the purchase of said roads, as aforesaid, and represented at par the purchase of the bonds of the said State of Florida, then being issued, and that the State had already received the par value, in money, for its said bonds, or the proceeds thereof, and the commission supposed and believed that the legislature of the State of Florida, whatever it was, was such as to impress proper validity upon said bond issue; and nothing was said or intimated to the contrary, within my knowledge or belief. The State bonds, themselves, were not shown to the said commission.

20. Ques. State what next occurred in reference to said conditional settlement, after the execution of the papers of April 16th, 1870, to which you have referred.

Ans. Nothing occurred. The commission awaited the coming of the money, which did not come. But, about the month of October, 1870, it came to our knowledge that the bonds of the State of Florida, above mentioned, had been disposed of, at the date of said settlement. This information, coupled with other matters, coming to our knowledge, gave rise to certain judicial proceedings which were instituted in New York, about the 3rd of October, 1870, against said Littlefield and Edward Houstoun; and soon thereafter Mr. Nicholas W. Woodfin, chairman of the commission, proceeded to London, to see what possibility there was of obtaining the proceeds of said bonds, as provided in said agreement of April 16th, 1870.

1413 21. Ques. Please state what was the result, if any, of Mr. Woodfin's visit to London; whom did he see there, and what, if anything, did he do?

Ans. The result of said Woodfin's visit to London was the entering into a further conditional agreement, by himself, as chairman of the commission on the one part, and Milton S. Littlefield in conjunction with S. W. Hopkins & Co., on the other part, dated November 10th, 1870, a copy of which said agreement I make part of this answer, marked W. W. R., No. 3. According to the terms of this agreement 800 of the said Florida State bonds of $1,000 each were to be turned over and applied to the use of the complainant company, and an order was given by Littlefield in favor of said Woodfin, as chairman to that effect, on said Hopkins & Co., in London, on or about the 16th day of November, 1870, and was accepted by them of the same date, agreeing to hold said 800 bonds subject to the order of said commission, a copy of which acceptance is made part of my answer to this question, marked W. W. R., No. 4.

22. Ques. Were the terms and conditions of said last-named or modified agreement complied with, and the said bonds, or any of them, delivered as therein provided?

Ans. The said modified conditioned agreement was not complied with in any respect whatever, and not a single one of said bonds ever was delivered under it.

23. Ques. What steps did you next take towards recovering the money due the complainant company, as provided in said agreements or either of them?

Ans. Acting under the advice of counsel, in the city of New York, on or about the 8th day of September, 1871, I, president of the complainant company, brought suit in New York against said Hopkins and Co., to enforce the surrender of said bonds, or the proceeds thereof, and caused the members of said firm, or some of them, to be arrested.

24. Ques. Did said cause come to a hearing in any respect, and if so, what was the result thereof?

Ans. The said cause did come to a hearing, upon a motion made upon the part of the defendants, S. W. Hopkins and Co., to vacate said order of arrest and dismiss the plaintiff's suit, upon the ground, among others, that by the terms of the act of the legislature of Florida, authorizing the issue of said Florida State bonds, that the same were dedicated 1414 to a special purpose and could not be used, transferred or appropriated to the payment of any money to the complainant company, which could acquire no title to said bonds, or the proceeds thereof, or right of property therein, and upon hearing, the court so held and decided and discharged said order of arrest, and the plaintiff's suit was dismissed.

25. Ques. Previous to the beginning of this suit, had you acquired any knowledge of the facts about the issue of said bonds, or the object for which they were issued?

Ans. We had not, so far as I know or believe. There had been some discussion, but none that led to any conclusion till after the action above taken.

26. Ques. Did you, at any time, receive any money from Hopkins & Co., for or on account of said 800 bonds? And if you say you did, state when it was, and under what circumstances.

Ans. We did receive £10,000 of said Hopkins & Co., by a sixty days draft, dated April 3d, 1871, a copy of which draft is made part of this answer, marked W. W. R., No. 5. The circumstances which give rise to the drawing of said draft were as follows: That after said Woodfin had returned from London we waited for the forthcoming of the proceeds of said 800 bonds till we lost confidence and threatened the bringing of the suit, which we afterwards did bring, at the time wholly ignorant of facts which we subsequently learned, when, to prevent our bringing suit, the said Hopkins & Co. agreed to accept our draft for said sum of £10,000, which we accordingly drew on the 3d day of April, 1871, they assuring us that we should have our money in the future as agreed; but we subsequently became convinced the said draft was designed to throw us off our guard till other things could be accomplished, which being done, all further payments were denied, and we thereupon brought suit on or about the 8th of September, 1871, which resulted in the court holding and deciding that we had acquired no titles to said bonds by any of said agreements, when we abandoned all further effort to realize anything from said bonds, except such as we could effect by negotiation, which amounted to nothing.

27. Ques. Besides the said proposed Florida State bonds, or the proceeds thereof, what other security or means of payment, if any, was provided for in said agreement of the 16th of April, 1870?

Ans. It was agreed that the entire stock, bonds, and interest of every description of the said Florida Central Railroad Company, 1415 and Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, purchased and acquired by said Swepson and Littlefield, or either of them, should be turned over and invested in the complainant company, or held for its use.

28. Ques. Are you, or are you not, in possession of and holding said stock and bonds of said companies?

Ans. We do hold about 5,000 shares of the stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and also claim to hold the entire capital stock of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and especially certificates Nos. 6, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 25, 27, 30, 33, 34, 35, 36, making a total of 51,668 shares out of the capital stock of 60,000 shares, and also claim that the remainder of said stock is held to the use of the complainant company.

29. Ques. By the concluding paragraph of one of the said agreements of the 16th of April, 1870, it is stated: "It is further understood and agreed by the parties of the first and second parts, that all interest, accrued or claimed by the said parties of the first part, both George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield, or which they, as individuals, have a right to control in the said Florida railroads, are hereby pledged for the faithful fulfilment of this contract, without the right on the part of any party to interfere with our management, or the control of the affairs of the roads." Will you please state for what purpose said clause was inserted, and what control was therein referred to?

Ans. The commission claimed and contended that all the interest in said Florida railroads, purchased by the misappropriation of the complainant company's money, as aforesaid, forthwith and instantly became the property and estate of said complainant company, and in no manner became the property of said Swepson and Littlefield; but as they claimed to have purchased a portion of said property with their own money, but which we did not admit, but claimed the assignment of it, nevertheless, as a part of said security, but agreed not to claim the right to control the working operations of said roads, or the management thereof, by reason of the control of said stock, pending the fulfilment of said conditional settlement, and for this reason, and this only, was said clause inserted.

30. Ques. Was it, or was it not, the intention of the said clause to create or constitute said Swepson and Littlefield, or either of them, the agents to represent the interest of the complainant company in 1416 any respect, or use or pledge the same for any purpose, or encumber or charge the same in any manner?

Ans. It certainly was not. The commission was dealing with reference to the speedy fulfilment of the terms of said conditional settlement, and parted with, and intended to part with, no interest whatever till the same was done; and such not being done, claims that the said stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and the entire property and estate of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company belongs to the complainant company in this suit, as being acquired and purchased by its assets and money. fraudulently appropriated by agents and fiduciaries.

31. Ques. Besides the papers of the 16th of April, 1870, what other papers, if any, were then transferred to the complainant company, or to said commission for its use?

Ans. We claim that all papers, assignments, and transfers in any manner creating or vesting any right in said Swepson or Littlefield, or either of them, passed to and vested in the complainant company, and especially the assignment in trust of F. Dibble and associates to George W. Swepson, dated April 22d, 1869, conveying to him the purchase and title deeds of F. Dibble and associates, as executed by the trustees of the internal improvement fund, dated April 8th, 1869, conveying what is now known as the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and described as Schedules A, B, and C in complainant's bill, filed in this cause, for the recovery of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, subject to the terms of sale therein provided.

32. Ques. Do you know or can you state any other matter or thing material to the interests of the parties plaintiff or defendant besides what you have stated? If yea, please state the same fully and at large in your answer, as if you had been particularly interrogated thereto.

Ans.. Nothing occurs to me beyond what I have stated in answer to the question propounded.

Special Examiner and Clerk United States Circuit and District Courts, Western District North Carolina.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA,
Washington City:

This agreement, executed on this the 16th day of April, 1870, between N. W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, W. W. Rollins, commissioners appointed by an act of the legislature of North Carolina, entitled "An act to provide for the completion of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad," and "ratified March 24th, 1870," which said act has been approved by the stockholders of the said corporation and the said commissioners, now representing the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, of the first part, and George W. Swepson (formerly president of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company), of the second part, witnesseth:

That whereas a deed of agreement of this date has been made between George W. Swepson, as president of the Florida Central Railroad, and Milton S. Littlefield, in his own right, as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and as majority stockholder in all of these three railroad companies, of the first part, and the aforesaid commissioners, of the second part, which agreement has been signed in triplicate; and whereas, by said agreement, an interest in said railroads, amounting to the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, has been transferred and conveyed to the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company;

And whereas the said George W. Swepson, through his brother Robert R Swepson, has this day paid to the said commissioners the sum of fifty thousand dollars in cash;

And whereas the said George W. Swepson has this day executed and delivered to the said commissioners his obligation, in the form of a draft accepted by M. S. Littlefield, as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and endorsed by M. S. Littlefield and George W. Swepson, as president of the Florida Central Railroad Company, for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars, payable four months after date;

And whereas the said George W. Swepson has this day executed and delivered to the said commissioners his other obligation, in the form of a draft accepted by M. S. Littlefield, as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and endorsed by M. S. Littlefield and George W. Swepson, as president of the Florida Central Railroad Company, for the sum of one hundred and sixty four thousand dollars, payable twelve months after date, with interest on both said promises at the rate of six per cent.;

And whereas as a security for the payment of the last aforesaid obligation of one hundred and sixty-four thousand dollars, the said 1418 George W. Swepson has agreed to execute a mortgage deed, or deed in trust, with full relinquishment of all rights of dower upon the following lands, viz: The marble and lime lands in Catawba County, North Carolina, owned in copartnership with Dr. A. M. Powell, his interest being one-half; an undivided half of the Eagle Hotel in Asheville, North Carolina; the Dr. Woodfin place in Macon County, about three hundred acres; the Garret place, on the Nantahala River, about four hundred acres—in Cherokee; the Gid. Morriss plantation, about sixteen hundred acres; the Charles Moore place, about six hundred acres; the David Hennessey place, about acres; the Sharp place, about three hundred acres; one-half interest in fifteen tracts bought of Horshard, of Burke County, all on Valley River; one-half interest in about twenty thousand acres in copartnership with M. Fair, also in Cherokee County; all of his interest in about sixty-two thousand acres in Macon County (this land has been paid for, but the grants not yet received); about ninety thousand acres of land in Macon, Cherokee, and Clay Counties, known as the Olmsteads lands; a lot of about fifty thousand acres, held by Joseph Keener in trust for George W. Swepson;

And whereas the said George W. Swepson has agreed that the said mortgage or deed in trust, with relinquishments as aforesaid, shall be executed within the next thirty days;

And whereas R. R. Swepson and R. Y. McAden have agreed that they will guarantee that the said lands so to be mortgaged shall be relieved and discharged of all liens by reason of any judgment against George W. Swepson;

And whereas it is expressly understood that the notes of one hundred thousand dollars, and one hundred and sixty-four thousand dollars, may be paid in railroad iron, delivered at Portsmouth, Virginia, and if so paid before their maturity, the unaccrued interest shall not be charged;

And whereas the said Robert R. Swepson has this day advanced the sum of fifty thousand dollars to aid in this settlement; and whereas it is understood that the directory of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company will resolve that all stock on which five per cent. has not been paid, shall be forfeited to the company, and the stockholders released therefrom, the said commissioners hereby, so far as they have any authority or interest therein, express their consent thereto; and whereas it is further understood that upon the payment upon the note of $164,000 of the sum of five thousand dollars, the Eagle Hotel may be discharged of the trust; upon the payment of twelve thousand dollars, the Gid. Morriss place may be discharged; upon the payment of seven thousand five hundred dollars, the Hennessee lands may be discharged; upon the payment of six thousand five hundred dollars, the Charles Moore place may be discharged; upon the payment of three thousand dollars, the Sharp place may be discharged; upon the payment of two thousand dollars, the Woodfin place may be discharged; upon the payment of five thousand dollars, the Garrett place on Nantahala River; upon the payment of five thousand five hundred dollars, the Horshard lands, and upon the payment of five thousand dollars, the Fair lands may be discharged.

1419 Now, therefore, considering the premises and the consideration of the said interest and security, amounting to the sum of $1,287,436.03 transferred by said agreement of George W. Swepson and M. S. Littlefield, as aforesaid, special reference being here made to said agreement, and in consideration of the further sum of fifty thousand dollars, this day paid in cash as aforesaid; further, in consideration of the two obligations of $100,000 and $164,000, each, respectively, in consideration of the disbursements heretofore made by the said George W. Swepson, for and on account of said railroad company, the said commissioners, in their capacity as commissioners, by authority of the said act of the legislature of North Carolina, and its approval by the stockholders, agree and promise to execute and deliver to the said George W. Swepson a full and final release and discharge, and receipt of all claims, demands, and accounts of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company against the said George W. Swepson, of any character whatever, when the said Swepson shall have executed the said mortgage or deed in trust with relinquishments of dower, as aforesaid, and the said Robert R. Swepson and the said R. Y. McAden shall have given a satisfactory guarantee that the said lands shall be discharged of any and all judgments as aforesaid, and when the sum of $880,000 of the amount of $1,287,436.03 transferred in Florida railroads shall have been paid or made fully secure; provided, nevertheless, that it shall be determined by N. W. Woodfin and M. W. Ransom, and in case they cannot agree they are to call in an umpire, that George W. Swepson was not authorized to make such investments in Florida by his board of directors of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company; but if it shall be determined by the said referees, or the said referees and umpire, that George W. Swepson was authorized to make such investments, or that the said directors recognized and approved the investment, then there shall be no obligation on Mr. G. W. Swepson to guarantee the said sum of $880,000, but the compliance with the other obligations shall be his receipt and discharge.

It is further understood that the said mortgage or deed in trust will be executed and delivered within ninety days from the date of these presents, unless there should be cause sufficient and satisfactory to the said commissioners to postpone the same at their discretion.

But it is expressly understood that the said commissioners do not approve of the payment of Souter & Co., of the expenses to attorneys, etc., in the university case, but that they protest against the same, and that nothing in this agreement shall be construed to prevent the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company from recovering the same or any part thereof from those receiving the same.

In witness whereof the parties of the first and second parts have hereunto set their hands.

Memorandum of agreement and settlement between the Florida Central Railroad Company, George W. Swepson, president, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, Milton S. Littlefield, president, and Milton S. Littlefield, majority owner of the stock of said companies, and also of the stock of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, of the first part, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, represented by N. W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, W. Pink Welch, and W. W. Rollins, commissioners appointed by an act of the legislature of North Carolina, approved by the stockholders of said corporation, of the second part:

Witnesseth, that whereas George W. Swepson, late president of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, made certain investments of the funds of said company in securities of and interests in the said Florida Central Railroad, Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and the Tallahassee Railroad, of the said State of Florida, as per report made by the said George W. Swepson to the said commissioners, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, to bear interest from the first day of November, 1869, at the rate of eight per cent. per annum;

And whereas the said George W. Swepson heretofore conveyed to the said Milton S. Littlefield, subject to the payment of the above recited claim, his interest in the above recited railroads;

And whereas the said Littlefield has received authority from the legislature of the State of Florida, and the several railroad companies, to receive bonds to be issued by and for account of the several railroad companies, which bonds are to be exchanged for bonds of the State of Florida, to be issued for the purpose of aiding the finances of said several railroad companies—all of which bonds are now in a state of preparation;

And whereas the said Milton S. Littlefield has made a contract with S. W. Hopkins & Co., No. 71 Broadway, N. Y., for the disposition of said bonds, as the same may be issued, the proceeds of the issue of the bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company of the State of Florida, amounting to nine hundred and sixty thousand dollars, are to be applied to the payment of the existing liabilities of the said several railroad companies, including the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, to be paid to the commissioners aforesaid, for the purpose of paying existing liabilities of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company.

It is understood and agreed by the parties of the first and second parts that the proceeds of the sale of said bonds so to be issued by the said Florida railroad companies and the said State of Florida are to be equally divided, dollar for dollar, between the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company and the said Florida railroads; and as the commissioners aforesaid receive by this first sale of bonds only the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, it is further understood and agreed that out of the proceeds of the sale of the 1421 issue of the bonds of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, there is first to be received by the commissioners aforesaid a sum sufficient to be equal to the amount received by and on account of the said Florida railroads, and then an equal amount is to be received by the said commissioners and the said Florida railroads, dollar for dollar, until the entire amount of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, with interest at eight per cent., as aforesaid, being the sum reported by the parties of the first part as due to the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad, is fully paid.

It is further understood and agreed by the parties of the first and second parts that all the interest owned or claimed by the said parties of the first part, George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield, or which they, as individuals, have a right to control in the said Florida railroads, are hereby pledged for the faithful fulfilment of this contract, without the right on the part of any party to interfere with our management or control of the affairs of the road.

1422 Exhibit W. W. R., No. 3.

Memorandum of an agreement and final settlement made this tenth day of November, A. D. 1870, at London, England, between General Milton S. Littlefield, of the State of Florida, in the United States of America, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by Milton S. Littlefield, the president thereof, the parties of the first part, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, acting through and represented by Colonel Nicholas W. Woodfin, chairman of the commission appointed by the general assembly of the State of North Carolina, by an act ratified the 24th day of March, A. D. 1870, to settle with George W. Swepson, and for other purposes, which act was approved by the stockholders of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, of the second part.

Whereas on the 16th day of April, A. D. 1870, at the city of Wash ington, in the District of Columbia, in the United States of America, a contract in writing was made and entered into by and between the Florida Railroad Company, George W. Swepson, president, General Milton S. Littlefield, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by Milton S. Littlefield, the president thereof, as parties of the first part, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, represented by Nicholas W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, W. W. Rollins, and W. P. Welch, commissioners appointed by the legislature of the State of North Carolina, by an act ratified the 24th day of March, 1870, which act was duly ratified, approved, adopted, and made a part of the charter of the said party of the second part, the said corporation, a copy of which contract is attached hereto, and made a part of this contract;

And whereas the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company have received certain bonds of the State of Florida, under sundry acts of the legislature of said State, which bonds, by the term of the laws authorizing the issue of the same, are made payable, both principal and interest, in the gold coin of the United States, and bearing interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum;

And whereas by reason of the present war in Europe, all financial operations are more or less restricted, which has, up to this time, prevented the negotiation for the sale of said bonds;

And whereas the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, through and by its representative, N. W. Woodfin, chairman, as aforesaid, is pressing the immediate payment, by the said party of the first part, of the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, with interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum since the first day of November, A. D. 1869; to pay or settle the said claim now will cause a great sacrifice to the said party of the first part;.

And whereas the said Nicholas W. Woodfin, as chairman of the said commission for the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, for the purpose of removing embarrassments said bonds, and to avoid litigation, did, on the 17th of October, 1870, contract with Henry Clews & Co., bankers in the cities of New York and London, to purchase a certain claim held by them against George W. Swepson, amounting to about twenty thousand dollars, lawful money of the United States of America, which contract was made with the knowledge and approval of the said party of the first part, for the reason, it was understood by all parties to the said agreement, that this would secure the full co-operation of the said Henry Clews & Co. to aid in the sale and negotiations of the said Florida bonds.

Now, therefore, be it remembered, that for and in consideration of the premises herein stated, and for various other good and sufficient considerations, and for the further purpose of aiding the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company to complete their road from the junction with the main line, at Asheville, to Paint Rock, at the State line between the States of North Carolina and Tennessee, and to complete their road without delay, on the one hand, and to avoid a hasty sale and sacrifice of the said bonds on the other hand, it is agreed by and between the parties of the first and second parts, that, in full compromise, payment, satisfaction and accord of the obligation of the party of the first part to pay to the party of the second part the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, lawful money of the United States of America, with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent. from and after the first day of November, A. D. 1869, as per terms of the said contract made and executed at the city of Washington aforesaid, and that the said party of the first part may be fully and finally discharged from all and every liability on account of the terms and conditions of the said contract, hereunto appended, the said party of the first part agree to furnish the iron to the said party of the second part sufficient to lay a single track of railroad from the junction, at Asheville, along the French Broad River, to Paint Rock, at the Tennessee State line, and into the State of Tennessee to the present terminus of the Cincinnati, Cumberland Gap and Charleston Railroad, with turn-outs and side-tracks, provided that the whole railroad shall not exceed, including turn-outs and side-tracks, fifty-three miles in length. The iron shall be of good quality of English iron, weighing not less than fifty pounds per lineal yard, with the necessary chairs and spikes to lay the same; the iron to be shipped in the quantities, and at the times and places, as follows, to wit:

To Norfolk, Virginia, on or before the tenth day of December, A. D. 1870, three hundred tons; to the same place, on or before the first day of April, A. D. 1871, one thousand tons; and the rest to be shipped to New York, in the State of New York, on or before the first day of September, A. D. 1871; but the said party of the first part may ship the iron as fast as he may wish; all duties and freights on the above described iron to be paid by the party of the first part.

And it is further agreed by the party of the first part, that he will ship, in addition to the above mentioned quanitty of iron, one thousand tons of the same weight and quality as the above described iron, with the necessary chairs and spikes to lay the same, to New York, duties 1421 and freight paid, on or before the 1st day of September, A. D.
1871, the shipping of which iron Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co.
are to guarantee.

In additition to the shipment of iron, the said party of the first part does hereby sell and deliver to the said party of the second part, by placing to the order of the party of the second part, with Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., eight hundred bonds of the State of Florida, of the denomination of one thousand dollars each, numbers of said bonds to be designated by the party of the first part; but upon the express stipulation and conditions that the said bonds are to be left with Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co. for sale, at such prices as the said party of the second part may direct.

And it is further agreed by the party of the first part, that he will pay to the party of the second part two hundred pounds sterling, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged.

And it is further agreed by the party of the first part, to assume and discharge the obligations of the party of the second part to Henry Clews & Co., of about twenty thousand dollars, lawful money of the United States of America.

Now, when the foregoing undertakings and agreements of the party of the first part are fully accomplished and performed, it is to be taken as a full compliance with and final discharge of the parties of the first part to this contract, as well as all parties of the first part to the said contract executed at the city of Washington aforesaid, a copy of which is hereunto annexed; and this shall operate as a receipt and final discharge thereof from all obligations growing out of the same.

W. W. ROLLINS.
J. L. HENRY.

1427 Also, WILLIAM G. CANDLER, a witness on the part of the complainant company, was introduced, sworn, and examined, who deposed as follows:

1. Ques. State your name, age, residence, and occupation.

Ans. William G. Candler; age, forty-four; residence, Hominy Creek, Buncombe County, North Carolina; by occupation, a lawyer.

2. Ques. Please state your relation, if any, with the complainant company—said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company?

Ans. I am a stockholder, and was a director, in said company.

3. Ques. Did you, or not, at any time occupy any other relation to the complainant company than that of stockholder and director? and, if yea, please state what it was.

Ans. I did, at one time, occupy an additional relation to said company, as being one of a board of commissioners appointed under an act of the legislature of North Carolina, approved on or about the 24th of March, 1870, empowered to ascertain what disposition had been made of certain assets of said company by George W. Swepson, while acting as the president thereof, and I accepted and acted as one of said commission.

4. Ques. Did said commission have such settlement, and ascertain the facts authorized by said act of the legislature of North Carolina?

Ans. We did, to the best of our ability.

5. Ques. When did such investigation take place, and where?

Ans. On or about the 16th day of April, 1870, in the city of Washington, District of Columbia.

6. Ques. Did you, or not, arrive at a settlement with said Swepson?

Ans. We arrived at a conditional settlement.

7. Ques. Please state who were present and participated in said settlement?

Ans. On the part of the commission, Nicholas W. Woodfin, Wallace W. Rollins, W. P. Welch, and myself; and the persons with whom we conducted said conditional settlement were George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield.

8. Ques. How, and in what way, did said Littlefield become a party to said proceedings and settlement?

Ans. I only know of his connection by what was developed by 1428 the papers which they exhibited and executed, wherein it appeared he had become connected with the illegal appropriation of the assets and money of the complainant company, which was the subject matter of said settlement, and which had become invested in the purchase of the capital stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, which had, by some change of organization, become the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

9. Ques. What amount of assets of the complainant company did it appear, or was shown by said settlement, had passed into the hands of said Swepson? In what manner and capacity had he received same, and what disposition had he made thereof?

Ans. It was shown by the papers brought before the commission, that said Swepson, among other things, had come in possession of about $6,600,000 of the bonds of the State of North Carolina, which had been issued to the complainant company by the State in payment for its stock subscription; that at the time this occurred, to wit, in the latter part of the year 1868, till about November, 1869, said Swepson was the president, agent, and fiduciary of the complainant company, and received said bonds in such fiduciary capacity; that he subsequently took said bonds to New York, and by sale or hypothecation of the same, I believe principally through the house of Soutter & Co., realizing therefor in the neighborhood of $3,000,000 (three million of dollars), the exact amount the commission could not ascertain. The disposition made of said money belonging to said complainant company, as shown by the papers brought before the commission, and by the statements of said Swepson, made it appear that a small portion of said money had been applied to the building and equipping of the road of complainant company, but that much the larger portion thereof had been fraudulently misappropriated by said Swepson to his own purposes, including in the amount so misappropriated, about $1,287,000 (one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand dollars) had been fraudulently used by said Swepson, in conjunction with said Littlefield, in the purchase of said stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and the absolute purchase of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, so far as payment was made for the same, amounting, I believe, to about nine hundred and sixty thousand dollars; that, in fact, no other payments had been made for said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile 1429 Railroad, except such as had been made with the misuse of the complainant company's money. Such was the information imparted and derived in the course of the settlement referred to, and which I believed, and still believe, to be true.

10. Ques. Was or was not the settlement you referred to reduced to writing; and if yea, will you produce the same, or a copy thereof, as part of your answer to this question?

Ans. The terms of said conditional settlement were reduced to writing, in two papers, simultaneously executed on or about the said 16th day of April, 1870, one of which was signed by N. W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, and W. W. Rollins, on the part of the commissioners, and by George W. Swepson, for himself, and the other was signed by George W. Swepson, president of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and Milton S. Littlefield, individually, and M. S. Littlefield, president Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and by N. W. Woodfin, W. W. Rollins, W. P. Welch, and myself, as commissioners, both of which said original papers are now before me, but are not subject to my control. I will, if possible, procure and produce copies of the same as part of my answer to this question; but I am informed that the originals themselves will be before the court on the hearing of this cause, and in that event refer to them.

11. Ques. You have stated that the sum of about $1,287,000 of complainant company's money was shown, by the papers exhibited at the time of said conditional settlement, to have been invested in the purchase of the said Florida railroads. Will you now be so good as to state by what means the return of said money to said complainant company was proposed to be secured and effected?

Ans. The terms were such as were set forth in said papers; that is, it was stated that said Littlefield and Swepson, one or both of them, were about to receive a large number of bonds of the State of Florida, then being issued to said railroads, and that the same, or the proceeds thereof, should be applied in such manner as to secure the return to the complainant company of said sum, of about $1,287,000, which had been so misapplied by said Swepson and Littlefield. The manner in which the same should be done was stated and provided in one of the papers so signed, to which I refer for details.

12. Ques. You have spoken of certain bonds which were being issued by the State of Florida, which said Swepson and Littlefield proposed should be applied to the payment of the money due the complainant company. Will you please state what knowledge or informa- 1430 tion you or said commissioners had or received, at the time of said conditional settlement, about the said Florida State bonds, and especially by what authority or for what purpose the same were being issued, and would be subject to the control of said Littlefield and Swepson, or either of them?

Ans. I myself, either as an individual or as a stockholder and director of complainant company, or as a member of said commission, had not and never had any information whatever on the subject of said Florida

State bonds, or the object for which they were issued, except such as was imparted by said papers. so signed on the 16th of April, 1870; and to the best of my knowledge and belief neither of the other members of said commission had any other knowledge or source of information about said bonds than I had. It was only at the time of said conditional settlement that we learned that any of the money of the complainant company had been so illegally applied by said Swepson in the purchase of said Florida railroads or the stock and bonds thereof; and only at the same time learned anything about the issuing of said bonds on the part of the State of Florida, which, or the proceeds of which, it was proposed to turn over to the complainant company, in reimbursement of its illegally appropriated assets, and the impression conveyed and belief established in the minds of the commissioners were that these Florida State bonds were being issued as the equivalent or consideration of the said $1,287,000 of the complainant company's money, which it was shown had been invested in the purchase of said Florida railroads; and that the authority under which said Florida State bonds were being issued was such as conferred upon said Swepson and Littlefield the right to use the same in the manner proposed in said agreement, but the law itself was not brought before, seen, or considered by the commissioners. The object of the settlement being the return of the complainant company's money, and the terms of the settlement being conditional, whereby the complainant company's money, demand, and equities would only be discharged on such payments being made as proposed, there was no necessity or motive for the commissioners to enquire into the laws of the State of Florida, or to ascertain the relations of Littlefield and Swepson, or either of them, to said Florida State bonds, or for what reason, or by what authority they assumed the control of the same.

13. Ques. Referring to said agreement of 16th of April, 1870, proposing to turn over said Florida State bonds, or their proceeds, to 1431 the complainant company, as therein stated, the concluding paragraph of the same is in the following words: "It is further understood and agreed by the parties of the first and second parts, that all the interest owned or claimed by said parties of the first part, both George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield, or which they, as individuals, have a right to control in the said Florida railroads, are hereby pledged for the faithful fulfillment of this contract, without the right on the part of any party to interfere with our management or control of the affairs of the road." Will you please state, to the best of your knowledge and recollection, what was the reason and object of inserting said clause?

Ans. As soon as it was developed, by the facts shown at the time of said conditional settlement, that the money and assets of the complainant company, to so large an amount, had been so illegally applied in the purchase of the said Florida railroads, the commission claimed the same, as the property and estate of the complainant company, to the exclusion of any right of property in said Swepson or Littlefield; but as said Swepson and Littlefield claimed that they had invested some of their individual money in the purchase of said roads, it was agreed that that interest also, if it existed, should be assigned as part of security for the fulfillment of said conditional agreement, which was so done accordingly; and it was also agreed, that the control and management of the roads should not be interfered with pending the fulfillment of said conditional agreement, for which reason the words in the concluding clause to that effect were added, namely, "Without the right on the part of any party to interfere with our management or control of the affairs of the roads."

14. Ques. Was it, or was it not, the intention of said clause to create said Swepson and Littlefield, jointly or severally, the agent or agents of the complainant company, in the management or direction of the affairs of the said Florida Central Railroad Company, or Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, as bodies corporate?

Ans. Such was not the intention of said clause. The word "company" or "companies" was not used, or intended to be used; it was the management of the "roads," as properties, that said Swepson and Littlefield were permitted to control, and not the exercise of corporate functions, which it was not in the province of the commission to delegate, had they been disposed, and which they did not attempt to do.

1432 15. Ques. Was, or was not, said conditional agreement fulfilled, as provided therein?

Ans. It was not.

16. Ques. What other steps were taken, if any, to secure the return to complainant company of its said money, so misapplied by said Swepson and Littlefield?

Ans. The money agreed in said conditional settlement not being paid, suit was instituted, in the city of New York, in the month of October, 1870. with the details of which I am not familiar; and soon thereafter, Mr. Woodfin, as chairman of commission, by reason of information obtained, proceeded to London, where he met said Littlefield and the firm S. W. Hopkins & Co., which resulted in a modified agreement being entered into, on or about the 10th day of November, 1870, wherein it was agreed that eight hundred thousand dollars of said Florida State bonds should be turned over to the commission for the use of the complainant company; and an order was given by said Littlefield, and accepted by said Hopkins & Co., on or about the 16th day of November, 1870, as I am advised and believe to be true. I never saw said order and acceptance myself, but did see said modified agreement of 10th November, 1870, and approved the same, as a member of said commission.

17. Ques. Was, or was not, the terms of said modified agreement of 10th November, 1870, complied with, and the bonds delivered as therein provided?

Ans. The said modified agreement was not complied with in any respect, nor a single one of said bonds delivered to said commission, or to the complainant company, so far as I have any knowledge or belief.

18. Ques. What further steps, if any, were taken by the commission, or the complainant company, to recover its said $1,287,000, so far as you know or believe?

Ans. There were further suits instituted, in the city of New York and elsewhere, during the years 1871 and 1872, as I have been advised from information and the inspection of papers, but I have no personal knowledge thereof, and did not participate therein. My personal participation ceased after my approval of the contract made by the chairman of the commission, as aforesaid.

19. Ques. Do you know, or can you state, any other matter or thing of interest to the parties complainant or defendant, or material to this, your examination, besides what you have answered? and, if yea, 1433 please state the same fully and at large, as if you were particularly interrogated in reference thereto.

Ans. Nothing that I now remember.

And now on this 22nd day of March, 1879, the marshal*l* having returned the alias subpœna served and duly executed on the witness George W. Swepson, the examination is now resumed pursuant to adjournment as aforesaid. Present, Jos. B. Stewart, solicitor for complainant; no counsel appearing for defendant.

George W. Swepson, a witness summoned on the part of the 1446 complainant, not appearing, the further taking of the depositions is continued until Monday, March 24th, 1879, at the same place.

MONDAY, 24th March, 1879.

On this day C. M. McLOUD, a witness on the part of the complainant, being duly sworn, deposes and testifies as follows:

1447 Q. 1. State your name, age, residence, and occupation.

1448 A. My name is Calvin M. McLoud; age, 39 years; a lawyer by profession, and reside at Ashville, State of North Carolina.

Q. 2. Do you or do you not know the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, the complainant in this suit? and if yea, state what relation, if any, you hold to said company.

A. I do know the said company as a corporation; am a stockholder of said company; am and have been a director of the same since the fall of 1877, and have also been of counsel for said corporation since the fall of 1869.

Q. 3. Who was president of said company in the years 1868 and 1869?

A. George W. Swepson was its president from October, 1868, to about the 1st November, 1869, and was then succeeded by Milton S. Littlefield, who was its president from about said last-named date till the 1st of November, 1870, when he was succeeded by W. W. Rollins, who has ever since held that position.

Q. 4. During the period you have mentioned, did or did not any bonds come into the hands of said company? and if yea, state what bonds they were, and what amount.

A. During the year 1868, and after the election of the said G. W. Swepson as president as aforesaid, bonds of the State of North Carolina to the amount of six millions six hundred and sixty-seven thousand dollars were received by said company, through its president, George W. Swepson, from the said State of North Carolina, to be used in the construction of said road.

Q. 5. What disposition, if any, was made of the said bonds and the proceeds thereof, and by whom?

A. The said bonds, or the larger portion of them, were sold or otherwise disposed of in the city of New York, by the said George W. Swepson, or those acting for him, and about one million two hundred 1449 and eighty-seven thousand dollars of the proceeds thereof was used in the purchase of stock and bonds in certain railroads in the State of Florida, and this without the knowledge, direction or authority of the said company.

Q. 6. When did the complainant company first learn the fact that the proceeds of its said bonds had been appropriated by said Swepson in the purchase of said stocks and bonds in said Florida railroads?

A. On or about the 15th day of April, A. D. 1870, the fact of such appropriation was first brought to the knowledge of said company, through a board of commissioners appointed by an act of the general assembly of the State of North Carolina, ratified the 24th day of March, A. D. 1870, at a meeting of said commissioners in Washington City, D. C., when and where the said matter was disclosed by facts and papers brought before said commissioners by said Swepson, that he had used exceeding the sum of one million of dollars of the proceeds of said bonds in the purchase of interest in said Florida railroads.

Q. 7. When advised of the use and appropriation of its assets by said Swepson what action, if any, was taken by said company to recover back the proceeds of its bonds?

A. A meeting of the stockholders and board of directors was convened at Warm Springs, in the county of Madison, State of North Carolina, on the 23d day of May, A. D. 1870, and in said directors' meeting the following resolution offered by Gen. T. L. Clingman, one of said directors, was unanimously adopted, to wit:

"Resolved, That the purchase made by George W. Swepson of certain interests in railroads, and bonds and stocks of the same, in the State of Florida was not made by the authority of the stockholders or directors of this company, but was made from all the information given us, and all the facts connected with it, solely as a private investment of Mr. Swepson."

And soon afterwards suits were instituted, and such other 1450 necessary steps taken as were supposed to be most effective in recovering possession of the assets of said company thus misapplied, some of the said suits being still pending and undetermined.

Q. Do you know, or can you state any other matter or thing material to the parties, plaintiff or defendant, to this suit, beyond what you have answered unto? and if yea, please state the same as fully and particularly as if you were specially interrogated in relation thereto.

A. Nothing further occurs to me as material to this suit.

CALVIN M. McLOUD.

Sworn and subscribed before me this 24th March, 1879.

JOS. B. BATCHELOR,
Special Examiner.

1451 George W. Swepson, a witness produced on the part of the complainant, being duly sworn, deposes and testifies as follows:

Q. 1. State your name, age, residence, and occupation.

A. George W. Swepson; fifty-nine years of age; Wake County, North Carolina; manufacturer.

Q. 2. Do you, or do you not, know a body politic and corporate called the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, the complainant in these suits; and if yea, please state when said company was organized and under and by virtue of what law and authority to the best of your knowledge and belief?

A. I do know such a company; it was organized in the latter part of the summer or early fall of 1868; it was organized by authority of an act of the general assembly of North Carolina, ratified the 19th day of August, 1868, a copy of which I hereto annex, marked S, No. 1.

Q. 3. Were you or were you not at any time connected with said complainant company in any capacity; and if yea, please state what your relation was, when it commenced, whether the same still exists, or has terminated, and when it did so terminate, if you say it has?

A. I was elected president of the complainant company when it was organized, and ceased to be president at the next annual meeting, about October, 1869.

Q. 4. Who, if any one, succeeded you as president of the complainant company when you retired from that position?

A. Milton S. Littlefield.

Q. 5. As such president, did you or not receive any bonds as the property of said company; and if yea, please state what bonds they were, the amount thereof, and the purposes for which you received them.?

A. I received bonds of the State of North Carolina to the amount of upwards of six millions of dollars to be used in the construction of the road of said company.

1452 Q. 6. Did you, or did you not, as such president, dispose of said bonds; and if yea, please state where and through whom you disposed of the same?

A. I did dispose of said bonds, or a larger portion of them, through the house of Soutter & Co., in the city of New York.

Q. 7. Have you, or have you not, been examined as a witness, or given any depositions or affidavits in any suit or suits in reference to your dealings and transactions as president of the complainant company respecting said bonds; and if yea, please state in what suit or suits and by whom and when and where the same were instituted?

A. I have made affidavits in two separate suits brought by the complainant company in the supreme court of the State of New York, one of which suits was commenced in October, 1870, by the complainant against Edward Houstoun and Milton S. Littlefield, and the other suit was commenced by the complainant company about September, 1871, against Sidney W. Hopkins and others; both of said suits had reference to transactions made by Milton S. Littlefield and myself as president of the complainant company.

Q. 8. Please look at the papers now shown you, made part of this question, marked A and G respectively, and certified by the clerk of the United States circuit court for the northern district of Florida. and state whether or not you recognize the contents of said papers; and if yea, please state what they are respectively, according to the best of your knowledge and recollection?

A. I have examined said papers A and G, and believe them to be correct copies of the affidavits made by me in the two suits above mentioned.

Q. 9. Please read said two affidavits and state whether or not the matters and facts therein stated are true, to the best of your knowledge and belief; and are you willing to affirm and make the same part of your present examination, so far as the matters inquired about are involved in this suit?

1453 A. I have read said two affidavits marked A and G respectively, and state that the same do set forth correctly both my then and present recollection and belief as to the matters and facts therein stated, and do adopt said two affidavits as a part of my present examination marked S No. 2 and S No. 3, respectively.

Q. 10. Previously to your giving of the said affidavits or to the bringing of the said suits therein mentioned, did you or did you not have any settlement in whole or in part with the complainant company or with any one acting in its behalf respecting the use of its bonds and assets as mentioned in said two affidavits; and if yea, please state where and with whom such settlement was made?

A. A settlement was had on or about the 16th day of April, 1870, in the city of Washington, D. C., between myself and Milton S. Littlefield, on the one part, and a board of commissioners appointed on the part of the State of North Carolina, under a special act of the general assembly, passed, I believe, on the 24th day of March, 1870.

Q. 11. Was or was not said settlement reduced to writing?

A. It was.

Q. 12. Please look at the two papers now shown you, and made part of this question, one dated April 16th, 1870, and signed "N. W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, W. W. Rollins," and "George W. Swepson," and the other signed "George W. Swepson, president, Fla. Central R. R. Co.," and "M. S. Littlefield, president, J. P. & M. R. R. Co., N. W. Woodfin, W. W. Rollins, W. G. Candler," and "W. P. Welch," and, witnessed by "M. W. Ransom" and "R. R. Swepson," and state whether or not you recognize said papers as the original writings so executed at the time of the settlement above mentioned?

A. I have examined said two papers and recognize the same as the original papers executed at the time of said settlement.

Q. 13. In the execution of one of said papers it is signed 1454 "George W. Swepson, president Fla. Central R. R. Co.," and "Milton S. Littlefield, president J. P. & M. R. R. Co.;" please state whether or not such signing was done by the knowledge or authority of said railroad companies or either of them?

A. I had not, myself, any authority for using the name of the Florida Central Railroad Company for such purpose, and am not aware of any authority said Littlefield had for using the name of said J. P. & M. R. R. Company for any such purpose, but as we owned a large majority of the stock of said roads, we assumed the authority to act as we did.

Q. 14. Please look at the papers now shown you numbered from 1 to 52 inclusive, and signed "E. Houstoun, agt.," and bearing date from February, 18th, 1869, to March 23d, 1869, and state what knowledge, if any, you have respecting said several papers?

A. I have examined said several papers, and recognize the same to be a portion of the original drafts drawn by said Edward Houstoun as my agent on Soutter & Co., of New York, in payment for a part of the stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and Pensacola and Georgia, and Tallahassee Railroad bonds mentioned in my two before mentioned affidavits in the aforesaid suits in the supreme court of New York, and were paid out of the funds arising from the sale of the bonds belonging to the complainant company.

Q. 15. Have you or not in your possession other or similar drafts or checks or papers drawn upon and paid out of the complainant's money for like purposes, as stated in your last answer, and if yea, will you produce the same as part of your answer, or if you know of any such papers, not in your possession, will you please state where they are?

A. There was a much larger number of similar drafts, checks, and orders, or acceptances, paid out by myself or by my orders, through my agents, in the purchase of the stocks and bonds of said Florida railroads, but I do not believe they are now in my possession; my intention was to turn over all such papers to said Littlefield, as belonging 1455 to the complainant company, when he became the president of said company in October, 1869.

Q. 16. Please look at the two papers now shown you and made part of this question, one dated March 26th, 1869, signed by "Frank Dibble (seal) for himself and associates (seal), and "George W. Swepson (seal)," and the other dated April 22d, 1869, signed "Frank Dibble for himself and associates (seal)," conveying the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad and the Tallahassee Railroad to George W. Swepson, and state what, if anything, you know about said two papers, or either of them; state, to the best of your recollection, the origin and object of said papers.

A. I have examined said two papers, and know all about their origin and execution of the same; the paper dated the 20th of March, 1869, is the agreement by virtue of which I paid the $960,700 in the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads bonds for the purchase of the said two roads of like name by said Dibble and associates on the 20th of March, 1869, and defining the interests reserved to me as therein provided. At the date of this agreement it was not understood or agreed that I would invest any further in the purchase of said railroads, but that the remainder of the purchase money bid at said sale, and mentioned in said paper, amounting to about $472,065, whether paid in bonds or money, would be provided for by said Dibble and associates when the deeds of conveyance would be executed by the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida in consummation of the purchase and sale of said two roads on the 20th of March, 1869, as aforesaid.

But such payment not being so made by said Dibble and associates the purchase was completed by my agreeing to provide the means for completing the same by a check for the said sum of $472,065, being placed in my hands by said Dibble, drawn on Dibble, Worth & Co., of New York, which was to be treated, for the time being, as money, but in reality to be provided for by the use of the bonds agreed to be 1456 issued and delivered to me under said agreement of March 26th, 1869. That acting upon this understanding between the parties, the trustees of the internal improvement fund were requested to execute the deeds conveying said two roads to said Dibble and associates, which was done on the 8th day of April, 1869, and are the same deeds which are made Schedules B and C in the bill of complaint touching the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad. I have examined the printed copies in said bill, and believe them to be correct. The consideration—and the only consideration—paid for the execution of said deeds being the said $960,700 in the said Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad bonds, and the said check of said Dibble which was treated as money in my hands and my receipt taken therefor by the trustees of the internal improvement fund.

The payment of the said $960,700 in said Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad bonds by me, and giving my receipt for the check of said Dibble, which was treated as money by said trustees to the amount of said $472,065, placed the whole burden of the purchase of said two roads on me, not a dollar of which purchase money or means had been paid or provided for by said Dibble and associates, or any other party.

In order to protect and reimburse me, as provided in said agreement of the 26th of March, 1869, the second paper named in the question was executed; that is, the deed dated April 22d, 1869, executed by F. Dibble and associates to myself, conveying to me the said Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads, and delivering to me the two deeds conveying the same to said Dibble and associates, to be by me held for the purposes mentioned in said deed of trust of the 22d of April, 1869; that is to say, first, to provide for and pay the said $472,065 unpaid purchase money due to the trustees of the internal improvement fund; and, second, to secure and pay back to me the $960,700 in Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad bonds paid by me in the purchase of said roads; and until these payments were made nobody but 1457 myself had any vested interest in the purchase of said two railroads or title thereto. But when the terms of said agreement of the 26th of March, 1869, and the said deed of conveyance to me of the 22d of April, 1869, were fully complied with it devolved on me to convey said two railroads to such company as should be incorporated by the legislature of Florida, with said Dibble and associates as corporators, to receive and hold the same as provided in said papers, copies of which I make part of this answer, marked S No. 4, and S No. 5, respectively.

Q. 17. Was or was not an act incorporating said Dibble and associates into a body politic and corporate obtained from the legislature of Florida; and, if yea, were or were not the said bonds executed and delivered to you, and did you or not make the conveyances of said Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads to said newly incorporoted company as provided in said agreement of the 26th March and said deed of trust of 22d April, 1869, aforesaid?

A. An act incorporating said F. Dibble and associates into a body politic and corporate was passed by the legislature of the State of Florida on the 24th day of June, 1869, styled the Tallahassee Railroad Company; that by the sixth section of the said act of incorporation the bonds to be issued to me and the lien created in my favor was fully provided for, and subsequent thereto bonds to the amount of $1,500,000 were prepared and partly executed and placed in my hands, but the same were never fully executed or made satisfactory to me, and I never made the conveyance to said new Tallahassee company, as provided in said deed to me of the 22nd of April, 1869; the only conveyance or transfer of any sort I ever made was to M. S. Littlefield about the month of November, 1869, as stated in my said depositions in the New York suits, who received the whole of said Florida railroad interests purchased by me as aforesaid, in trust, and as the property of the complainant company, as also stated in my said affidavits given in 1458 the said suits in the supreme court of New York, but I am willing to make or cause to be made the conveyance of said Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads to the said new Tallahassee Company, or to its successor, the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, whenever the terms of the said trust are complied with.

Q. 18. Has or has not the said sum of about $472,065, the balance of said purchase money mentioned in said deed of the 22d of April, 1869, ever been paid or discharged in any respect to the trustees of the internal improvement fund or in any manner provided for?

A. Said $472,065 has never been paid or discharged; as stated, it was intended to be paid out of the proceeds of said $1,500,000 in new Tallahassee bonds so partly executed and placed in my hands as aforesaid, and was for that reason specially provided for in said deed to me of the 22d of April, 1869, and constituted and still constitutes part of the consideration therefor, and was hence provided for therein, and when said money is paid it will entitle me to the return of my receipt covering the said check of the said Dibble for said $472,065 delivered to and held by the trustees of the internal improvement fund, as aforesaid.

Q. 19. You have spoken of the $1,500,000 in the bonds of the said Tallahassee Railroad Company, as incorporated on the 24th day of June, 1869; have you or have you not said bonds in your possession, and, if yea, will you produce the same as part of your answer to this question?

A. I have, I believe, about $724,000 of said bonds in my possession, and I produce the same as a part of my testimony, and will furnish a list of the numbers thereof to the commissioners as a part of this deposition, marked with my initials, "G. W. S." I supposed, until I was served by the marshall with a subpœna duces tecum in this case, that I had the whole of said bonds in my possession, as I should have, but failed to find them, and I now doubt whether the whole of them 1459 were returned to me by said Littlefield; I will look further, and if I find the remainder of the said bonds I will deliver them to the court as part of my examination. I state positively, however, that I have never disposed of said bonds in any manner except so far as they were included in my transfer made to said Littlefield to the use of the complainant company and as part of its assets.

Q. 20. Do you or do you not know what disposition was made of the said $960,700 in said Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee bonds paid by you in the purchase of said railroads in March and April, 1869, and do you know the numbers thereof and the amount of the coupons attached to the same? If yea, please state the same to the best of your recollection.

A. I delivered the whole of said bonds into the hands of R. H. Gamble, comptroller of the State of Florida and ex-officio member of the board of trustees of the internal improvement fund for the State of Florida, and I was informed that the whole of said bonds and coupons attached thereto were destroyed by being burned on the 26th day of February, 1872; the list of said bonds and coupons hereto attached, marked S, No. 6, I believe to be a true list and schedule of said bonds and coupons.

Q. 21. Besides the said $960,700 in said bonds and the check of said Dibble, covered by your receipt for $472,065, was there or was there not, within your knowledge, information or belief, any other consideration whatever paid for the purchase of said Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads, sold on the 20th day of March, 1869?

A. I know there was no other consideration paid, and have heard it intimated or pretended that there was.

Q. 22. When did you first advise or inform the directors of the complainant company of the use you had made of its assets in the purchase of said stock and bonds in said Florida railroads?

A. I believe the first time I imparted the information was to the commissioners appointed by the said act of the legislature at or about the time said settlement was made, to wit, the 16th day of April, 1870.

1460 Q. 23. In making said settlement and executing said papers of the 18th of April, 1870, was it or was it not agreed or intended as part of said settlement that the said commissioners appointed under said act of the legislature or the directors of the complainant company should have the right to control or direct the affairs of said Florida railroads mentioned therein, and did or did not said complainant company within your knowledge, information, or belief ever attempt to exercise such control?

A. There was no such right to control said Florida railroads asked, assumed or conceded; the commissioners acting for the State of North Carolina, as authorized by law, only inquired after the use and disposal made by the six millions of dollars and upwards of State bonds I had received of the complainant company and what disposition had been made thereof; their efforts were to secure and collect the money due the complainant company, and they did not attempt to do anything else; the allusion in the papers to the Florida State bonds was merely and entirely an incidental matter or source from whence the money might be derived, but it was money the commissioners were to receive and not Florida State bonds.

Q. 24. Were or were not the Florida State bonds mentioned in said papers of 16th April, 1870, or the law authorizing the issue of the same present or considered by said commissioners and yourself at the time said settlement was made?

A. There were no Florida State bonds or any other bonds or any law authorizing the issue of said bonds presented to or considered by said commissioners at the time said settlement was made; as stated, the terms of said settlement were wholly for the payment of specified sums of money and not for the delivery to or receipt of bonds by the commissioners, and there was no necessity for considering the character or validity of any bonds or the law authorizing their issue, and there was nothing whatever mentioned on the subject.

1461 Q. 25. Do you know or can you state any other matter or thing material to this, your examination, beyond what you have answered unto; and, if yea, please state the same fully and at large in your answer.

A. The matters testified to by me took place nine or ten years ago, and nothing else material occurs to me at present; if any other matter pertinent to this inquiry shall be asked I will cheerfully answer the same.

1462 S. No. 1.

AN ACT to amend the charter of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company

The general assembly of North Carolina do enact:

§ 1. That the Western North Carolina Railroad shall consist of two separate and distinct divisions; one called the Eastern Division, and shall embrace the said road from Salisbury to the French Broad River, near Asheville; and the other, called the Western Division, which shall embrace the said road from the French Broad River to Ducktown and Paint Rock, on the Tennessee line.

§ 2. The property, appropriations, and subscriptions of stocks heretofore made by the State and private stockholders for the Eastern Division of said road, as provided in section 1 of this act, shall be used only for the purpose of the completion and operation of said Eastern Division of said road, and shall be managed, and controlled and directed by a board of directors, as now provided by law.

§ 3. The Western Division of said road, as provided in section 1 of this act, shall be managed, constructed, and controlled by a board of directors separate and distinct from the board of directors of Eastern Division, which board of directors shall consist of twelve; eight on the part of the State, to be appointed by the governor, and four, on the part of the private stockholders, shall be elected by the stockholders of their divisions respectively.

§ 4. The board of directors of each division shall have the selection of its own officers and agents, a distinct treasurer, and otherwise independent of the other.

§ 5. For the purpose of securing the completion of the Western Division, the capital stock of the Western North Carolina Railroad 1463 Company is hereby increased to a sum sufficient to attain that object, not to exceed twelve millions of dollars, and the public treasurer is hereby authorized and required to make subscriptions from time to time for two-thirds of the stock and make payment as heretofore provided by law.

§ 6. Upon the completion of the two divisions, as provided for in section 1 of this act, the whole road and property may be consolidated on such terms as are agreed between the stockholders of the respective divisions.

§ 7. The provisions of the above act to be in full force and operation upon condition that the Western Division of said road shall be put under contract before the State shall be called upon for its subscription to said road.

§ 8. The said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad shall be completed within four years from the time that the said road shall be put under contract.

In general assembly, read three times, and ratified this 19th day of August, 1868.

RALEIGH, 22*d March*, 1879.

1465 S. No. 2.

STATE AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK:

Supreme court.

THE WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA RAILROAD Company (for the western division)
against
E. HOUSTOUN AND MILTON S. LITTLEFIELD.

CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss:

George W. Swepson, of Alamance County, in the State of North Carolina, makes oath and says:

From October, 1868, to October, 1869, I was president of the Western North Carolina Railroad for the western division. As president and for said company, I received possession of over six millions of the bonds of said State. I hypothecated said bonds in the city of New York, and out of the proceeds I purchased and paid for about three thousand shares of stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company. I did this through my agent, Mr. Edward Houstoun, who is defendant in this action. He knew from my telling him that I obtained the funds for said purchase, as above stated, and that in fact and in equity, said Western Division of said Western North Carolina Railroad Company were the owners of said stock. About October, 1869, I ceased to be president of said company, and Milton S. Littlefield became the president, as my successor.

In negotiating and making settlements as retiring president, with said
Littlefield as incoming president for said railroad company, I 1466 passed over as assets for said company said three thousand shares of Florida Central Railroad Company stock; said Littlefield said he would receive it and account to said company, he being the president thereof. At his request I transferred said stock to him in his individual name, but it was for said Western Division North Carolina Railroad Company, and it was so received by said Littlefield, president of said company.

This settlement was in November, 1869. About May, 1870, said Houstoun had negotiations with said Littlefield individually, to sell to said Littlefield his (Houstoun's) stock in the Florida Central Railroad, and also some bonds of the Tallahassee Railroad Company and the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company.

On that transaction there remained due to Houston about $160,000, and an agreement was made that Houston should take as collateral security a pledge from Littlefield of said three thousand shares of Florida Central Railroad stock. Subsequently said Florida Central Railroad Company issued one million dollars of their bonds, and agreed with Harrison Reed, then governor of the State of Florida, to make as the law allowed an exchange of said railroad bonds for an equal amount of the bonds of the State of Florida.

But said Governor Reed refused to deliver said State bonds, unless as an additional security they should with said three thousand shares of stock be placed in the hands of said Houstoun to secure payment of said debt due by said Littlefield, to said Houstoun, as well as some other private debts of said Littlefield. That in accordance with said requirement of said governor, and the agreement to that effect between said governor and said Houstoun, said one million dollars of State bonds were so placed in the hands of said Houstoun. Affiant says he is informed by said Littlefield, and verily believes, that said arrangement to that effect between said Houstoun and Governor Reed.

Affiant further says that he was informed by said Governor 1467 Reed that he, the said governor, was personally and pecuniarily interested with said Houstoun in a portion of the profits which Houstoun might make on the purchase and sale of a portion of the stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company which Houstoun had bought at twenty cents on the dollar, and that under the agreement and sale to Littlefield of the said stock, Littlefield was, as I learned, to pay par.

Affiant further says that previous to this delivery of stock and State bonds to said Houstoun by said Littlefield, he, said Littlefield, both in his individual capacity and as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, pledged the whole interest and portions held by him, said Littlefield, of every kind and nature, in said railroad in Florida, or in any or all of them, to secure to said Western North Carolina Railroad Company all moneys due to said company from this affiant, as aforesaid, and that pledge covered the very securities pledged subsequently, as above stated, by said Littlefield to said Houstoun.

Affiant further says that throughout all said transactions said Houstoun knew and was fully notified that all of said interest purchased by affiant in said Florida railroad were purchased with funds raised in the city of New York by the hypothecation of the bonds which belonged to the Western North Carolina Railroad Company.

Affiant further says he is informed and believes that said Houstoun intends to sell said three thousand shares of stock in New York City on the 4th of October, instant, at No. 111 Broadway, at 10½ o'clock a. m., and affiant has received from said Houstoun a written notice to that effect, of which a copy is hereto annexed, marked Exhibit No. 1.

Affiant further says he is informed and believes that the intention of the said Houstoun is to sell said stock separately, subject to said mortgage bonds, and afterwards to sell said State bonds. And he is by law, as owner of said State bonds, entitled to exchange them for said railroad mortgage bonds, so he can become, by said sale, owner of the majority of stock of said company, and also owner of its mortgage debt.

1468 Affiant further says that a knowledge of said facts above stated has become public to a great extent, and that has produced doubts and clouds upon the title and value of said stock and securities, and if allowed to be sold as proposed, they will yield scarcely anything, and said Western North Carolina Railroad Company will be defrauded and lose their entire claim, or nearly so; that it will be irreparably injurious to said Western North Carolina Railroad Company and to their just rights, and affiant knows that all of said securities represent the money and funds of said Western North Carolina Railroad Company.

Affiant further says that neither said Littlefield nor said Houston resided in the State of New York, but they reside in Florida, as affiant is informed and believes, but affiant is informed that said Houstoun is now in New York City.

Affiant says he is informed and believes that said Houstoun had said State bonds and said certificates of stock in the city of New York a few weeks ago, but affiant does not know where they are.

SCHEDULE G.

New York supreme court.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company
vs.
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS ET AL.

CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss:

GEORGE W. SWEPSON, having first been duly sworn, makes oath and says:

That he was, from October, 1669, to October, 1869, president of the company (the plaintiffs in this action), and during the period from the spring of 1869 until the summer of 1870 he was the president of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

Affiant further states that, as president of the plaintiff, he came into possession of about six millions of dollars in bonds of the State of North Carolina, said bonds being received by affiant for the account of said plaintiffs and in payment of a portion of the capital stock of said company.

Affiant further states that he held such bonds to be used for the purpose of constructing the railroad of said plaintiffs. Affiant further states that after receiving the said bonds he brought them to the city of New York and there pledged a large portion of them, that is, nearly all of them, as collateral security for money then and afterwards borrowed from time to time by this affiant. Affiant further says that he used about $150,000 of said money to purchase in Florida a quantity, 1470 being more than half of the capital stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, which company then had no mortgage debt upon its line of railroad, which was sixty miles long, completed, and in good running order. Affiant says that other portions of said money, to wit, about $720,000, was expended in buying first-mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company and of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, said mortgage bonds amounting to about $1,000,000, and also in buying some stock in said company and in paying expenses incidental to said purchase. Affiant further says he purchased and held said railroad interest above named in his own name. Affiant further says that about the month of March, 1869, the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, having authority to do so, caused to be sold at public sale the Tallahassee Railroad and the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad to pay the first-mortgage bonds thereof.

Affiant further says that Mr. F. Dibble, of Jacksonville, and associates, became the purchasers of both of said roads at said sale, they having bid the amount of the whole mortgage indebtedness of said railroads, amounting in all to over $1,400,000.

Affiant further says that said F. Dibble and associates were not able to pay the said trustees the amount of said bid, the larger portion of which would have been due to this affiant, and therefore said Dibble and his associates proposed to this affiant that if this affiant would relinquish his claim to payment under said sale they would cause a new company to be organized to own both of said railroads (sold as aforesaid), and that this affiant should be associated therein, and should own one-third of the capital stock in said new company; and further, that a new mortgage should be made on the new consolidated railroad and the bonds thereof should be sold for one purpose only, to wit, to pay the affiant the entire amount of his investment and outlay in purchasing said railroad interest, and a further sum of $150,000, and also to pay to said trustees of said internal improvement fund the amount of 1471 the remaining outstanding bonds for which said railroad was sold, said remaining bonds amounting to over $400,000.

Affiant further says that he agreed to said proposal, and a written memorandum of said agreement was duly executed by said Dibble and his associates and this affiant, and this affiant surrendered his bonds to said trustees of said internal improvement fund.

Affiant further says that said written agreement was drafted by M. D. Papy, esq., and J. P. Sanderson, esq., attorneys, &c., in Florida, and said agreement was transferred by this affiant to Gen. Milton S. Littlefield, after he became the president of said W. D. W. N. C. R. R. Co. Affiant further says that subsequently a supplemental agreement was made by him with said F. Dibble and a majority of his associates, whereby the latter agreed that in consequence of the payment of $25,000 (which was duly paid) by affiant, he should receive about 60 per cent. of the capital stock of said consolidated company, instead of one-third thereof, as originally agreed.

Affiant further says that part of said money expended as above for said railroad companies, was about $7,000 for two locomotives, and the purchase money for a lot of land in Jacksonville, said lot having cost the sum of $5,000.

Affiant further says that he assigned and transferred said agreement with F. Dibble and associates and all affiant's interest in and claims upon said Florida Railroad to said Gen. Milton S. Littlefield, he being the president of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and said assignment was so made upon the express understanding and agreement that he would apply said property to reimburse said railroad company the full amount (with 8 per cent. interest) of all their money which affiant had invested and expended as above stated, in said Florida railroads.

Affiant further says that out of the sum of $720,000 invested 1472 as above, in said Florida Railroads, about $120,000 was so expended for affiant through the agency of Milton S. Littlefield, in person.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Northern District of Florida:

I, Philip Walter, clerk of the circuit court of the United States in and for the said district, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the deposition as exhibited with the bill in equity, on the part of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company against George F. Drew, governor and trustee, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and others, on file in my office.

Witness my hand and the seal of said court, at Jacksonville, in said district, this 7th day of March, A. D. 1879.

Whereas at a sale by the trustees of the internal improvement of the State of Florida, on the 20th day of March, 1869, of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads, F. Dibble in behalf of himself and his associates became the purchaser thereof, bidding for the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad $1,220,000, and for the Tallahassee Railroad $195,000;

And whereas George W. Swepson is the holder of a large amount of the first mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia and the Tallahassee Railroad Companies, and whereas said parties desire to come to an accommodation respecting their interests, the one through said purchase, and the other as the holder of said bonds:

Now, therefore, it is hereby agreed between said F. Dibble, on behalf of himself and his associates of the one part, and said George W. Swepson of the other part, in manner and form following, that is to say:

First. That said George W. Swepson shall deliver, as he shall come into possession of them, to be surrendered to the trustees of the internal improvement fund aforesaid by said F. Dibble, in behalf of himself and his associates, as part of the purchase money for said roads respectively the first mortgage bonds of said roads purchased by him amounting to about nine hundred thousand dollars of bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, and to about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, the bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad to be surrendered at par, and those of the Tallahassee Railroad to be surrendered at their pro rata of the amount bid for said said road at the said sale, and the balance or remainder of the purchase money to be supplied by said F. Dibble and his associates.

1474 Second. As soon as may be after the title is acquired by F. Dibble, in behalf of himself and his associates, from the trustees of the internal improvement fund, first mortgage bonds are to be issued in such form and to be executed in such manner as may be devised to make them legal and binding as an obligation on said roads, their equipment, workshops, depots, and franchise; said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, payable in New York, semi-annually, princip*le* and interest to be paid in gold, and having not more than thirty years to run. To secure said bonds a proper deed of trust is to be executed by said F. Dibble in behalf of himself and associates to Calvin B. Dibble and George W. Swepson, as trustees with the ordinary conditions in such cases, and shall contain a provision that on default in the non-payment of any instalment of interest for sixty days the principal shall become due, and that on such default the trustees shall enter upon and take possession of said railroads, their equipments, workshops, depots, and franchise, without any legal process whatever, and advertise the same for sale, and sell the same at public outcry, for cash, the proceeds of which shall be applied to the payment of said bonds, principal and interest, and if a sufficient amount shall not be realized at such sale, then to apply the same pro rata in the payment of said bonds.

Third. The bonds to be thus issued shall be delivered to Calvin B. Dibble and George W. Swepson, to be sold or negotiated, and the money realized on them, or a sufficient amount thereof, for that purpose shall be paid to George W. Swepson, to reimburse him for the amount of money he has paid out in purchasing the first mortgage bonds aforesaid. and all amounts paid or to be paid by him for commissions and attorneys' fees in connection with his business with said roads, together with interest on said amounts from the time they were paid out by him 1475 until the date of his reimbursement, and also to pay him the additional sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Fourth. The stock is to be divided and owned in the following manner: George W. Swepson is to own and have one-third; Calvin B. Dibble is to have and own an amount of stock which, in connection or united with the stock of said Swepson, shall constitute a majority of the whole, and F. Dibble and his associates are to have and to own the remainder, to be subdivided among themselves as they shall determine.

Fifth. Said Swepson is to have the right to appoint four directors of said roads, F. Dibble and his associates are to have the right to appoint four, and Calvin B. Dibble shall be appointed by both parties the ninth director. This provision is to expire as soon as said Swepson is reimbursed and paid the amounts hereinbefore mentioned, with interest as provided, and thereafter the stock shall stand on a common footing as in all other cases.

Sixth. Until the title is acquired from the trustees of the internal improvement fund, the roads are to remain as they are, and to be operated as they are.

Seventh. None of the stock shall be transferable for the space of two years from this date, except as may be necessary to qualify the persons to be appointed as directors to be such directors.

Eighth. The roads are to protect the outstanding transportation notes or tickets of the Tallahassee Railroad Company to an extent not exceeding twenty-eight thousand dollars, and shall receive the same as usual for transportation, freight, or fare.

Ninth. F. Dibble is to be the president until the stock becomes transferable.

1476 In testimony whereof the said parties have hereunto set their hands and seals this twenty-sixth day of March, A. D. 1869.

1477 S. No. 5.

Whereas George W. Swepson has paid to the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, for and on account of F. Dibble and his associates, in payment for the Pensacola and Georgia and the Tallahassee Railroads, sold to F. Dibble and his associates by said trustees on the 20th of March last, bonds of said roads amounting at their face to nine hundred and sixty thousand and three hundred ($960,300) dollars, and has also paid to said trustees for the same parties the sum of four hundred and seventy-two thousand and sixty-five ($472,065) dollars, being the full amount due said trustees for said roads.

And whereas said F. Dibble, for and on behalf of himself and his associates, has obligated himself and them, and does hereby obligate himself and them, to cause bonds upon said road as now completed, as soon as further legislative authority from said State of Florida shall be obtained therefor, to be issued, the same to be secured and in every respect to be as stated in an agreement executed and dated the twenty-sixth day of last March, between said F. Dibble, on behalf of himself and his associates, and said George W. Swepson, which bonds when executed are to be and shall be placed as provided in said agreement, for the purposes therein set forth, and for the further purpose of enabling said Swepson to be reimbursed the said sum of four hundred and seventy-two thousand and sixty-five dollars:

Now, therefore, this indenture made and entered into between F. Dibble, on behalf of himself and his associates, party of the first part, and George W. Swepson, party of the second part, witnesseth, that said party of the first part, for and in consideration of the premises, has granted, bargained, conveyed and confirmed unto said party of the second part, all that property of whatever name, nature, and description conveyed to said party of the first part by said trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida by 1478 two separate deeds of conveyance, each dated April 8th, A. D. 1869, which deeds for full description of property are hereby made part and portion of this instrument. The said property hereby conveyed to be held by said party of the second part in trust, for the express purpose of enabling said party of the second part—which he hereby agrees and binds himself to do—to convey the same to that incorporation, consisting or to consist as incorporators of said F. Dibble and his associates. As soon as said Dibble and his associates shall have granted to them such or similar relief as the legislature of the said State of Florida granted to Wm. E. Jackson and his associates by act for relief of William E. Jackson and his associates, approved July 29th, 1868, and also for the further purpose of securing said party of the second part in all advances made as specified and agreed upon in the said agreement between these parties, executed and dated March 26th, 1869, and the advancement as aforesaid of said sum of four hundred and seventy-two thousand and sixty-five dollars, until such time as said relief shall have been granted, and said party of the second part shall have conveyed said property to said incorporation as hereinbefore provided. To have and to hold said property to said party of the second part for the purposes and trust herein declared.

In testimony whereof, said party of the first part has hereunto signed his name and affixed his seal this day of 22d April, A. D. 1869.

TUESDAY, October 22d, 1878.

Present, Mr. Joseph B. Stewart, counsel for complainants.

1490 EPHRAIM D. SLATER, called as a witness on the part of the complainant, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

Q. 1. What is your name, age, residence, and occupation?

A. Ephraim D. Slater; age, 43; I reside at 51 East Sixtieth street, New York City; I am a printer.

Q. 2. Are you, or are you not, acquainted with Lucien Birdseye, Frank R. Sherwin, and Charles D. Willard, or either of them; and, if yea, please state when, where, and under what circumstances you made the acquaintance of these gentlemen respectively?

A. I have met all three of the gentlemen on one occasion, at Mr. Lucien Birdseye's office, in Broadway.

Q. 3. State, as nigh as you can, the time.

A. I think it was in the spring of 1877, but am not positive.

Q. 4. Previous to that date and the meeting you refer to, at the office of Mr. Birdseye, had you or not ever met or been acquainted with either of the parties mentioned?

A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. 5. Please state at whose instance you were present at Mr. Birdseye's office, and the object of your being there.

A. I was there at the instance of Moritz Herzberg; object, to sign a bail bond for Frank R. Sherwin.

Q. 6. What was the amount of that bond?

A. I think it was twenty thousand dollars.

Q. 7. Who, besides yourself, if any one, signed that bond?

A. Moritz Herzberg.

Q. 8. Did you, or did you not, before signing said bail bond for said Sherwin, or at or about the time thereof, receive any bond of indemnity, guaranteeing you against loss or ultimate responsibility; and, if yea, please state who, if any one, executed to you such indemnity bond?

1491 A. There were papers drawn in the matter; so far as I was concerned, I had nothing to do with them; they were taken charge of by Mr. Herzberg.

Q. 9. What was the object of such papers signed, and taken possession of, by said Herzberg, at or about the time said bail bond was executed?

I presume they were to indemnify Mr. Herzberg and myself against loss.

Q. 10. As an inducement to sign said bond, did or did not said Herzberg and yourself receive any bond of any company or corporation existing or purporting to exist; and, if yea, please state the name of the corporation issuing or purporting to issue said bonds, and the number thereof that yourself and Mr. Herzberg received respectively, to the best of your knowledge and recollection?

A. I did not.

Q. 11. Did said Herzberg receive any, to your knowledge?

A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. 12. Was there or was there not any proposition or agreement to pay or deliver any bond of any company or corporation existing or purporting to exist in the State of Florida to yourself and said Herzberg, jointly or severally, as an inducement to sign the said bond?

A. I think there was an agreement to deliver to Moritz Hertzberg and myself certain railroad bonds of some company, to be formed in Florida, the details of which agreement I do not know.

Q. 13. Was or was not said agreement in reference to the delivery of said bond to yourself and said Herzberg reduced to writing; and, if yea, please state whether or not you are in possession thereof, and if you will produce the same or a copy thereof as part of this, your examination; and if you are not in possession of said paper, please state in whose possession it is?

A. I think it was reduced to writing; I never saw it or had it in my possession, and do not know into whose possession it now is, but presume it is held by Moritz Herzberg.

1492 Q. 14. State who prepared the papers that were executed the time said bail bond was signed, if you were present, and, if not, state when and where you were advised thereof.

A. I do not know.

Q. 15. What took place, if anything, in reference to signing said bail bond and bond of indemnity, at the office of said Birdseye, the time you met said Willard and Sherwin there?

A. I have no recollection further than that I was notified that the bail bond was ready to sign, whereupon I went to Mr. Lucien Birdseye's office, and from thence to some office in Broadway, which I do not remember, and there executed the bail bond; I have no further knowledge of the indemnity bond.

Q. 16. Who notified you that the said bail bond was ready to sign the office of said Lucien Birdseye?

A. I think Moritz Herzberg.

Q. 17. Do you know or can you state any other matter or thing material to this your examination, of interest to either of the parties, plaintiff or defendants, beyond what you have stated to the questions addressed to you; and, if yea, please state the same fully and at large in your answer?

A. I cannot, except having met Moritz Herzberg in Broadway a few days since; I asked him as to the whereabouts of Frank R. Sherwin, he told me that Frank R. Sherwin was at present in Europe, and together with Mr. Willard was expected to arrive in New York in a few days.

EPHRAIM DEPEY SLATER.

MORITZ HERZBERG being called as a witness on the part of the complain't, and being duly sworn, deposes and says:

Q. 1. What is your name, age, residence, and occupation?

A. Moritz Herzberg; aged 31; I reside in New York City; I am not engaged for myself in any business.

Q. 2. Are you or not acquainted with one Frank R. Sherwin, one Charles D. Willard, and one Lucien Birdseye? And, if yea, please state when and where you made the acquaintance of these parties respectively.

A. I am; I made the acquaintance at Mr. Birdseye's office about January or February, 1877.

1494 Q. 3. Had you or not ever met said parties, or either of them, previous to that time?

A. No, sir; not to my knowledge.

Q. 4. Who introduced you to said parties, or through whom did you make their acquaintance?

A. I don't remember; several gentlemen were there, but I don't remember which one.

Q. 5. Besides said Sherwin, Willard, and Birdseye, who else was present?

A. I don't remember.

Q. 6. Who requested you to visit the office of said Birdseye on said occasion?

A. I don't remember.

Q. 7. What was the object or inducement for your visiting the office of said Birdseye on said occasion, when and where you say you first met said Sherwin and Willard? And state what, if anything, transpired with said Sherwin and Willard, to which you were a party, if anything, after you were there.

A. I was asked by somebody to go to Mr. Birdseye's office; Mr. Birdseye wanted to see me there; I agreed to go bond for Mr. Sherwin.

Q. 8. For what amount did you agree to go bond for Mr. Sherwin?

A. I had to go bonds for Mr. Sherwin to the amount of twenty thousand dollars.

Q. 9. What consideration or inducement did you receive, or were you to receive, for signing the bail bond for said Sherwin?

A. The bond I signed was a bail bond; I was to receive five bonds of the Jacksonville, Mobile and Pensacola Railroad, which were represented to me to be worth a thousand dollars apiece; I am not positive the exact title of the railroad.

Q. 10. Was any bond or bonds of said railroad company present and exhibited to you at the time of signing said bail bond for Sherwin?

A. No, sir.

Q. 11. Who, if any one else, executed said bond with you?

A. Mr. Ephriam D. Slater.

1495 Q. 12. Within your knowledge, was or was not said Slater to receive the same compensation as yourself for executing the said bail bond?

A. No, sir.

Q. 13. Besides the agreement to pay said bonds to you as a consideration for signing said bail bond, were you or were you not otherwise protected or indemnified for the signing of the same? And, if yea, please state in what manner.

A. I was indemnified by Charles D. Willard and Lucien Birdseye.

Q. 14. Have you in your possession the original or a copy of the several papers so signed at the time you executed said bail bond for said Sherwin; that is, 1st, have you the original or a copy of the bail bond of said Sherwin; 2d, have you or not the original or a copy of the obligation, if any, of said Sherwin, executed to yourself or to yourself and any one else jointly, on or about the twenty-sixth day of January, 1877; 3d, have you or not the original or a copy of any agreement or bond of indemnity executed to you by said Charles D. Willard on or about the said twenty-sixth day of January, 1877; 4th, have you or not the original or a copy of a joint and several bond of indemnity undertaking of Charles D. Willard and Lucien Birdseye, or either of them, indemnifying you in the sum of twenty thousand dollars on account of your signing said bail bond for said Sherwin, dated on or about the said twenty-sixth day of January, 1877; and, if yea, will you please produce said originals or copies thereof, respectively, as part of your answer of this question?

A. 1st, I have neither the original or a copy of the bail bond for said Sherwin; 2d, have neither the original or a copy of the obligation of said Sherwin to myself or myself and anyone else; 3d, I think I have the original or a copy of the agreement or bond of indemnity executed to me by said Charles D. Willard, but I can't say positively without looking at my papers; 4th, I don't know without looking over my 1496 papers whether I have the original or a copy of a joint and several bond of indemnity undertaking of Charles D. Willard and Lucien Birdseye, or either of them, indemnifying me in the sum of twenty thousand dollars on account of my signing said bail bond for said Sherwin. I will produce the originals or copies of the above documents, respectively, if it is in my power to do so.

Q. 15. When did you last see, speak to, or converse with said Willard, Sherwin, and Birdseye, or either of them, on the subject of your signing said bail bond of indemnity or any matter connected therewith?

A. I saw Mr. Sherwin, I think it was about a year and two months ago, and I saw Mr. Willard about six months ago, and I saw Mr. Birdseye about three weeks ago, I should judge, when I inquired if Mr. Sherwin was coming back soon.

Q. 16. Do you or not know where Mr. Sherwin or Mr. Willard are at this time?

A. I was informed that they are in Europe.

LAWRENCE P. BAYNE, a witness for complainant, being duly sworn, in answer to questions by complainant's counsel, says:

Q. 1. Please state your name, age and occupation.

A. Name, Lawrence P. Bayne; age, 64 years; occupation, negotiator and broker.

Q. 2. Do you, or not, know a body corporate called the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company?

A. I do know the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, existing in the State of Florida.

Q. 3. Did you, or not, at any time undertake or agree to negotiate any securities for or on account of said company? And, if yea, please state when it was, at whose request you acted, and the nature of the securities.

A. I did; it was in the year 1870; I acted at the instance of Milton S. Littlefield, the president of the said company; the bonds were issued or to be issued by the State of Florida to the said company, of which Littlefield was president.

Q. Did you, or not, negotiate said bonds, and were the same ever placed in your hands for delivery?

A. I did make an arrangement for the sale of said bonds, but when I called for them to deliver they were not forthcoming and were never delivered to me; but they were in the mean time and without my 1498 knowledge placed in the hands of S. W. Hopkins & Co., of New York City; Hopkins & Co. have a branch of their house also in London.

Q. 5. During the time you were negotiating said bonds, were there, or not, any question raised about their validity? and, if yea, state what it was, and from what source said report came.

A. When the bonds were first brought to my attention by said Littlefield they were represented as the regular bonds of the State of Florida, issued by authority of law, but it was but a short time before charges of fraud and illegality were circulated about their issue, and it was very difficult to introduce them into the market.

Q. 6. Do you know what became of the said bonds; were they ever sold within your knowledge; and, if yea, at what price?

A. They were, I believe, offered on the London market by John Collison, where they also failed to be accepted, but were subsequently placed on the Amsterdam market at reduced prices; they were eight per cent. bonds, payable in gold, and sold, I think (and so reported by the agents of S. W. Hopkins & Co.), by the company at fifty cents.

Q. 7. Did you, or not, subsequently, or at any time, have occasion to visit Europe, in reference to your dealings concerning said bonds? and, if yea, state when it was, and for what reason.

A. In order to protect my interest and secure the return of the money I had advanced the said company, as well as what was due me for my services, I was compelled to visit London in the summer of 1872.

Q. 8. While in London did you, or not, have any occasion to have any further dealings with or about said bonds? and, if yea, please state to the best of your knowledge what was their general standing in the market as securities.

A. I did have occasion, and was compelled to deal with some of said bonds while in Europe; I found their standing in the market was very bad, because of a general impression that they were not legally issued 1499 and would not be paid by the State of Florida; this impression and current opinion, I perceive, was founded on the same reports of fraud and illegality which had assailed them in New York, and that, in order to meet these reports, a portion of the bonds had to be used to pay the interest on the others before they were sold, so as to hold them up in the market; these charges of fraud and illegality emanated from statements written and published by parties in the railroad interest in the State of Florida; also by some of the officials that no provision for payment would be made of interest; these rumors and reports were very numerous.

Q. 9. State who at that time had the control of the negotiation of said bonds in London and Amsterdam, as far as you know.

A. In London they were controlled by S. W. Hopkins & Co. and John Collinson; in Amsterdam, as I was informed, by one Boissievain and others.

Q 10. Do you know or can you state any other matter or thing of interest to either party material to this your examination besides what you have been interrogated upon? and, if yea, state the same fully and at large in your answer.

A. I do not.

Present, J. B. Stewart, counsel for complainants.

HENRY H. THOMPSON, called and sworn as a witness on the part of the complainants, deposes and says:

Q. 1. What is your name, age, residence, and occupation?

A. Henry H. Thompson; fifty-four years of age; residing in the city of New York; and am clerk in the treasurer's office of the Erie Railway Company.

Q. 2. Are you or not acquainted with a corporation known as the Florida Central Railroad Company; and, if yea, were you at any time a stockholder, director, or officer of the same?

A. I am acquainted with such a corporation by repute, but never was a stockholder or director thereof.

Q. 3. Did you at any time sign any bond as treasurer of said company; and, if yea, state under what circumstances you did so?

1501 A. I did sign some bonds as treasurer of said company, and under the following circumstances: In the years 1866, 1867, and 1868 I was cashier of the Newbern National Bank, in Newbern, North Carolina, where I made the acquaintance of Geo. W. Swepson, and soon thereafter of Milton S. Littlefield; they informed me that they were the owners of the Florida Central Railroad, and held other railroad interests in the State of Florida connected therewith, and desired me to organize and take the cashiership of a National Bank at Jacksonville, Florida, together with the treasurership of said railroad, which they said would prove agreeable and remunerative to me financially. Believing in the representations made to me, I was persuaded to agree to do so, and made my arrangements accordingly; after considerable preparation to go to Florida, I was informed by Mr. Swepson that I had been duly elected treasurer of said railroad company, and I believed his statement to be true; about or soon after the time mentioned I was requested by Mr. Swepson, as president of the Central Florida Railroad Company, to sign papers purporting to be bonds of said company, which I did to the number, I believe, of one thousand, not suspecting at the time that I was being imposed upon and deceived, for had I suspected or doubted the truth of said Swepson's statement I never would have signed said bonds as treasurer.

Q. 4. Please state where you were at the time when you were induced to sign said bonds, and whether you had seen them before signing the same, or have seen them since?

A. I was at Littlefield's room in the St. Nicholas Hotel, New York City; the bonds were brought to me by Mr. Swepson, and believing his statement that I was duly elected treasurer of said company, I signed the same as such, and have since become satisfied that I was imposed upon in the manner stated; I never saw said bonds before, and have never seen them since.

Q. 5. Do you know or can you state any other matter or thing amterial to this your examination, of interest to either party, besides 1502 what you have answered in the questions propounded? If yea, please state the same fully and at large in your answer.

A. No; I do not.

Present, JOSEPH B. STEWART, for complainant.

MORITZ HERZBERG, a witness for complainant, recalled and sworn, testified as follows:

Q. 17. Are you now ready to produce the papers called for in the previous part of your examination?

A. No, sir; I could not find them.

Q. 18. When and where did you last see said papers?

A. I don't remember.

Q. 19. Have you searched for them?

A. I have.

Q. 20. Where did you search for them?

A. Amongst my papers.

Q. 21. Now state, to the best of your recollection, the contents of said papers; first, state the contents and terms of the papers signed on the 26th or 27th day of January, 1877, by Frank R. Sherwin, at the office of Lucien Birdseye, agreeing to pay you bonds of the Jacksonville & Mobile Railroad Company as compensation for yourself and Ephraim D. Slater signing his bail bond?

A. The contents of the paper was for signing the bail bond; I was to get five bonds of a Florida railroad—I don't remember the name of the road—as soon as they were issued.

(Complainant's counsel requests the examiners to note his objection to the witness being represented by counsel in the person of Lucien Birdseye, or any one else, or as a subsitute for any one else, to interfere with or direct the examination of the witness, and asks the examiners to exclude all such interference, said Birdseye stating here and now that he was present for that purpose, and offered to advise in the examination of the witness. 1504

The examiners hold that the witness is not entitled to counsel, but there is no objection to Mr. Birdseye being here for the purpose of listening to the testimony of the witness, and taking notes or a copy of his testimony, provided he does not in any way interfere with the examination of the witness.

Mr. Birdseye states that he is not here to interfere in any way with the witness' examination, and that he has not interfered by making suggestion or otherwise.)

Q. 22. Was or was not the name of the bonds you were to receive entitled the Jacksonville & Mobile Railroad Company?

A. I really don't remember, but I don't think that was the title.

Q. 23. Since your adjourned examination have you or not consulted any lawyer or counsel about this your examination and the production of said papers, and, if yea, state when it was, or who it was?

A. I won't answer that question unless compelled to do it by the examiners.

(Complainant's counsel requests the examiners to pass upon the quesiton.

Examiners hold that it is the duty of the witness to answer the question.

Witness says he still declines to answer; that it concerns his private business, and he does not believe he need testify as to his private business with his lawyer.

Question reserved for the court.)

1505 Q. 24. Since your adjourned examination have you seen or spoken to, or advised with, or been advised by, Lucien Birdseye, now present, on the subject of your examination or the production of said papers.

A. That is also my private business, and I decline to answer it for this reason.

Q. 25. Did or did not said Lucien Birdseye advise you not to produce said papers?

A. He could not, because I could not find them, and, therefore, had no occasion to consult with anybody on the subject.

(Answer objected to as evasive and argumentative, and question repeated.)

A. Can't give any better answer.

Q. 26. I did not ask you as to the loss of your papers, but did and do ask you to state directly whether you have advised with, or been advised by, Lucien Birdseye about your examination in this cause, and about the production of said papers?

A. No, sir.

Q. 27. Have you not seen Charles D. Willard since your last examination.

A. No, sir.

Q. 28. State who is the private counsel to whom you referred in your previous answer?

A. Judge Cardoza.

Q. 29. Did or did not Judge Cardoza advise you to produce or not to produce said papers?

A. I don't think I ever asked him, because I could not find the papers.

Q. 30. Did you or not request Lucien Birdseye to attend this examination as your counsel, and did you or not come with or appoint to meet him here?

A. I did not.

Q. 31. Do you know at whose instance or request he has offered to act as your counsel on this examination?

A. I have not heard him offer to act as my counsel at this examination.

1506 Q. 32. Did you not hear Lucien Birdseye state, in the early part of this examination, on this day, that he was here as the counsel of Moritz Herzberg, at the request of Judge Cardoza, who was sick? Please give a direct and positive answer to this question.

A. I heard him say that he was here at the request of Judge Cardoza, but did not, as I remember, hear him state that he was here for any purpose.

Q. 33. Do you know where Frank R. Sherwin is at this time?

A. I do not.

Q. 34. When did you last hear of his whereabouts?

A. About two (2) months ago.

Q. 35. Where was said Sherwin at that time?

A. In England, as I heard; I can't state positively.

Q. 36. Who told you he was in England?

A. Judge Birdseye.

Q. 37. Do you know or can you state any other matter or thing material to this your examination beyond what you have answered to the questions propounded to you; and, if yea, please state the same fully and at large in your answer.

A. The only thing: I was asked last time about some bonds; there were no bonds exhibited to me; I was told they were not issued yet, but would get them as soon as issued.

TIMOTHY H. PORTER, called as a witness on the part of the complainant, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

Q. 1. State your name, age, residence, and occupation.

A. My name is Timothy H. Porter; age, 50 years; reside in Stamford, Connecticut, and am by occupation a banker in the city of New York.

Q. 2. Are you, or are you not, acquainted with the parties complainant and defendant in this suit, or any of them?

A. I know the complainant Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and some of the defendants. I know the Florida Central and Jacksonville and Mobile-Pensacola Railroad as a body corporate. I know M. S. Littlefield and Thomas B. Coddington.

Q. 3. Did you, or did you not, have any dealings with one George W.
Swepson, as president of the complainant company, in reference 1508 to the sale of any bonds? And, if yea, please state when it was, the character of the bonds, and state fully what transpired.

A. In the latter part of 1868, or early in 1869, Mr. Swepson deposited with Soutter & Co., of 53 William street, an issue of North Carolina State bonds issued to the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and made arrangements with the said firm (of which I was the senior partner) for the negotiation and sale of the same.

Q. 4. Did you, or did you not, sell said bonds or any portion of them? And, if yea, please state when you commenced making said sale, and what amount, if any, were sold by or before the first day of July, 1869.

A. The sales commenced in the early part of January, 1869, and they continued till midsummer, and possibly after. I don't remember just when they were concluded. Before the first of July the net proceeds of the sales amounted to over one million of dollars.

Q. 5. Was, or was not, any of the money derived from the sale of said bonds paid out by drafts drawn by one Edward Houstoun, as agent, or otherwise?

A. A large amount was drawn upon drafts signed by E. Houstoun, agent.

Q. 6. Please look at the drafts now shown you marked No. 1 to No. 52, respectively, and state whether or not said drafts were paid by your firm; and, if yea, out of what fund they were paid.

A. They were paid by the firm of Soutter & Co. from funds realized by the sale of the North Carolina State bonds above alluded to, or a portion of them.

The counsel for the complainant asks the examiners to compare and append the copies of the original drafts as part of the deposition of the witness, as it is necessary to have the originals on another examination, and which is accordingly done.

Q. 7. Besides the drafts shown you, were there other portions 1509 of the proceeds of the said bonds at and during the period above mentioned drawn by George W. Swepson and Edward Houstoun, or either of them.

A. Other portions were drawn by Mr. Swepson, or his order, and my impression is that additional drafts were drawn by Mr. Houstoun, but the exact amount I cannot state.

Q. 8. Do you know or can you state any other matter or thing material to either of the parties, plaintiff or defendant, beyond what you have stated; and, if yea, please state the same fully and at large, as if interrogated thereto?

A. I will say nothing except the fact that we required that Mr. Swepson should lodge with us (Soutter & Co.) the authority of the board of directors of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company for the payments of the drafts above alluded to, and also for those drawn by himself, personally, which was done.

Counsel for the complainant present, as before.

THOMAS E. WILLSON, called as a witness on the part of the complainant, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

Q. 1. State your name, age, residence, and occupation.

1534 A. My name is Thomas Edgar Wilson; my age, 34 years; my residence, 129 West Sixty-first street; my occupation is journalist, and my present occupation is day editor of the World.

Q. 2. Within your knowledge, as connected with the World newspaper, published in the city of New York, was there or was there not a communication published with reference to the issue of bonds by the State of Florida, in exchange for any railroad bonds; and, if yea, have you under your control the said article, or a copy thereof, as printed in said journal, and will you produce the same as part of your answer?

A. There was such an article published in the World newspaper, dated Florida, June 10th, 1870, and published in the World June 15th, 1870, the original files containing which I now produce for the examination of the examiners taking the testimony, but as the same belong to the files of the office I cannot part with the same, but produce a copy of the same compared by myself very carefully, and which I make part of my answer, and the same is marked Exhibit A.

Q. 3. Did or did not the editor of the World receive any further communication from the State of Florida in reference to said bond issue, and the character thereof?

A. A further communication was received, dated Tallahassee, June 13, 1870, which was referred to in an editorial in the World, in which its substance was stated, warning capitalists against purchasing the bonds referred to as fraudulent.

Q. 4. Besides publishing the communication you have mentioned, was its character and contents commented upon editorially in the World; and, if so, will you produce the same, or a copy thereof, as a part of your answer?

A. It was noticed editorially in the World, and I produce a copy thereof, marked Exhibit B, and which I make a part of my answer.

Q. 5. Has or has not the New York World, as a public journal, a circulation in Europe; and, if so, to what extent, and had it such circulation in 1870?

1535 A. It has, and in 1870 it had a large circulation, we having an office in London at the time, where it was sold and from which all our European subscribers and correspondents were supplied.

Q. 6. About the time of said publication, to wit, June 1870, and subsequent thereto, did you or did you not hear of other similar publications being made, touching the validity of the said Florida State bonds described in said publication of June 15th, 1870?

A. I did; the article created a good deal of discussion, and was copied in a number of papers through the country, and referred to by others, and became a subject of general notoriety.

Q. 7. Do you know or can you state any other matter or thing of interest to parties complainants or defendants besides what you have answered unto? and if yea, please state the same at large in your answer.

A. I know of nothing.

T. E. WILLSON.

FLORIDA RAILROAD BONDS.

To the Editor of the World:

SIR: The governor of Florida is reported to have issued, within the last few days, State bonds amounting to about four millions of dollars to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, of which General M. S. Littlefield (not altogether unknown, either in Massachusetts, New York City, or North Carolina), is president. Under their act of incorporation, the same company may hereafter claim a further issue of about three millions—making seven millions in all. Other companies already chartered have the privilege under bills, which have become laws, to claim an issue of not less (probably more) than five millions, making a State railroad bond debt of twelve millions of dollars.

Florida, be it remembered, has a population scarcely sufficient to give her one Representative in Congress, and the taxable property constitutes, probably, the poorest Congressional district in the Union.

As the bonds first above mentioned have already been issued, and are on their way to New York, and some of them to Europe (it is said) for negotiation, it is well, perhaps, that capitalists should be put on their guard.

There is not probably an intelligent person in Florida who doubts but that the people of the State, whenever called upon to pay, will repudiate the whole of the indebtedness.

They will deem this not only a necessity, because of their power, but as a right and a duty. To admit the validity of the debt would be to give sanction to a violation of their State constitution, and inducement to corrupt executive and legislative action.

1537 The clauses of the State constitution relating to this matter are the following:

"No tax shall be levied upon persons for the benefit of any chartered company of the State, or for paying the interest on any bonds issued by said chartered companies."

"The legislature shall have power to provide for issuing State bonds bearing interest for securing the debt of the State, and for the erection of State buildings, support of State institutions, and perfecting public works."

Under the concluding words of the second of the foregoing clauses the doubtful right was claimed for the legislature of authorizing the issue of these bonds.

If, as held by the supreme court of Michigan, in the late cases reported in the New York World, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company (of whose stock the State owns not one dollar), is a private enterprise, and not a public work, the words quoted give no authority for the grant of these bonds. I quote from the report of The World:

"Taxation, said the court, in effect, is the taking of the people's money under the implied condition of using it for the people's good. Where it is not imposed for public, but for private purposes, then it ceases to be taxation and becomes plunder. Such being the case, the question arises whether railroads are public objects, and the answer to this is, no. They are private property whose owners make it their business to transport persons and merchandise in their own carriages over their own land for such pecuniary consideration as may be stipulated. True, as they accommodate a public want they seem to possess a public character, but that character is in nowise different from that attaching to a hotel, a line of stages, or a grist mill—all of which are public because they serve the public, but in the eye of the law mere private enterprises begun and carried on for private gain."

1538 It would seem that some capitalists, whether in New York, London, or Frankfort, before determining to sink their money in Littlefield's bonds, would do well to consider the words of the Florida constitution in connection with the Michigan decision.

But, as intimated above, leaving out the question of constitutional power, these bonds are in Florida confidently believed to be the result of corrupt executive and legislative action. A letter from George W. Swepson of North Carolina, a confederate of Littlefield, sent by Littlefield's hands to Governor Reed, has come to light, from which the following are extracts:

"I regret my inability to be in your city during the extra session of the legislature. General Littlefield has the bills, &c., and will fully explain everything to you. * * * * You will remember when in New York, our agreement was this: You were to call the legislature together, and use your influence to have our bills passed as drawn by us, and if you were successful in this, you were to be paid $12,500 in cash," &c.

The legislature was accordingly convened in extra session only about three months after its regular session, and did not pass the railroad bill required of them. But the majority not then being thoroughly corrupted a clause was inserted in the act authorizing the issue of the bonds after a severe struggle requiring the railroad company to give to the State mortgage security for its protection. This clause, though notoriously adopted by both branches of the legislature, was found to have mysteriously disappeared from the act, as signed by the governor, among the rolls of the secretary of state. A bill in chancery was, therefore, filed to enjoin the issue of the bonds, on the ground that the act authorizing their issue had been fraudulently changed by Littlefield and his associates, or by their procurement, and for their benefit. The injunction was granted by the court, and no motion was ever made by the parties to have it dissolved. At the next session of the legislature, held in January last, the operations of the railroad ring thus ar- 1539 rested by the court were renewed at the capital, and a bill was actually prepared by these shameless parties, introduced and passed, whereby validity was given to the law pronounced void by the court for fraudulent alteration of it, with authorization for the issue of bonds in immensely augmented quantities. It is not necessary to say by what methods this was brought about. The bill, on its passage, was characterized well and aptly by Mr. Walker, a republican member, as a bill to legalize fraud and pay a premium to rascality.

And it is under this bill, claiming to be a law, that the four millions of Florida State bonds now on their way to Northern and European markets for negotiation have been issued.

THE FLORIDA BONDS SWINDLE.

We have received a telegram, dated Tallahassee, June 13, and signed by five respectable names, warning capitalists against purchasing the Florida State bonds which have just been issued for railroad purposes. We have also received a letter from a member of the legal profession in Florida, dated June 10, stating the amount of these bonds, exposing their fraudulent character, and narrating the methods by which this corrupt swindle was perpetrated. This letter will be found in another column. We commend it to the perusal of capitalists to whom the bonds may be offered, and also to the attention of citizens who desire information respecting the working of the reconstructed government of that State.

1541 Several adjournments from day to day to Monday, February 10th, 1879, at 11 a. m.

MONDAY, February 10th, 1879—10½ a. m.

Present, counsel for complainant as before.

SAMUEL M. CHAPMAN, a witness on the part of the complainant, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

Q. 1. What is your name, age, and residence?

A. Name, Samuel M. Chapman; age, thirty-eight years; I reside in the city of New York.

Q. 2. What was your occupation and business connection in the years 1870, 1871, 1872, and 1873?

A. I was connected with the firm of Sidney W. Hopkins & Company.

Q. 3. What business was your firm engaged in, and where?

A. They were engaged in importing and supplying iron to railroads, and negotiating securities in New York, and London, England.

Q. 4. Do you or not know a body corporate and politic styled the 'Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company?" And if yea, state when and how you acquired the knowledge.

A. I do know said company. I became acquainted with it in the early part of the year 1870, at which time the firm with which I was then connected entered into an agreement to sell a large amount of bonds for said company.

Q. 5. What kind of bonds, and to what amount?

A. Bonds issued by the State of Florida to said company; the amount offered was four thousand bonds of the par value of one thousand dollars each.

Q. 6. Did or did not said firm sell said bonds in whole or in part, and what amount, if any?

A. They did sell a portion of said bonds, to wit, twenty-eight hundred, numbered from one to twenty-eight hundred, both inclusive.

1542 Q. 7. Did they or not sell more than twenty-eight hundred of said bonds?

A. They did not sell more than twenty-eight hundred.

Q. 8. At what price, if any special price was agreed upon, did said firm of Hopkins & Co. agree to account to said company for said bonds?

A. The price which Hopkins & Co. agreed to pay and did pay for the bonds was, I think, one hundred pounds sterling for each bond of one thousand dollars, or about fifty cents on the dollar.

Q. 9. What, if anything, within your knowledge, caused said bonds to be sold at such a reduced price as, say, of about five hundred dollars for each one thousand dollar bond, and when and in what manner were said purchases and sales made? Please state fully the facts as they occurred.

Q. When the said bonds were first brought to the firm for sale, they expected to get a good market price for them as they were eight per cent. gold bonds of a State, but before any of them were placed upon the market, the newspapers of the State of Florida, and of the city of New York, charged that the issue of said bonds was fraudulent, illegal, and void. In consequence of these publications, and the fact that it was charged that the law authorizing the issue of said bonds was unconstitutional and void, it was not in their power to put them on the market at the price they originally expected. There were verbal reports of the illegal and fraudulent character of the bonds in circulation before the publications I have mentioned, and these rumors were afloat as early as June, in the year eighteen hundred and seventy, but before this time the firm had given credit on the faith of the bonds, and they were forced to sell them at some price to protect themselves. The attention of M. S. Littlefield, the president of said company, was called to these rumors and publications, and requested that they be allowed to take the bonds to account at a reduced price of fifty per cent. or less so as to be able to hold out special inducements for parties to buy 1543 them, as the only way to make a sale of them at all. Their proposition to said Littlefield was acceded to by him for the company, and the bonds were taken to account at one hundred pounds per bond, and afterwards disposed of through John Collinson, in London, at or about one hundred and thirty-eight pounds, ten shillings and one pence per pound.

Q. 10. About what time did your firm make the offer to take said bonds at fifty per cent. or less, and at what time were your propositions agreed to, if at all? And if the proposition or acceptance, or either of them, was in writing, please produce such writing and make the same a part of your answer to this interrogatory.

A. Letters were addressed to M. S. Littlefield, as president of said company, under dates of June 16th and 17th, 1870, which I will produce and make part of my answer to this interrogatory. His acceptance was subsequent and made in London November 14th, 1870, which I also produce as part of this answer; and also the acceptance of said firm under date of November 28th, 1870, which I also make a part of this answer (marked, respectively, Exhibits C, D, E, and F).

Q. 10. Who, if any one, to your knowledge or information, besides your firm and said John Collinson were interested in the sale and purchase of said bonds at the reduced prices you have named?

A. Certain parties in Amsterdam, Holland.

Q. 12. Please give the dates of the first and last sale of said bonds, if you can.

A. The first real sale of said bonds was made on or about the 19th day of November, 1870, and the last on or about July 31st, 1871.

Q. 13. Was or was not any portion of the gross proceeds of the sales of said bonds deducted therefrom; and if yea, what amount and for what purpose?

A. A sum amounting to nearly four hundred thousand dollars was deducted from the gross amount of said proceeds, and used for the purpose of paying interest on the bonds so sold and floating them on the market.

1544 Q. 14. Do you know or can you state any other or further matter or thing material or of interest to the parties plaintiff or defendant herein further than you have stated? And if yea, please state the same fully and at large, as if specifically thereunto interrogated.

A. Nothing further occurs to my mind.

S. M. CHAPMAN.

M. S. LITTLEFIELD, Esq.,
President, Washington, D. C.:

DEAR SIR: Your favors of 14th and 15th inst. are received, and we carefully note contents.

In reference to the article on "Florida bonds," we observe that you authorize us to do anything which we may find necessary. We do not know what can be done, or whether anything can be done, but on the arrival of Col. Houstoun here to-morrow, we purpose having him and Col. New York, June 17th, 1870.

M. S. Littlefield, Esq.,
President, Washington, D. C.:

Dear Sir: In consequence of the articles which recently appeared in the World, as also of the notice in to-day's papers of application for an injunction to prevent sale or negotiation of the $4,000,000 issue of Florida bonds, the success of our negotiations has (as you will readily understand) become so much endangered that it seems absolutely necessary to act on the other side at once before the articles in question shall be copied there, accompanied by the unfavorable comments which it is almost certain will be elicited. And thus it may, at any moment, become necessary for us to cable our Mr. F. H. Collins (who is now abroad, and engaged in the negotiation), instructing him to close at such price as he may at the time be able to command; and on this account we have to request that you will at once forward to us authority to place the bonds (if we should find it necessary to do so) at a minimum of 40 instead of 60, as at present authorized.

In view of the onslaughts which have already been made, and of those which will be almost certain to follow, we think it vitally important that we receive such authorization, and at the earliest practicable moment. Please give us your views in brief by telegraph on receipt of this.

Also please inform us whether the supreme court of Florida has ever rendered any decision bearing on the constitutionality of the act of legislature which authorizes the present $4,000,000 issue, and if such 1547 decision has been made, please advise us fully in reference to it, and also send us a copy, duly attested, at once, as it will be of the greatest importance to us.

Enclosed we hand you copies of our correspondence with Mr. D. J. Pruyn, which will explain itself.

Yours very truly,

S. W. HOPKINS & CO.
ELLIS.

Upon request of counsel for defendant the further examination of this witness was adjourned to Thursday, April 10th, 1879, at 11 a. m.

THURSDAY, April 10th, 1879—11 a. m.

Present, counsel as before.

Q. 3. Please state when, how, and in what manner you acquired your knowledge of said company?

A. In 1871, as a contractor for building an extension of said road.

Q. 4. In connection with the building of said road, did you or did you not have anything to do with the negotiation of any bonds used, or proposed to be used, in the building of the road of said company; and if yea, please state what bonds they were, and the amount issued or proposed to be issued for that purpose?

1554 A. I had not at that time anything to do with the negotiation of any bonds; there were bonds of the State of Florida, but I had nothing to do with them at that time.

Q. 5. Was there or was there not, within your knowledge, any one at that time, and if so, who, engaged in negotiating bonds for the building of said road, and where was the same being conducted?

A. There were; Mr. John Collinson, of London, England, and also Hopkins & Company, New York and London, with parties in Amsterdam.

Q. 6. Please look at the paper now shown you, dated London, December 3d, 1871, which I make part of this question, headed "Dr. sir," and signed "Wm. G. M. Davis," and state whether or not you know the handwriting of said letter, and if yea, state by whom the same was written, and in reference to what subject matter?

A. I am familiar with this handwriting; it is in the handwriting of Gen. Davis.

Q. 7. Are you or are you not familiar with the handwriting of General Davis, and have you seen him write?

A. I am familiar with his handwriting, and have seen him write; this letter is in his handwriting.

(Paper marked Ex. C, No. 1.)

Q. 8. Please look at the paper now shown you, dated London, December 28, 1871, addressed "My dear sir," and signed "William G. M. Davis," made part of this question, marked Ex. C. No. 2, and state whether or not you know the handwriting of said letter, and whether the same was received by you, to the best of your knowledge and recollection.

At this stage of the examination Mr. Lucien Birdseye appears in person as of counsel for the defendants, Geo. F. Drew, governor, and Geo. F. Drew, individually, and stated that neither he nor his firm appear or have authority to appear for any other defendants, and that he objects to the present examination, and the commission under which it 1555 purports to be taken, as wholly irregular, unauthorized, void, and inoperative, and to all the testimony taken or to be taken thereunder, as inoperative, irregular, and void, and that the defendant Drew, governor, and Drew does not by this appearance waive any such objection, but hereby enters the same of record for such motion, thereupon to be hereafter made, as may be proper.

Counsel for the complainant now requests the examiners to require the counsel, Lucien Birdseye, who has appeared upon this adjourned examination, and interposed the foregoing objection, in the name of Geo. F. Drew, governor, and George F. Drew, and stated he appears for no other defendant, to show and exhibit his authority from said George F. Drew, governor, and George F. Drew, individually, for such his appearance or interference in this examination.

The examiners note on the record that on the 11th day of February, 1879, a notice was served upon them, a true copy of which is hereto annexed, signed by Birdseye, Cloyd & Baylis, solicitors for George F. Drew, governor, &c., which notice does not state in the body thereof for whom said Birdseye, Cloyd & Baylis appear, or propose to appear, and cross examine witnesses.

The examiners—as the complainant's counsel seems to question the authority of Lucien Birdseye to appear herein—request said Birdseye to show and exhibit to them his authority to appear in this examination, and for whom he appears.

Mr. Birdseye states that he declines to exhibit any authority for his appearance on this examination, claiming that such authority is a matter solely between himself and client, and that his capacity as an attorney and counsellor of the courts of the United States, and of the State of New York, are a sufficient warrant for his appearance in this case.

JOSEPH B. STEWART, being duly sworn, on oath states: That a few days after receiving a notice from Messrs. Birdseye, Cloyd & 1556 Bayliss, which he makes a part of this statement, wherein they informed me that they were retained by George Y. Drew and others to appear as their counsel in this examination, I visited Florida and exhibited said paper to George F. Drew, governor of Florida, who, in reply thereto, informed me that he had not employed Messrs. Birdseye, Cloyd & Bayliss, or any member of that firm, to appear for him in this or any other suit in which he had no personal interest whatever, but that Charles D. Willard, who had presented to him, as governor, one or more petitions in the name of Gideon Maria Bussevain, Adrian J. Milders, Joseph Zaddocks, Adrian Stoop, and others, claiming to be the holders of certain bonds issued by the State of Florida, involved in this suit, praying the seizure of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile and Florida Central Railroads, as the trustees of said bondholders, and pursuant to which he did seize and advertise for sale said railroads, and pursuant to which these suits were brought, wherein he is represented by the Hon. George P. Rainey, attorney-general of the State of Florida—said Willard applied to him to employ counsel in New York to represent the interest of the defendants, which he understood to be the defendants in interest, to wit, the Dutch bondholders, and not himself, and told said Willard he could employ such counsel as he chose, at his own expense, to defend such interests, and not otherwise, and that he should reserve, even for that purpose, the right to dismiss such counsel or withdraw such authority whenever he acted to the contrary.

I further state that on or about the 16th day of February, 1879, when I was defending a motion made by said Willard and his associates, in the name of such bondholders, to impose a receiver on the Florida Central Railroad, that said Willard produced and offered to read certain depositions taken under this commission, before the present examiners, and especially the deposition of Timothy H. Porter; that I then and there arraigned said Willard before the court, and required him 1557 to disclose by what means he got in possession of the depositions being taken in this cause from the possession of the examiners, before the same were filed and published in due course of law; that said Willard, being compelled by the court to make such disclosure, stated that he had obtained them through Lucien Birdseye, now present, whom he had employed as his counsel in New York by permission of Governor Drew. I then pressed him to state whether he claimed that said Governor Drew had given him any written authority, and if so, to produce the same, when he said he had not as the counsel for Governor Drew, but to act for him as counsel in behalf of the Dutch bondholders, and that upon such authority, and no other, and for such purpose, and through him, had possessed himself of the depositions taken before the present examiners. I then called the attention of the court to the fact that Governor Drew, as governor and trustee, and the trustees of the internal improvement fund, were represented of record by said Rainey and Walker, and further pressed my objection and for an order condemning the conduct of said Willard and Birdseye in getting surreptitious possession of said depositions before publication, and moved the court to exclude the reading of the same, which order was granted; when said Willard, to meet the strictures of the court upon the conduct of himself and said Birdseye in getting possession of said depositions before publication, stated that it was in the interest of such Dutch bondholders that the same were obtained, who were the moving parties in the motion for a receiver. The court nevertheless refused the reading of said depositions as having been brought into court without right or authority; and when being thus sustained, I consented that the depositions might be read as a matter of propriety and to avoid a suspicion of a desire to exclude anything.

I further state that I subsequently informed Governor Drew of what had occurred in court and what said Willard had stated subsequently, as above stated, when he again repeated that he had not employed 1558 Lucien Birdseye in this or any other cause; that he had paid him no retainer, and had assumed no obligation to pay him any; that his employment, if at all, by said Willard, was at the expense of said Willard and his associates on behalf of the Dutch bondholders, and not otherwise, and not as his, said Drew's, counsel, in any respect or for any purpose.

JOS. B. STEWART.

Subscribed and sworn to before us, this 10th day of April, A. D. 1876.

JAMES M. BALL,
R. E. STILWELL,
Examiners.

Counsel for complainant, upon foregoing statement, and upon the refusal of said Birdseye to produce his authority for appearing in this cause on the part of George F. Drew, governor, or George F. Drew individually, who has no personal interest in the same, respectfully submits to the examiners that the use of the name of said Drew by said Birdseye is a mere cover for interfering in the proceedings and interposing objections and obstructing the business of taking testimony in the real interest of said Dutch bondholders, under the procurement of said Willard, parties, upon the record, he has declared he does not represent, and has no authority to represent, and therefore asks the examiners to make such order and to enforce such rule as will protect this examination from any such intrusion, and refuse the further recognition of said Birdseye as counsel on behalf of any of the defendants in interest in this cause, for the reason stated by himself among others.

Mr. Birdseye, in reply to such application of complainant's counsel, calls the attention of the examiners to the notice of appearance for Governor Drew, mentioned by Mr. Stewart in his sworn statement, and which is the same paper above mentioned by the examiners on this record, although entitled in the suit of the Western Division of the further states and submits that it is no part of the duty or power of the examiners to hear, try, pass upon, or decide any such question as that raised by the application of complainant's counsel, or what attorney or counsel of the court may or shall appear upon this or any other like examination, or for whom or on whose behalf or employment such counsel or attorney does in fact appear.
1559 Western North Carolina Railroad Company against George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida, George F. Drew, governor, &c., and others, in order to designate the suit, is nevertheless signed by Birdseye, Cloyd & Bayliss, as solicitors for Geo. F. Drew, governor, &c., and does not purport to be a notice on behalf of any other defendant in this action than the said Governor Drew. And Mr. Birdseye

NOTE BY THE EXAMINERS.—The complainant's counsel having denied that said Lucien Birdseye, counsel for George F. Drew, governor, or George F. Drew, individually, and denied his right to appear and take part in this examination as counsel for said Drew, as governor or individually, and having called upon said Lucien Birdseye to produce his authority to appear and take part herein as such counsel, and said Birdseye having refused to show or exhibit to the examiners his authority to appear as such counsel, the examiners are of opinion that said Birdseye should produce his authority from said Drew, before taking further part in this examination, as counsel for said Drew, as governor or individually, in this proceeding.

Mr. Birdseye asks the examiners to note that the sworn statement of complainant's counsel, on which his application was made, does not deny or disprove, but expressly proves the fact that he, Mr. Birdseye, was retained and employed by and on behalf of said Drew, governor, &c., to attend on this examination, and that no further or other proof on that subject is required, and with entire respect for the examiners and the court, insists that the examiners, on such an application, have neither the duty nor the power to take any proofs, or make any examin-1560 ation, ruling, or decision as to the authority, retainer, or employment of any counsel who may appear before them claiming the right, power, and authority to appear for or represent any party named as a party in the suit before them, and if examiners have such duty or power in any case, that no sufficient foundation has been laid for that application in this case.

The examiners make the order that the above named Lucien Birdseye has no right to take any part in this examination further, until he shows and exhibits to the examiners herein his authority to appear and cross-examine and take part in this examination on behalf of Geo. F. Drew, governor, and Geo. F. Drew, individually, and that he retire herefrom until he shows and exhibits such authority to the examiners herein.

Said Lucien Birdseye requests the examiners to note his exception to such ruling and order of the examiners on every ground, and particularly that it is made without notice and without proper opportunity given him to call witnesses and adduce proofs against such ruling and order, and he asks the examiners to adjourn all proceedings before them for a reasonable time, to enable him to call and examine witnesses on such application, and prior to such ruling and order.

The counsel for the complainant, before the order asked for by Mr. Birdseye, requests the examiners to require said Birdseye to state the names of his witnesses and where they reside, by whom he expects to prove his authority to appear for said Drew, as governor or individually, and the particular facts he expects to prove by them.

The examiners make such request.

Mr. Birdseye states that he will give such names to-morrow.

The counsel for complainant submits to the examiners that 1561 the witness under examination has journeyed from the State of Minnesota, bringing with him important papers pertaining to this examination, and that he is in delicate health and not able to remain from home with convenience or safety; that the time for taking testimony is about expiring, and cannot be renewed or extended; and that the application of Mr. Birdseye to introduce witnesses whose name or residences he is not prepared to give is not made in good faith, but is designed, if possible, to defeat the examination, while pretending to prove authority to appear as counsel in this cause, which, if it exists at all, should be in his possession, and that, too, after the counsel has declined to produce any authority, and has declared he will not do so.

Counsel for complainant, therefore, requests and desires the examiners to proceed with the examination of the witness, which has been obstructed and delayed without right or authority.

Mr. Birdseye, on behalf of Governor Drew, rejects utterly all imputations of bad faith, or of want of good faith, or of any design or authority to obstruct, hinder, or prevent this examination, and says that he deems himself in every way fully authorized to appear on this examination as he has done; that the objection to his appearing is a surprise to him, and that he cannot make the statement of witnesses, &c., requested by the examiners without a reasonable opportunity to consult others whom he cannot to-day have interviews with.

The solicitor for the complainant, in view of the fact that the whole day has been consumed till so late an hour, and in view of the fact that Mr. Birdseye persists in asserting that he has been authorized to act in this cause as counsel for and by George F. Drew, governor, and George F. Drew, individually, although refusing to produce any authority therefor, and declaring that he would not, but in order to 1562 avoid real or pretended excuses for not being permitted to further participate in this examination without the production of such authority requests the examiners to adjourn this examination till eleven o'clock to-morrow, in order to afford said Birdseye an opportunity to prove his authority from said Drew to appear in this cause as his counsel, and to file the same as record.

Accordingly examination adjourned to Friday, April 11th, 1879, at 11 o'clock.

FRIDAY, April 11*th*, 1879—11 a. m.

Present, Joseph B. Stewart, counsel for complainant; Lucien Birdseye, claiming to represent George F. Drew, governor, &c., as his counsel.

Lucien Birdseye states, that having waited from 11 to 12 o'clock, and complainant's counsel not being present until 11.45, he now moves to adjourn the examination till to-morrow, at 11 o'clock.

Examiners refuse the adjournment, as the complainant's counsel is here with his witness ready to proceed, and Mr. Birdseye has not satisfied the examiners that he is entitled to appear as counsel herein.

Mr. Birdseye takes an exception to this refusal and the reason for it.

Complainant's counsel now asks the examiners to require Mr. Birdseye to produce the evidence of his authority to appear for George F. Drew, governor, or George F. Drew, individually, as counsel in this cause, to afford him with which the examination, upon motion of complainant's solicitor, was adjourned till to-day.

The examiners accordingly require Mr. Birdseye to produce the evidence asked for by complainant's counsel.

1563 Mr. Birdseye states that he proposes and offers to prove such his authority by the examination or affidavits of the following persons, among others: Mr. Coyne, of Jacksonville, Florida; Charles

D. Willard, of Washington, D. C.; and he states that he offers the affidavits or examination of other parties resident in Florida to the same effect, but, not having foreseen this application, he had not provided himself with definite information as to the names and residences of such parties, and has not been able to obtain such information since the adjournment yesterday.

Complainant's counsel now asks to exhibit to the commissioners and file with them the notice he received from Birdseye, Cloyd & Bayliss for the appearance as solicitors for Geo. F. Drew, &c., in this proceeding, and referred to in his sworn statement of yesterday. Complainant's counsel further states, said notice is 8th day of February, 1879, and purports to be given "pursuant to request this day received," to wit, the 8th day of February, 1879 (Exhibits R. E. S).

That complainant's counsel, regarding the words "George F. Drew, &c." to mean the other parties defending in the cause, to wit, the so-called Dutch bondholders, and that the words "&c." were used merely as descriptive of that class of persons, he deemed it his duty to recognize the notice, and to notify Mr. Birdseye of the further taking of testimony, as complainant's counsel would have done at any earlier stage of the cause had such notice been given, because the said Geo. F. Drew, governor, being ex-officio the trustee of the so-called Dutch bondholders in this suit, had a right to represent them by counsel, they being the real parties in interest, said Drew himself having no personal interest in it whatever, against whom no relief is asked, and only being sued as trustee; but that had complainant's counsel supposed that Mr. Birdseye meant to attempt to limit himself to Geo. F. Drew individually, who being but a mere nominal party, he would neither have accepted 1564 his notice, or notified him of this proceeding, or permitted him to appear, without objection, to ask questions or perform acts in this examination which bound nobody. Complainant's counsel further states, and respectfully insists, that the pretended giving of names of witnesses, by whom to prove his authority here, to wit, Mr. Coyne, who is the telegraph operator at Jacksonville, Florida, a distance some thousand four hundred miles away, and Mr. Charles D. Willard, who is to-day in Amsterdam, Holland, as I am informed and believe, seeking testimony in this cause for the defendants, or the names of other parties yet to be ascertained, is a mere sham and pretence to embarrass and delay this proceeding.

That the time for taking testimony in this cause has been extended to next Monday week, to wit, the third Monday of this month, by special order of the court, to close this and one other commission on the part of the complainant, and that the taking of testimony on the part of the defendants also closes within two weeks, when publication of testimony must occur, and that Mr. Birdseye cannot fail to know that it is tantamount to abandoning and defeating this examination, which I believe to be the object of this interference.

I further respectfully submit to the examiners that after the adjournment yesterday, and in view of the positive assertions made by Mr. Birdseye that he had been authorized by George F. Drew to appear for him as George F. Drew, governor, and George F. Drew individually, and not otherwise, thus assuming to contradict my sworn statement, I deemed it my duty to telegraph Governor Drew, and did so by addressing to him the following inquiry:

"To GEORGE F. DREW,
"Governor, Ellaville, Fla.:

"Did you employ Lucien Birdseye to appear for you as governor or individually, in taking testimony here in the railroad suits in Florida?
(Signed) "JOS. B. STEWART"— desiring an answer early in the day. That shortly after eleven o'clock this morning, and the awaiting of which detained me from being present at an earlier moment, I received from Governor Drew the following telegram, which reads as follows:

1565 "ELLAVILLE, FLA., April 11*th*, 1879.

"To JOSEPH B. STEWART, New York:

"Mr. Willard asked the privilege of employing an attorney to represent me as gov., as trustee ex-officio for the foreign bondholders. I claim the privilege of revoking order at any time. Is he conducting the case satisfactorily?
(Signed) "GEO. F. DREW."

I request the examiners to inspect the original telegram and see that it is genuine.

NOTE.—The examiners have inspected the said telegram and it has every appearance of being genuine. The said telegram is on a blank of the Western Union Telegraph Company; is numbered five, and purports to have been received in New York, at the office of said company, April 11th, 1879, and is dated at Ellaville, Fla., 11th, and the language quoted above is correct. It also came in an envelope of said company, No. 24 L, addressed to Jos. B. Stewart, 35 Broadway, and the examiners have personal knowledge that a boy from the Western Union Telegraph Company called at the office where the examiners are now taking testimony and inquired for Jos. B. Stewart and stated that he had a telegram for him, and left a notice to that effect.

The complainants' counsel further asks to read and file with the examiners the affidavit of Milton S. Littlefield showing the relation of Lucien Birdseye to the material defendants, to wit, the Dutch bondholders in this suit, and in whose behalf he is really acting, marked Exhibit J, M. B.

Complainants' counsel now and further respectfully states to the examiners that when he recognized and gave notice to Mr. Birdseye, as solicitor for Geo. F. Drew, &c., he did so expecting him to appear for the real defendants in interest, or for Geo. F. Drew, trustee, which to the parties, consented to the adjournment of April 9th at the request of his firm on the 9th inst., but that when Mr. Birdseye appeared in person on the 10th and asked the examiners to record the fact that he only appeared for Geo. F. Drew individually, who in truth is not a party to this suit as such, and for no other person or defendant whatever, and complainants then as now knowing he was employed in no such capacity made the objection he did, and which is fully supported by proof.

Complainants' counsel now and finally respectfully submits to the examiners that if Mr. Birdseye is prepared to proceed in the examination as the counsel for G. M. Boissevain, Adrian J. Milders, J. Fred. Schutte, Jans Prins, Adolph Engler, and others, known as the Dutch bondholders, or as the counsel of Geo. F. Drew, trustee, as described in the bill of complaint in these suits, which constitute and represent precisely the same interests, then, in that event, the complainant's counsel has no objection to his doing so, but if Mr. Birdseye still persists to represent George F. Drew individually, or as governor, then he has no right to further interfere in this proceeding, and the examiners are respectfully asked to enforce their order made yesterday to exclude him therefrom, and that he (complainants' counsel) may proceed with the examination of the witness without further delay.

Mr. Birdseye, as counsel for Geo. F. Drew, &c., asks the examiners to make the following note on the record: He refers to the notice of appearance offered on the part of complainants as showing distinctly that it purports to be an appearance only for George F. Drew, governor, &c., and not for any other defendant in the action; that limitation being contained, not only on the face but on the endorsement on the notice, he is not responsible for any misapprehension or failure to understand the notice on the part of any other person. He refers to the examiners' record as stating specifically for whom he (Mr. Birdseye) undertook to appear and did appear on this examination, and denies the 1567 correctness of the statements of such entry of appearance contained in the remarks this day made by complainants' solicitor. He also states that neither he nor his firm was ever authorized, employed, or requested to appear, or did appear, or do appear as counsel for G. M. Boissevain, or any other person mentioned, called, or known as one of the Dutch bondholders, or otherwise than as stated in the said notice of appearance, namely, Geo. F. Drew, governor, &c. He also states that the time asked to enable him to procure either the affidavits or the personal attendance of the witnesses previously named by him to prove his authority was and is necessary, because of the fact that such witnesses were and are absent from the State of New York, and that until yesterday he had no reason to believe and did not expect that any testimony or any affidavit from any of said witnesses would be required or received, or be in any way material. He further states that, as he is informed and believes, said C. D. Willard is now at sea, on his voyage to New York, and can be produced on this examination within eight or nine days from this time, but cannot be communicated with earlier than that time; and that time, to that extent, to procure that examination is material if the objection on the part of complainants' counsel to the appearance of him, said Birdseye, as counsel or solicitor for said Governor Drew only is persisted in. He further states that, as he is informed and believes, none of the said persons above mentioned by complainants' counsel as the Dutch bondholders have ever been served with process in this action, or served with process in this cause, or appeared therein; and that he, said Birdseye, was never authorized to, and does not appear for them or any of them, and said Birdseye and his firm were and do not appear for them or any of them. He further admits to the examiners that the proofs this day introduced on the part of complainants establishes affirmatively that he, said Birdseye, was and is duly retained and employed by and on behalf of said George F. Drew, governor, &c., and that no further proof on that point is required, but 1568 that if the examiners hold differently on this point then reasonable time to prove such should and must be given him.

Note by the examiners.—Mr. Birdseye stating that he does not appear for the so-called Dutch bondholders, nor any of them, and the complainants' counsel stating that George F. Drew, governor and individually, has no personal interest in this suit, which is not denied or contradicted by Mr. Birdseye; and a telegram, purporting to come from Governor Drew this day, and having every appearance of being genuine, and the authenticity of which is not denied nor contradicted by Mr. Birdseye, stating that he authorized Mr. Willard to employ counsel to represent him as governor, as trustee ex-officio for the foreign bondholders, and does not state that he employed Mr. Birdseye or any one else to represent him otherwise; and said Birdseye having refused to exhibit his authority to act herein for said Drew, as governor or individually, or Geo. F. Drew, governor, &c., and as the examiners believe the delay asked for may prejudice the complainant as well as the witness, who is now here, and has been for three days, ready to be examined, the examiners adhere to their former rule made herein respecting the right of Mr. Birdseye to appear herein, and deny his application for an adjournment to enable him to procure the witnesses named by him or their affidavits, believing that if he has a right to appear herein, as claimed by him, he will be protected by the court when the testimony of the witness now here, or others taken without his presence, is offered to be read in this case.

Mr. Birdseye requests the examiners to note his exception to the foregoing ruling by the examiners, and each and every part thereof, and the reasons therefor, and the same is noted accordingly; and he further submits to the examiners that said George F. Drew, governor, &c., is named as a defendant in this action, and he has a right to appear 1569 therein and be represented by counsel or solicitors at any stage or proceeding therein; and that it is not for complainants, who have joined him as a defendant, or for the examiners, during this examination, to inquire, determine, or decide by whom, or in what manner, or for what purpose, or to what extent he may or shall appear or intervene in the action; and that the fact being now apparent that he, said Drew, did authorize the employment of Mr. Birdseye, the examiners have no right, power, or authority to exclude said Birdseye, to wit, as counsel on this examination.

By examiners. Witness will now answer the question.

Mr. Birdseye, claiming to act for George F. Drew, governor, &c., here offers to interpose an objection to said question, already put and not answered, as to the form and substance thereof, and also to questions Nos. 6 and 7, and to the exhibit marked Exhibit C No. 1, mentioned in the answer to questions 7, as irrelevant, immaterial, and incompetent.

The examiners refuse the offer of Mr. Birdseye, for the reason that his right to appear herein, as claimed by him, has been denied by complainants' counsel, and he has not satisfied the examiners that he has such right.

Mr. Birdseye further claims the right, as counsel for said George F. Drew, governor, &c., to attend the rest of this examination, and to cross-examine complainants' witnesses, and to interpose objections, and exercise all the rights of cross examining counsel.

Application denied by examiners, for the reason last above stated by them.

Thereupon, Mr. Birdseye withdraws from the examination, protesting that any further proceedings therein, after such exclusion from further participation in the examination, are irregular, unauthorized, and void, and that all further testimony taken herein will be irregular and void, and should be suppressed and excluded by the court.

1570 Witness CHASE now answers the 8th interrogatory:

A. I am familiar with the handwriting; it is that of William G. M. Davis; yes, it was received by me.

Q. 9. Please look at the paper now shown you, dated London, February 3d, 1872, and made part of this question, "marked C No. 3," addressed "D'r sir," and signed "W. G. M. Davis," and state in whose handwriting the same is, and whether the said letter was addressed to and received by you?

A. The letter is in the handwriting of G. W. M. Davis, written to and received by me.

Q. 10. Please state in what capacity you were acting at the date of the three papers or letters C No. 1, C No. 2, and C No. 3, and where?

A. In the capacity of trustee of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company in Florida.

Q. 11. Where was the said W. G. M. Davis at the date of these letters?

A. In London, England.

Q. 12. Do you or not know, and, if yea, please state in what capacity, if any, said Davis was acting at the date of said letters?

A. He assumed to act for the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

Q. 13. Under and by virtue of what authority, if any, did he so assume to act within your knowledge?

A. I don't recollect.

Q. 14. Do you, or do you not, know of the issue of any bonds by the State of Florida to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company in or about the the year 1870?

A. I know there was some bonds issued about that time to said railroad company

Q. 15. Please state to the best of your recollection about the amount or number of bonds were so issued?

A. I think about three thousand, according to my recollection.

Q. 16. At or about the time of the issue of said bonds were there, or were there not, any questions raised about the validity of the same; and, if yea, please state, to the best of your recollection, what was said or stated, and in what manner?

1571 A. There was quite a controversy at that time about the constitutionality of the issuing of those bonds; I, of course, know that from reading it in the public press and by hearing it.

Q. 17. Did you, or did you not, as trustee of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company visit Europe in reference to said bonds or the sale and disposition thereof; and, if yea, please state at and about what time you made said visit?

A. I did visit Europe in June, July, August, and September, 1872; my visit was with reference to that business.

Q. 18. On your arrival in Europe whom, if any one, did you find engaged in handling said bonds, and in what capacity?

A. I found the bonds being handled by one John Collinson and by a Dutch syndicate composed of the persons named in the title of this action; I am not good at pronouncing Dutch names.

Q. 19. The persons named in the title of this action, among others, are G. M. Boissevain, A. J. Milders, J. Zaddock, A. Stoop, and others.

Q. 20. Are, or are not, these among the names, if any, that you heard mentioned or who, within your knowledge, were or were not identified with the syndicate in handling said bonds in connection with John Collinson of which you have spoken?

A. They were among the names that I recollect.

Q. 21. Please state, to the best of your recollection, what number, if any, of said bonds were in the possession of or had been disposed of by said syndicate at the time of your arrival in Europe?

A. Twenty-eight hundred, I believe.

Q. 22. Were you, or were you not, advised by whom said bonds were held, if any one, and in what amount; and state from whom and in what manner you obtained such information, to the best of your ability?

A. In course of conversation with Mr. John Collinson I learned that a few hundred of those bonds were scattered about, one or more in a place among the Dutch farmers; my inference was that the syndicate held a balance of two thousand or thereabouts.

1572 Q. 23. From the statements or conversation of whom, if any one, were you led to form the inference or conclusion that 2,000 or more of said bonds were held by said syndicate; give the details of the conversation if you can, and, if not, the substance?

A. The substance of the conversation is this, and was with, first, Frank Collins and with John Collinson, also one of the Dutchmen, brother-in-law of John Collinson, whose name was, I think, Mangaz, or some such name, who was connected with the syndicate, and others, members of the syndicate, and was to the effect as I have before stated; my recollection now is that about 500 were outside of the syndicate.

Q. 24. You have stated that about the time of the issue of said Florida State bonds to said railroad company during the year 1870, that charges and allegations of their being illegal and unconstitutional were circulated in print and otherwise; will you please state whether or not said statements and publications, or any of them, were or were not in circulation in Europe at the time of or preceding your arrival there; and if yea, state at what places said publications and statements were made or spoken of in Europe?

A. There were damaging reports in circulation in Europe; I learned them first from Mr. John Collinson in person on the 4th day of July, 1872, in London, and the reports were published in a Dutch paper in Amsterdam, as I was informed at the time, although I could not read the paper; in consequence of these reports I was requested by John Collinson to procure from the attorney-general of Florida, the judge of Florida, and the governor of the State of Florida, statements to counteract these damaging reports; they desired the statements for publication in Holland; the object of the publication of these statements or reports was to publish them in Amsterdam to advance the market in such bonds.

Q. 25. Under dated of June 15th, 1872, is a paper purporting to be a telegram, which reads as follows: "Collinson cables Davis filed 1573 bill restraining Kleinwort paying me coupon money; State and company hopelessly discredited unless Littlefield immediately telegraph me Davis dismissal railroad agency; this matter requires instant attention." Please look at said telegram or paper, and state if you have any knowledge of the same, and, if so, state what?

A. This telegram was received before I left to go to Europe; I received it in New York; it caused me to leave for Europe much sooner than I expected; a telegram of which this is a copy was received, and handed over to me by Barlow, Larocque & MacFarland.

Q. 26. This telegram among other things states in substance that Collinson had sent a cable to Barlow, Larocque & McFarland, that Davis had filed a bill restraining Kleinwort from paying him (Collinson) money for the payment of interest on coupons, and that the State and company were hopelessly discredited; do you, or not, know, and if yea, please state what Davis is referred to, and what coupon money was enjoined?

A. William G. M. Davis; it was coupon money to pay interest on the July Florida State bonds.

Q. 27. Was it or was it not the same William G. M. Davis who wrote the letters C No. 1, 2, and 3, about which you have testified, and were or were not the Florida State bonds the same 2,800 bonds in the hands of said syndicate in London and Amsterdam, of which you have spoken?

A. It was the same Mr. Davis, and the same 2,800 Floriday State bonds mentioned in my former answer.

Adjourned to 11 a. m. the 12th inst.

1574 SATURDAY, April 12*th*—11 a. m.

Present, Joseph B. Stewart, counsel for complainant.

Q. 28. You have stated that as trustee and representative of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company you visited Europe about the month of June, 1872, to look after the disposing of certain bonds of the State of Florida, issued to said company, and that you ascertained that about 2,800 of said bonds had been disposed of by and through a syndicate composed of persons in London and Amsterdam, or were in part held by them. Will you now please state whether or not you know for what price said bonds had been disposed of, and in what manner, and if yea, please state the same to the best of your knowledge and ability, and by whom?

A. There was an optional sale from Littlefield to W. S. Hopkins & Co. at one hundred pounds per bond, or fifty per cent. of the face of the bonds, and a commission of ten per cent., leaving a net of about forty per cent.

Q. 29. Do you know or did you ascertain of any reason, if any, that caused said Florida State bonds to be parted with at such a reduced price as less than fifty per cent. of their par value, as you have just stated; if yea, please state the same to the best of your recollection?

A. I don't know any reason.

Q. 30. Did you know, or ascertain, of any questions being raised as to their security and validity in the market?

A. Only from common report.

Q. 31. That was the common report?

A. What parties in Florida had written letters and published the same to the effect that the bonds were unconstitutionally issued, and that the State of Florida never would pay them.

1575 Q. 32. Were or were not the charges of illegality and unconstitutionality in the issue of the Florida State bonds of which you have spoken a matter of common report and remark in the money markets of Amsterdam and London?

A. There had been attacks made upon the bonds to that effect, but suppressed as far as possible by the syndicate. So far as I heard in London and Amsterdam, their illegality and unconstitutionality were spoken of.

Q. 33. Please look at the telegram now shown you, dated New York, December 17th, 1872, addressed to M. S. Littlefield, and which reads as follows: "Before anything can be completed, the mortgage to the State, sent down by Mr. MacFarland for execution last year, must be executed and recorded in each county through which the road runs; answer immediately; send Henderson here immediately," and signed "C. L. Chase, trustee," and state whether you wrote or sent said dispatch, and if yea, the reason therefor?

A. I wrote and sent this dispatch because Mr. MacFarland, the attorney for John Collinson, required it. He said the mortgage would not be valid unless the mortgage was recorded in each county through which the road run'. In other words, he said the lien on the road was worth nothing without the mortgage.

Q. 34. Please look at the paper now shown you, made part of this question, marked "Ex. C. No. 4," which reads as follows: "Before anything can be completed, the mortgage to the State sent down by Mr. MacFarland for execution last year must be executed and recorded in each county through which the road runs; also statement of facts and opinion must be given (by Mr. John A. Henderson), and endorsed by the governor, that the old P. and G. bonds are no longer a lien upon the road, and this must positively be done before the first day of January next," signed "John Collinson," under which is written as follows: "Gen.: The above was just received from Collinson. You see I have made arrangement for him to advance a large amount of money, and he desires this to enable him to raise money from his Holland friends, 1576 who hold the 2,800 bonds. I know John Henderson's opinion on the subject, consequently do not hesitate to ask it of him on paper; wish Henderson would come here; Dec. 17th, 1872," signed "C. L. Chase," with envelope attached addressed, "Gen. M. S. Littlefield, Jacksonville, Florida, and please state what, if anything, you know about the origin of said paper, and the object for what it was written?

A. The first part of this paper was written by John Collinson and sent to me, and I wrote the last clause and forwarded it to Gen. Littlefield in Florida; the address on the envelope is in my handwriting; I wrote it; the letter itself states its object; the object of this paper was to satisfy the Amsterdam people that the P. and G. bonds were not a lien on the road ahead of theirs, and Collinson wished to raise money from them to pay interest on the Florida State bonds accruing due January 1st, 1873.

Q 35. While in Amsterdam, if you were there during your visit to Europe, did you or did you not have any conversation with the persons composing the syndicate, or any of them of whom you have spoken on the subject of the money being provided from the proceeds of the sale of said bonds for paying the interest thereon?

A. I was not in Amsterdam; I met parties connected with the syndicate in London about August, 1872; they said they wanted the interest on the State bonds which they held provided for out of the proceeds of the sale of the same.

Q. 36. Please look at the paper now shown you, dated "11 Old Broad street, E. C., London, August 13, 1872," and addressed, "Gen. M. S. Littlefield, Jacksonville, Fla.," and signed "C. L. Chase," which, together with the envelope appended thereto, I make part of this question, marked Ex. C., No. 5, and state whether or not you wrote and addressed said letter, and to what subject it refers?

A. Yes; I wrote this letter and sent it to Gen. Littlefield; it is in reference to my negotiations and trusteeship for the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company while in Europe.

1577 Q. 37. Please look at the letter now shown you, headed "50 Old Broad street, London, August 30, 1872," addressed "C. L. Chase, esq.," "Dr. Sir," and signed "John Collinson," which I make part of this question, marked Ex. C., No. 6, and state whether or not you know the handwriting of said letter; and, if yea, by whom it was written, and whether you received the same?

A. This letter was received by me; it is in the handwriting of John Collinson, and addressed to me at the Langham Hotel, London.

Q. 38. The concluding paragraph of said letter reads as follows: "Will you be good enough to sign and return to me the inclosed note; it refers to your letter, signed here to-day. People in Holland are very particular about publishing another person's letters without full authority. Yours, truly, John Collinson." Will you please state what publications are referred to, if any, and for what purpose the same were desired to be made in Holland?

A. The best of my recollection is, it was a damaging letter or article which had been published in Holland, which it was desired to contradict or correct.

Q. 39. Please look at the paper purporting to be a cablegram, now shown you, received at Jacksonville, July 31st, 1872, addressed, "Litchfield, Jacksonville, Florida," which reads as follows: "Telegraph immediately; appointed Jay Cooke, McCullough, fiscal agents," signed "Chase," and state whether or not you know anything about said paper; and, if yea, state what it is, to the best of your knowledge and recollection.

A. This is a cablegram I sent to Gen'l Littlefield; the word "Litchfield" there is a mistake of the telegraph operator; I had arranged with Jay Cooke, McCullough & Co., of London, to become the fiscal agents of the State of Florida, and also the agents of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, for the future negotiating of the bonds of the State of Florida, and the object of this cablegram was to have Littlefield appoint Jay Cooke, McCullough & Co., fiscal agents, by cable.

1578 Q. 40. Please look at the paper now shown you, headed "50 Old Broad street, London, July 11, 1872," and signed "John Collinson," which I make part of this question, marked Exhibit C, No. 7, and state whether or not you know the handwriting of said letter, and whether or not you received the same, and to what subject it refers?

A. Yes; I received this letter; I know the handwriting; it is that of John Collinson; it refers to the returning of the coupons which had been paid in London the 1st of July, 1872.

Q. 41. You have stated that Littlefield agreed to let Hopkins & Co. take the Florida State bonds at one hundred pounds, or fifty per cent. of the face of the bonds, less a commission of some ten per cent., and that at these rates about two thousand eight hundred of said Florida State bonds had been taken by said firm; will you now please state, it you know, and, if yea, please state to the best of your recollection, the numbers of said bonds?

A. I meant by my former testimony that the commission to go to Hopkins & Co. was ten per cent. of the face of the bonds, and not ten per cent. of the amount they were sold for; that is, about fifty per cent. of their face; these bonds which were so disposed of to Hopkins & Co. were numbered, I believe, from 1 to 2,800, both inclusive.

Q. 42. The price of the two thousand eight hundred bonds at fifty per cent. would be about fourteen hundred thousand dollars, and the ten per cent. commission, as shown by your last answer, would be about two hundred and eighty thousand dollars, leaving the net proceeds of the said bonds at these rates, about twelve hundred and twenty thousand dollars; do you or do you not mean to say that such is a correct statement of the disposal of said bonds to Hopkins & Co.?

A. Yes; as I understood it at the time.

Q. 43. You have stated that from the net proceeds of said bonds a deduction was made therefrom to pay the interest on the same; do you or not know, and, if yea, please state, what was the total amount so deducted to the best of your recollection?

1579 A. They took out the payment for three coupons on two thousand eight hundred bonds, which amounted to about ninety-five thousand four hundred pounds, or about four hundred and sixty-one thousand seven hundred and thirty-six dollars in gold.

Q. 44. Besides the twenty-eight hundred Florida State bonds of which you have spoken, was there or was there not an additional number of said bonds which went to Europe? If yea, please state the number, to the best of your recollection and belief.

A. There were twelve hundred more of said State bonds, numbering from 2,800 to 4,000, including the number 4,000.

Q. 45. Were you or were you not, among other things, charged with the duty of negotiating said bonds numbered from 2,800 to 4,000?

A. I was.

Q. 46 At the time referred to, were or were not said bonds the subject of litigation both in New York and London?

A. Yes.

Q. 47. Do you or not know, and, if yea, please state, whether or not said bonds numbered above 2,800 were charged with the payment of any particular debts? If yea, please state to the best of your recollection and to what parties.

A. Yes; but I cannot state from memory all the amounts or parties.

Q. 48. Please look at Schedules D, E, and F, filed with the bill of complaint in this suit, respecting the Florida Central Railroad now shown you, and state whether or not the amounts so to be paid, and to whom to be paid, are mentioned in said exhibits to the best of your recollection and belief?

A. Yes; Schedules D, E, and F correctly describe the amounts to be paid, and whom to be paid, so far as private parties are concerned.

Q. 49. You have stated that you were charged among other things to participate in negotiating the bonds of the State of Florida, numbered above 2,800 where you found said bonds the subject of litigation, will you now please look at the several papers as follows: 1580
"50 Old Broad street, London, July 2d, 1872," addressed "C. L. Chase," and signed "John Collinson," made part of this question and marked Exhibit C, No. 8, and another letter headed "50 Old Broad street, London, July 3d, 1872," addressed "C. L. Chase, esq.," and signed "John Collinson," made part of this question, marked Exhibit C, No. 9; another letter dated "50 Old Broad street, July 4th, 1872," addressed "C. L. Chase, esq.," and signed "John Collinson," made part of this question, marked Exhibit C, No. 10; another letter dated "50 Old Broad street, London, 5th July, 1872," addressed "C. L. Chase," signed "John Collinson," made part of this question, marked Exhibit C, No. 11; another letter dated "50 Old Broad street, London, July 9th, 1872," addressed "C. L. Chase," signed "John Collinson," made part of this question, marked Exhibit C, No. 12, and state whether or not you know the handwriting of said letters, by whom they were signed, and whether or not they were received by you, and to what subject matter they relate?

A. They are all signed by John Collinson; I know his signature; some are in his own handwriting and some in that of his clerk; they were addressed to and received by me; they relate to the negotiation of the twelve hundred Florida State bonds numbered above 2,800.

Q. 50. Will you please look at the several papers now shown you headed "1st Florida State loan, and Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad," made part of this question, and marked Exhibit C, No 13; "2d, Florida State loan, and Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad," made part of this question, and marked Exhibit C, No. 14; 3d, a paper headed "July 5th, 1872," made part of this question, and marked Exhibit C, No. 15; 4th, "Florida State loan, and Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad," which is made part of this question, and marked Exhibit C, No. 16, and state whether or not you know of 1581 said papers, by whom prepared, and whether or not the same were delivered to you? and, if yea, state to what subject matter they relate.

A. I know of those papers; am familiar with them; they were delivered to me by John Collinson; that is, they were sent to me by John Collinson through the mails; they relate to the negotiation of the twelve hundred bonds numbered above 2,800, and the settlement of the difficulties then existing, and the cancelling of all former contracts for the sale of Florida State bonds.

Q. 51. Please look at the paper now shown you headed "50 Old Broad street, London," dated December 30th, 1871, addressed "W. W. McFarland, esq.," and made part of this question, marked Exhibit C, No. 17, and state what, if anything, you know about said paper, and how you derived your knowledge, and whether the same was or was not ever delivered to you; and, if yea, by whom, and for what purpose?

A. This paper was delivered to me by Mr. W. W. McFarland in person, for the purpose of showing me Mr. Collinson's objections to the proposed settlement; I carried the same letter to London with me and showed it to Mr. Collinson, and he admitted to me that he wrote it.

Q. 52. Please look at the letter now shown you headed "Old Broad street, London, July 26th, 1872," addressed "C. L. Chase, esq.," and made part of this question, and marked Exhibit C, No. 18, and state what you know about said letter, and whether the same is addressed to and received by you, and to what subject the same relates.

A. This letter was addressed to and received by me and relates to the location of 210 Florida State bonds in London, and therein described.

Q. 53. You have spoken of certain suits in litigation pending in London in reference to said Florida State bonds numbered above 2,800; will you please state whether there was or was not a compromise decree entered into in the court of chancery in England thereto?

A. There was.

1582 Q. 54. Will you now please look at Schedule H, in complainant's bill, respecting the Florida Central Railroad, headed the "In chancery, Vice-Chancellor Wickens, Collinson vs. Collins; Jacksonville, &c., Company vs. Collinson," and signed by John Collinson and several other parties, and which is referred to and made part of this question, and state, to the best of your recollection and belief, whether the same is or is not a correct copy of said decree?

A. I have examined said schedule and believe the same to be a correct copy of said decree.

Q. 55. Subsequent to the date of said decree, did you or did you not, as trustee of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, enter into a memorandum of agreement with John Collinson for the disposal of the Florida State bonds numbered above 2,800 and others therein specified?

A. I did.

Q. 56. Will you please look at the paper now shown you, headed "An agreement made this 29th day of August, 1872, between Converse L. Chase of the first part," &c., and made part of this question, and marked Exhibit C, No. 19, signed "C. L. Chase, on behalf of F. H. Flagg; John Collinson," and state whether the said paper is or is not a correct copy of the agreement mentioned in your last answer?

A. I have examined the paper and it is a correct copy.

Q. 57. Were or were not the terms of said decree and said agreement ever fulfilled and complied with by the parties thereto?

A. No, sir; the same never was complied with.

Q. 58. Please state whether within your knowledge, information and belief, the said Florida State bonds numbered above 2800 ever were disposed of otherwise than as provided in said consent, decree, and agreement last above mentioned?

A. No; they were not to my knowledge.

Q. 59. You have stated that you resided in Florida and was connected with the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, both as a contractor and as a trustee; will you please state whether or 1583 not within your knowledge and information a consolidation was entered into between the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and the Florida Central Railroad Company?

A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. 60. Do you or do you not know of a body corporate styled the Florida Central Railroad Company, and if yea, was or was not the same within your knowledge, owned, worked and managed as a distinct corporation?

A. I do not know such company; it was kept distinct and separate, and separate books, and a distinct and separate corporation, and managed by its own board of directors.

Q. 61. Do you know or can you state any other matter or thing material to this your examination of interest to parties, complainant or defendant, and if yea, please state the same fully and at large in your answer, as if fully interrogated thereto.

A. Nothing occurs to me.

TUESDAY, April 15th, 1879—11 a. m.

Present, Joseph B. Stewart, counsel for complainant.

CONVERSE L. CHASE, being recalled by complainant's counsel, after being duly sworn, says:

Q. 62. In your previous examinations you spoke of being au-
1584 thorized, as trustee for the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, to negotiate certain bonds of the State of Florida issued to said company and certain bonds of said company when you visited Europe in 1872; did you or did you not attempt to make such negotiation?

A. I did.

Q. 63. What was the result of your effort to negotiate said bonds?

A. I found that the Florida State bonds had no market value, consequently could not dispose of any of them excepting through the agency in London of the Holland syndicate.

Q. 64. What, to the best of your recollection and knowledge, did you find to be the reason of obstruction, if any, to the finding of a market for said Florida State bonds?

A. The first reason was the bad reputation of the bonds questioning their legality, and, second, the said Holland syndicate and London agency had it so arranged that no Florida State bonds or Florida railroad bonds could be put on the market at all without hav' the stamp of the syndicate on the bonds; consequently I was obliged to resort to the contract, such as was made, marked Exhibit C, No. 19, referred to in my previous examination.

Q. 65. Do you know of any other matter or thing material to the issues in this cause and to the parties thereto, beyond what you have been questioned as to? If yea, please state the same now fully, as if specifically interrogated thereunto.

A. Nothing further, to my recollection.

DEAR SIR: I have been here one week, but as yet have done nothing. Collinson is not in favor of the compromise, but as yet he has not determined. He is waiting the arrival of his counsel, Benjamin and others. I do not know that he will decide not to sign the agreement and take the bonds. He has obtained an order from the vice-chancellor to have the January interest paid, which I hope will be done, and thus the credit of the bonds saved. Although McFarland has told Collinson frankly that he thinks Barnett a rogue, yet C. is, I fear, disposed to deal with him. We consider him, as he is, a smart fellow, and besides, as being a rich man—this, of course, has weight. I told C. what I thought of Barnett—told him the facts as to his company being bogus—without capital—and the object of the contract, viz, to fix a levy of ten per cent. on cost of road, and on all through freight, &c. He may or not take notice of this. I fancy Collinson would not be disturbed if the road was sold out. He does not seem to care whether it is pushed into Mobile at once or not. He does not claim that the 1,200 bonds are to be devoted to building, so far as it will go. I think it likely he and Barnett has a plan of their own. He receives letters and telegrams from Barnett all the time. Barnett notified him not to sign the settlement. He also notified him that he has a contract for all the bonds yet to be issued. I fear Collinson and he are in league together, for with all that McFarland and I said, he defended Barnett; yet he has a copy of steamship contract, and is informed of its object. I see no prospect of getting any money, at once, out of the 1,200 bonds, in case Collinson does not agree to the settlement, as, even if the bonds are put in the hands of a receiver, the money would not be applicable to building the road 1586 for some time. I do not know that Collinson means to take them or not under his contract. In fact, until I see him with his counsel, I cannot tell what he is after. He asked me a question about the mode of selling the road, if the interest was not paid, which, I think, shows he was thinking of it. I will be able, I hope, in a day or two, to know more fully how he stands.

I think our injunction against the Gulf Stream Co. is all important, as also a proceeding to forfeit the charter. Can't you get Barnett in Florida on some matter and serve him personally, and also set aside the villainous steamboat contract? If Littlefield does not give up Barnett, he will eat him up. The trustees or any stockholder can file the bill.

Collinson seems to ignore the deed of trust. He does not allude to it. He has not spoken of naming a trustee. I will know his views when I come to ask him to do so. He is very reticent, and not at all cordial, but polite. He only seems to care for the payment of the interest and to secure the 1,200 bonds. He has found them tied up, 178 out of the 400 known to be here, and hopes to get hold of the balance.

I have not had a letter from Florida yet, and do not know what is going on, but hope all things are serene, as should anything serious have happened, I think Collinson would have known.

If Collinson is not influenced by Barnett, and is entirely free from any entanglement of the kind, I think he might be induced to advance money to retire the old P. & G. bonds, and also construct the road to a point at which the company will be entitled to receive the bonds provided to be issued at rate of 14,000 per mile. This he could do on such assurance as would satisfy him that the bonds would issue, and that he would get them. He seems to think that there has been a larger over issue than for fourteen miles—that 100 miles need to be completed to cover the bonds issued. I do not know how he got the idea; he only mentioned it in passing over the whole matter in a rapid way.

1587 I have not said anything to him about the land grant bonds. I defer that until I see what he means to do about the 1,200. He is very hostile to Hopkins & Collins; he says they have property enough in England to secure what they owe the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile road. I am going to consult Benjamin, and if possible to do so I will try and tie them up so as to force them to disgorge. I do not know that my authority is sufficient for such purpose. You had better get a new power of attorney made out, much fuller, covering authority to settle with Collinson, Hopkins, Collins, to negotiate sale of bonds, obtain money to be applied by trustees in construction of road, negotiate sale of land grant bonds, &c. This would have to be authenticated more fully—have certificate of secretary of State, &c., &c.

I came here with little money, trusting to get what I wanted from Collinson in case he signed the agreement. If he does not, I shall not have money to get along with. I wish you would try and have me a credit given in New York, and also telegraphed to me here, care John Collinson, No. 50 Old Broad street. I shall be in a bad fix if I do not have money to pay expenses.

I suppose Mr. Chase is with you by this time, but as he may not have arrived, I write you this letter, which, if he is in Florida, hand him, it being designed to give you both all I have heard and what I think for your mutual information. I hope you and Mr. Chase may be able to pull together and lift the road out of the mud. I think Mr. Chase can manage Littlefield and keep him from giving up to Barnett. I suppose Mr. Littlefield expects to hear from me. Tell him as much of the contents of this as you may deem proper (you and Mr. Chase), and say I will write him in a day or two, when I learn precisely what are Collinson's views, that I and Collinson are on good terms, &c., &c.

If the compromise falls through Collinson must aid to continue the road, either upon land grant bonds or upon State bonds, to be issued.

The safest thing would be to provide by law (with assent of road)
1588 that the bonds shall be delivered to the contractors. Collinson could then deal with them, and all risk of conflict avoided, assent of some State official to be necessary to contract, he could be got to recognize Chase, and in this Barnett's tail would be cut off.

Write me as often as you may deem important. I have not heard from you since I left. I desire to be kindly remembered by yourself and wife. Please give kind regards for me to all my friends in Florida —the Gambles, Potter and others.

Yours truly,
(Signed) W. G. M. DAVIS.

P. S.—I have not seen the sun for ten days, except for twenty minutes.

Tell Bettiline and Toqui I called on their friends in Havre, Ancel, Pere et Fils, and assured them Bettiline and Toqui were all right. I hope you were able to put off the cases of Bettiline.

LONDON, 28*th Dec.*, 1871.

MY DEAR SIR: I wrote Henderson a day or two since, with request to show you the letter. I also wrote Rogers, with same request. I did not know where you might be.

I am satisfied Collinson will not sign the agreement; he has not given his decision; he says he must consult his counsel, who are out of town, and will not be here until next Wednesday, when we are all to meet. McFarland wrote requiring him to sign, but Barnett had previously sent either a telegram or letter (I think both) notifying him not to sign.

He is, I fear, involved with Barnett in some plan to own the stock of the road. Barnett has a contract with Collinson for sale of all bonds. This Littlefield did not tell us. This was done in New York, and Barnett expects his commissions, &c. You see he is the archdevil who is in the way of any one who will not let him steal all the road. I wrote Henderson to file bill, &c. It ought to be done, and injunction granted, and copy of all sent me to serve on Collinson; also all Barnett's contracts ought to be set aside, and the money he has got out of the road claimed back. Either this must be done or we must all submit to his demands. Barnett has his money here in hands of Baring Brothers & Co. The money he got from the sale of the bonds he got illegally, and the State has the right to compel repayment. This could be done by a stockholder, or by the railroad and the State jointly, if Littlefield could be got to agree. The money which Barnett got for the bonds is, I am told, still here. It will not do to tell Littlefield. If Collins comes here, or has any means here, I can, I think, take such proceedings against him as will compel him to disgorge. I will have a legal opinion in a day or two, and be confirmed, I think, in my views. What I want is a power of attorney to sue Collins—Hopkins & Co., and to treat

Collinson says he will not touch the land grant bonds. Now, I feel sure he had agreed to take them. He showed to me, but did not read to me, a paper sent by McFarland, signed by , stating the plan for building the road, reasons for making the agreement, &c., &c. This he said spoke of the land grant bonds, and then he made use of the expression that they were "worthless." If he did agree, at one time, to take them, his present attitude is attributable to Barnett. You can easily find out. You know McFarland spoke of them as being in contemplation of Collinson. He said to me, "they must not be issued until you and I have agreed on a friend; it has been submitted to Collinson." This indicated a previous understanding. Get all papers you can on the subject and send me, and also send me copy of Barnett's agreement with Collinson, and all agreements made by Barnett with Littlefield. Be careful to note all I ask for, as I write in a hurry, and do not classify.

Collinson claims he has a right to insist that the money arising from the 1,200 bonds shall be applied to build the road. I called his attention to the fact that the deed of trust so provided; he said that was correct, but he seems not to attach any importance to the deed of trust, and declined to suggest a trustee. Here you see Barnett again. McFarland wrote him Barnett was a rogue; he seemed to be offended at it, and said McFarland was too impulsive, and he regretted that he, McFarland, had taken the business of the company, as he was his (Collinson's) lawyer. I have not yet got to the point of ascertaining whether he will do anything to aid in the immediate building of the road, if the agreement falls through, nor have I discussed with him the question 1591 of the delay which will arise before a final decision can be had in the suit for the bonds. I shall reserve what I have to say until his counsel are present—Benjamin and others—who will probably sustain me. He must then show his hand, and if, as I fear, he and Barnett have a plan to place the road in a position that a sale of it must occur, he will refuse any aid and take a course that will cause the construction to stop. He does not seem to feel the slightest anxiety about its being speedily built; he did seem to be pleased to hear that it would soon be at the river. I shall, as I say, discover his views. I think I get on very well with him, have not had an unpleasant word, all is perfectly quiet and polite. I do not think he feels any great disposition to communicate with me, nor has he shown me any more than bare civility. I do not, however, pay any attention to such matters. I mean to try and make him help us if possible. He does not bear a good character here among some men of high standing, but he is well spoken of by others. I shall find out all about him through my friends.

It may be important to have the authority of the State to sue Collins and Hopkins. You can get it I suppose.

Collinson does not speak of his being at all bound to take the bonds, but as though it was optional. Yet at the same time says the proceeds must go to build the road, and that those who bought the 2,800 have a right so to provide.

I suppose Barnett made a positive contract. Of course Barnett's object was commissions. He shall never have a dime if I can help it.

If Collinson will not take the land grant bonds I think I can sell them in Germany. I do not think he would speak of them as he does were it not that he wants to refuse his assent to the agreement. I have a friend here whose agent in Hamburgh made the first negotiation to sell the first-mortgage bonds in Paris, which fell through because of the war; in case of necessity he may be able to place the bonds.

As soon as Collinson says what he will do, I will send you a cable 1592 Bayne gave me two checks, one for $278 and odd cents, and balance of $1,000 in another check. I gave this to my friend Brodie, to buy sterling and send me, but it has not reached me. I have no credit, I suppose, with Collinson, and no money; what little I had is gone, and I do not know what to do. Try and have some sent me.

You had better fix with Littlefield the matter of the agency for sale of the bonds. Yulee was to send me authority to sell his—he has not done so—he asked me to get a bid. Ask him if I must do so, and get him to send me a cable message, but as he has parted with the bonds, he will have to get me the authority from his man.

Rest assured I will do all I can to provide the means to have you paid. Collinson had found $178,000 of the bonds here, and hopes to get the rest. If I can only catch Collins here, and have the proper authority, I can get enough out of him to do some good.

I hope you and family are all well. If I can do anything for you here, et me know. I will attend to anything you may want that is in my power to do.

I am passing a dull time; the sun has not shone out but one day since I came here.

Yours, with kind regards,

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Southern District of New York, ss:

Milton S. Littlefield, being duly sworn, deposes and says: That he is one of the defendants in the above-entitled suits; that in the 1596 month of November, 1878, he was requested to visit the office of Lucien Birdseye, 170 Broadway, New York, to see said Birdseye, in company with Charles D. Willard, who is the attorney in fact and solicitor, or claims to be such, for the defendants in this suit, called the Dutch bondholders, that is, the bonds of the State of Florida, issued under the act of January 28, 1870, and held by persons residing in Holland.

That said Willard informed this deponent that said Birdseye was retained on behalf of said Dutch bondholders, and said Birdseye also informed this deponent that he was advising with said Willard all along, and expected to be retained by said Dutch bondholders.

That subsequently thereto, and lately, in Jacksonville, Florida, said Willard informed this deponent that he, Willard, had employed and retained said Birdseye, by authority he had from Governor Drew, to cross-examine the witnesses called by Joseph B. Stewart on the part of complainants herein.

DEAR SIR: I wrote Bayne by the China, and asked him to send you the letter I rece'd, also telegraphed him with the request to forward to you.

Collinson has not yet returned from the continent; and until he does, nothing can be done about the compromise. Collins is still here waiting.

I have employed counsel to act for the company in the chancery suit brought by Collinson against Collins; it is thought important to do so. Collins admits he has 210 bonds in his possession here, and that he deposited 800 in a bank here, subject to the order of Babcock, of N. Y., security.

He alleges that Spring holds the 190 bonds as trustee for the Wilmington Bank, but that he, Collins, has the bonds in hand. He alleges that he cannot comply with Collinson's demand for the bonds, because of the injunction in Florida and the suits in N. York. He says that Littlefield made the contract to let the bonds go for £100 per bond after he knew that Collinson was to give £138 1 10 per bond—that the £38 1 10 was to cover expenses incurred.

I think I can compel Collins to a settlement if I receive the additional authority. I wrote to Henderson to send me. (That I have answer;) but I would like to have authority to act for the State. I also rec'd money to pay counsel, &c. I cannot get a dollar from Collinson, altho, he wants me to help him in the suits he has commenced, and perhaps to take criminal action against Collins. He and I are both advised we can do so, and that such plan would be sure to compel Collins to settle; yet Collinson refuses to guaranty the expenses of a lawyer. I have employed one through my friends here, who are men of standing, and who are helping me all they can do. I wrote McFarland, and Collinson telegraphed him, to have me supplied with money to carry on our 1598 suit. Collins is aware I have nomoney, and trusts to that to get me to agree to such a settlement as he wants. He has tried to get me to act with him against Collinson. I put a veto on that; I wrote Brodie & sent telegram to be forwarded to you about money, but as my wife writes me you could not furnish her a small sum to enable her to pay expenses, I suppose my telegram is useless. All I can say is, if I fail here to save for the company not only the 1,200 bonds, but the money due by Hopkins & Co., it will be because I am not supplied with the necessary papers. I wrote Henderson to send, and money to carry on a suit or criminal action. I feel sure, and so does Collinson, that the method would be successful. McFarland does not reply to my letter either.

The terms of compromise drawn up by Collins and Collinson and submitted to me were altered by me somewhat, but my changes were not objected to. There are matters proposed by Collins which Collinson flatly refuses to agree to. He will not consent to the claim giving 190 bonds to Spring. I telegraphed Bayne about this, and got a reply of no consequence. I hope to get particulars by letter. Collinson claims things I do not think right, but yet will not refuse if a settlement can be made so as get funds at once to prosecute the work. He claims 15,000 pounds to pay his law expenses, and some money spent to "bull the stock" when bad news came from America and had a depressing effect on the bonds.

He demands that he shall have the right to take the additional issue of bonds at £138 1 10 instead of £143, as agreed on with Hopkins. He asks that he shall keep all the money here in London in his hands, and only pay it out on certificates of construction as the work progresses. He asks that he shall send over an engineer who shall be allowed to inspect the work, and whose salary shall be paid by the company out of the proceeds of sale of bonds.

Collinson refused to sign the N. Y. agreement on the ground that he was advised by his counsel that it would be illegal and dishonor-1599 able for him to agree to let Bayne and North Carolina receive the sums stated in the contract. He now agrees they shall do so if his demands are assented. So you see he is governed by his own interest solely, and has no regard for his obligations to the people he sold the bonds to, whom his lawyer said he owed a duty to. I do not let him see that I comprehend this. I keep all my thoughts to myself, never say a word that could offend him, and assure him of my wish to act in perfect accord with him in all things, and have been engaged with his lawyers trying to fix up the affairs.

The contract prepared, if agreed on here by Collins and myself, must go to America, Collinson says, as he will not sign it until all the other parties have done so.

The agreement prepared gives to Bayne and N. Carolina the same amounts as did that rejected by Collinson, but changes is the order of payment, so that the proceeds of first 200 bonds goes to the R. road, and so puts off the payment longer, only not reducing the amount.

Of course the company can refuse to agree to the settlement, as it will not find them unless all are bound. I fear nothing will be done unless Collins can be got to give up the 190 bonds. If I can sustain a criminal charge against him he will do so. My lawyer and Collinson think I can. I will get them.

I am out of money and in debt at my hotel, and but for my being known I should be in a bad fix. I hope to be put in funds, as I wrote to McFarland about it more than a month since.

I will telegraph if any settlement is made, and you will get it before this letter, I suppose.

Yours, with kind regards,

W. G. M. DAVIS.

Before anything can be completed, the mortgage to the State, sent down by Mr. MacFarland for execution last year, must be executed and recorded in each county through which the road runs.

Also, statement of facts, and opinion by Mr. Jno. A. Henderson must be given and endorsed by the governor, that the old P. and G. bonds are no longer a lien upon the road, and all this must, positively, be done before the first of January next.

JOHN COLLINSON:

GEN: The above was just received from Collinson. You see I have made arrangements for him to advance a large amount of money, and he desires this to enable him to raise money from his Holland friends who hold the 2,800 bonds. I know John Henderson's opinion on this subject; consequently, do not hesitate to ask it of him on paper. Wish Henderson would come here.

Gen. M. S. Littlefield,
Jacksonville, Fla.:

Dear Sir: My delays are caused by an injunction of Coddington, which, as yet, I have been unable to remove. Can't do anything with new matters until old matters are out of the way; and Coddington will not not let loose until he is secured both for himself and Gambol, both claims amounting to $40,000. If I can get that arranged, the coast is clear, and I shall stick to until I effect the matter, if it takes all summer. One other matter; J. Cook, McCullough & Co. has been receiving some bad reports from some one unknown to me, and they decline to act. When I find some one else that will act, you must make the appointment on a telegram from me. I have tried every firm in London, and they will not act. So you see we are in bad odor over here. I am now trying to get some one to act in New York. We can't bring out a new loan with a first class firm as fiscal agents. We have agreed upon the $20,000 per mile, at six per cent., and bonds contracted at 65 per cent. gold, which will give us at present rates 748 per bond of $1,000 each; that will give $14,950 per mile net in currency.

I shall work this out, but you must be patient, for it takes time; these English are awful slow. I can't see now why the matter can't be a success unless you do some awful thing down in Florida that will knock us all up. Please keep secret what I write you; I have heard from every word I have written you thus far. Secrecy is the best road to success.

1602 I do not know as you can read this awful scratcing. But you can play the Yankee; look and guess. If you write me, direct to care Langham Hotel, London.

Respectfully,

C. L. CHASE.

P. S.—I have met the Holland syndicate, and they are ready to act as soon as I can get ready. Where is Smith and Gardner? I have not heard from them since I left New York. I would write Smith if I knew where he was.

MY DEAR SIR: I shall be obliged if you will let me know, for the information of myself and friends, whether I have correctly stated below the terms of the proposals made by you, on behalf of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and other parties, for the settlement of the various questions relating to the Florida bonds:

1. All suits, either in America or England, relating to the bonds, to be dismissed, the various parties bearing their own costs, with the exception of mine, which are to be provided for as hereinafter stated.

2. All contracts heretofore entered into with me by the company, yourself, Mr. Flagg, General Davis, Hopkins & Co., and F. H. Collins, or any of them, and all contracts between any of such parties, referring to my contracts, to be canceled, and to be declared null and void.

3. The 1,200 bonds now in dispute to be disposed of as follows:

(a) 224 bonds to be canceled and returned to the State against an equivalent number of the railroad bonds deposited with the State, also to be canceled; these bonds representing the overissue heretofore made in respect of deficient mileage of the railway.

(b) 976 bonds to be handed over to me within sixty days, with an option to me to purchase the same, or any part thereof, at any time within three months from their receipt, at the price of £   , and accrued interest per bond; such bonds (if any) as remain unsold at the expiration of the term of such option to be returned to   .

(c) The proceeds to be applied as follows:

1608 Firstly. A sufficient amount thereof shall be deposited in trust with myself to meet the coupon due January, 1873, on all the then outstanding 8 per cent. bonds.

Secondly. A sufficient sum shall be retained by myself to pay all my legal expenses attending all suits in New York and England, in any way relating to the bonds.

Thirdly. The proceeds of bonds shall be retained by me as compensation for the losses sustained by me, by breach of the contracts entered by Collins and Hopkins & Co. on behalf the company.

Fourthly. The proceeds of bonds to be used to repay the Florida Construction Company for the money expended by them on the works of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad.

Fifthly. The balance of the proceeds of the bonds to be applied in satisfaction of the several other claims of all other creditors of the company.

4. You engage within days to obtain the execution of all persons claiming any interest in the bonds or the proceeds or against the railroad company, and all other necessary parties, to a formal agreement for effectuating the above objects.

It seems at present premature to enter into any definite arrangement with regard to the railway bonds, the material for the purpose not being before me, but I understand from you that they will be offered to me for negotiation at a reasonable price.

Yours, faithfully,

JOHN COLLINSON.

1611 EXHIBIT C, No. 13.—James M. Ball and R. E. Stilwell, examiners.

FLORIDA STATE LOAN, AND JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE RAILROAD.

Memorandum of proposal, herewith submitted for consideration, respecting all outstanding differences.

Preliminary statement.

On the 1st July, Mr. C. L. Chase called on Mr. Collinson, at his office, and proposed to submit to him an arrangement for a settlement of the outstanding difficulties.

Mr. Collinson informed Mr. Chase that it was useless to discuss any question of settlement until the funds to meet the present coupons, due this day, be provided, and the opposition of the company, through their accredited agent, Gen. Davis, to the application of the funds in the hands of Messrs. Kleinwort, Cohen & Co. for that purpose be withdrawn.

Mr. Chase immediately assented to this view, and asserted that both Mr. Bayne and himself were of opinion, and had been so before leaving New York, that, under all circumstances, the coupoun money should be paid out of the funds referred to. He then stated that Mr. Collinson might rely upon the fact that either this day, or on the following day at the latest, the coupon funds should be released, to meet the interest as heretofore.

On this clear understanding, without which Mr. Collinson assured Mr. Chase it would only prejudice his case, either to submit to him or to the Dutch bankers the proposition relating to the other matters of interest between them, he assented to a preliminary opening of the matter, and received a brief outline of what was proposed by Mr. Chase, and which appears more in detail in the proposition of the following day.

1612 In the afternoon Mr. Chase called again with Mr. Bayne, when both gentlemen stated most emphatically that under all circumstances the coupons would be paid over, either that evening or the following morning at the latest, and that thereafter they would place a detailed proposition of settlement before Mr. Collinson.

On the morning of July 2d Mr. Chase called on Mr. Collinson and assured him that it was only through the absence, at the court of common pleas, of Mr. Holland, the solicitor of Messrs. Kleinwort, Cohen & Co., that the coupon has not been paid the previous afternoon, and that General Davis had with his solicitor gone to see that gentleman, and that every moment he expected receiving advices that the funds were now at Mr. Collinson's disposal.

Mr. Chase then reopened the question regarding the settlement, and placed before Mr. Collinson the proposition, of which an abstract is hereto appended.

Shortly after, no advices having been received of the payment of the coupon money, Mr. Chase left to see the matter consummated, and returned shortly, accompanied by Mr. Bayne, and handed to Mr. Collinson the requisite authorities for the payment of the coupon. After which Mr. Collinson assured Messrs. Chase and Bayne that if, on the examination of the details, their scheme appeared feasible, he would endeavor to assist them in having it carried out, and for that purpose would submit the same forthwith to his friends in Holland; without their consent, however, nothing could be finally settled in the premises.

PROPOSED SETTLEMENT.

1. All litigation to be stopped; the various parties to the suits to bear their own costs.

2. Mr. Collinson to surrender all benefit from the contracts heretofore entered into with Hopkins & Co., or railroad company.

1613 3. 224 bonds to be returned to State for cancellation.

4. 976 bonds to be applied as follows:
A to pay Florida Const. Company.
B to pay all other creditors.

5. That first mortgage 7 per cent. gold bonds, at rate of $16,000 per mile, be placed on the entire railroad, the proceeds to be applied as follows:
A to retire issued State bonds.
B to complete construction of road.

6. The negotiation of the railroad bonds to be offered to Mr. Collinson at the price of, say, 65 per cent.

FLORIDA STATE LOAN AND JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE RAILROAD.

Memorandum of compromise proposed by Mr. C. L. Chase to settle all outstanding claims and differences:

1. All suits, either in America or England, relating to the bonds to be dismissed, the various parties bearing their own costs.

2. All contracts heretofore entered into with Mr. Collinson by the company, Mr. Chase, Mr. Flagg, General Davis, Hopkins & Co., and F. H. Collins, or any of them, and all contracts between any of such parties referring to Mr. Collinson's contracts to be cancelled and to be declared null and void.

3. The 1,200 bonds now in dispute to be disposed of as follows:

(a) 224 bonds to be cancelled and returned to the State against an equivalent number of the railroad bonds deposited with the State also to be cancelled. The bonds representing the over issue heretofore made in respect of deficient mileage of the railway.

(b) 974 bonds to be placed in trust at the Union Bank of London, subject to delivery to Mr. Collinson on the conditions after mentioned, and against payment of an advance thereon of $160,000. These bonds to be so deposited within sixty days from date hereof, with an option to Mr. Collinson to purchase the same, or any part thereof, at any time within three months from their receipt at the price of £130, and accrued interest per bond. Such bonds (if any) as remain unsold at the expiration of the term of such option to be returned to the order of the railroad company.

1615 (c) The proceeds to be applied as follows:

Firstly. A sufficient amount thereof shall be deposited in trust with Mr. Collinson to meet the coupon due January, 1873, on all the then outstanding 8 per cent. State bonds.

Secondly. The proceeds of forty bonds shall be retained by Mr. Collinson as compensation for the losses sustained by him by breach of the contracts entered into by Collins and Hopkins & Co., on behalf of the company.

Thirdly. The proceeds of the balance of bonds to be used to repay the Florida Construction Company for the money expended by them on the works of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and in satisfaction of the several claims of all other creditors of the company.

Fourthly. Mr. Chase will, within sixty days, obtain the execution by all persons claiming any interest in the bonds or the proceeds, or against the railroad company, and all other necessary parties, of a formal agreement for effectuating the above objects; otherwise this agreement to be null and void.

JULY 5*th*, 1872.

1. All suits, either in America or England, relating to the bonds, to dismissed, the various parties bearing their own costs, with the exception of mine, which are to be provided for as hereinafter stated.

2. All contracts heretofore entered into with me by the company, yourself, Mr. Flagg, General Davis, Hopkins & Co., and F. H. Collins, or any of them; all contracts between any of such parties referring to my contracts to be cancelled and to be declared null and void.

3. The 1,200 bonds now in dispute to be disposed of as follows:

(a) 224 bonds to be canceled and returned to the State against an equivalent number of the railroad bonds deposited with the State also to be canceled; these bonds representing the overissue heretofore made in respect to deficient mileage of the railway.

(b) 974 bonds to be placed in trust at the Union Bank of London, subject to delivery to me on the conditions after mentioned and against payment of $160,000. These bonds to be so deposited within sixty days from date hereof, with an option to me to purchase the same or any part thereof, at any time within three months from their receipt, at the price of £130 and accrued interest per bond; such bonds, if any, as remain unsold at the expiration of the term of such option to be returned to the order of the railroad company.

(c) The proceeds to be applied as follows:

Firstly. A sufficient amount thereof shall be deposited in trust 1617 with myself to meet the coupon due January, 1873, on all the then outstanding eight per cent. State bonds.

Secondly. A sufficient sum shall be retained by myself to pay all my legal expenses attending all suits in New York and England, in any way relating to the bonds.

Thirdly. The proceeds of 38 bonds shall be retained by me as compensation for the losses sustained by me by breach of the contracts entered into by Collins and Hopkins & Co., on behalf of the company.

Fourthly. The proceeds of bonds to be used to repay the Florida Construction Company for the money expended by them on the works of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad.

Fifthly. The balance of the proceeds of the bonds to be applied in satisfaction of the several claims of all other creditors of the company.

4. You will within sixty days obtain the execution of all persons claiming any interest in the bonds or the proceeds or against the railroad company, and all other necessary parties, to a formal agreement for effectuating the above objects, otherwise this agreement to be null and void.

FLORIDA STATE LOAN AND JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE RAILROAD.

Memorandum of compromise proposed by Mr. C. L. Chase, to settle all outstanding claims and differences.

1. All suits, either in America or England, relating to the bonds to be dismissed, the various parties bearing their own costs.

2. All contracts heretofore entered into with Mr. Collinson by the company, Mr. Chase, Mr. Flagg, General Davis, Hopkins & Co., and F. H. Collins, or any of them, and all contracts between any of such parties referring to Mr. Collinson's contracts, to be cancelled, and to be declared null and void.

3. The 1,200 bonds now in dispute to be disposed of as follows:

(a.) 224 bonds to be cancelled and returned to the State, against an equivalent number of the railroad bonds deposited with the State also to be cancelled; these bonds representing the overissue heretofore made in respect of deficient mileage of the railway.

(b.) 974 bonds to placed in trust at the Union Bank of London, subject to delivery to Mr. Collinson on the conditions after mentioned, and against payment of an advance thereon of $160,000. 1619 accrued interest per bond; such bonds (if any) as remain unsold at the expiration of the term of such option to be returned to the order of the railroad company.

(c.) The proceeds to be applied as follows:

Firstly. A sufficient amount thereof shall be deposited in trust with Mr. Collinson, to meet the coupon due January, 1873, on all the then outstanding eight per cent. State bonds.

Secondly. The proceeds of 40 bonds shall be retained by Mr. Collinson as compensation for the losses sustained by him by breach of the contracts entered into by Collins and Hopkins & Co., on behalf of the company.

Thirdly. The proceeds of the balance of the bonds to be used to repay the Florida Construction Company for the money expended by them on the works of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and in satisfaction of the several claims of all other creditors of the company.

4. Mr. Chase will within sixty days hand to Mr. Collinson a written certificate from Messrs. Barlow, Larocque and MacFarland that he has obtained releases in favor of the railroad company from all parties having any legal claim against the proceeds of the sale of the State bonds, or who shall have any claim which in law will have priority before the first mortgage bonds of the railroad company as a lien on the property of the company, otherwise this agreement will be null and void.

Florida State bonds.

50 OLD BROAD ST., LONDON, E. C., Dec. 30th, 1871.

W. W. MACFARLAND, Esq.:

MY DEAR SIR: After careful perusal of the "compromise" forwarded to me by you, regarding this matter between the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, D. H. Ambler, F. H. Flagg, and C. L. Chase, L P. Bayne, L. B. Bayne & Co., and S. W. Hopkins & Co., to which I am requested to give my consent, I am compelled to decline the same on the following grounds:

1st. The "compromise" proposes that the proceeds of the sale of the 1,200 bonds therein referred to, shall be principally applied in the payment of claims of certain parties against the stockholders of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

2nd. The constitution of the State authorizing the issue of these bonds explicitly stated that they should be used for perfecting public works.

3d. Section 4 of the act of the legislature, approved June 24th, 1869, empowered the governor to issue these bonds, for the purpose of further aiding in the speedy construction of the road.

4th. Section 9 of the act, approved June 28th, 1870, authorized the governor to deliver the said bonds to aid in completing, equipping, and maintaining the road.

5th. Frank H. Collins, for and on behalf of the firm of S. W.
1621 Hopkins & Co., in contracts entered into by him with me, on the 23d of March, 1871, and as a modification on the 26th of May, 1871, agreed that the proceeds of the sale of the last 1,200 bonds should be used for the construction of 100 miles of the railroad over and above the 250 miles said to have been then completed.

6th. By a letter dated July 1st, 1871, and addressed to me by James Anderson, general superintendent of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, it appeared that only 214 miles of the said road were then completed.

7th. In view of the foregoing letter, and to insure the speedy completion of the railroad to the Chattahoochie River, S. W. Hopkins & Co. signed a further contract, undertaking, out of the proceeds of the bonds then sold, to complete the railroad to the said river on or before the 1st of August, 1872.

Commenting on the above points, I must first recall the fact that the purchasers of the bonds, looking to their faces, understood they were issued in pursuance of, and in accordance with, the tenor of the constitution and acts, viz: "for completing the public works," "further aiding in the speedy construction of the road," and "completing, equipping, and maintaining the road," whereas the "compromise" proposes to divert the proceeds to the payment of certain old claims against the stockholders of the railway company.

The next fact is that, to further secure the bondholders, the fiscal agents of the railroad company and State, as an inducement to them to take the bonds, agreed to the application of the proceeds of their sale to a certain specified extension of the railroad.

Also, the "compromise," providing in no manner for any material, if any, extension of the road, requires the negotiation of an amount of bonds which would constitute an overissue representing an aggregate of 250, whereas only 214 miles are completed.

1622 I am, consequently, asked to consent to a "compromise" which is—

Firstly. Illegal as regards the State, being a misapplication of the State aid.

Secondly. An abandonment of contracts beneficial to the bondholders entered into by the fiscal agents of the railroad company and the State.

Thirdly. An overissue of bonds without the redeeming feature of their proceeds being held in trust for proper application in constructing the requisite length of road.

And generally: An arrangement by which the bondholders will diminish their security by increasing the obligations of the road and State without any equivalent therefor.

In conclusion, I would suggest that if there are any just claims against the stockholders of the railroad company, the policy of the claimants in their own interests should be the same as that of the bondholders, viz, to faciliate and not retard the completion of the road, by which means there is little doubt but what the earnings would speedily satisfy their claims.

Yours, faithfully,
(Signed) JOHN COLLINSON.

JOHN COLLINSON.

1624 Exhibit C, No. 19.—James M. Ball and R. E. Stilwell, examiners.

An agreement made the twenty-ninth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, between Converse L. Chase, of the first part, the said Converse L. Chase and Francis H. Flagg, as trustees under an indenture dated the second of October, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, of the second part, and John Collinson of the third part.

Whereas the said Converse L. Chase and the said John Collinson have consented to arrange the matters in dispute between the said John Collinson and the Jacksonville, Pensecola and Mobile Railroad Company and other parties, partly upon the terms and conditions embodied in a certain decree of the court of chancery, dated the second of August, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, and made in the suit of Collinson versus Collins, 1871, Number 178, and partly upon the terms and conditions hereinafter stated; and whereas it has been alleged by the said Converse L. Chase and Francis H. Flagg that the said company intend shortly to issue and negotiate bonds of the said company to the extent of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) per mile, more or less, and out of the proceeds of such bonds to retire the bonds of the State of Florida heretofore issued and sold in aid of the said railroad, and to complete the construction of the said railroad: Now, therefore, it is agreed between the parties as follows:

1. The said Chase hereby undertakes, immediately after his arrival at New York, to obtain and forward to the said Collinson an official document from the governor of the State of Florida, signed also by the attorney-general and the secretary of state, and attested by the English and Dutch consuls at New York, to the effect that the balance of the original issue of four thousand eight per cent. State bonds, in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, over and above 1625 two thousand eight hundred heretofore sold, are now to be dealt with in the manner following, namely: Two hundred and twenty-four thereof, numbered, to be returned to the State for cancellation, and nine hundred and seventy-six thereof, numbered, shall belong to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and be sold by them for the purposes of the company, the said nine hundred and seventy-six bonds being legally and properly issued and forming, with the two thousand eight hundred bonds heretofore sold, an equal obligation on the State of Florida.

2. The said Chase shall in every month, beginning in the month of November, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, cause to be made out and transmit to the said John Collinson the gross and net traffic returns of the said railroad for the entire month next preceding the month in which such return shall or ought, under these presents, to be made.

3. The said Converse L. Chase will, within ninety days from the date of said decree, hand to the said John Collinson a written certificate from Messrs. Barlow, Larocque and MacFarland that all parties having any claim, legal or equitable, against the proceeds of the sale of the State bonds, or who shall have any claim which in law or equity will have priority over the first mortgage bonds of the railroad company, as a lien on the property of the company, have respectively released such claims.

4. The said Converse L. Chase shall, on or before the thirtieth of September, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, hand to the said John Collinson a written certificate from the National Trust Company of New York (now the New York State Loan and Trust Company), that the two hundred and twenty-four State and railroad bonds mentioned in the said decree have been duly cancelled in accordance with the provisions thereof.

5. The said Converse L. Chase undertakes that until the said John Collinson shall have exercised the options reserved to him by the terms of the said decree of purchasing the bonds therein mentioned, or 1626 until the period of such option shall have expired, no other bonds of the State of Florida shall be issued or offered for negotiation in aid of the said railroad.

6. The said Converse L. Chase, on behalf of and as agent for the said railroad company, and as trustee under the said deed of the second of October, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, further agrees, and the said Francis H. Flagg, as trustee under such deed, also agrees that in the event of the company issuing bonds in accordance with their heretofore mentioned intention (and each of which bonds shall be for one thousand dollars ($1,000) gold, and bearing interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum (also in gold), such bonds shall forthwith be deposited in a bank in London, to be approved by the said John Collinson, to be delivered to him from time to time upon his request, and upon his payment for the same upon the terms hereinafter mentioned, and the said John Collinson shall have the option of purchasing all or any of the same bonds at the price for each bond of the equivalent in sterling in England of six hundred and fifty dollars, gold, and accrued interest on the date of delivery to the said John Collinson of such bonds; such option shall last so long as the said John Collinson shall take during every six calendar months from the date of the receipt by him of notice of such deposit as aforesaid, not less than one thousand bonds, at such price as aforesaid.

7. The said Converse L. Chase, on behalf of and as agent for the said railroad company, and as such trustee as aforesaid, undertakes, and the said Francis H. Flagg, as such trustee aforesaid, also undertakes, that no bond or bonds which may be issued by the said railroad company, as mentioned in the last preceding clause, shall be dealt with except on the terms of this agreement.

C. L. CHASE,
And on behalf of F. H. FLAGG.
JOHN COLLINSON.

TUESDAY, April 15th, 1879.

1627 MILTON S. LITTLEFIELD, a witness called on the part of compainant, being duly sworn and examined, says:

Q. 1. State your name, age, residence, and occupation.

A. Name, Milton S. Littlefield; age, forty-eight years; residence, Jacksonville, Florida; occupation, president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

Q. 2. How long have you been president of said railroad company?

A. Since August, 1869.

Q. 3. Do you or do you not know the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, the complainant in this action; and, if yea, how long have you known the same?

A. I do, and have known it since its organization, in 1868.

Q. 4. Were you, or were you not, at any time connected with said company, and, if yea, in what capacity?

A. I was president of said company from about October, 1869, to October, 1870.

At request of the witness, his further examination is adjourned till to-morrow morning, April 16, 1879, at 12 o'clock, to enable him time to examine books and papers.

WEDNESDAY, April 16th, 1879.

Present, Joseph B. Stewart, esq., counsel for complainant.

Q. 5. Within your knowledge, did or did not the said company (which, for brevity and certainty, will hereafter be called the North Carolina Company, in the course of this examination) receive any 1628 bonds from the State of North Carolina, and, if yea, please state, to the best of your knowledge and recollection, to what amount and for what purpose?

A. It came to my knowledge that the State of North Carolina issued to said company a little over six millions, par value, of bonds for the purpose of building its road.

Q. 6. Do you, or do you not, know in what manner said bonds were disposed of, and, if yea, please state, to the best of your recollection, by and to whom?

A. A great portion of them, if not all, were sold by Messrs. Soutter & Co., bankers in the city of New York, and the proceeds thereof placed to the credit of said company.

Q. 7. Were, or were not, the proceeds of said bonds, or any portion thereof, used in the purchase of stock or bonds of or in any railroad or railroads in the State of Florida, and, if yea, please state what road or roads, to the best of your knowledge, information, and belief?

A. George W. Swepson, late president of said company, expended about $500,000 in the first mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, and about $130,000 in stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and he has informed me that the money so expended was from the proceeds of said State bonds.

Q. 8. Was there, or was there not, at any time within your knowledge, a demand made on said Swepson by said North Carolina Company for the refunding of its moneys so used and appropriated, and, if yea, please state, to the best of your knowledge and recollection, when such demand was made?

A. A demand was made sometime in the forepart of April, 1870, upon Mr. Swepson for the money.

Q. 9. Please look at the paper now shown you, a copy of which is made part of this question, marked L, No. 1, and state what knowledge you have, if any, of said paper, and for what purpose the same was made and executed.

A. I know that that paper was executed 16th April, 1870; the 1629 purpose of its being, as the paper itself expresses, to secure to said company the payment of the money expended by George W.
Swepson, as stated in the paper.

Q. 10. Were, or were not, the terms and conditions of said paper, Ex. L, No. 1, complied with and the payments made to the North Carolina Company, as therein provided?

A. It was not complied with entirely; to the best of my recollection less than $100,000 was paid on said contract, or about $100,000.

Q. 11. Referring again to said paper of the 16th April, 1870, was there, or was there not, at the time of the execution of the same, any agreement or understanding between yourself and said Swepson, as presidents of the Florida Central and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Companies, and said North Carolina Company, that you and Swepson, of the said companies of which you were presidents, were constituted the agents, servants, or representatives, to act for said North Carolina Railroad Company in the management of said Florida railroads?

A. No, sir; there was no such agreement or understanding; the question was not even discussed; there was but one question presented, and that was how the said North Carolina Railroad Company should recover back the money received by George W. Swepson for the sale of its bonds.

Q. 12. By further referring to said paper, it provides that, "Whereas, The said Littlefield has received authority from the State of Florida and the said several railroad companies to receive bonds to be issued by and for account of said several railroad companies, which bonds are to be exchanged for the bonds of the State of Florida, to be issued for the purpose of aiding the finances of said railroad companies;" will you please state whether or not either of the said bonds mentioned, or a specimen of the same, or the law authorizing the issue thereof in said agreement, were or were not present, considered, or discussed by and between yourself and said Swepson and the parties representing said North Carolina Company?

1630 A. The law authorizing the issue of the bonds had been approved, and I had a certified copy of it with me; there were no bonds, or a copy thereof, proposed to be issued by the State, present at the time; the same were not seen, considered, or discussed by the parties at that time.

Q. 13. Did or did not the said North Carolina Railroad Company, or any of its officers, agents, or representatives in any manner, undertake to assume the authority to sell, vend, or dispose of, or to aid in the selling, vending, or disposing of the said bonds of the State of Florida, mentioned in the said paper of the 16th April, 1870?

A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. 14. Was or was not said North Carolina company, or any of its agents or representatives, at any time or in any manner, invested with power or authority to sell or dispose of said Florida State bonds?

A. Not to my knowledge, excepting such authority as may have been given in that agreement entered into between N. W. Woodfin and myself as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, executed and delivered in London, England, on the 10th day of November, 1870, and my letter of the same date to Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., which I make part of my answer, marked L, No. 2.

Q. 15. Such letter speaks of the delivery of Florida eight per cent. gold bonds, to the number of eight hundred, to the credit of Nicholas W. Woodfin, chairman of the commissioners appointed by the legislature of North Carolina; will you please state whether or not said eight hundred bonds, or any portion of them, were or were not placed with Messrs. Hopkins & Co. to the credit of said commissioners; and, if yea, please state the time and manner in which the same was done?

A. I have no knowledge upon the subject, except that I gave the order to have them delivered on the 16th day of November, 1870; on the same date Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co. notified said Woodfin were present in the room when the order was given and accepted, and none were shown to Mr. Woodfin at that or any other time, to my knowledge or belief, and subsequently Mr. Hopkins informed me that the bonds to be placed to the credit of said North Carolina company were numbered above 3,000, and there were no bonds of the State of Florida numbering above 3,000 then issued.
1631 that the bonds would be held for said company, but no bonds

Q. 16. You have spoken of the purchase, by Geo. W. Swepson, of certain bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Company, with moneys belonging to the North Carolina Railroad Company; do you know, and if yea, will you please state in what manner said bonds were used or disposed of by said Swepson, and the par value and amount thereof, to the best of your knowledge and recollection?

A. They amounted to about nine hundred and sixty thousand dollars par value, and about twelve thousand accrued interest thereon; they were delivered to Franklin Dibble and associates, according to the terms of an agreement, March 26th, 1869.

Q. 17. Please look at the paper now shown you, and referred to as part of this question, marked L, No. 3, which commences:

"Whereas at a sale of the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, on the 20th day of March, 1869, of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads, F. Dibble, on behalf of himself and his associates, became the purchasers thereof, bidding for the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad $1,220,000, and for the Tallahassee Railroad $195,000. And whereas Geo. W. Swepson is the holder of a large amount of the first mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Tallahassee Railroad Companies," etc.

"Dated March 26th, 1869.

(Signed) "FRANKLIN DIBBLE, [L. S.]
"For himself and Associates. [L. S.]
"GEO. W. SWEPSON. [L. S.]

"Witnesses:
"M. D. PAPY.
"A. R. MEEK."

1632 and state whether or not the same, to the best of your knowledge, is or is not the original agreement pursuant to which said Swepson used and appropriated the said bonds so purchased with the money of the North Carolina Railroad Company?

A. To the best of my knowledge I should say this is the original agreement; I did not see it executed, but I am familiar with the handwriting of all of the signing parties, and I say that the signatures to the same are in the proper handwriting of said Franklin Dibble and Geo. W. Swepson, A. R. Meek and M. D. Papy, and I understand the bonds here referred to were purchased by Mr. Swepson with the money of said North Carolina Railroad Company.

Q. 18. Besides the said $960,000, or thereabouts, described in said agreement, do you or not know of any other consideration; and if so, what and by whom paid or used in the purchase of said Pensacola and Tallahassee Railroad?

A. I understand that this is the only consideration within my knowledge.

Q. 19. Please look at the paper now shown you, and referred to as part of this question, marked L, No. 4, purporting to be a deed of conveyance and trust, signed and delivered by F. Dibble, for himself and associates, to Geo. W. Swepson, dated 22d of April, 1869, and state what, if anything, you know about said deed of trust.

A. This is the original deed of trust executed by Franklin Dibble, for himself and associates, to secure Geo. W. Swepson for the moneys he expended in the purchase of the said bonds of the Pensacola and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, and for all expenses, commissions, interest, attorneys' fees, and $150,000 profits on the investment, and to pay the unpaid purchase money to the trustees of the internal improvement fund for about $460,000.

Q. 20. By the terms of said trust deed, it is provided that an act of incorporation shall be obtained from the legislature of Florida, consisting or to consist as incorporation of said F. Dibble and his associates, in which the rights and interests of said Swepson shall be guarded and provided for in a manner mentioned in said deed; will you please state whether or not such act of incorporation was obtained? 1633

A. Such act was obtained.

Q. 21. Will you now please look at the bill of complaint filed in this cause respecting the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, at the paper marked Schedule D, page 63, headed: "An act for the relief of Franklin Dibble, A. Huling, E. M. Cheney, and their associates, purchasers of the railroad from Tallahassee to St. Marks, and of the railroad from Quincy to Lake City, and incorporating the Tallahassee Railroad Company," and approved June 24th, 1869, and state whether or not the same, to the best of your knowledge and belief, is a correct copy of the act incorporating the said F. Dibble and his associates?

A. I have looked at said paper, and believe it to be a copy of said act.

Q. 22. The sixth section of said act authorizes said Tallahassee railroad thereby incorporated to issue bonds subject to the following condition and provision namely: "Provided, that any deed of trust, mortgage, conveyance, bond or bonds, or security which may have been executed, made, created, or contracted for as a lien on said railroad or otherwise, by said Franklin Dibble, in behalf of himself or associates, prior to the passage of this act, shall be valid and affectual to all intents, either at law or in equity, as a lien or mortgage or security on said railroad, as if the same had been made by virtue of this act, and shall in nowise be affected by any provision thereof;" will you please state if you know, and if yea, what deed of trust or conveyance said provision referred to or was intended to cover?

A. The deed of trust mentioned above, dated the 22d day of April, 1869.

Q. 23. What relation, if any, did you have or hold to said act of incorporation, or the said Tallahassee Railroad Company when incorporated?

1634 A. I secured the passage of the act of incorporation, and subsequently became president of the company when incorporated; the first president was F. Dibble.

Q. 24. After said act of incorporation of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, and pursuant to said agreement of the 26th of March, 1869, and said deed of trust of 22d April, 1869, did or did not said company deliver any bonds to said Swepson? and, if yea, please state to the best of your knowledge and recollection the date and amount thereof.

A. Under said act of incorporation, the Tallahassee Railroad Company organized, and elected Franklin Dibble its president, and under the authority of the sixth section of said act, and in pursuance of the provisions of said deed of trust of the 22d of April, 1869, and of said contract of the 26th day of March, 1869, as modified by agreement between the same parties in August, 1869, a deed of trust was executed and delivered to me for Geo. W. Swepson by Franklin Dibble, said president, covering the Pensacola and Georgia and the Tallahassee Railroad Companies, as sold and purchased on the 20th day of March, 1869. The trustees named therein were Stewart L. Woodford, Bazelia G. Worth, and Darius R. Mangam. Under said deed of trust fifteen hundred bonds, of one thousand dollars each, were signed by said Dibble, president, and delivered at the time of the delivery of said deed of trust.

Q. 25. Did you or did you not deliver said bonds to said Swepson?

A. I delivered said bonds to Geo. W. Swepson.

Q. 26. Do you or do you not know the locality and termini of the Florida Central Railroad Company and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company? and if yea, please describe the same to the best of your recollection.

A. I do know the locality and termini of the railroads of each of said companies: The Florida Central runs from Jacksonville to Lake City in the State of Florida, and is sixty miles in length. The eastern 1635 terminus of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad is at Lake City, and is constructed as far west as the Chattahooche' River.

Q. 27. Were you or were you not a director and stockholder of said Florida Central Railroad Company in the year 1870, and subsequently thereto?

A. I was a director and stockholder in the Florida Central Railroad Company in the year 1870, and still am.

Q. 28. Was there or was there not at any time within your knowledge a consolidation of the road of said Florida Central Railroad Company with the road of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company?

A. The Florida Central Railroad Company never consolidated with the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile, or any other railroad company whatever.

Q. 28. Please look at the book now shown you, at page 1, headed Augusta, Ga., August 13th, 1868, which recites that, "a meeting of the stockholders in the Florida Central Railroad Company was held" on that day, and from thence to page numbered 51, and state whether or not you know said book; and if yea, state what it is to the best of your knowledge and information.

A. I have examined said book, and recognize it as the original record book of the acts and proceedings of the stockholders and directors of the Florida Central Railroad Company from its organization to the 27th day of May, 1876.

Further examination of this witness is adjourned to Thursday, April 17th, 1879, at 11 a. m.

THURSDAY, April 17th, 1879—11 a. m.

Present, Joseph B. Stewart, esq., counsel for complainants.

Q. 29. You have stated that you were a stockholder and direc-1636 tor in the Florida Central Railroad Company in the year 1870, and subsequently thereto; will you now please look at the paper made part of the bill filed in this cause, in respect to the Florida Central Railroad Company, marked Schedule B, headed as follows: "No. 501," in the upper left hand corner, and "$1,000" in the upper right hand corner, and which reads:

"UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
" State of (Florida coat of arms) Florida :

"Bond of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

"Know all men by these presents, that the Florida Central Railroad Company acknowledges itself indebted to the State of Florida in the sum of one thousand dollars," &c., and purporting to be dated the first day of January, in the year eighteen hundred and seventy, and signed "George W. Swepson, president," and "H. H. Thompson, treasurer," and state what, if anything, you know about the object and origin of said paper.

A. This paper is a copy of a bond pretended to have been issued by the Florida Central Cailroad Company; I had the blanks printed in the city of New York about the month of March or April, 1870; they were taken to the St. Nicholas Hotel, in the city of New York, and signed by H. H. Thompson, and from thence were taken by me to Washington City and delivered to George W. Swepson, who was then president of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and by him signed Sunday, April 17, 1870, after which, I, as his messenger, took them to Tallahassee, Florida, and delivered them to Edward Houstoun, in accordance with the tenor and effect of an understanding and agreement entered into between the said Houstoun, Swepson, and myself in the month of August, 1869, in the City of New York, which was subsequently reduced to writing between said Houstoun and myself.

1637 Q. 30. You have stated that the object for which said bonds were issued was pursuant to an agreement between Swepson, Houstoun, and yourself, entered into in the month of August, 1869, and subsequently reduced to writing between said Houstoun and yourself; will you now be so good as to look at Schedules C, D, and E, now shown you, forming part of the bill of complaint filed in this cause respecting the Florida Central Railroad Company, Schedule C, being dated "Tallahassee, Florida, the thirteenth day of May, A. D. 1870," signed "E. Houstoun [seal], M. S. Littlefield [seal]," Schedule D being signed:

"In witness whereof the said parties have hereunto interchangeably set their hands and seals, this 10th day of May, A. D. 1870.

"(Signed) MILTON S. LITTLEFIELD. [L. S.]
"(Signed) EDWARD HOUSTOUN. [L. S.]"

And Schedule E being signed:

"Witness our hand and seal, this the seventh day of June, A. D. 1870, at Tallahassee, Florida.

"(Signed) M. S. LITTLEFIELD. [L. S.]
"(Signed) E. HOUSTOUN. [L. S.]

"Signed, sealed, and executed in our presence:
"(Signed) CHAS. P. COLLINS.
"(Signed) J. P. SANDERSON."

And state whether or not said papers or schedules are or are not correct copies of any original papers or agreements known to you, and if yea, have you the said originals in your possession, and will you produce the same as part of this your examination?

A. I have examined said Schedules C, D, and E, and they are true and correct copies of the originals now in my possession, here present, and tender them as part of this my examination, same marked respectively Exhibit L 5, Exhibit L 6, and Exhibit L 7.

1638 Q. 31. Will you now please state the origin of said papers, for what consideration and for what purpose the same were executed respectively, to the best of your knowledge and recollection, other than the matters expressed upon their face.

A. On the 2d of August, 1869, said Houstoun came to the city of New York to settle his agency matters with George W. Swepsen, and to sell one hundred and ten thousand dollars par value of the first mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, and certain lots in the city of Jacksonville, and his stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company; in the settlement of his agency with said Mr. Swepson, which was to purchase the bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, there was a balance of money still in the hands of said Houstoun belonging to said Swepson of twenty-two thousand and odd dollars; said Houstoun owned, or claimed to own, one hundred and ten thousand dollars par value of the said bonds of the said Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, which he offered to sell to said Swepson and myself at the rate of seventy-five cents on a dollar for the face of the bonds and accrued interest, which amounted to about eighty-two thousand five hundred dollars; he also owned, or claimed to own, one hundred and thirty thousand dollars par value of the stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, which he offered to sell for seventy-five cents on the dollar, which amounted to about ninety-seven thousand five hundred dollars. This proposition was accepted, and in payment he retained the twenty-two thousand dollars, and I paid him thirty-five thousand dollars in cash, making a total cash payment of about fifty-seven thousand dollars, leaving due one hundred and nine thousand one hundred and forty dollars, for which the said Houstoun proposed to take George W. Swepson's drafts, accepted by me, and this was the way the matter stood when I went to Florida early in May, 1870. Mr. Houstoun then proposed to change the arrangement, to compel Mr. Swepson to pay him a commission of fifty thousand dollars, but not wishing to have it 1639 known that he had been acting as agent for said Swepson, he demanded that we should make the account so as to cover his commissions, and we purchase his stock in the Flórida Central, paying therefor a sufficient sum to cover his commissions, interest, and expenses. The account then stood about one hundred and nine thousand one hundred and forty dollars due him as by our August agreement, 1869, and to this he added sixty thousand dollars to cover said commission, interest, and expenses, but called it Florida Central stock, and upon this basis Schedule C was executed. It was also agreed at the time that he should retain the Jacksonville lots and get his pay for them from the Florida Central Company to which he was to convey the lots; after the execution of the contract, Schedule C, a difficulty arose between Mr. Houstoun and myself, I having since August 2d, 1869, purchased of Geo. W. Swepson whatever interest he had in the railroads in Florida; the difficulty was about the security for the payment of the one hundred and sixty-three thousand and seventy dollars and twenty cents; he said Houstoun demanded that he should retain in his possession and have absolute control of all bonds then proposed to be issued by the Florida Central Railroad Company as shown by Schedule B, he having said bonds in his possession as well as the stock referred to in Schedule C, and and to secure him such control contract marked Schedule D was executed. A few days after the signing and delivery of the contract marked Schedule D, said Houstoun again departed from the agreements, Schedules C, D, for the reason that bonds, Schedule B, were made payable to the State of Florida. He demanded that he not only have the stock of the Florida Central in his control, but that the bonds to be issued by the Florida Central Railroad Company should be made payable to bearer; hence, to overcome this difficulty contract, Schedule E was executed.

Q. 32. Referring again to said bond, Schedule B, it concludes as follows: "In witness whereof, the said company has caused this 1640 bond to be signed and attested in its behalf by its president, and its common seal affixed at its office in , this first day of January, in the year 1870." And again at the foot of said bond, under what purports to be a certificate, appears " January 1st, 1870," there being no name fixed or signed preceeding said date, as apparently intended. Do you or not know, and if yea, will you please state, why said blanks were left in said paper?

A. When the blank bonds were prepared and signed by H. H. Thompson, treasurer, and George W. Swepson, president, it was not certain where said Swepson and said Houstoun would establish the office of th company.

Q. 33. Was it or was it not intended to locate the office of said company, and fill up said blanks before said bonds were finally used.

A. When the bonds were signed as aforesaid it was the intenti Mr. Swepson, then president of said company, that before the said bonds should be used, the office of the company should be established and the consent of the holders of every share of stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company should be obtained before the said bonds should be used, for which reason blanks were left.

Q. 34. Were or were not the stockholders consulted and their consent obtained to the issuing of said bonds before the same were signed and placed in the hands of said Houstoun as you have testified?

A. Only two or three stockholders were consulted, the rest were not; those that were consulted did not give their consent.

Q. 35. Who, if any one, in the month of April, 1870, was the duly elected treasurer of the Florida Central Railroad Company?

A. Francis H. Flagg.

Q. 36. Please look at pages 9 and 10 of the book which you have testified was and is the original record of the proceedings of the stockholders and directors of the Florida Central Railroad Company now shown you at certain proceedings of September 21st, 1868, 1641 and state whether or not you know what the same are; and if so, what the same are?

A. I do know what these proceedings are; they are the by-laws of the Florida Central Raailroad Company.

Q. 37. Were or were not said by-laws in force in and during the year 1870?

A. They were.

Q. 38. Please look again at said records at pages 22, 23, 24 and 25, which commences on page 22, under date of "Tallahassee, June 2d, 1870," headed "The stockholders of the Florida Central Railroad Company convened this day pursuant to call of the chairman at the last meeting," and at page 24, under same date, which reads, "The directors of the Florida Central Railroad Company met this day at the call of the president," &c., and state what, if anything, you know about said meeting, and the origin thereof, and whether the same was convened in the manner required by the by-laws?

A. I have examined said record at said places; the stockholders convened on the 2d day of June, 1870, as stated in said record; no previous notice was given, as the by-laws required, for said meeting; there were present but two stockholders; they were Edward Houstoun and myself; stock was transferred temporarily to A. Huling, ten shares, G. R. Foster, ten shares, and M. D. Papy, ten shares of Mr. Houstoun's stock to make up a meeting; the object of the meeting was to bring into use the bonds mentioned in Schedule B, as provided in Schedule D.

Q. 39. The fifth article of said by-laws, at page 10 of said record, to which you have testified, reads as follows: "5th. That an annual meeting of stockholders shall be held on the second Wednesday in August of each year; other meetings may be called by the president or any three stockholders by giving public notice for ten days through the newspapers." Will you please state if either the president or any three stockholders of said Florida Central Railroad Company made a 1642 call for said meeting of the 2d of June, 1870, and published the same in any newspaper as required by said by-law?

A. They did not.

Q. 40. Now, please look again at said record on page 24, purporting to be a meeting of the directors of said Florida Central Railroad Company, and state whether or not you were present at said meeting, and, if yea, state in what manner that meeting was called.

A. I was present at said meeting; the record purports to say that the directors met at the call of the president; this certainly was a mistake, as John P. Sanderson, the president of the company, was in Tallahassee at the time when said meeting purports to have been called; in fact the meeting was not called at all; directors Huling, Houstoun, Foster, Papy, and Littlefield met and passed resolutions which had just been passed at the meeting of stockholders above testified about; the above-named directors converted themselves from a stockholders' meeting into a directors' meeting; the meeting was not held at the office of the company, but at the office of M. D. Papy.

Q. 41. The resolutions purporting to have been passed and adopted at said stockholders' and directors' meetings, as recorded at pages 23 and 24 respectively of said record, direct that the Florida Central Railroad bonds, purporting to have been signed by George W. Swepson and H. H. Thompson, as therein described, "shall be placed in the hands of Edward Houstoun, for the purposes agreed upon, by an arrangement between himself and M. S. Littlefield"; do you or do you not know, and, if yea, please state what agreement was referred to between yourself and said Houstoun, as therein mentioned?

A. Agreements Schedules C and D; principally Schedule D, dated May 13th and 30th, 1870.

Q. 42. You have stated that besides being a stockholder and director of the Florida Central Railroad Company, you were likewise a director, stockholder and president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and 1643 Mobile Railroad Company; will you please state whether there was or was not any agreement or contract of any kind entered into between said companies, verbal or written, whereby the Florida Central Railroad Company agreed to issue and deliver a thousand, or other number, of its bonds to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and whereby the last named company agreed and bound itself to receive and apply said Florida Central Railroad bonds, in any manner or for any purpose, and, if yea, please state when, how, and in what manner such agreement was made between the said two companies, and produce the record thereof, if any such exists?

A. No such contract was ever entered into between the said companies, or between any persons for them, or either of them, written or verbal.

Q. 43. Did or did not the Florida Central Railroad Company ever at any time, and, if yea, please state when and in what manner, issue, seal, sign, and deliver a thousand, or any other number, of its bonds to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and did or did not said last named company ever receive or have in its possession such bonds, or apply the same in the construction of its road, or for any other purpose?

A. No such bonds were ever issued by the Florida Central Railroad Company for the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company; the latter company never received any bonds of any description from the Florida Central Railroad Company.

Q. 44. Please look again at the bill filed in this cause respecting the Florida Central Railroad at Schedule F, headed and dated "Tallahassee, Fla., January 11th, 1871," and signed "T. B. Coddington," which says, "Received from Edward Houstoun, esq., in trust and for his account, one thousand Florida Central Railroad Company first mortgage bonds, payable to the State of Florida, for one thousand dollars each," &c., and state, if you know, what bonds are therein mentioned, and, if yea, please state to the best of your knowledge and recollection.

1644 A. I know the bonds mentioned in Schedule F, and they are the same bonds mentioned in Schedule E and are shown by Schedule B.

Q. 45. Do you or do you not know whether said bonds were charged in the hands of said Houstoun or Coddington with the payment of any debts or obligations other than the debt to said Houstoun, as to which you have testified, and if yea, please state the same to the best of your knowledge and recollection; please give the names and amounts as far as you can remember.

A. The said bonds were charged with the payment of other debts; besides the one hundred and sixty-three thousand dollars to Edward Houstoun, there were to M. D. Papy, $16,000; R. H. Gamble, $15,000; J. P. Sanderson, $57,560; F. H. Flagg, $4,000; J. D. Wescott, jr., $3,845.33; T. W. Brevard, $50,000; Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida, about $300,000; T. B. Coddington, $25,000,

Q. 46. You have stated that said bonds, purporting to have been issued by the Florida Central Railroad Company, were signed by said Thompson, as treasurer, in New York, and by said Swepson, as president, in Washington City; do you or not know, and if yea, will you please state when, where, and in what manner the seal of the Florida Central Railroad Company was affixed to said bonds, if its seal was affixed thereto?

A. The seal of the Florida Central Railroad Company was affixed to said bonds at my room in Tallahassee, by Thomas J. Saunders; the seal was brought from the railroad office at Tallahassee by said Edward Houstoun and delivered to said Saunders or myself, I will not be positive which.

Q. 47. You have stated that F. H. Flagg was, at the time mentioned, secretary and treasurer of said Florida Central Railroad Company; will you please state whether or not the said seal of said company was in his custody, and whether or not he was applied to to affix the same to said bonds? and if yea, please state what, if anything, he said or did in relation thereto.

1645 A. The said Flagg was the custodian of the seal of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and he was asked to put the seal upon said bonds by Mr. Houstoun, in my presence and hearing, which said Flagg decidedly refused to do, for the following reasons as given by him: first, that there was no authority given by the law to said company to issue any such bonds and exchange them with the State; second, if there was any such law, the stockholders had not authorized or directed him to do so; third, if the stockholders should authorize and direct him to put the seal upon said bonds he would resign before he would obey it, unless Mr. Houstoun would first purchase his stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company.

The further examination of this witness is adjourned to Friday, April 18th, 1879, at 11 a. m.

FRIDAY, April 18th, 1879—11 a. m.

Present, counsel as before.

Witness LITTLEFIELD continues:

Q. 48. Referring again to the original record book of the Florida Central Railroad Company, at page 27 occurs the following resolution, purporting to have been adopted by a meeting of stockholders, represented to have been held at Tallahassee April 13, 1871: "Mr. Houstoun offered the following resolution: Resolved, That Edward Houstoun is authorized to place the bonds referred to in the preamble and resolution of the stockholders adopted June 2d, 1870, in the hands of S. W. Hopkins & Co., for the purposes mentioned in the said resolution, subject to the same exceptions as therein expressed with respect to the portion thereof applicable to the stock owned by other parties, and according to the same terms therein mentioned"; will you please look at said resolution, and state whether you was or was not present at said meeting? and if yea, state to what bonds said resolution referred, to the best of your recollection.

1646 A. I was not present at said meeting; the bonds referred to were the same bonds T. B. Coddington received from Edward Houstoun on the 11th day of January, 1871, as described in schedule F, heretofore testified to.

Q. 49. Calling your attention again to the purchase of the stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company by Edward Houstoun, as agent for George W. Swepson, will you please look at the paper now shown you, purporting to be a copy of a letter dated "Augusta, February 17th, 1869," addressed:

"Col. EDWARD HOUSTON, Tallahassee:

"DEAR SIR: Your proposition to purchase at forty dollars per share, in bills on New York at thirty days, to the stockholders of the Florida Central Railroad Company, their stock, was submitted to them yesterday, and the parties, as named in the enclosed list, have accepted your bid.

"The following persons were not present, but have no doubt they will also accept, of which I will notify you, viz: J. T. Miller, thirty shares; C. F. McCoy, cashier, sixty; and M. Wilkinson, forty.

"The stockholders in Charleston I will write to, naming your proposal; and it will be for them to notify you of their acceptance or rejection.

"For those indicated, named on the enclosed sheet as having accepted your proposition, you will please forward me drafts for their respective amounts, and to their order, and according to the arrangement I will hold their scrip until the payment of the draft, and will then transfer the stock as you may direct.

"Respectfully yours,

and state whether or not, within your knowledge, the said letter was written and received, according to its tenor and purport; and have you at any time seen, read or had in your possession the said letter, or have you now the same; and if yea, will you produce the same as part of your examination?

1647 A. I have no personal knowledge of the writing of said letter by W. E. Jackson, or its receipt by Edward Houstoun; but I have in my possession what purports to be the original letter, and will produce the same as part of my examination, and which is marked L, No. 8; I received said letter among other papers relating to Houstoun's agency from Francis H. Flagg, who was the secretary of Mr. Houstoun.

Q. 50. Was or was not the Florida Central Railroad stock mentioned in said letter the same that was the subject of the settlement between said Houstoun, Swepson, and yourself, the 2d of August, 1869, and referred to in the schedules C, D, and E, executed between yourself and said Houstoun, to which you have testified?

A. I understand it to be the same stock.

Q. 51. Who, if any one, was president of the Florida Central Railroad Company in the years 1870 and 1871?

A. From April, 1870, to April, 1871, John P. Sanderson was president.

Q. 52. Within your knowledge, and during the year 1870, were there, or were there not, any exchange of bonds of the Jacksonville, Pensacola, and Mobile Railroad Company, for bonds of the State of Florida? and if yea, please state, to the best of your knowledge and recollection, when such exchange of bonds occurred, and what number of bonds were so exchanged at that time.

A. There was an exchange of bonds between the Jacksonville, Pensacola, and Mobile Railroad Company and the State of Florida; the exchange was made in the early part of the month of June, 1870, and the numbers were from 1 to 3000 inclusive—that is, there were 3,000 bonds of $1,000 each.

Q. 53. Will you please look at the paper now shown you, and made part of this question, marked L, No. 9, and state what knowledge, if any, you have of the origin of said paper?

A. I know this paper; it is a correct copy of the original in my possession, and I do know the origin of it.

1648 Q. 54. Will you please produce the said original paper, and make the same a part of your deposition?

A. I do produce the same, and it is marked L, No. 10.

Q. 55. Now please state the origin, why and for what purpose, and by authority of what law, if any, said paper L, No. 10, to which you have just testified, was prepared.

A. It is a paper presented by Harrison Reed, then governor of the State of Florida, for me to sign and swear to, on or about the 6th day of June, 1870; it was intended to be the authority of said governor to exchange bonds with said company under section 2d of "An act to alter and amend an act entitled an 'Act to perfect the public works of the State' (of Florida), approved June 24, 1869"; said amendatory act was approved January 28th, 1870.

Q. 56. By the terms of 2d section of said act "the governor of the State is hereby directed to deliver to the president of said company coupon bonds of the State to an amount of $16,000 for the whole line of road and length of railroad owned by or belonging to said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, in exchange for first mortgage bonds of said railroad company, when the president thereof shall certify upon his oath that the road, or parts of road to which he asks for exchange of bonds, is completed, and is in good running order." Will you please state whether or not you ever made, signed, and certified on oath to any such certificate as described in said act, and delivered the same to the governor of Florida?

A. I never did.

Q. 57. Do your emember, and if yea, please state, who placed the original of said paper L, No. 10, in your hands, and whether there was any changes or alterations made therein, and if so, by whom?

A. The paper was prepared by J. P. Sanderson, and by him delivered to said Harrison Reed, governor, requesting me to swear to the same, and deliver it back to him, which I declined to do, for the reason 1649 that in the original were those words: "Do certify that one hundred and fifty-nine miles of road of said company is that for which, under said section, I ask for an exchange of bonds." This sentence was changed when handed to me by said governor, so as to read: "Do certify that one hundred and eighty-eight miles of road of said company is that for which under said section I ask for an exchange of bonds," and declining to make such oath, as stated, I retained said original paper in my possession, and make the same part of this my examination.

Q. 58. Subsequent to the date of said paper L, No. 10, and the exchange of the said $3,000,000 of bonds of the State of Florida, did or did not the governor of said State further request you to execute the said paper, or give a receipt for the said $3,000,000 of bonds, and the further amount of $1,000,000 of bonds? and if yea, please state what you did in reference thereto.

A. Referring to a memorandum in the handwriting of Harrison Reed, governor, under date of May 22d, 1871, he called upon me to "give receipt for $3,000,000 and $1,000,000 railroad bonds, and return coupons to July"; referring to another memorandum, also in the handwriting of said Harrison Reed, governor, he requested me to "forward receipt for $3,000,000 and $1,000,000 railroad bonds, and send stamp for railroad bonds in treasury"; for the same reason stated above, I declined to execute and forward the receipt.

Q. 59. Before the receipt was asked for, was or was not the exchange of said bonds with the State of Florida authorized by the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company?

A. Yes.

Q. 60. Will you please look at the two books now shown you, one of which, at page 1, which reads, "Organization of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company," and the other headed at page 1, "A meeting of the board of directors was called by the president the 19th day of August, 1869," and state if you know said books, and, if you know, what they are?

1650 A. I do know said books; the first named book is the original record book of the stockholders of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and from pages 1 to 86, inclusive, contains the original record of the proceedings of the stockholders of said company; the second book mentioned in the question I also know to be the original record book of the acts and doings of the directors of said company, and from page 1 to 76, inclusive, is the record of the proceedings of the directors of said company.

Q. 61. Please look at said stockholders' record book, at the bottom of page 4, and top of page 5, and state whether or not the resolution therein contained is the one authorizing the exchange of said bonds with the State of Florida, of which you have testified in your preceding answer?

A. I have looked at said record, and it is.

Q. 62. Was there, or was there not, any other or subsequent resolution passed by said stockholders, authorizing said exchange, and if yea, will you please give the date thereof, and refer to the same in said record?

A. The resolution to which I have testified is the only one I remember, or find in the book.

Q. 63. What railroad, if any, was owned by said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company at the date of said resolution, authorizing the exchange of bonds with the State of Florida, to wit, January 31, 1870?

A. Not any at the date of the passage of this resolution; it was a prospective road, commencing at the city of Quincy, in the State of Florida, and moving westward—that is, a contemplated line.

Q. 64. Did, or did not, said company subsequently consolidate with any other railroad company? and if yea, please state with what company, and when.

A. Said company did consolidate with the Tallahassee Railroad Company, which owned the line of railroad between Lake City and Quincy in the State of Florida, with a branch to Monticello, and another 1651 to St. Mark's; said consolidation was consummated on the 25th day of May, 1870.

Q. 65. Subsequent to such consolidation, did, or did not, the stockholders of said consolidated company ever at any time, and if so, when, by resolution, or otherwise, approve, authorize, or direct the exchange of bonds of said consolidated company, for bonds of the State of Florida?

A. I have no recollection of any such action on the part of the stockholders or directors of said consolidated company, nor do I, in the examination of the record books of the said stockholders' or directors' meetings, find any such resolution or authority authorizing such exchange of bonds.

Q. 66. Do you or not know, and if yea, please state in what manner, upon what terms, and upon what price, and through what agency the said bonds of the State of Florida exchanged, as you have hereinbefore testified, were disposed of? Please state to the best of your knowledge and recollection.

A. I do not know how a portion of said bonds were contracted to be disposed of; it was through and to the banking house of S. W. Hopkins & Co. of New York and London; the price was £100 net per bond of $1,000 each; the contract to sell said bonds at that price was made about the month of November, 1870; I have no official knowledge of the sale of any bonds, as no final report has ever been made to me by said Messrs. Hopkins & Co.; they have reported that they never sold any bonds numbering above 2,800; I cannot testify as to the details of the sale and negotiation of those bonds without having the testimony heretofore taken in the various suits now pending, touching the sale or disposing of these bonds, before me, to refresh my memory.

Q. 67. You have stated that you contracted to dispose of said bonds for Florida State bonds at the price of only £100 sterling for each $1,000 bond; do you, or do you not know? and if yea, please state what reason, if any, caused you to contract to sell said bonds at such reduced price; please state in detail the facts as they occurred within your knowledge.

1652 A. I do know the reason; they were many, but principally because of the damaging statement in relation to the issue of said bonds which appeared in the public press of the State of Florida, in the city of New York, and other places, which papers were sent to London, England, Amsterdam, Holland, Frankfort, Germany, thus rendering it impossible to sell the bonds in open market at any price whatever. The only way they could be converted into money was by placing them in the hands and under the control of a syndicate formed for the purpose of floating securities, and then we had to accept just such terms as they proposed; before I accepted the proposition I tried to dispose of the bonds in open market, and a private negotiation in London, England, in Brussels, in Berlin, in Frankfort, and Vienna in person, and through correspondence in Paris and in Holland; the damaging reports in relation to the said Florida State bonds had preceded me at every place I went, and finally I was compelled to accept the reduced offer from the necessities of the company at home; the company was extending its road westward from Quincy and was greatly in need of money to pay for material and iron and to pay employees upon, of which there was a large number of men clamoring for their pay.

Q. 68. At or about what time did you go to London and Europe in reference to the sale and disposing of said bonds, if you say you visited Europe for that purpose?

A. I went to Europe for the sale of those bonds in August, 1870.

Q. 69. While so visiting Europe for such purpose, please state who, if any one, you saw or met in reference to disposing of said bonds or connected with the syndicate of which you have spoken; please give their names to the best of your recollection, and which, if any, are named as parties to this suit?

A. I had no personal knowledge of the formation of the syndicate which finally purchased the bonds, except such information as I received from Frank H. Collins; he informed me that a syndicate was 1653 being formed in England and Holland of which John Collinson, of England, was the head. I did not meet any members of the syndicate in London except Collinson; in about the month of June, 1871, said Collinson visited me at Jacksonville, in the State of Florida, where he informed me that Gideon Maria Boissevain, Adrian J. Milders, and a Mr. Mangay were members of the syndicate, and Mangay was said Collinson's brother-in-law, whom he told me, in connection with others, was engaged in the floating the bonds.

Q. 70. Was or was not the statements and publications to which you have referred in your testimony as damaging to said bonds matters of general notoriety in the bond market of Europe where you visited?

A. Yes; it was.

Q. 71. Besides what you have stated as the price at which said bonds were taken, was there or was there not a portion of the proceeds thereof deducted for any purpose? and, if yea, please state, to the best of your knowledge, the amount so deducted, and in what manner to be applied.

A. From such accounts as I have received from S. W. Hopkins & Company, John Collinson and others, I find there was deducted about £100,000 to pay interest on said bonds, and about sixty thousand pounds for commissions, attorney's fees, and expenses.

Q. 22. Please look at the paper now shown you, dated "New York, June 15th, 1872," purporting to be a cablegram repeated to Milton S. Littlefield, signed Barlow, Larocque & MacFarland, which I make part of this question, marked Exhibit L No. 11, and state whether you received said cablegram; and, if yea, state to what subject it refers.

A. This is the original cablegram I did receive, repeated to me by Barlow, Larocque & MacFarland from New York; it was from John Collinson, at London; it refers to a bill filed by W. G. M. Davis in the high court of chancery in England to restrain Drake, Kleinwort & Cohen from paying the coupons upon the Florida eight per cent. bonds maturing July 1st, 1872, from the proceeds of said bonds set apart to pay said interest, as I have hereinbefore testified.

1654 Q. 73. Please state what relation, if any, said W. G. M. Davis occupied to said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and what authority he had, if any, for filing such bill?

A. He was attorney in fact for the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and myself, and was attorney and counsellor for the trustees of said railroad company; he had no other authority, except as above stated, to bring such suit.

Q. 74. Please look at the paper purporting to be a cablegram, dated July 31st, 1872, made part of this question, and marked Exhibit L, No. 12, and state whether you received the same, and to what subject it relates; said paper being addressed to "Litchfield," and signed "Chase"?

A. I did receive the same; the word Litchfield was a mistake, it should have been Littlefield, and the Chase was Converse L. Chase, then representing the company in London, where said cablegram was from; it was a request for me to appoint Jay Cooke, McCullough & Co. fiscal agents for Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

Q. 75. Besides the charges of illegality and fraud which you have testified to respecting the issue of said Florida State bonds, were there, or were there not, any questions raised about the sufficiency of the title to said railroad and the lien thereupon by the State of Florida; if yea, please state by whom and in what manner such questions were raised?

A. There were two questions raised, both of them by John Collinson and his associates; the first was whether the State had any authority to issue the bonds to perfect public works, and whether railroads were public works under the constitution of the State of Florida, and this question was raised in a memorandum which commences: "Memorandum of agreement made the twenty-eighth day of December, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, between Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., of 58 Old Broad street, London, of the one part, and John Col-
of which I make part of this answer, marked Exhibit L, No. 13; the next question was whether there was any lien under the statute upon the railroads for the benefit of the bondholders; this was raised by the same parties in the month of October, 1870, in relation to which I was requested to meet, and did meet Ashurst, Morris & Co., solicitors in London.

Q. 76. Will you now please look at the paper which I now show you marked on the upper left hand corner No. 144, addressed "Littlefield, care of Soutter & Co., New York," and dated December 29, 1870, and signed "Collins," and which I make part of this question, marked L, No. 14, and state whether or not you received such a message; and, if yea, please state what the said cablegram means, and to what subject it relates?

A. I recognize the paper as the original cablegram which I received on the 29th day of December. 1870, from Frank H. Collins, who was a member of the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co. and who is the same person who signed the agreement testified to above, dated the day preceding; it is partly in cipher, of which I will explain: the first idea was that success was certain for the sale of the bonds; the second refers to S. L. M. Barlow, a lawyer in the city of New York, whose legal opinions had been previously solicited by John Collinson as to the legality and constitutionality of the said Florida State bonds, which opinion was adverse to their legality and constitutionality; Mr. Collins wished to convey that he had overcome the opinion of Barlow with Mr. Collinson and the syndicate; the third idea which the cablegram conveyed to me was that I must see Hopkins, his partner, and do what was necessary to be done to overcome the damaging effect of Mr. Barlow's opinions.

Q. 77. Please look at the paper now shown you, purporting to be a telegram addressed to M. S. Littlefield, and signed C. L. Chase, trustee, and made part of this question, marked L, No. 15, and say 1656 whether or not you received such a telegram, and to what matter it referred?

A. I received this telegram; it is the original; it referred to the execution of a mortgrge to the State of Florida.

Q. 78. For what purpose was such mortgage desired to be executed?

A. To meet the objection raised by Barlow against the validity of the bonds, and was sent to me by C. L. Chase, trustee, who was at that time in the city of New York, but it was not admissible to execute the mortgage in the form they sent it, and it therefore was not done; their paper was not executed; I mean that their paper was not executed.

Q. 79. You have testified that the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee railroads were purchased by F. Dibble and associates, on the 20th day of March, 1869, from the trustees of the internal improvement fund; will you now please state if within your knowledge the said trustees executed deeds of conveyance of said railroads to said Dibble and associates?

A. They did.

Q. 80. Please look at Schedules B and C, forming part of the bill filed in this cause, and state whether the same are, or are not, to the best of your knowledge and belief, correct copies of said deeds?

A. They are; I know them to be.

Q. 81. Did or did not said Dibble and associates, at any time within your knowledge, and, if so, when, execute a deed of conveyance of said railroads to the Tallahassee Railroad Company, or the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company?

A. There was no deed executed to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company to my knowledge; if there had been, I should have known it. There was a quit-claim deed drawn and signed by Dibble and his associates; it was not signed by the said wives of any of them; nor was it acknowledged by any of them; nor was it dated.

1657 Q. 82. Have you in your possession the paper or draft of deed which was sent to you by Barlow, Larocque & MacFarland, to be executed to the governor of Florida; and if yea, will you produce the same as part of your answer?

A. I have in my hands the draft of the deed sent to me by Barlow, Larocque & MacFarland, and this is the original paper; the erasures and interlineations were made by me after it came into my hands, which I present as part of my answer, marked L, No. 16.

Q. 83. In your preceding examination, and in answer to the last question, you have produced and made part thereof a proposed deed sent you by Messrs. Barlow, Larocque & MacFarland, counsel for the purchasers of the Florida State bonds in London and Amsterdam, which you say was not executed; did you or did you not execute any paper or conveyance in obedience to the request of said parties, and if yea, please state when and in what manner the same was done?

A. I executed a deed of trust upon the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobil*le* Railroad, as president of said company, but not in the 1658 name of the Tallahassee Railroad Company. The deed was executed, to the best of my recollection, in the month of December, 1872.

Q. 84. To whom did you execute said deed?

A. To the best of my recollection it was to Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida.

Q. 85. Was or was not the executing of said deed by you submitted to or authorized by the stockholders?

A. It was not; it was not submitted to or authorized by them; it was simply done on my part at the request of Barlow, Larocque & McFarland.

Q. 86. After executing said deed what did you do with it?

A. I sent it for record to the clerk of Columbia County, Florida; I have never seen it since, as the court-house was subsequently burned, with all the records.

Q. 87. Did you or did you not know one Nicholas Woodfin; and if yea, when and where did you make his acquaintance, and in connection with what business matters, if any?

A. I did know Nicholas W. Woodfin; I first became acquainted with him in the year 1868 in the State of North Carolina, where he resided; I subsequently knew him as chairman of the commission appointed by the legislature of North Carolina to settle the affairs of the complainant company and George W. Swepson, as I have hereinbefore testified.

Q. 88. Did or did not said Woodfin take any part or assume to exercise the right to sell the Florida State bonds referred to in this examination?

A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. 89. You have stated that you were president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company from the period of its organization; will you please state whether or not the said road was taken possession of by the State of Florida, and if yea, please state when such possession was taken by said State, and what was the earning capacity of said road when so taken possession of; how long such possession has continued and what, if anything, has been received 1659 by the company from the State or those in charge of said road?

A. The road was taken possession of by a receiver, appointed at the suit of the State, about the month of March, 1872; that receiver held possession of said road for some months, when the road was taken out of his hands by a receiver appointed at the suit of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee bondholders, who also held the road for some months, when it was taken out of his hands by the United States marshals at the suit of E. C. Anderson et al. vs. The Board of Trustees et al., and held it till about April, 1874, when it was taken from the marshal's hands by a receiver appointed by the United States Supreme Court, at the suit of the State of Florida, by order of the Supreme Court of the United States, and by the governor held and operated until it was taken possession in September, 1877, by a receiver appointed by this court, where the same is still held; the company operated the road for a few months in the summer of 1873, while it was held by the United States marshal, but the net earnings were paid to the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee bondholders under the Anderson decree; with this exception, not one dollar has the company received of its earnings since the seizure in March, 1872; from the 20th of March, 1869, to the 31st of December, 1869, the gross earnings of said railroad were $255,414.95; for the same time the gross expenses for operating said road were $175,348.06; the net earnings were $80,066.89; for the year ending March 31st, 1871, the gross earnings of said railroad was $408,925.66, and the nett earnings for the same time of said railroad were $133,833.87; for the year ending March 31st, 1872, the gross earnings of said railroad were $360,329.75; the net earnings for the same time were $164,642.98; the above figures show the consolidated earnings of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and the Florida Central Railroad Company; the earnings of the latter company was about, gross, $150,000 a year; the accounts 1660 were kept separately, and I have the original books, but not with me, but will produce them before the court, if desired, on the hearing of this cause; prior to March, 1872, the former company, viz, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, operated the Florida Central Railroad, under arrangement between the two companies.

Q. 90. Do you know or can you state any other matter or thing material to this your examination of interest to either party, complainant or defendant? and if yea, please state the same fully and at large in your answer as if fully interrogated thereto.

A. Nothing now occurs to me.

M. S LITTLEFIELD.

Examiners.

The witness states to the examiners that he finds upon examination that he has not the original of the Exhibits L, No. 5, No. 6, and No. 7 with him, which are described in the bill of complaint as Schedules C, D, and E, being the agreement between himself and Edward Houstoun, dated May 13th and 30th, and June 7th, 1870, and that he also fails to find the originals of Exhibits L, No. 8 and No. 10, No. 8 being a letter from Wm. E. Jackson to Colonel Edward Houstoun, and No. 10 being the original of a paper proposed to be sworn to by him on the 6th June, 1870, to be delivered to Harrison Reed, governor, but that the copies of said several papers he knows to be correct, as he made or caused the same to be made, and he compared them himself, and that he will produce the originals before the court or file the same with the clerk before the trial of this cause.

Memorandum of agreement and settlement between the Florida Central Railroad, George W. Swepson, president, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, Milton S. Littlefield, president, and Milton S. Littlefield, majority owner of the stock of said companies, & also of the stock of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, of the first part, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, represented by N. W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, W. Pink Welsh, and W. W. Rollins, commissioners appointed by an act of the legislature of North Carolina, approved by the stockholders of said corporation, of the second part, witnesseth:

That whereas George W. Swepson, late president of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, made certain investments of the funds of said company in securities of and interests in the said Florida Central Railroad, Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and the Tallahassee Railroad of the said State of Florida, as per report made by the said George W. Swepson to the said commissioners, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, to bear interest from the first day of November, 1869, at the rate of eight per cent. per annum; and

Whereas the said George W. Swepson heretofore conveyed to the said

Milton S. Littlefield, subject to the payment of the above recited claim, his interest in the above recited railroads; and whereas the said Littlefield has received authority from the legislature of the State of Florida, and the said several railroad companies to receive bonds to be issued by and for account of the several railroad companies, which bonds are to be exchanged for the bonds of the State of Florida, to be issued for the purpose of aiding the finances of the said several railroad companies, all of which bonds are now in a state of preparation; and 1662 Whereas the said Milton S. Littlefield has made a contract with S. W. Hopkins & Co., No. 71 Broadway, for the disposition of said bonds of the Central Railroad Company of the said State of Florida, amounting to nine hundred and sixty thousand dollars, are to be applied to the payment of existing liabilities of the said several railroad companies, including the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, to be paid to the commissioners aforesaid for the purpose of paying existing liabilities of said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company:

It is understood and agreed by the parties of the first and second parts that the proceeds of the sale of the said bonds so to be issued by the said Florida Railroad companies and the said State of Florida, is to be equally divided, dollar for dollar, between the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and the said Florida railroads, and as the commissioners aforesaid receive by this first sale of bonds only the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, it is further understood and agreed that out of the proceeds of the sale of the issue of the bonds of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, there is first to be received by the commissioners aforesaid a sum sufficient to be equal to the amount received by and on account of the said Florida railroads, and then an equal amount is to be received by the said commissioners and the said Florida railroads, dollar for dollar, until the entire amount of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand and thirty-six dollars and three cents, with interest at eight per cent. as aforesaid, being the sum reported by the parties of the first part, as due to the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad, is fully paid.

It is further understood and agreed by the parties of the first and second parts, that all the interest owned or claimed by the said parties of the first part, both George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield, or which they as individuals have a right to control in the said Florida railroads, are hereby pledged for the faithful fulfillment of this 1663 contract, without the right on part of any party to interfere with our management or control of the affairs of the roads.

STATE OF MARYLAND,
City of Baltimore, sct :

Be it remembered that on this fifteenth day of August, the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy, before me, the undersigned, William W. Latimer, a commissioner resident in the city of Baltimore, in the State of Maryland, duly commissioned by the executive authority, and under the laws of the State of Florida, to take the acknowledgement and proof of deeds to be used or recorded therein, personally appeared R. R. Swepson, whose name appears as subscribing to the foregoing instrument, and who, being duly sworn, on his oath says that George W. Swepson, president Florida Central Railroad Company; M. S. Littlefield, M. S. Littlefield, president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company; N. W. Woodfin, W. W. Rollins, W. G. Candler, and W. P. Welsh, commissioners, duly signed, sealed, and delivered the foregoing instrument in the presence of him, the said R. R. Swepson, and of one M. W. Ransom, who then and there signed and attested the same in the presence of him, the said R. R. Swepson, and that they each subscribed their names as witnesses thereto.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal at Baltimore the day and year aforesaid.

LONDON, November 16, 1870.

Messrs. S. W. HOPKINS & Co.,
58 Old Broad street, London, and 71 Broadway, New York:

GENTLEMEN: On the 10th day of November, A. D. 1870, I made a final settlement with the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, represented by Nicholas W. Woodfin, chairman of the commissioners appointed by the legislature of North Carolina to collect the money due said company.

The commissioners are N. W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, W. W. Rollins, W. P. Welsh, and J. L. Henry.

One of the terms of said settlement was, that it should place to the order of said company any 800 of the Florida eight per cent. gold bonds my railroad contracted with you to negotiate on the 13th of April last; therefore you will place to the order of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company eight hundred of said bonds, and sell or dispose of the same as the said chairman may direct, but this order is subjected to the following conditions:

First. The said bonds are to remain in your hands to sell.

Second. The proceeds of said bonds are to be transferred to your New York house, and disbursed to said company upon the orders of a majority of said commissioners.

I remain, gentlemen, your most obedient servant,

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
President J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

Whereas, at a sale by the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, on the 20th day of March, 1869, of the Pensacola and Georgia and the Tallahassee Railroad, F. Dibble, in behalf of himself and his associates, became the purchaser thereof, bidding for the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad $1,220,000, and for the Tallahassee Railroad $195,000; and whereas George W. Swepson is the holder of a large amount of the first-mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia and the Tallahassee Railroad Companies; and whereas said parties desire to come to an accommodation respecting their interests, the one through said purchase and the other as the holder of said bonds:

Now, therefore, it is hereby agreed between said F. Dibble, in behalf of himself and his associates of the one part, and said George W. Swepson of the other part, in manner and form following, that is to say:

First. That said George W. Swepson shall deliver, as he shall come into possession of them to be surrendered to the trustees of the internal improvement aforesaid, by said F. Dibble, in behalf of himself and his associates, as part of the purchase money for said roads respectively, the first-mortgage bonds of said roads purchased by him, amounting to about nine hundred thousand dollars, for bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, and to about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, the bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company to be surrendered at par, and those of the Tallahassee Railroad to be surrendered at the pro rata of the amount bid for said road at the said sale, and the balance or remainder of the purchase money to be supplied by said F. Dibble and his associates.

1666 Second. As soon as may be after the title is acquired by F. Dibble, in behalf of himself and his associates, from the trustees of the internal improvement fund, first mortgage bonds are to be issued in such form and to be executed in such manner as may be devised to make them legal and binding as an obligation on said roads, their equipments, workshops, depots, and franchise; said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, payable in New York semi-annually, principal and interest paid in gold, and not having more than thirty years to run. To secure said bonds a proper deed of trust is to be executed by F. Dibble, in behalf of himself and his associates, to Calvin B. Dibble and George W. Swepson, as trustees, with the ordinary conditions in such cases, and shall contain a provision that on default in the non payment of any instalment of interest for sixty days the principal shall become due, and that on such default the trustees shall enter upon and take possession of said railroads, their equipments, workshops, depots, and franchise, without any legal process whatever, and advertise the same for sale, and sell the same at public outcry for cash, the proceeds of which shall be applied to the payment of said bonds, principal and interest, and if a sufficient amount thereof shall not be realized at such sale, then to apply the same pro rata in the payment of said bonds.

Third. The bonds to be thus issued shall be delivered to Calvin B. Dibble and George W. Swepson, to be sold or negotiated, and the money realized on them, or a sufficient amount thereof for that purpose, shall be paid to George W. Swepson to reimburse him for the amount of money he has paid out in purchasing the first mortgage bonds aforesaid, and all amounts paid or to be paid by him for commissions and attorney's fees in connection with his business with said roads, together with interest on said amounts from the time they were paid out by him 1667 until the date of his reimbursement, and also to pay him the additional sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Fourth. The stock is to be divided and owned in the following manner: George W. Swepson is to have and own one-third; Calvin C. Dibble is to have and own an amount of stock which in connection or united with the stock of said Swepson shall constitute a majority of the whole, and F. Dibble and his associates are to have and own the remainder, to be subdivided among themselves as they shall determine.

Fifth. Said Swepson is to have the right to appoint four directors of said roads; F. Dibble and his associates are to have the right to appoint four, and Calvin B. Dibble shall be appointed by both parties the ninth director. This provision is to expire as soon as said Swepson is reimbursed and paid the amounts hereinbefore mentioned, with interest as provided, and thereafter the stock shall stand on a common footing as in all other cases.

Sixth. Until the title is acquired from the trustees of the internal improvement fund, the roads are to remain as they are and to be operated as they are.

Seventh. None of the stock shall be transferable for the space of two years from this date, except as may be necessary to qualify the persons to be appointed as directors to be such directors.

Eighth. The roads are to protect the outstanding transportation notes or tickets of the Tallahassee Railroad Company to an extent not exceeding twenty-eight thousand dollars, and shall receive the same as usual for the transportation of freight or fare.

Ninth. F. Dibble is to be the president until the stock becomes transferable.

Whereas George W. Swepson has paid to the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, for and on account of F. Dibble and his associates, in payment for the Pensacola and Georgia and the Tallahassee Railroads, sold to said F. Dibble and his associates, by said trustees, on the 20th day of March last, bonds of said roads amounting at their face to nine hundred and sixty thousand and three hundred ($960,300) dollars, and has also paid to said trustees for the same parties the sum of four hundred and seventy-two thousand and sixty-five ($472,065) dollars, being the full amount due said trustees for said roads; and whereas said F. Dibble, for and on behalf of himself and his associates, has obligated himself and them, and does hereby obligate himself and them, to cause bonds upon said roads as now completed, as soon as further legislative authority from said State of Florida shall be obtained therefor, to be issued, the same to be secured and in every respect to be as stated in an agreement executed and dated the twenty-sixth day of last March, between said F. Dibble, on behalf of himself and his associates, and said George W. Swepson; which bonds when executed are to be and shall be placed as provided in said agreement for the purposes therein set forth, and for the further purpose of enabling said Swepson to be reimbursed the said sum of four hundred and seventy-two thousand and sixty-five dollars: Now, therefore, this indenture made and entered into between F. Dibble, on behalf of himself and associates, party of the first part, and George W. Swepson, party of the second part, witnesseth that said party of the first part for and in consideration of the premises, has granted, bargained, conveyed, and confirmed unto said party of the second part all that property of whatever name, nature, and description conveyed to said party of the first part by said trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, by two separate deeds of conveyance, each dated April 8th, A. D. 1670 1869; which deeds, for full description of property, are hereby made part and portion of this instrument. The said property hereby conveyed to be held by said party of the second part in trust for the express purpose of enabling said party of the second part—which he hereby agrees and binds himself to do—to convey the same to that incorporation, consisting, or to consist, as incorporators of said F. Dibble and his associates, as soon as said Dibble and his associates shall have granted to them such, or similar, relief as the legislature of the said State of Florida granted to Wm. E. Jackson and his associates by act for relief of William E. Jackson and his associates, approved July 29th, 1868, and also for the further purpose of securing said party of the second part in all advances made as specified and agreed upon in the said agreement between these parties executed and dated March 26, 1869, and the advancement as aforesaid of said sum of four hundred and seventy-two thousand and sixty-five dollars, until such time as said relief shall have been granted, and said party of the second part shall have conveyed said property to said incorporation as hereinbefore provided.

To have and to hold said property to said party of the second part for the purposes and trust herein declared.

In testimony whereof said party of the first part has hereunto signed his name and affixed his seal this 22d day of April, A. D. 1869.

STATE OF FLORIDA,
Leon County, ss:

In accordance with the requirements of the second section of the act entitled "An act to alter and amend an act entitled 'An act to perfect the public works of the State,' approved June 24th, 1869," and for the purpose of obtaining the benefits of said act, in order to aid the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company to complete, equip, and maintain its road, and to aid in perfecting one of the public works embraced in the internal improvements of the State;

And for the purpose of causing the State of Florida, by the governor thereof, to exchange the bonds prescribed in said act to be delivered in exchange for first mortgage bonds of said railroad company;

I, Milton S. Littlefield, president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, do certify that one hundred and fifty-nine miles of road of said company is that for which under said section I ask for an exchange of bonds of the State of Florida, for the first mortgage bonds of this company, at the date hereof; that said one hundred and fifty-nine (159) miles, being part of the road for which the exchange is asked, is complete, and in good running order.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand this 6th day of June, 1870.

Memorandum of agreement made the twenty-eighth day of December, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, between Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Company, of 58 Old Broad street, London, of the one part, and John Collinson, of 9 Victoria Chambers, London, of the other part.

Since the agreement between the same parties, dated the fourteenth day of November, 1870, was signed, a question has been raised by Mr. Collinson whether the issue of the bonds, which are the subject of such agreement, is not invalid, as being unconstitutional. Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Company, although not admitting that there can be any doubt as to the validity of such bonds, have nevertheless agreed with Mr. Collinson as follows: It is therefore agreed between the parties that Mr. Collinson, in lieu of paying the Messrs. Hopkins & Company against delivery, on application, of each of such bonds the sum of one hundred and thirty-eight pounds one shilling and tenpence, shall pay to them one hundred and twenty-four pounds five shillings and tenpence, and that the difference, videlicit, thirteen pounds sixteen shillings, shall, at the risk of Messrs. Hopkins & Company, be paid to the joint account of Frank Howard Collins and John Collinson, with Messrs. Drake, Kleinwort & Cohen, bankers, of Fenchurch street, London. Messrs. Hopkins & Company engage forthwith to take steps for obtaining, and to produce to Mr. Collinson, duly certified by the proper officers of the State, the decision of the supreme court of the State of Florida upon the question so, as aforesaid, raised by Mr. Collinson.

In the event of the decision of such supreme court being in favor of the validity of the bonds, the amount in the hands of Messrs. Drake, Kleinwort & Cohen shall, upon the production to Mr. Collinson, his executors or administrators, of the official copy of such decision, duly certified as aforesaid, belong and be paid to Messrs. Hopkins & Company.

1675 In the event of the decision being adverse to the validity of the bonds, such amount, as aforesaid, shall belong and be paid to the said John Collinson, his executors or administrators, as representing the bondholders.

In either case, such interest as Messrs. Drake & Co. may allow shall be paid to Messrs. Hopkins & Co. In other respects the agreement of the fourteenth day of November, 1870, shall remain in full force, and nothing herein contained shall prejudice the claims of Mr. Collinson or any bondholder against the State of Florida or the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, as witness the hands of the parties hereto the day and year first above written.

An indenture made this day of , in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy- , by and between the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, a corporation created, organized, and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Florida, parties of the first part, and Harrison Reed, governor of the said State, party of the second part.

Whereas on or prior to the day of , one thousand eight hundred and seventy, the said Tallahassee Railroad Company owned and possessed a completed line of railway extending from Lake City, in the State of Florida, to Quincy, in said State, together with a branch railroad extending from Tallahassee to St. Mark's, and a branch railroad extending from a point on said main line to Monticello, in said State;

And whereas afterwards, to wit, on the day of , one thousand eight hundred and seventy, under and in pursuance of an act of the legislature of Florida approved June 24th, 1869, entitled "An act to perfect the public works of the State," and the amendments thereto, the said Tallahassee Railroad Company, together with its said branches, was duly consolidated with and then became part of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, so as to become one corporation under the name last mentioned;

And whereas under and by virtue of an act of the legislature of the said State of Florida, entitled "An act to alter and amend an act entitled 'An act to perfect the public works of the State,'" approved January 28th, 1870, the governor of the State of Florida was authorized to deliver bonds of the said State to the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company in exchange for a like amount of the first 1679 mortgage bonds or any part or portion of the railroad between said Quincy and Jacksonville in said State, embracing the railroad formerly belonging to the said Tallahassee Railroad Company.

And whereas, in pursuance of such authority, and after said consolidation, the governor of the State of Florida issued to the said Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company bonds of the State of Florida to the amount of three millions of dollars, bearing date the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, as directed by the second section of the said act, and numbered from to , each for the sum of one thousand dollars, bearing interest at the rate of eight per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, and received in exchange therefor first mortgage bonds of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, embracing the aforesaid main line and branches of the said Tallahassee Railroad Company, and which said bonds were and are of like tenor and date as the said State bonds, and numbered from to ;

And whereas, to set at rest any doubts that might exist touching the existence or sufficiency of the statutory lien upon the premises hereby mortgaged for the indemnity and security of the said State and of the bona fide holders of such State bonds and said railroad bonds, these presents are executed and delivered:

Now, this indenture witnesseth that the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, for and in consideration of the premises and of one dollar to it in hand paid at or before the ensealing and delivery of these presents, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, and in order to secure and effectuate the true intent and meaning of the said statute, and to secure the due and punctual payment of the principal and interest of the bonds aforesaid to the amount of three millions of dollars, has granted, bargained, sold, assigned, set over, released, conveyed, and confirmed, and by these presents doth grant, bargain, 1680 sell, assign, set over, release, convey, and confirm unto the said Harrison Reed, as governor of the said State of Florida, and to his successors in office, all the right, title and interest which the said company, party of the first part, now has or may at any time hereafter acquire in or to the aforesaid line of railway extending from Lake City to Quincy, in the said State, and also said branch, extending from Tallahassee to Saint Marks, and said branch extending from a point on said mai*d* line to Monticello in said State.

Together with all franchises, lands, tenements, hereditaments, easements, rights, or privileges, rolling stock; machinery, and all other personal property in any way appertaining thereto or to the party of the first part.

To have and to hold the above described premises, property, rights, and appurtenances to the said Harrison Reed, governor, and his successor in office, to the only proper use, benefit, and behoof of the said Harrison Reed, governor as aforesaid, and his successors in office, for the benefit and security of the said State of Florida, and of all persons or corporations who may be or may hereafter become holders of any of the above-mentioned three millions of dollars of bonds of the party of the first part, or of the above mentioned three millions of dollars of bonds of the said State of Florida, described as aforesaid, without any preference of any one bond over another, or otherwise by reason of priority in time of issue or negotiation thereof, or otherwise; and it is hereby granted, declared, and agreed that the premises, property, rights, franchises, and interests hereby mortgaged or conveyed are to be held and holden by the said trustee and his successors upon and for the trusts, uses, and purposes following, that is to say:

ARTICLE FIRST. Until default shall be made in payment of the principal or interest of the said bonds of the party of the first part or of some of them, the said company shall possess, manage, use, and enjoy the said property, and take and use the rents, income, profits, 1681 royalties, and tolls thereof, as if this indenture had not been made, and it is understood and agreed that this instrument shall not be construed to embrace any land that may be obtained by the party of the first part from the internal improvement fund of the State, to aid in the construction of its road, or any land that may be obtained by grant from the Congress of the United States.

ARTICLE SECOND. If there shall at any time be default in the payment of interest or principal upon any of the bonds secured by this instrument, as the same shall become payable, and such default shall continue for six months, the party of the second part or his successor in office may, for the benefit of the bona fide holders of bonds secured hereby, sell the mortgaged premises as an entirety, or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise the sum of money due and unpaid, upon publishing a notice of sale for at least six weeks, once each week, in two daily newspapers published in London, England, and two daily newspapers published in the city of New York, and in a paper published at Jacksonville, in said State, if any, and if not in some other paper published in said State, and in case of such sale the purchaser shall have a right to apply the bonds of the said State, issued as aforesaid, in exchange in payment of the purchase money, to the amount, if any, to which such purchaser would be entitled upon a distribution of the purchase money. If the said bonds of the said State are so applied and thus retired and extinguished, the party of the second part shall cancel and restore to the party of the first part an amount exactly equivalent of the said bonds of the said party of the first part. In the event that it shall be considered best for the interest of holders of bonds secured hereby, the party of the second part and his successors in office, in case of such default, shall have the right to take possession of the mortgaged premises, use, and operate the same, taking the rents, profits, and income thereof, and shall apply the net rents, profits, and income thereof to the payment and discharge of such sums as may be due and 1682 unpaid from time to time, but under due and legal proceedings to that end had in a court of competent jurisdiction.

ARTICLE THIRD. The party of the first part further covenants and agrees to and with the party of the second part, and his successors in office, on behalf and for the benefit of the bondholders intended to be secured hereby, that it will from time to time, and at all times hereafter, upon reasonable request, make, do, execute, acknowledge, and deliver all such further acts, deeds, conveyances, and assurances in the law for the better assuring through the said governor and his successors in the trusts hereby created upon the trust and for the purposes herein expressed or intended, all and singular the lands, premises, property, railways, and appurtenances, rights, interests, and effects hereby mortgaged or conveyed in trust or agreed or purporting or intended so to be, whether now held or possessed by or vested in the company, or subsequently acquired by or vested in it, and all other property and things whatsoever which may hereafter be acquired in aid of or by way of substitute for or for use for the purposes of the same or any part thereof, and all franchises now held or hereafter acquired relating thereto, including the franchises to be a corporation as by the trustees or bondholders or by counsel learned in the law shall be reasonably devised or required, excepting always such lands as are excepted in the first article of this instrument.

ARTICLE FOURTH. If the party of the first part shall well and truly pay the sum of money specified in the said bonds, and each and all of them, and the interest thereon, according to the tenor thereof, and shall well and truly keep and perform all the things herein required to be kept and performed according to the true intent and meaning of these presents, then, and in that case, the estate hereby conveyed shall cease and determine, and shall revert to and vest in the party of the first 1683 part, without any acknowledgment or satisfaction, reconveyance, re-entry, or other act—otherwise the same shall continue and remain in full force and virtue.

In virtue whereof the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company has caused its common seal to be affixed.

PHILIP WALTER,
Clerk.

1702 Circuit court of the United States for the northern district of Florida.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company, complainant,

vs.

GEORGE F. DREW, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE of Florida, and George F. Drew, governor, and Columbus Drew, comptroller, Walter Gwynn, treasurer, Hugh A. Corley, commissioner of land and immigration, &c., trustees of the internal improvement fund, &c., the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, Milton S. Littlefield, James G. Gibbs, Adolph Engler, trustee for the holders of the alleged bonds of the State of Florida, involved in this suit, Thomas B. Coddington, and others, defendants.

Testimony taken on the part of the complainant, under the 67th rule of the Supreme Court of the United States (as amended) and under a commission issued out of the circuit of the United States for the northern district of Florida, directed to Richard E. Stillwell and James M. Ball, to be used on the final hearing of this cause, before the circuit court of the United States for the said northern district of Florida.

Present, Joseph B. Stewart, esq., counsel for complainant; J. H. Herbert, esq., counsel for Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and Milton S. Littlefield.

1703 The counsel for complainant, before proceeding with the examination, enters of record the statement now made, that the examination of the witnesses and testimony taken under this commission is not designed to be read to the prejudice of any interests of rights or duties of the defendants, known as the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, who is represented by the attorney-general of the State of Fla., Hon. George P. Raney, and Hon. David S. Walker. The defendants so included are George F. Drew, governor; Walter Gwynn, treasurer; Columbus Drew, comptroller; George P. Raney, attorney-general; Hugh A. Corley, commissioner; and that leave is reserved to said defendants or their counsel to cross-examine the witnesses if they so elect.

1. Question. State your name, age, residence, and occupation.

Answer. Aaron Barnett; 45 years old; reside at No. 785 Madison avenue; business, commission merchant. I appear without counsel.

2. Ques. Did you at any time reside or sojourn in the State of Florida; if so, when?

Ans. In the year of 1867. I hav' resided there before up to that time.

3. Ques. For what length of time did you so reside or so sojourn in the State of Florida, and when did you cease to reside there?

Ans. I ceased to reside there in 1867. Before 1867, I resided part of the time in Georgia and part of the time in Florida. About fifteen years I resided in Florida, and have done business in both States.

4. Ques. Please state what business you were engaged in in Florida.

Ans. Cotton-factor and shipping business.

5. Ques. Were you engaged in any other business while in Florida?

Ans. I was general commission merchant.

6. Ques. Do you, or do you not, know anything about a body corporate known as the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a party defendant to this suit?

Ans. I do.

7. Ques. How and where did you acquire your knowledge of that company?

1704 Ans. In Florida, while there.

8. Ques. At what period?

Ans. In 1870, as near as I know.

9. Ques. What time in the year 1870?

Ans. I could not remember, sir.

10. Ques. Had you any connection with or interest in said company?

Ans. No direct interest.

(Answer excepted to)

11. Ques. Had you any indirect interest?

Ans. I acted as a director for said company for a short time.

12. Ques. Had you any other interest than that attached to your position as director?

Ans. No other interest.

13. Ques. Do you know of the issue of any bonds by the State of Florida, to be delivered, or which were delivered, in exchange for any bonds issued by the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company?

Ans. I have so learned that there was an issue of $4,000,000 of bonds by the State of Florida, the same being turned over to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company before I had become director of the company.

14. Ques. At what time did you become a director of the company?

Ans. I could not remember the time.

15. Ques. But it was after the issue and exchange of bonds you have mentioned.

Ans. Yes, sir.

16. Ques. You say you learned of the bond issue referred to. How did you obtain that information, and from whom, or was it the result of your connection with the company as director?

Ans. It was before the board of directors, and otherwise, probably.

17. Ques. State, if you know, the object for which said bonds were issued and exchanged between the State of Florida and said company.

Ans. I read the act more than once, and believe from what I can remember now the bonds were issued for the purpose of extending the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

18. Ques. And for no other purpose?

1705 Ans. No other purpose, as far as the act goes.

19. Ques. Do you know of any of said Florida State bonds, so exchanged for the purpose of building said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, as stated by you, having been sold or purchased by any parties in Europe? And if you have such knowledge, please state fully your information on the subject.

Ans. As a director of the company, I had been appointed by the company and the State of Florida, in 1870 to 1871, to come here and investigate S. W. Hopkins & Co.'s account with said company, at which time I ascertained that Hopkins & Co. had sold, through John Collinson and Company, of London, $2,800,000 of said bonds at £138 and a fraction over for $1,000 bond. The information of the sale I got from Mr. Collinson, who was here at the time.

20. Ques. You say you was appointed as an agent on the part of the State of Florida. Please state what caused such appointment to be made.

Ans. By the company and the State both. For the reason that the company could never before get any information from Hopkins & Co. whether or not there was anything realized from that issue of bonds.

21. Ques. And do I understand you to say, or to mean to say, that the State of Florida being advised of the inability of your company to get the desired information from S. W. Hopkins & Co. as to what was realized from that bond issue, appointed and authorized you to investigate the books of S. W. Hopkins & Co. in order that the State might know what the facts were in the premises? Do I understand this to be the meaning of your answer just given?

Ans. It is.

22. Ques. At the time of issue and sale of bonds to which you have referred to, Mr. Barnett, was there not any question raised about the legality and validity of the same?

Ans. I so heard frequently.

23. Ques. To what extent did you hear it alleged and stated that said bonds were illegal, and on what grounds?

Ans. Mr. Collins, the old gentleman, representing S. W. Hopkins & Co., passing through Savannah, Georgia, stopped at my office in such place, and told me that the bonds could not be sold or negotiated, as they are pronounced by some parties in Holland as an illegal issue, and for that reason was going to Florida, and for that reason asked me to go with him; whether I went with him or not I do not remember, 1706 but he stated that it was necessary to get some decision, I believe to be from the highest court in Florida, to legalize the issue of the bonds.

24. Ques. Did or did not the allegation and charges of illegalities and irregularities alleged to exist in the issue and exchange of said Florida State bonds about or preceding the visit to Mr. Collins to Florida, on the part of S. W. Hopkins & Co., give rise to publications and statements before the public, and add also to proceedings before the court to which you, as a director, was made a party defendant, charging that said bond issue was fraudulent and void?

Ans. I may have seen publications and read them as far I remember of, but I do not remember of being a party to any of the suits, as I had resigned my directorship about the time, or before, when various suits were brought against the company.

25. Ques. But did you or did you not know of the fact that such publications were made, and such suits instituted, charging and alleging that such bond-issue was illegal and fraudulent?

Ans. I believe I have seen publications, as I said before, and read them, charging the fraudulent issue of said State bonds, but do not remember seeing the title of the case.

26. Ques. While you were director of the company, and on the 10th day of December, 1870, did you, or did you not, as a board of directors, pass a resolution, and publish the same to the world, denouncing the use made and being made of said bond issue as fraudulent and void, which said resolution is made part of this question (marked B, No. 1) and now shown you?

Ans. The witness, after reading the resolution, says: I do not know whether I was a director or not at the time. I have seen a resolution similar to this—whether it was in print or otherwise I do not remember.

27. Ques. You have spoken of parties in Holland who raised objections as to the validity of the said Florida State bonds. Can you remember the names of any of the persons in Holland referred to, by whom such questions were raised? If so, please state the same.

Ans. I do not remember speaking to any of the people in Holland, who were interested in said bonds, as to their validity. There was Boserain, Mildures & Bros., Menge & Collins; I do not remember others.

1707 28. Ques. Did you, or did you not, know that the persons or some of them whose names you have just mentioned, under date of December 18th, 1870, in consequence of the charges of illegality and fraud, or for some other reasons, telegraphed to Governor Reed, of Florida, in or about the following words: "Being negotiating, $4,000,000 bonds issued by your State to Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, to know, by telegraph, from you whether provision made for payment interest; whatever result railroad traffic; financial position of State, really sound, and bonds undoubted security." To which dispatch Governor Reed replied as follows: "Bonds recently recalled by company; no provision will, therefore, be made for interest." And if you say you have such knowledge, or was advised of said telegrams, please state fully all you know about the same.

Ans. As near as I remember, Governor Reed himself has told me the substance of this, or may have shown me the telegram. I am aware from what the governor told me that such telegram passed.

29. Ques. Did you, or did you not, yourself, as director of said company, or otherwise, give notice to any person or persons about the use and appropriation of said bond issue? And if you say you did, please state when and where it was, and why you gave such notice, and to whom addressed.

Ans. I understood about the time when I was a director that the bonds which were issued to aid the railroad company were about to be misappropriated from the purpose for which they were issued, upon which I have given notice to Barlow, La Rocque & McFarland, whom I employed as attorneys for the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, knowing that they acted as attorneys for John Collinson & Company, of London, England, and in substance the notice read, as far as I can remember, I, as a director and stockholder of said company, gave them notice as attorneys for the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, that they should see that the bonds of the State of Florida should not be diverted from their original purpose for which they were issued, and a copy of which said notice I sent Baring Bros. & Co., of London, asking them, as a favor, to hand it to Mr. Collinson, and see the contents of the notice, which was done, and at which time, after the notice was served, I resigned as a director.

30. Ques. Have you a copy of said notice; and if so, will you produce the same as part of your answer?

Ans. No doubt I have a copy, which is on file in Savannah, Georgia, where this notice was sent from, and will procure copy as soon as I can.

1708 31. Ques. Did you not yourself, subsequent to giving these notices, visit Europe in reference in part to the use being made of the issue of said Florida State bonds?

Ans. Yes, sir.

32. Ques. What part?

Ans. England and Holland.

33. Ques. While there, was or was not the matters mentioned in your examination, touching the validity and use of said bonds, the subject of remark and more or less notoriety, both in England and Holland, by or among those who were engaged in handling said bonds?

Ans. In the summer of 1872, while in Holland and England, I remember having seen papers published in Holland, notices which had been taken from Florida papers, attacking the validity of the State of Florida bonds. I remember having been spoken to in regard to the notices in papers, by whom I do not now remember, but they were parties in interest, asking me at the time as to the validity of this issue, the entire complication as to the bonds being about to be compromised, but I do not remember having said anything against the issue of the bonds.

34. Ques. Were the publications you refer to in Holland printed in the public journals in the local language of the country?

Ans. Yes, sir, they were published in the Dutch language in the papers for general circulation.

35. Ques. While or about the time you were so in England and Holland, did or did not it come to your knowledge and the knowledge of the public, that the legislature of the State of Florida had preferred articles of impeachment against Governor Harrison Reed, of that State, for having fraudulently and illegally issued and exchanged said bonds of the State of Florida with the said railroad company, and, if so, please state to the best of your recollection, what occurred or was said in reference thereto?

Ans. I remember it came to my knowledge that articles of impeachment had been brought against Governor Reed, of Florida, but whether I heard it in America or Europe, I do not remember. It was, however, in reference to the bonds issued by the State of Florida and exchanged with said company in aid of said company. It was generally known, and was a matter of public notoriety.

1709 The further examination of this witness is adjourned until Friday, February 16th, 1878, at 2 p. m.

Adjourned until January 18th, 1878, at 11 a. m., as to the examination of other witnesses.

SATURDAY, February 16, 1878—2 p. m.

Present, counsel as before.

36. Ques. Do you know of a corporation or company known as the Florida Central Railroad Company, and, if yea, please state the location of the road of said company?

Ans. I know of such corporation in Florida, the running of the road of which from Lake City, in said State, to Jacksonville.

37. Ques. What is the length of said road?

Ans. About sixty miles.

38. Ques. Had you, at any time, any connection with said Florida Central Railroad Company, and, if so, what?

Ans. I was president of said company.

39. Ques. Please state at about what time you was president of said company, or as near as you can remember the date of your election?

Ans. As near as I can remember, I was elected in 1872, and acted as president of said company about 12 months.

40. Ques. Was, or was not, said Florida Central Railroad Company ever consolidated with any other railroad company, and, if yea, please state with what company, and all you know about it?

Ans. There never was any consolidation with any company until the time my term expired as president. The road had been running during my administration and before upon the usual pro rata with other roads.

41. Ques. How long have you known of the existence of the Florida Central Railroad as a corporation?

Ans. Ever since it organized, which I believe was in 1868.

42. Ques. Has, or has not, said Florida Central Railroad Company, since its organization in 1869, been managed and conducted by its own officers and board of directors?

Ans. I believe it has, for the reason that I have been looking over the books while president, and found a continuous record of its minutes from its organization up to the time I became president.

1710 43. Ques. Did the Florida Central Railroad Company, at any time, agree or undertake to issue or deliver its bonds or obligations to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company for any purpose, or enter into any contract or agreement to that effect; and, if yea, please state what it was.

Ans. As far as I can remember, there was an issue of bonds to the extent of one million dollars, issued to be exchanged for a like amount of bonds of the State of Florida, for the purpose of enabling the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company to extend their road westward. Whether they ever were finally delivered or not I am unable to state, as I heard various reports that the bonds were not turned over for some reason, but as far as I know there was no contract or agreement on the subject between the two companies, and from the minutes I have seen in the companies' books, while president, that they had been delivered and again returned and held by the State of Florida.

44 Ques. Do you know of any other matter or thing material to this, your examination, beyond what you have been interrogated hereto of interest to either party, plaintiff or defendant? and, if yea, please state the same fully and at large in your answer.

Ans. Nothing.

AARON BARNETT.

Subscribed and sworn to before us this 16th day of February, A. D. 1878.

R. E. STILWELL,
JAMES M. BALL,
Examiners.

FRIDAY, January 18th, 1878.

Present, counsel as before.

ADOLPHUS W. ENGLER, being duly sworn on the part of complainant, testifies us follows:

1. Ques. State your name, age, residence, and occupation.

Ans. Adolphus W. Engler; fifty-three; occupation, commission merchant; residence, 437 West Twenty-third street, New York City.

2. Ques. Where is your place of business?

Ans. No. 160 Pearl street.

3. Ques. In what particular class of commission business are you engaged?

Ans. Shipping leaf tobacco to Europe; buying and shipping.

4. Ques. Are you alone, or connected with a firm?

Ans. My firm is Kremelberg & Co.

1711 5. Ques. Who composes that firm; give the name of each individual interested.

Ans. John D. Kremelberg, of Baltimore; George J. Kremelberg, of New York; residence 60 West Thirty-sixth street, and myself.

6. Ques. Have you, or not, any connection, and, if so, what, with certain bonds issued by the State of Florida?

Ans. I have. I am trustee for the foreign owners for a certain number of bonds.

7. Ques. State the names of the persons for whom you are trustee.

Ans. There are too many; I cannot do so this moment. There are hundreds.

8. Ques. When did you become such trustee?

Ans. It must be about March, 1877, I began to have some correspondence about it; I consented to become trustee.

9. Ques. Previous to March, 1877, had you any knowledge of, or connection with, said Florida State bonds?

Ans. None, whatever, excepting in preliminaries for my trusteeship in the month of February, 1877.

10. Ques. Is your trusteeship created by any written instrument?

Ans. It is. I have hundreds of powers, duly sworn to, each before the United States consul at Amsterdam, by the then bona fide owners of the Florida State bonds.

11. Ques. Will you please produce said powers of attorney to be incorporated as part of your deposition?

Ans. I will produce said papers.

12. Ques. Accompanying said powers of attorney, did you receive any bonds of the State of Florida; and, if so, how many, and will you produce the same?

Ans. I have received bonds of the State of Florida to the number of about 2,700 or 2,800, I cannot say this moment. I cannot say for certain. I can produce a part of them here in the city; the larger part is not here in my hands; there are 300 or 400 lately received, and about 2,400 are not in the State of New York.

13. Ques. Where are the 2,400 of said bonds, that are not in the State of New York?

Ans. They are in the hands of my partner, John D. Kremelberg, in Baltimore, Md.

14. Ques. You have stated that you are trustee for the whole 1712 of said bonds, will you please state why 2,400 of said bonds are in the hands of John D. Kremelberg, in Baltimore, and please state fully what relation to title or interest, if any, said Kremelberg has in said 2,400 bonds?

Ans. At the time these Florida State bonds were going to be sent to me from Amsterdam I had reason to fear that a certain party would prevent them from getting safely to my hands, and in consequence I telegraphed to Amsterdam to direct them to my partner in Baltimore, who has no interest whatever, except to keep them safe until they are wanted for the purpose the bona-fide owners have authorized me to use them for.

15. Ques. State who the party was that you had reason to apprehend were trying to get possession of said bonds or would interfere to prevent them coming into your hands.

Ans. I can only give a general answer that they were opponents in a certain suit then going on.

16. Ques. Where was that suit pending?

Ans. I think it was pending in Florida.

17. Ques. From whom did you get your information as to the pendancy of said suit?

Ans. From Mr. Charles D. Willard.

18. Ques. Was that information imparted to you in writing?

Ans. Most of it was imparted to me verbally, and there may be some contained in correspondence from Mr. Willard.

19. Ques. You have stated, Mr. Engle, that it was not until about the month of February or March, 1877, that you had or acquired any knowledge whatever of or concerning these Florida State bonds; now I ask you to state, fully and distinctly, who brought those bonds to your attention at that time. Give the name of each individual and how you came in contact with that individual, to the very best of your knowledge and recollection.

Ans. The first intimation I had from Mr. C. D. Willard, and about the same time received a cablegram from Amsterdam, asking for some information about the "memorandum plan."

20. Ques. Where did you first meet or see Mr. C. D. Willard, who you say first brought the subject of these bonds to your attention at the time to which you refer?

Ans. I think the first intimation came to me through a visit at my office, 160 Pearl street, from Mr. Willard, in February, 1877.

1713 21. Ques. You had no knowledge of Mr. Willard previous to that visit?

Ans. Never heard of him or saw him before.

22. Ques. In what manner did Mr. Willard introduce himself to you, and what did he state to you was the object of his visit?

Ans. Mr. Willard came to me at the instance of some of our business friends in Amsterdam who had proposed to my firm here to act as trustee.

23. Ques. As trustee of what, and in what connection?

Ans. As trustee of the bona-fide owners of the Florida State bonds, to receive same, and to act with them as directed by their powers of attorney.

24. Ques. Was or was not that trusteeship connected wholly and exclusively with the execution of the "memorandum plan," of which you have spoken; and if you say your trusteeship related to any other purpose than the "memorandum plan" and the execution thereof, you will please state fully and distinctly what it was.

Ans. My trusteeship has no relation to anything else than the "memorandum plan."

25. Ques. Did you or did you not have authority as such trustee to bring suits and defend suits concerning such bonds, in your name or otherwise, as such trustee?

Ans. None whatever.

26. Ques. Did Mr. Willard bring a letter introducing himself to you?

Ans. I do not recollect for certain; he may have brought a letter of introduction from Washington.

27. Ques. Have you a copy of the "memorandum plan," which you say you are created a trustee to aid in the execution of; and, if you have, will you produce the same as part of your examination?

Ans. I have a copy of that "memorandum plan" and will produce it.

28. Ques. And will you also produce a copy of the power of attorney constituting you such trustee?

Ans. Yes, sir.

29. Ques. Do you know one Frank R. Sherwin?

Ans. No, sir.

30. Do you know one Charles Mueller?

Ans. No, sir.

1714 31. Ques. Whom besides Charles D. Willard have you seen, conversed or corresponded with in reference to these Florida State bonds since February, 1877?

Ans. I have corresponded with the Amsterdamsche Bank, Kreglinger & Co., at Amsterdam, and have given information by affidavits, letters, and telegrams to Florida when the same suit was pending there. I have a letter of H. R. Jackson and Charles H. Simonton accepting the proposition of the "memorandum plan," as trustees of the Pensacola and Georgia bondholders.

32. Ques. Will you produce said letter or a copy thereof as a part of your examination?

Ans. I will.

33. Ques. To whom in Florida did you address the letters and telegrams to which you have referred?

Ans. Governor Drew, one letter, I think; Wm. G. M. Davis and others. That I will give when I look at my books.

34. Ques. Have you seen or had any personal interview with either Governor Drew or Mr. Davis on the subject of these bonds?

Ans. I have seen both these gentlemen on their occasional visits to this city and had a conversation without reference to anything special in regard to these bonds.

35. Ques. What did Governor Drew say to you in reference to said bonds and the said memorandum plan, if anything?

Ans. First he seemed to want to satisfy himself if my affidavits were in so far correct that I was really in possession of these bonds, and he seemed anxious to have the bonds returned for cancellation by the State of Florida after the suits then pending against the different railroads in Florida—that is, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad and the Florida Central—were decided in favor of the owners of the Florida State bonds.

36. Ques. You have repeatedly alluded to pending suits in Florida. Can you not state who were the parties to these suits, or, in fact, do you not understand that they are the same suits in which you are now being examined as a witness?

Ans. I do not know anything about the particularities. I have heard in a general way of suits pending, for which purpose Mr. Willard has frequently been in Florida. That is all I know.

1715 37. Ques. They were not, then, suits which you were authorized, as trustee, to prosecute or defend, or which were prosecuted or defended by your authority as trustee?

Ans. My trusteeship has nothing whatever to do with suits at law.

38. Ques. Have you paid or disbursed any money as trustee or otherwise in or for the prosecution of said suits?

Ans. Not a cent.

39. Ques. Have you any personal interest aside from your trusteeship in said bonds?

Ans. No personal interest, except to help some of our friends in Holland to get, if possible, some value in place of these Florida State bonds.

40. Ques. In what way, other than the "memorandum plan," have you aimed or expected to get this value for your friends in Holland?

Ans. In no way whatever.

41. Ques. Do you know or have you heard of any of said Florida State bonds having been sold or purchased since February, 1877?

Ans. None. I heard in the streets that there was a telegram from Amsterdam to a banking house here that somebody wanted to buy these bonds there at Amsterdam at a low figure.

42. Ques. Was any price named in the information you got?

Ans. No, sir.

43. Ques. When did you last see or correspond with C. D. Willard?

Ans. His last letter was dated January 12th, 1878.

44. Ques. Was it in reference to the subject matter of this suit or said bonds?

Ans. It was in reference to the matter of said bonds.

45. Ques. Did it refer to any litigation pending in Florida?

Ans. Yes, sir.

Adjourned for half an hour.

Witness resumes.

46. Ques. Have you any personal knowledge as to who are the bona fide holders of the Florida State bonds, except such as derived from the papers and powers of attorney to which you have referred?

Ans. No, sir.

47. Ques. Have you any knowledge or proof of their title except such as is contained in said paper?

1716 Ans. No, sir.

48. Ques. You have stated that none of the expense for the prosecution of any suits in Florida or elsewhere effecting said bonds, have been paid or provided for by or through you. Will you please state who does provide and pay the expenses of the litigation, to the best of your knowledge and belief?

Ans. I do not know; I have nothing to do with any such financial arrangements.

49. Ques. Did you ever, at any time, direct or authorize the bringing, instituting, or defending any suit in Florida or elsewhere, in relation to said bonds, in your capacity as trustee or otherwise?

Ans. No, sir.

50. Ques. Did you, or not, know anything of the suit brought in the name of J. Fred. Schutte, Jan Prins, Adranius Prins and others, against the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company and others, on or about the 23d of May, A. D. 1877, in the United States circuit court for the northern district of Florida?

Ans. My answer is only by reading in a certain pamphlet which was sent to me.

51. Ques. Please look at the pamphlet now shown you, purporting to be a bill in equity, sworn to by Charles D. Willard on the 23d day of May, 1877, and state whether or not, from the best of your knowledge and belief, that such is the pamphlet you referred to in your last answer.

Ans. I cannot tell whether this is the same; I have one of these things; cannot tell whether it is the same or not.

52. Ques. Please look over the names in said pamphlet, who are made party complainant, and state whether or not those are the persons, or any of them, from whom you have received powers of attorney to act as their agent and trustee in reference to said bonds.

Ans. I recognize some names for certain, and believe all of them have sent powers of attorney to me.

53. Ques. Name the parties to whom you refer.

Ans. J. Fred. Schutte, Jan Prins, Adriauus Prins, Heinrich Ulric, Allias Fuld, J. Borzo, H. Van Borren, Dr. Nicholas, Jacob den Texchs, H. J. Brunnekruff, J. H. Grenn, Willien Mier, Van Tyer Van Ter, C.

1717 sink Van Tyen, N. J. Franket Johanns, Willem Donk, Vander Stoop & Berg, and many more.

52. Ques. Are the powers of attorney, so constituting you the agent and trustee of said parties, unrevoked and still in full force by the makers of the same?

Ans. Yes, sir; the time has been extended on them.

55. Ques. Were they in full force and unrevoked at the time the said suit was brought in the name of said J. Fred. Schutte and others on the 23d day of May, 1877?

Ans. A good many were in full force at the time, and a good many have been extended afterwards by parties not named in the bill of equity referred to.

56. Ques. Previous to the bringing of said suit, so instituted by said Willard, on the 23d day of May, 1877, was you, or was you not, consulted about the bringing of the same, and was the same in any manner brought by your direction or under your responsibility as trustee or otherwise?

Ans. No, sir.

57. Ques. Do you know Calvin H. Allen?

Ans. I do, sir.

58. Ques. When did you make his acquaintance, and through whom?

Ans. I made his acquaintance through Charles D. Willard.

59. Ques. Is, or is not, said Allen a party to said "memorandum plan," and interested therein?

Ans. Not that I know of; he was to be one of the managers or directors of the new organization to be formed for the "memorandum plan."

60. Ques. For what purpose did said Willard bring said Allen to your office?

Ans. To make me acquainted with him, as he was to be a member of the new organization to be called the Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company, to be formed as according to the "memorandum plan."

61. Ques. Was it proposed at the same time to have Mr. Allen appointed receiver of the roads in Florida mentioned in said "memorandum plan?"

Ans. It was not.

1718 62. Ques. Was it at any time subsequently proposed to you, that he should be so appointed as receiver?

Ans. It was not exactly proposed to me, but I understood that if Judge Bradley would appoint him that he was to accept it.

63. Ques. Who so informed you?

Ans. Mr. Willard himself.

64. Ques. Are you, or are you not, the bondsman of said Allen in the sum of $50,000 as such receiver?

Ans. I am not. I am one of the bondsmen to a nominal amount—$10,000, I think.

65. Ques. Who are the other bondsmen of said Allen?

Ans. One is Louis H. Meier, and the other Lucien Birdseye.

66. Ques. Have you any personal acquaintance with said Meier?

Ans. Yes, sir.

67. Ques. Is he the owner of real estate in the city or county of New York, or in the State of New York, within your knowledge?

Ans. I think he has in the State of New York.

68. Ques. Do you know where said real estate is situated and its value?

Ans. On Staten Island.

69. Ques. Do you know for what amount said Meier signed said bond?

Ans. $25,000.

70. Ques. Are you now ready to produce, and will you produce, the powers of attorney, and the copy of said "memorandum plan," and the Florida State bonds, and correspondence referred to in the previous part of your examination?

Ans. Yes, I will produce the same.

The examination of this witness is adjourned until Saturday, January 19th, 1878, at 12 o'clock m.

SATURDAY, January 19, 1878—12 m.

Present, counsel as before.

71. Ques. Will you now produce the bonds called for in the last interrogatory?

(Inasmuch as there is about 2,800 bonds of the State of Florida 1719 which the witness holds as agent and trustee for various parties in Holland, it is agreed that the body of one bond be copied as a specimen of the whole, treating the remainder of about 2,800 as presented for the purpose of this examination.)

Ans. I present bond No. 1240 as a specimen of the lot of about 2,800, in my hands as agent and trustee, which bond is in the words, letters, and figures following, to wit:

[1240]	STATE OF FLORIDA.	[1240]

It is hereby certified that the State of Florida justly owes to or bearer, one thousand dollars, redeemable in gold coin of the United States, at the Florida State agency, in the city of New York, on the first day of January, 1900, with interest thereon, at the rate of 8 per centum per annum, payable half yearly at the said Florida State agency, in gold, on the first days of July and January, in each year from the date of this bond, and until the principal be paid, on surrendering the proper coupons hereto annexed.

Tallahassee, January 1st, 1870.

[SEAL.]

HARRISON REED,
Governor.
S. B. CONOVER, Treasurer.

Issued in accordance with an act of the legislature of Florida, approved January 28th, 1870.

(Across the face:) 1,000.

72. Ques. Will you now produce the "memorandum plan"?

Ans. I now produce it, which I make part of my examination, marked Appendix "A, A. E., marked Exhibit A, January 19, 1878," James M. Ball and R. E. Stillwell, examiners.

73. Ques. Will you now be so good as to produce the powers of attorney, appointing or constituting you the agent and trustee of the 2,800 bonds, or thereabouts, in your possession under and pursuant to the terms and objects of the "memorandum plan," of which you have heretofore testified?

I herewith produce said power of attorney:

(Inasmuch as there are a large number of these papers, representing the said 2,800 bonds or thereabouts, referred to in the testimony of the witness, and they being all made from uniform printed blanks, it is stipulated and agreed that one of said powers of attorney and appointment for agency and trusteeship being copied and entered here as a specimen of the whole.)

110, 194.

I, the undersigned, H. M. Lehren, bona fide holder of 1 bonds, 1720 8 per cent. Florida, issued 1870, each bond of Ds 1,000, numbered as follows:

declare by these presents to accept and to join for my part to the provisions of the memorandum plan for the reorganization of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and the Florida Central Railroad Company, of Florida, signed on the 12th day of January, 1877, at Savannah, Georgia, between Frank R. Sherwin, agent of the owners and holders of the bonds of the said State of Florida, issued in aid of the said railroad companies, on the first part, and the owners and holders of the first mortgage bonds of the Pensacola en Georgia en Tallahassee Railroad Company of said State, issued under the provisions of the act of January 6th, 1855, generally known as the "internal improvement act," represented by Henry R. Jackson, of Savannah, in the State of Georgia, and Charles H. Simonton, of Charleston, in the State of South Carolina, of the second part:

That I do hereby appoint my lawful trustee Adolph Engler, partner of the firm of Kremelberg & Co., at New York, handing to him herewith as trustee one said as above-numbered bonds, with the power to deliver and to exchange the so in trust given bonds as aforesaid, with all the coupons attached, to a company to be formed under the general incorporation laws of the State, under the style and name of the "Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company," for the purpose of purchasing the present lines of constructed and completed railways extending from Lake City to Chattahoochee and from Tallahassee to St. Mark's, known as the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and the road extending from Jacksonville to Lake City, known as the Florida Central Railroad, together with all their depots, rolling stock, machine-hopss and all their other salable property, and such in the proportion of 33⅓ per cent. in bonds and 16⅔ per cent. in shares lawfully and legally issued by the said new company to be formed as aforesaid; i. e., for each old bond of $1,000, with coupons attached, $333⅓ in bonds and $166⅔ shares; all, however, under the following terms and conditions:

1st. That the said bonds shall be part of a first-mortgage bond of a maximum not exceeding $12,000 per mile, redeemable in 40 years by lot, bearing 5 per cent. interest per annum in gold; bonds and interest at maturity payable in Amsterdam and New York at the rate 2.50 Dutch currency per dollar. First coupon for interest to be paid on the 1st July, 1878.

2d. That no expenses whatsoever already incurred or to be made for the reorganization as per the memorandum plan aforesaid shall be at the charge of the bonds or of the bondholders.

3d. That the exchange and delivery of the old bonds against the bonds and shares of the new company must be completed before or on the 1st of December, 1877. That on or before the 1st of June, 1877, the directors of the new company to be formed, Messrs. Robert Walker, Hubbart L. Hart, John Clark, C. H. Allen, and Robert P. Dodge, shall depose with my said trustee an authentic act containing that they accept to execute the said memorandum plan, and that the necessary funds for the purpose of placing the said lines of the new railroad 1720½ company in first-class order and to repair as to road-bed, rolling stock, and otherwise is secured.

In witness whereof I have signed this 31st day of July, A. D. 1800 seventy-seven, at Amsterdam.

H. M. LEHREN.

Witness:

S. L. PINTO,

For legalization of the above signatures of H. M. Lehren.

Amsterdam, August 23d, 1877.

AMERICAN CONSULATE, AMSTERDAM.

CHARLES MUELLER,
U. S. Consul.

74. Ques. This power of attorney constitutes and appoints "Adolphus Engler," partner of the firm of Kremelberg & Co., at New York, &c., the trustee of the party executing the same. Are you the Adolph Engler named therein?

Ans. I am.

75. Ques. And are you the same Adolph Engler named in each and all of the other powers presented by you, numbering 271, exhibited as part of your examination, representing said 2,800 Florida State bonds or thereabouts?

Ans. Yes, sir.

76. Ques. Are each and all of said powers and appointments, constituting you the agent and trustee for the several parties executing the same, in full force and effect and unrevoked at the present time?

Ans. As far as I know, they are.

77. Ques. Is the C. H. Allen mentioned in said powers and appointments the same C. H. Allen who was presented to you by said Charles D. Willard and for whom you became bondsman as receiver, as you have previously testified?

Ans. I suppose it is.

78. Ques. Will you now produce the letters and correspondence between yourself and Charles D. Willard, Henry R. Jackson, Charles H. Simonton, George F. Drew, George P. Raney, and William G. F. Davis, or any or all of them, called for in the preceding part of your examination?

Ans. I will produce such letters as I have from any of the parties referred to which have reference to the "memorandum plan." As to suits, I know nothing about them. I have other letters, of a private nature, which I decline to produce. I now produce letter dated Charleston,
S. C., May 16, 1877, from Henry R. Jackson and Charles H.
1721 Simonton; and another, dated Savannah, Ga., May 31st, 1877, from Henry R. Jackson and Charles H. Simonton, copies of which are hereto annexed, marked Schedule B and Schedule C, respectively, January 19th, 1878.

79. Ques. By the letter of the 16th of May, 1877, marked schedule B, January 19th, 1878, you were advised of the receipt of your letter of the 12th of May, 1877, addressed to Simonton and Jackson, to which they replied. Will you be so good as to produce a copy of your letter of May 12th, 1877, so referred to?

Ans. I have not a copy of said letter with me, but in that letter I merely asked them to acknowledge their willingness to accept the conditions of the "memorandum plan" as trustees for the "P. & G." bondholders.

80. Ques. At whose instance did you write said letter?

Ans. At Mr. Willard's request.

81. Ques. Was Mr. Willard present when you wrote said letter, and did he or not dictate the terms thereof in whole or in part?

Ans. He was not present; he sent me the letter, and I copied it.

82. Ques. By the letter marked schedule C (January 19, 1878), and dated May 31, 1877, you were informed by the writers that they had addressed you a letter from Tallahassee, signed by Henry R. Jackson individually, or by said Jackson and Simonton; have you said letter, and will you please produce the same as part of your examination?

Ans. I know of no other letter than the one marked schedule B, January 19, 1878.

83. Ques. You have spoken of a letter received from Charles D. Willard, under date of January 12th, 1878. Will you please produce said letter as part of your examination?

Ans. No; I will not produce it, because it has no reference to these suits whatever.

34. Ques. Has said letter any reference to the bonds of the State of Florida involved in this suit, or the use or disposition thereof?

Ans. No, sir.

85. Ques. In reference to the persons whom you represent as the holders of the said 2,800 bonds of the State of Florida, or thereabouts, do you remember whether you are in possession of the bonds belonging to, and hold a power of attorney from, G. M. Boissevain and N. J. Den Tex?

1722 Ans. I think I do. Yes, I have the powers here, and have presented them among others.

86. Ques. You are, then, at this date, the authorized agent and trustee of the several parties who are the holders of said 2,800 bonds or thereabouts. Is that so?

Ans. I am the agent as stated in this examination before.

87. Ques. By the printed portion of said power of attorney, the following language is made to appear: "The undersigned , bona-fide holders of bonds." Will you state if you have any other knowledge of the bona fides of the holders of said bonds than such as you derive from the language used in said powers?

Ans. Not of my own positive knowledge.

88. Ques. Do you know, or can you state, any other matter or thing material to the rights of the parties, plaintiffs or defendants, in this action, beyond what you have stated in the course of your examination? and, if yea, please state the same fully and at large in your answer.

Ans. Nothing further occurs to me.

AD. ENGLER.

The complainants' counsel here states that he closes the direct examination of the witness, reserving the right to recall him for the purpose of cross-examination by defendants' counsel at any time within ten days from this date.

Subscribed and sworn to this 19th day of January, A. D. 1878, before us.

JAMES M. BALL,
R. E. STILLWELL,
Examiners.

15 BROAD STREET, Charleston, S. C., 16*th May*, 1877.

To ADOLPH ENGLER, Esq.,
Kremelberg & Co., P. O. No. 4445, New York:

SIR: We have received yours of the 12th instant, informing us that you have accepted the trust and agency for bona-fide holders resident in the Kingdom of the Netherlands, of about 3,200 bonds of $1,000 1723 each, State of Florida, 8 per cent., as per memorandum plan, entered into between Mr. Sherwin and ourselves and clients, in Savannah, in January, 1877 (not October, 1876).

Responding to your request, we notify you that each of us has accepted the trust under the same memorandum plan for the Pensacola and Georgia and the Tallahassee Railroad bonds.

Very respectfully, yours,

HENRY R. JACKSON.
CHARLES H. SIMONTON.

SCHEDULE C.—January 19.—James M. Ball, R. E. Stilwell, examiners.

SAVANNAH, GA., May 31, 1877.

ADOLPH ENGLER, Esq.,
Trustee in behalf of the Florida State Bonds, New York:

SIR: Since the date of my letter to yourself, from Tallahassee, indicating my acceptance, in companionship with Mr. Simonton, of the trust under the "memorandum plan," a temporary injunction has been granted by the U. S. circuit court, restraining the sale of the railroad by the governor. The judge has intimated that upon presentation of evidence of the bona-fide character of the bondholders whom you represent, the injunction will be dissolved. I beg to say to you that my confidence in the plan remain unshaken, and that I will spare no effort to carry it out to full consummation.

Yours, very respectfully,

HENRY R. JACKSON.

I concur.

CHARLES H. SIMONTON.

Appendix A.
A. E.

Memorandum plan for the reorganization of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company of Florida, to be agreed upon by and between Frank R. Sherwin, agent of the owners and holders of the bonds of the said State of Florida, issued in aid of said railroad company of the first part, and the owners and holders of the first mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies of said State, issued under the provisions of the act of January 6th, 1855, generally known as "the internal improvement act," represented by , of the second part.

The object to be sought in said reorganization shall be the formation under the general incorporation laws of said State of a new company, under the name and style of "The Jacksonville and Mobile Rail- 1725 road Company," for the purpose of purchasing the present lines of constructed railroads between Jacksonville and Chattahoochee, and Tallahassee and St. Mark's, with branch at Monticello Junction, together with all their rolling stock, depots, machine-shops, and all their other property, and of completing the said line of road to Mobile, in the State of Alabama.

To this end it is agreed between the said parties that the line of completed railway, to wit, the roads extending from Lake City to Quincy, and from Tallahasse to St. Mark's, formerly known as the Pensacola and Georgia and the Tallahassee Railroads, and the road extending from Jacksonville to Lake City, known as the Florida Central Railroad, and any other portion of said completed line or lines, if any such be legally saleable by the said, the governor of the State of Florida, together with all their depots, rolling stock, machine-shops, and all their other saleable property, shall be sold at public outcry in accordance with law, so soon as the following antecedent arrangements numbered "first" and "second" shall have been completed.

First. The said the parties to this agreement shall within 30 days 1726 select three persons who shall act as trustees in discharge of the trusts hereinafter set out; any vacancy in their number occurring by death or otherwise to be filled by the surviving trustees.

Second. The said bonds and coupons of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies held by the said parties of the second part, and a majority of the said bonds and coupons of the State of Florida, paid in issue*d* of the said the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and the said the Florida Central Railroad Company, shall be placed in the hands or under the control of the said trustees so selected for the purpose of the said trust, within thirty days from the date of the acceptance of their appointment.

The said the governor shall offer at public sale according to law said line of railroads or as much of said said line as can be legally so offered, together with all their depots, rolling stock, machine-shops, and all their other property, or such portions of it as may be legally saleable, and at the said sale the said trustees shall bid for the said property so 1727 to be exposed for sale to the extent, if necessary, of the par value of the said bonds and past due coupons of the State of Florida so placed under their control, the aggregate amount in dollars and cents, of which said bonds and past due coupons shall be treated and received as cash at said sale by the said governor, and if such bid be the highest made at such sale or sales the said line of railroad, together with all of its property as hereinbefore detailed, shall be struck off to the said trustees so bidding, and upon the delivery to the said the governor of the said bonds and past due coupons last mentioned, the said trustees at the same time shall deliver to the said governor the said bonds and coupons of the said the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company for cancellation by the board of trustees of the internal improvement fund of the said State of Florida, whereupon the governor shall immediately cause the said trustees so bidding to be placed in the actual possession of all said railroad property, and full title shall be perfected in said trustees by the governor, so far as the same is in his power, the same to be held by them subject to the following conditions, namely, in trust to 1728 be conveyed by them to the said "Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company" after the following arrangements and conditions shall have been perfected and complied with:

First. Such title to the line of railroad now known as the Florida Central, extending from Jacksonville to Lake City, and such title to that portion of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad which extends from Quincy to the Chattahoochie River; and such right or franchise to continue the construction of said line of railway westward to the city of Mobile, as may not be perfected in the said selected trustees, by the said sale as hereinafter provided, shall be perfected in the said the Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company, through the action and agency of the said party of the first part, and shall be so perfected as not to leave any lien or incumbrance upon said last-mentioned title or property, which shall be superior to the special mortgage lien to be created as hereinafter provided. The provisions of this clause, numbered first, to be practically carried out by the said party of the first part within six (6) months from the date of this agreement.

1729 Second. Title having been so perfected in the said the Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company, that company shall execute an obligation in writing to the said the selected trustees, stipulating that immediately after conveyance made to it, the said railroad property, so to be purchased as aforesaid by them (the said selected trustees), the said the Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company shall cause the entire line of constructed railroads heretofore named to be bonded at the rate of not more than twelve thousand dollars ($12,000) per mile, which bonds shall be due forty years from date, bearing interest at the rate of five (5) per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, either in New York city or Amsterdam, Holland, at the option of the holders, principal and interest payable in gold, which bonds shall be a first mortgage lien upon said line of railroad, its depots, machine-shops, rolling stock, and all of its other property.

That distinct provisions shall be made in said mortgage for the issue in the first place of a series of said bonds equal in amount only to the par value of said surrendered bonds and overdue coupons of the said 1730 Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, in the event that the said lines of road formally known as the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads should be bid off by the said selected trustees, at a sum below or not exceeding the aggregate amount of said last-mentioned bonds and past due coupons; but should the said last-mentioned roads be so bid off at a sum equal to or exceeding the aggregate amount of principal of said bonds and past due coupons and interest on said coupons, then the said first series of bonds to cover the full amount of said last-mentioned aggregate, and this first and distinct series of bonds so issued shall constitute a prior lien upon the said line of railroad and its said property, to secure the payment of the interest and principal of the same when due; and the first said series of bonds when so issued shall be delivered to the said selected trustees, to be by them delivered to the owners of the said surrendered bonds and coupons of the said Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies.

That provision shall also be made in said mortgage that in 1731 case of default for one year by said new company in payment of interest or any of the bonds, foreclosure of said mortgage may be made for the entire amount of indebtedness secured by it, both principal and interest; and the said road and all of its said property may be sold, and the proceeds delivered from such sale shall be first applied to the payment of the said first series of bonds, principal and interest, and the surplus, if any, shall be applied toward the payment of the remaining or second series of said bonds.

That provision shall also be made in said mortgage that in case of default for one year by said new company in payment of interest on any of the bonds, foreclosure of said mortgage may be made for the entire amount of indebtedness secured by it, both principal and interest, and the said road and all of its said property may be sold, and the proceeds delivered from such sale shall be first applied to the payment of the said first series of bonds, principal and interest, and the surplus, if any, shall be applied toward the payment of the remaining or second series of said bonds.

1732 That provision shall also be made in said mortgage for the creation, at the expiration of three years from the organization of said company, of a sinking fund of one per cent. per annum in gold, payable semi-annually upon its said bonded debt, which said sinking fund shall be semi-annually applied, as paid, to the redemption at par of the said bonds of said company, the numbers of which shall be selected by lot, and the said first series of said bonds of said company, issued as aforesaid, shall have priorty of payment out of said sinking fund.

A draft of said contemplated bonds and mortgage, to be approved by the said selected trustees, shall be appended as an exhibit to the said written obligation, and also a copy of the proposed charter of the said Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company, showing powers in the said new corporation to issue such bonds, and to execute such mortgage.

It shall be further stipulated in said written obligation that a sufficient number of the second series of said bonds shall be set apart and used for the purpose of placing said line of constructed railroad 1733 in first class order and repair as to road-bed, rolling stock, and otherwise, and that said new railroad company shall be managed by a board of directors, consisting of not more than seven nor less than five members, who shall be named by the owners or holders of said State bonds, but who shall be acceptable to said selected trustees, and that in case of vacancy in said board of directors or officers of said company, by death, resignation, or otherwise, notice of any intended new appointment shall be given to the said selected trustees, and a protest in writing, signed by the owners representing a majority of the said first series of bonds of said company, shall operate to prevent the appointment to fill said vacancy, this provision to continue in operation for the period of six years from the organization of the said new company.

It is also further stipulated and agreed that all funds necessary to meet the costs and expenditures incurred in such sale or sales shall be supplied by the said party of the first part.

1734 In witness whereof we the said parties to this agreement have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals interchang'ably this day of .

1735 And on this 19th day of January, 1878, the complainant produces THOS. B. CODDINGTON, a witness in its behalf, who, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

1. Ques. Please state your name, age, residence, and occupation.

Ans. Thomas B. Coddington; 63 years; city of New York; merchant.

2. Ques. Have you or have you not any knowledge of the issue and exchange of any bonds of the State of Florida for bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company?

Ans. Yes, sir, I have.

3. Ques. Are you or are you not a defendant in a suit in equity now pending in the circuit court of the United States for the northern 1735½ district of Florida, involving the bonds referred to in your preceding answer, or a portion of them?

Ans. Yes, sir, I am a defendant in that suit.

4. Ques. Did you or did you not file your answer to said bill in said court, sworn to, on or about the 18th day of October, 1877?

Ans. Yes, sir, I did.

5. Ques. In that answer did you or did you not, among other things, state what connection you had with the exchange of a thousand papers, called bonds, of the Florida Central Railroad Company for a corresponding number of bonds of the State of Florida?

Ans. Yes, sir.

6. Ques. Will you now please look at the printed copy of your answer, now shown you, and state whether, to the best of your knowledge and belief, the same is a true and correct copy?

Ans. I have looked at the copy, and believe it to be a correct copy.

7. Ques. In that answer, under paragraphs XI and XII, and pages 11 to 17 inclusive, you state and set forth the following facts and exhibits:

This defendant says that on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1871, he gave Edward Houston the written instrument marked Schedule F; that, although by the said instrument it appears that Houston delivered and that this defendant received one thousand Florida Central Railroad Company first-mortgage bonds, payable to the State of Florida, for one thousand dollars each, yet this defendant alleges and says that the following are the actual facts:

That on the 11th day of January Houston, taking a servant with him, and accompanied by this defendant, went to the office of Col. Robert H. Gamble, and received from Gamble the one thousand railroad bonds described in Schedule F.

That thereupon Houston and this defendant, and Houston's servant carrying the bonds, went immediately to the governor's office in the capitol, and the said one thousand railroad bonds were then and there given to Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, in the said executive chamber, and the said Governor Reed then delivered therefor one thousand State of Florida bonds of the face value of one thousand dollars each, and numbered from 3001 to 4000 inclusive, which said bonds this defendant understood were issued under the statutes of 1869 and 1870, described in complainants' bill.

That Houston directed his servant to take the package of State bonds and carry them to this defendant's room in the hotel; that Houston and this defendant, together with the said servant then carrying the bonds, went to the hotel, where the State bonds were by Houston left with this defendant.

That this defendant, the next morning, at Houston's request, delivered to Houston the paper marked Schedule F, and the said Littlefield, as president of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Rail-1736 road Company, gave his full authority and assent thereto, and signed the same in his official capacity.

And this defendant says that, in the manner aforesaid, he did receive the said one thousand State of Florida bonds, numbered 3001 to 4000, and that the same were received by the authority, assent, and approval of the said president of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and in trust and for account of said Edward Houston.

And this defendant says that the disposition he was to make of the said bonds and their proceeds, if any were received by him, is set out in said Schedule F.

That the governor told this defendant, in Houston's presence, in the executive chamber, at the time of the delivery of the said State bonds, for this defendant not to take the bonds out of the State until the governor had made arrangements for the payment of certain moneys to the State of Florida with the said President Littlefield.

That, in accordance with this direction of the governor as aforesaid, this defendant remained with the bonds in Tallahassee until he received the following written instructions, which are in the words and figures following, to wit:

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE, JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA
AND MOBILE RAILROAD COMPANY,
Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 12, 1871.

T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq.,
Tallahassee, Florida:

MY DEAR SIR: I have the honor to give you the following instructions in relation to the bonds, or the proceeds thereof, which you have received from the governor in exchange for railroad bonds:

1st. The bonds will be delivered to the parties in London, England, who have purchased the four thousand bonds issued in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and collect the pay therefor.

2d. You will pay the following-named parties, viz: Edward Houston, $163,000; M. D. Papy, $16,000; Judge Wescott, $5,000; Gamble, $15,000; Col. J. P. Sanderson, $57,000. I state the amounts not exactly, but about the sums, as you have them exact, upon each party delivering to me, or to my order, all stocks, bonds, coupons, notes, drafts, acceptances, or whatever the said   is to pay for; but should any of the parties whose names are mentioned above refuse to receive the said amounts after it had been offered to them, and after Col. Houston has been paid, then the said amounts shall be paid to me or to my order.

3d. The balance of the money will be placed to the order of his excellency Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, to pay indebtedness to the State.

Truly yours,

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
Pres. J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

P. S.—This letter is so far modified as to conform to the letter or receipt given by me to Edward Houston, and approved by me.

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
Pres. J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

1737 T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq.:

You will please place to my credit, in the National Trust Company of New York City, the amount called for in the above arrangement, either by wire or letter, and oblige,

HARRISON REED,
Governor of Florida.

And this defendant having received the above instructions from the said President Littlefield, and the governor of Florida being fully advised thereof, and assenting thereto, this defendant having first, personally, bade good-bye to all the parties, was making his arrangements to return to New York by the railroad from Tallahassee, and so informed the president of the road; thereupon, President Littlefield directed this defendant to go by the way of Thomasville and Charleston; and the said Littlefield informed this defendant that he (President Littlefield) had provided a carriage, and that for the safety of the bonds, he, Littlefield, would send him by his carriage (accompanied by his secretary) to Thomasville, Georgia, where this defendant could take the rail, and that his secretary, for safety to the bonds, would accompany this defendant as far as Charleston. That, as directed by the said Littlefield, this defendant went in the said carriage to Thomasville, and thence by rail to New York; and that the secretary of the said Littlefield did accompany this defendant as far as Charleston from Tallahassee.

And that after the arrival of this defendant in New York, he proceeded by the first steamer to Europe, and reached the city of London with the bonds as speedily as practicable and without delay.

That this defendant, having thus received the said State bonds on the 11th day of January, A. D. 1871, retained and kept them in London, England, until the (18) eighteenth day of April, A. D. 1871, because he could not get the money for them, when this defendant, having been peremptorily ordered by the said Edward Houston, did, on said eighteenth day of April, A. D. 1871, deliver the said one thousand State bonds, numbered 3001 to 4000, inclusive, to S. W. Hopkins & Co., London, England.

And this defendant says that, as aforesaid, he received said one thousand bonds, Nos. 3001 to 4000, on the 11th of January, A. D. 1871, and delivered them as ordered on the 18th day of April, A. D. 1871, in London, to S. W. Hopkins & Co. And this defendant says the orders and directions to him to deliver the said one thousand bonds are as follows:

That he received in London the following message by cable from Edward Houston:

Atlantic cable message. Station from Savannah.

From E. Houston to Coddington, care Hopkins, London.

Deliver bonds to Hopkins. Everybody protected.

And this defendant also received the following from Edward Houston.

1738 SAVANNAH, GA., April 11th, 1871.

T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq., London:

DEAR SIR: I hereby authorize and request you to deliver to Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, the one thousand Florida State bonds, of one thousand dollars each, received by you from the State of Florida, in exchange for a like number and amount of the bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, the same having been delivered to you by me, to be held in trust, as per your receipt, dated January 11, 1871, which I now surrender herewith, I having no further lien on or against either of the above mentioned bonds.

Yours respectfully,

E. HOUSTON.

Also the following:

TALLAHASSEE, FLA., April 6th, 1871.

SIR: I hereby recall my letter of instructions to you, dated January 12, 1871, and also all instructions subsequently given; and now direct you to deliver to Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., of 58 Old Broad street, London, the one thousand bonds of one thousand dollars each, to wit, one million dollars of the State of Florida, issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, now held by you, as trustee, whenever Edward Houston, esq., shall authorize and direct you so to do; imposing upon you the single duty of procuring from Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co. their signature to the written agreement entered into with you, which is intended to fix upon them the responsibility of carrying out my original orders, and relieving you therefrom.

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
President J., P. and M. R. R. Co.

To T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq.

And on the face of this instrument and across the writing was the following:

I hereby approve of and ratify this order.

HARRISON REED,
Governor of Florida.

I do hereby authorize and request T. B. Coddington, esq., to deliver the within mentioned bonds to S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, as I have no further lien against them.

E. HOUSTON.

Which was communicated to me by my firm in New York, prior to the cable from Houston, ordering me to deliver the bonds.

XII.

This defendant further says, that the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. had also a house in New York as well as in the city of London, and were the same firm and composed of the said parties; and that the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. were then the fiscal agents of the State of Florida, and of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company; 1739 and that, as aforesaid, this defendant, as thus directed, did deliver said one thousand bonds, numbered 3001 to 4000, inclusive, to said S. W. Hopkins & Co., in London, and obtained their signature, as in said instructions directed; that having delivered the said bonds of the 18th of April, as directed by cable from Houston, that afterwards the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. sent a message by cable to their New York house, notifying them of the receipt of the bonds—and thereupon the New York house of S. W. Hopkins & Co. sent the following letter to the partner of this defendant, and also sent Mr. Nichols the original receipt (Schedule F of complainant's bill), which this defendant had given to Houston, as aforesaid, dated April 11th, to deliver the bonds, all of which the defendant was advised of by his said partner, as aforesaid.

That acknowledgment and letter is as follows:

S. W. HOPKINS & CO.,
71 BROADWAY, NEAR WALL STREET,
New York, April 19, 1871.

GEO. L. NICHOLS, Esq.:

DEAR SIR: A cablegram received this morning from our London house, announces that Mr. Coddington has delivered the bonds. Enclosed please find Mr. Coddington's original receipt to Mr. Houston, dated Tallahassee, January 11th, 1871; also Col. Houston's authority for the delivery; please acknowledge receipt of these documents; we should be glad to know if you have anything from Mr. Coddington, confirming our despatch.

Very truly yours,

S. W. HOPKINS & CO.,
Per L. L. SPRING.

7. Ques. Will you please state whether or not said statement and exhibit contain a true history of the transaction which attended the receipt, transfer and delivery of said bonds by you?

Ans. The statement, so made in my answer, is entirely correct.

8. Ques. It appears from your answer that you received said bonds, and that such transaction occurred on or about the 11th or 12th days of January, 1871. Will you please state whether such is, or is not, the correct date of the transaction referred to?

Ans. The dates are correctly stated therein.

9. Ques. Besides the matter stated in your answer, or a portion thereof, before set forth, will you please state any other or further matter or fact connected with the receipt and handling of said bonds, not set forth therein?

Ans. I took the obligation or undertaking of S. W. Hopkins & Co. as directed by Littlefield, and approved by the governor of Florida and Houston, set forth in interrogatory No. 7, preceding; 1740 10. Ques. Will you state the numbers of the bonds of the State of Florida you so received and delivered in the manner you have before stated?

Ans. 3001 to 4000, both inclusive.

11. Ques. At the time you received and exchanged and delivered said bonds, was there or not one or more suits pending, enjoining the receipt or delivery of the same, and if yea, please state by whom said suits were being prosecuted?

Ans. There was such suit, or there were such suits pending by Judge Wescott and Col. Gamble, and injunctions were pending at that time. Col. Gamble and Judge Wescott consented that I should take the bonds, and I supposed the suits were dismissed, but learned subsequently they were not.

Adjourned until Monday, January 21st, 1878, at 11 o'clock a. m.

12. Ques. Please state what transpired or was said by the parties, to wit, Edward Houston, R. H. Gamble, comptroller, Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida, in reference to said Florida Central Railroad bonds and the bonds of the State of Florida numbered above 3001, at or about the time said bonds were exchanged, and the said State bonds delivered to you, besides what you have before set forth, or either of them, separately or together.

Ans. Houston informed me that the State bonds which he had had, had been returned to the governor, and the railroad bonds deposited with Gamble, who was comptroller, for safe keeping, and that the governor promised to exchange them back. The governor hesitated about sending them back until some arrangement was made whereby the residue of the money over and above the special liens should be at the disposal of the State of Florida, which arrangement was made subsequently. Mr. Gamble said, in the presence of Houston, that he objected to let the bonds go, as it would impair the value of the stock which he (Gamble) held, and which parties had agreed to buy and pay for, which had not been paid for, and hence he had taken measures to stop the bonds going. The governor said he was quite willing to exchange the bonds, if he could be satisfied that the money, after 1741 paying these liens upon them, would come back to the State and be applied for the purpose for which they were intended.

13. Ques. Was or was not the objects of the suits and injunctions you have spoken of on the part of Gamble and Judge Wescott the subject of conversation between Governor Reed and yourself, and the other parties, at any time when present?

Ans. I do not think I talked with Governor Reed about the suits of the other parties.

14. Ques. It appears, then, from your answer previously given, that the proceeds of said bonds, numbered above 3000, were to be disposed of exclusively in the manner stated in the papers dated January 11th and 12th, 1871. That is, after paying the private liens specified therein; the balance, which was to be placed to the credit of the State of Florida, in the National Trust Company in the city of New York. Is that what you mean to say?

Ans. Yes, and I furnish you the papers, copies of the originals, which will speak for themselves. The paper signed the 11th of January, 1871, I now produce, and a copy of; it is as follows:

TALLAHASSEE, FLA., January 11, 1871.

Received from Edward Houstoun, esq., in trust and for his account, one thousand Florida Central Railroad Company first mortgage bonds, payable to the State of Florida, for one thousand dollars each, with which I hereby undertake to arrange with General M. S. Littlefield, and other parties interested, and collect from him or them the amount which it is admitted is due to said Houstoun, viz: One hundred and sixty-three thousand and twenty-six seventy one-hundredth dollars, with interest thereon at seven per cent from the time M. S. Littlefield's draft on S. W. Hopkins & Co., for said amount fell due, and in addition thereto, the sum of five thousand dollars, for costs and expenses incurred by said Houstoun, in suits brought by parties against said Houstoun in relation to these bonds or other bonds and the stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, it being understood that all proceedings at law, or otherwise, are to be discontinued, or if that be impossible, he is to be indemnified by responsible parties against all damages or costs arising out of said proceedings, it being further understood, that said Houstoun shall, when paid, transfer and assign to said

Littlefield all the stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, or other securities which he holds or which were given him as collateral security to secure the above amounts due to said Houstoun.

And it is further understood and agreed, that said Coddington is to collect the further sums of money and pay to said Houstoun for account of the parties named below, which it is understood are a lien subsequent and inferior to said Houstoun's lien on these bonds, viz:

M. D. Papy, esq., the sum of sixteen thousand dollars.

1742 Colonel R. H. Gamble the sum of fifteen thousand dollars, who is to surrender to said Littlefield three hundred shares of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, and seventeen hundred dollars in bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company and the Tallahassee Railroad Company at par.

J. P. Sanderson, esq., the sum of fifty-seven thousand five hundred and sixty dollars, and said J. P. Sanderson is to surrender to said Littlefield seventy shares of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, and comply with his agreements with said Littlefield, for which a part of said sum is in consideration.

J. H. Flagg, esq., the sum of four thousand dollars, for which he is to surrender the Central Railroad Company's stock and the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad bonds, which he holds, to said Littlefield.

And also to pay for seventy shares of stock, now or lately held by J. D. Wescott, jr., esq., the sum of thirty-eight hundred and forty-five thirty-three one-hundredth dollars, when said stock is to be delivered to said Littlefield.

This arrangement is based on the assumption that the money will be paid from the proceeds of bonds negotiated by S. W. Hopkins & Co., of New York; the remainder of said proceeds is to be disposed of as directed by the parties interested.

(Signed) T. B. CODDINGTON.

I approve and assent to the same.

(Signed) M. S. LITTLFIELD,
President J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

And the contents of the paper of January 12th, 1871, appears in my previous answer, and is shown in question No. 7. In the letter of April 6th, 1871, Littlefield, president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, which letter was approved and ratified by Governor Reed, of Florida, and authorized and requested by Houston, directed me to procure from S. W. Hopkins & Co. their obligation to carry out what I was originally directed to do in his letter of the 12th of January, 1871. This letter of April 6th appears in question 7, and in conformity thereto, I took from S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, a writing of which the following is a true copy, and the original of which is appended to copies of papers of the 11th of January, 1871, signed by me, and of the 12th of January, 1871, copies of which also appears in question No. 7.

M. S. LITTLFIELD, Esq.:

We hereby agree to hold the net proceeds of the one thousand bonds of the State of Florida, for one thousand dollars each, to be disposed of by us, subject to the performance of the instructions contained in the two documents, dated 11th and 12th of January, 1871, of which copies are hereto annexed, dated this 18th day of April, 1871.

S. W. HOPKINS & CO.

The word net inserted above before signing.
London.

S. W. HOPKINS & CO.

1743 I now present the originals of all these papers for inspection, but retain them for my own protection, and I have now and here compared the copies, as they above appear, with said originals now in my possession, and know said copies to be correct.

15. Ques. Did you not receive at any time any money derived from the proceeds of the bonds numbered above 3000?

Ans. No, sir.

16. Ques. Did you know what became of the said State bonds, numbered above 3000, which you say you received on the 12th of January, 1871, and took to London? State to the best of your knowledge as to the disposal of said bonds, and their present condition.

Ans. I delivered the State bonds, 3001 to 4000, to S. W. Hopkins & Co., of 58 Old Broad Street, London, on the 18th day of April, 1871. That is the last I have seen of them, except the 224 bonds which were cancelled. I am informed and believe that afterwards 800 of these bonds, numbered 3201 to 4000, both inclusive, were brought by S. W. Hopkins & Co., and deposited in the supreme court of the State of New York, and by that court placed in the hands of George G. Haven, receiver of the court. John Collinson, on the 6th of December, 1872, received the said 800 bonds from said Haven, by order of the said court. That Collinson returned to the State of Florida, or its agent, and cancelled 224 of said bonds, 3777 to 4000, both inclusive; that 8 of these 800 bonds, numbering 3769 to 3776, both inclusive, and (200) other of these 1000 bonds, numbering 3001 to 3200, both inclusive, not included among the above 800, were taken by Collinson, under an optional agreement, leaving 568 bonds, 3201 to 3778, both inclusive, which were placed in the Bank of England by order of the chancellor, on motion of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, in proceedings instituted by myself in London, England, against the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, to enforce special performance of a contract or arrangement, the said 568 bonds being a part of the 800 above mentioned. Mr. Collinson took the 200 bonds before mentioned, under an optional arrangement, dated August, 1872, in London or under the proceedings in the supreme court of the State of New York.

17. Ques. Do you know to what use or purpose the 208 bonds which you say said Collinson took under an option were applied?

Ans. I am informed and believe that 200 of them were taken by Collinson to provide for interest on the previous issue of 3,000
1744 bonds by the State of Florida; the other 8 bonds Collinson received, with some other bonds of a previous issue, in settlement of some suit against Hopkins & Co. in London, under the arrangement of August, 1872.

18. Ques. What was the amount of your individual debt or lien upon said bonds, and by whom was the debt contracted—I mean the bonds numbered above 3000?

The lien was $40,000 and interest from August, 1872, recognized and confirmed under the arrangement in London of that date by the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company with me, based upon $15,000 due to Gamble, and $25,000 to be paid to me, under an arrangement by Littlefield, president of said road, with Hopkins & Co. (to be paid to me), in 1871, the $15,000 being referred to in the papers of January 11th and 12th, 1871, before referred to, to be paid to me for Gamble.

19. Ques. Did or not the State of Florida constitute and authorize said Hopkins & Co. as its agent to receive and handle said State bonds, and to apply the proceeds according to its directions, over and above the discharge of the special liens heretofore mentioned?

Ans. I understood Hopkins & Co. were agents of the State of Florida, and that by the letter of April 6th, 1871, signed by Littlefield, president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, approved by the governor of Florida, Harrison Reed, and authorized by Houston, Hopkins & Co. were authorized to so apply the proceeds over and above the surplus liens.

20. Ques. Referring again to your answer in the suit of The Western North Carolina Railroad Company vs. George F. Drew, governor, et al., paragraph XX, page 21, you state, "This defendant further says that in this whole transaction relating to these 1,000 State of Florida bonds, number 3001 to 4000, inclusive, this defendant was acting as the agent and trustee of Edward Houston, and not of any other party, State, corporation, or individual;" does that answer express the real capacity and relation in which you acted in the handling of said bonds?

Ans. I was primarily agent of Houston. What I did was by direction of the president of the railroad company, and with the approval of the governor of Florida, as well as of Houston.

21. Ques. In the previous part of your examination, and under folios 40–41 of your printed answer in said suit, you state that you took the bonds above 3000 from Tallahassee to Thomasville, Georgia, 1745 by private conveyance, on or about the 12th day of January, 1871; will you state why that mode of traveling was adopted? And if any reason was assigned therefor, state by whom and what was said.

Ans. Littlefield, president of the railroad company, provided a carriage, and sent his secretary with me from Tallahassee to Thomasville, and thence by rail to Charleston, South Carolina, as he said, for the safety of the bonds, as he said he did not know but that some other parties having claims against the road might get out an attachment and institute other suits. I intended to have gone by rail from Tallahassee, by way of Live Oak, to Savannah, but took this other route by direction of Mr. Littlefield.

22. Ques. Do you know or can you state any other matter or thing material to the interest of either party to this suit not hereinbefore stated? And, if yea, state the same fully and particularly, as if thereto specifically interrogated.

Ans. No.

2. Ques. What was your business occupation from the year 1870 to 1872?

Ans. Importers of railway iron, negotiators of securities, under the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., with our office in the city of New York, and also one in the city of London.

3. Ques. At or about that time did or not your firm have any dealings with the State of Florida, or the bonds of said State, issued to or exchanged with the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad?

Ans. We entered into a contract with the railroad company for the negotiation of all the bonds of the State of Florida, which, under the various laws of the State, that company was to receive, by contract dated the 13th day of April, 1870.

The further examination of the witness is adjourned to Tuesday, the 29th instant, at 11 o'clock.

1747 TUESDAY, January 29, 1878—12 o'clock m.

4. Ques. During the negotiations of the Florida State bonds, mentioned in the former part of your examination, were there any letters or statements or communications received by parties in Europe, within your knowledge, in any way impairing the validity of the said Florida State bonds?

Ans. There was a letter received by Messrs. Holze & Boissevain, of Amsterdam, Holland, some time during the month of February, 1871, attacking the validity of the whole issue of the Florida State bonds. This communication emanated from Florida.

5. Ques. Did there then and thereafter continue to be other and further communications and statements circulating before the public effecting said bonds?

Ans. I believe there were, but I cannot recite any specific cases beyond the one already mentioned.

6. Ques. Did you ever hear it spoken of by others, or did it come to your knowledge, that the board of directors of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, under date of December 10, 1870, passed any resolution effecting the validity of said bonds?

Ans. I believe there was such a resolution passed.

7. Ques. Did you at any time in handling said Florida State bonds act under instructions from the governor of that State?

Ans. Our firm received instructions from him which we recognized at the time.

8. Ques. State, to the best of your recollection, how these instructions were given, whether written or verbal, and what was the nature of the same.

Ans. They were instructions with reference to the disposition of a portion of the proceeds arising from the sale of the bonds, when realized, and they were written.

9. Ques. Have you the original of the instructions so given you by the governor of Florida, directing the disposition of the proceeds of said bonds, and if not the original, have you a true copy thereof, and will you produce the same as part of your examination?

Ans. I will endeavor to find the original, or a copy, and produce them here.

1748 10. Ques. During the time you were handling said bonds, did it come to your knowledge of a claim being made to any portion thereof on the part of the complainant in this action?

Ans. Yes.

11. Ques. On or about the 16th day of November, 1870, did you acknowlege and accept an order on your house in London, drawn by M. S. Littlefield, president, in favor of one N. W. Woodfin, a commission' on the part of the State of North Carolina, representative of the complainant?

Ans. Yes.

12. Ques. Have you a copy of said order?

Ans. I have.

13. Ques. Will you produce the same as part of your examination?

Ans. I will produce the original, or a true copy thereof.

14. Ques. Do you remember the number of the bonds called for in said order? And, if you do, please state the same.

Ans. The number was 800 bonds, of 1,000 each, to be held subject to the order of the party in whose favor the order was drawn.

15. Ques. Did you appropriate any particular portion of said bonds to meet said order? And, if you did, please state what portion of the bonds they were.

Ans. We fixed upon 800 bonds out of the 1,000 bonds which were to come into our hands, numbering from 3001 to 4000, inclusive.

16. Ques. Did said bonds ever come into your hands; and, if yea, did you ever deliver the same according to said order?

Ans. They came into our hands, but we never delivered the bonds under said order.

17. Ques. Please state what became of said bonds, according to your recollection, and where they are now, if you have any knowledge of the subject?

Ans. 800 of them were placed in the hands of the receiver of the supreme court of the State of New York, for the city and county of New York; the other 200 bonds were delivered to the representative of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

18. Ques. Do you know what became of the said 1,000 bonds, and to what purpose they were applied?

Ans. 568 of the bonds are now tied up in chancery, in England; 224 were sent back to the State of Florida and cancelled, and the 1749 remainder went into the possession of John Collinson, of London, England, under an agreement by which he, Collinson, agreed to furnish money to pay the then maturing interest on certain of the Florida State bonds which had previously been negotiated. I have given the figures as near as I remember them.

19. Ques. Did your firm sell any of the said 1,000 bonds, numbered from 3001 to 4000, inclusive?

Ans. We did not.

20. Ques. Do you know, or can you state, any other matter or thing material to this your examination, of benefit to either party, beyond what you have been interrogated to? And, if so, please state the same.

Ans. No, sir.

JOHN L. REQUA, a witness on the part of the complainant, being duly sworn, testifies as follows:

1. Ques. Please state your name, age, residence and occupation.

Ans. John L. ReQua; 50; law.

2. Ques. Where did you reside during the years 1869, 1870-'1-'2-'3, and '4?

Ans. At Jacksonville, Fla.

3. Ques. Are you, or are you not, acquainted with a corporation known as the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company? If yea, how did you acquire your knowledge, if any?

Ans. I am acquainted with said company. I was one of its incorporators, and a director and a large stockholder in it.

4. Ques. When was said company incorporated, and what was the location and terminus of its road?

Ans. It was incorporated June, 1869, commencing at Quincy, Florida, extending westward to Pensacola and Mobile.

5. Ques. Was the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company ever consolidated with any other railroad company; if so, what company? Please state to the best of your knowledge and belief.

Ans. At the same time, June, 1869, the legislature of Florida incorporated the Tallahassee Railroad Company, as the owner of the road extending from Lake City westward to Quincy, being a part of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad, built prior to the war, which was sold on the 20th day of March, 1869, to F. Dibble and associates, who incorporated under the name of the Tallahassee Railroad Company. Soon after the passage of these two acts of incorporation, the two companies mentioned above, consolidated under the name of the Jackson-1752 ville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, which, under the new name extended from Lake City westward. This will better appear by the proceedings of the two companies and by reference to the acts in that behalf.

6. Ques. Did or did not Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company ever consolidate with any other railroad company, and especially did it or did it not consolidate with the Florida Central Railroad Company?

Ans. I have no knowledge that such consolidation was made. There was no action on the part of the directors or stockholders of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad that I know of, or can remember, to effect such consolidation. There was a discussion and talk of such consolidation, but not effective.

7. Ques. Do you or not know of any such corporation or company as the Florida Central Railroad Company? And if yea, state its location.

Ans. I do know such a corporation, built previous to the war, I am informed and believe, and was reorganized under its present name in 1868. It commences in Jacksonville, Florida, and extends to Lake City at a distance of about 60 miles west. This was held as a separate organization, managed by its own officers and directors, except during the time it was in the hands of a receiver.

8. Ques. Do you know of any bonds having been issued by the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, in exchange for bonds of the State of Florida? And if so, state what you know in reference to such bond-issue and exchange.

Ans. Yes, I do. There was 3,000 of them for $1,000 each made for such exchange, under the act of January 28th, 1870, amendatory of the act of June 24th, 1869, and I am informed and believe were exchanged, to be sent to New York and Europe for sale.

9. Ques. At the time said bonds were so issued and exchanged, was there, or was there not, any question raised or charges made before the public about the legality and validity of said bonds? and if yea, state what it was.

Ans. Yes; both prior and subsequent to the issue those questions were raised. They were held to be invalid; I so held. It was very generally discussed both privately and publicly, and continued to be adjutated until the supreme court of Florida held them void. While the bonds were abroad, being negotiated or sold, about the year 1870, I was present at the office of J. P. Sanderson, Jacksonville, Florida, 1753 in company with said Sanderson, Calvin Littlefield, John P. Clark, M. D. Papy, and others, were discussing generally this bond question and their validity, and while engaged doing so Colonel Sanderson received a dispatch by telegraph from Tallahassee, purporting to be a copy of one from Amsterdam to Flagg, asking in substance if the bonds were good or valid, and would the interest be paid. I understood the reply to be, substantially, no.

10. Ques. To what extent were you a stockholder in said company?

Ans. I think I have one-half million of the stock, par value, of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company; more particularly speaking, I think I held 4,166 shares par value, $100 each.

11. Ques. Did you, as stockholder and director, or otherwise, make any effort to restrain the circulation and use of said bonds?

Ans. As a stockholder, yes. I think I was never consulted as a director, and when impossible to do so, I brought suit as stockholder to have the avails applied for extending the road, under the act, westward from Quincy.

12. Ques. Do you know, or can you state any other fact material to the interest of either party to this suit? If so, state the same now as if particularly interrogated thereto.

Ans. No.

WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN NORTH Carolina Railroad Company,
vs.
GEO. F. DREW, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF Florida, et al.

Deposition of Timothy H. Porter.

1756 United States circuit court, northern district of Florida.

The President of the United States of America to John A. Shields, United States commissioner, New York City, greeting:

Know ye that we, in confidence of your prudence and fidelity, have appointed you a commissioner, and by these presents do give you full power and authority diligently to examine upon his corporal oath or affirmation, before you to be taken, and upon the interrogatories hereunto annexed, Timothy H. Porter, as a witness on the part of the defendant, George F. Drew, governor, in a certain cause now pending and undetermined in the circuit court of the United States of America for the fifth circuit and northern district of Florida, wherein the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company is complainant, and George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida, the Florida Central Railroad Company, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and others are defendants. And we do further empower you to examine on the same behalf, and in like manner, any other person or persons who may be produced as witnesses before you; and we do hereby require you, before whom such testimony may be taken, to reduce the same to writing, and to close it up under your hand and seal and directed to the clerk of the circuit court of the United States for the fifth circuit and northern district of Florida, at the city of Jacksonville, as soon as may be convenient after the execution of this commission; and that you return the same when executed, as above directed, with the title of the cause endorsed on the envelope of the commission.

Witness the honorable Morrison R. Waite, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, at the city of Jacksonville in said circuit and district, this 26th day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, and of our Independence the one hundred and third.

{ SEAL OF U. S. CIRCUIT COURT, N. D. FLA., 5 CIRCUIT. }

PHILIP WALTER,
Clerk of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Fifth Circuit, and Northern District of Florida.

The execution of this commission appears in certain schedules hereunto annexed.

In equity.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Co.
vs.
GEORGE F. DREW, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE of Florida; the trustees of the internal improvement fund; the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company; the Florida Central Railroad Co.

Interrogatories to be propounded to Timothy H. Porter, a witness to be examined in behalf of the defendant, George F. Drew, governor, in the above entitled cause, who resides in New York City in the State of New York.

Interrogatory first. What is your name, age, residence, and occupation?

Interrogatory second. Are you or not acquainted with the parties complainant and defendant to this suit or any of them?

Interrogatory third. Did you or not have any dealings with one George W. Swepson or the complainant company at any time in respect to certain bonds of the State of North Carolina issued and delivered to said company? If you say you did, please state all facts in 1758 your knowledge in relation to the same, giving dates of such transactions.

Interrogatory fourth. If you say you sold any such bonds, please give the dates of such sales, about the amount of proceeds received by you from such sales, and state under whose authority you made such sales, and if the same was in writing append a copy of such authority to your answer to this question.

Interrogatory fifth. How and in what manner were the proceeds from the sales of such bonds drawn from your firm? If you know such proceeds were drawn upon the drafts of any individual, please give the names or names of such person or persons and state upon whose authority you paid such drafts?

Interrogatory sixth. Were you or not authorized in writing by the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, under its corporate seal, to sell said bonds, and were you, or not, also, in the same way, authorized to pay out the money derived from the sale of such bonds? If you say you were, please append a copy of such authority to your answer to this question. Answer fully upon what authority you paid out said money.

Final interrogatory. Do you know, or can you set forth, any other matter or thing which may be a benefit or advantage to the parties at issue in this cause, or either of them, or may be material to the subject of this your examination, or the matter in question in this cause? If yea, set forth the same fully and at large in your answer?

LEVI PHILLIPS,
Solicitor for George F. Drew, Governor.

1759 In the United States circuit court, northern district of Florida.

vs.
GEO. F. DREW, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF Florida, et al.

Please take notice that I have filed in the office of the clerk of this court interrogatories, copy herewith served, for Timothy H. Porter, a witness for the defendant, George F. Drew, governor, &c., and that in ten days from this date I will apply for a commission to examine said Porter on said interrogatories, and such cross-interrogatories as may be filed by you.

Jacksonville, Fla., February 24, 1879.

LEVI PHILLIPS,
Solicitor for George F. Drew, Defendant.

To JOSEPH B. STEWART,
Solicitor for Complainant.

(Endorsed:)
Filed February 28th, 1879.

PHILIP WALTER, Clerk.

Deposition of Timothy H. Porter, a witness produced and sworn, and examined the 21st day of April, A. D. 1879, at my office, in the post-office building, in the city of New York, under and by virtue of a commission issued out of the circuit court of the United States of America, for the fifth circuit and northern district of Florida, wherein the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company is complainant, and George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida, the Florida Central Railroad Company, the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company and others are defendants. 1760

TIMOTHY H. PORTER, of Stamford, Connecticut, aged 50 years of age, being duly and publicly sworn on the part of the defendant, George F. Drew, governor, doth depose and say as follows:

First. To the first interrogatory he saith: Timothy H. Porter; age, 50 years; residence, Stamford, Connecticut; occupation, banker, 78 Broadway, New York City.

Second. To the second interrogatory he saith: I am acquainted with the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company as a body corporate, but know none of the others mentioned.

Third. To the third interrogatory he saith: The firm of Soutter & Co., of which I am senior partner, had dealings with George W. Swepson, president of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, in respect to the North Carolina State roads, and negotiated for the same some three million dollars of said State bonds. Such negotiations or sales began about the middle of January, 1869, and continued up to September of the same year.

Fourth. To the fourth interrogatory he saith: The dates of such sales were almost continuous, embracing over one hundred separate transactions, and continuing from January to September, 1869. The amount of proceeds aggregated approximately some one million five hundred thousand dollars. The authority for such sales was given by the president of the company, and was sometimes verbal, sometimes by telegraph, and sometimes in writing. When he was in the city his orders were usually verbal; when he was absent they were communicated by letter or telegram.

To the fifth interrogatory he saith: The proceeds were paid out upon drafts drawn by various individuals, by remittances of currency to various parties, and of deposits made in different banks or banking-houses. The proceeds were always paid out on the order of the 1761 president. But it is impossible for me now to give the names of the individuals who drew the drafts, or to whom the money was paid. When a draft is drawn upon a New York banking-house it is generally presented for collection through some bank, and payment is made by giving a check to the order of the bank making the collection. The name of the drawer is not entered upon either the cash-book or ledger of the firm upon whom the draft is drawn, consequently when an account is settled, and the draft and vouchers returned, there is no possibility of learning the names of individuals drawing drafts or endorsing them.

To the sixth interrogatory he saith: The president of the company aforesaid was authorized by the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company to sell such bonds and to draw the proceeds derived from such sale, and a copy of such authority, authenticated by the corporate seal of the company, was lodged with Soutter & Co. I have not been able to find that instrument since receiving the subpœna in this cause; possibly it was returned, with other vouchers, at the time of closing and settling the account; if not, it is packed away among our voluminous papers of ten years ago, and would involve such an amount of labor to overhaul and examine as I have not been able to give.

To the final interrogatory he saith: Nothing, except that I was subpœnaed to give testimony in reference to this matter some months ago. I have no copies of the interrogatories propounded on that occasion, but I remember that certain drafts were there exhibited to me, which I identified as having been drawn upon Soutter & Co., and paid by them. What these drafts were I cannot now say, but upon being shown them could, doubtless, identify them again. I mention this fact to explain any apparent discrepancy between this deposition and the one previously made.

TIMOTHY H. PORTER.

1762 Examination taken, reduced to writing, and by the witness subscribed and sworn to, this 21st day of April, A. D. 1879, before me.

JOHN A. SHIELDS,
U. S. Commissioner for New York.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Southern District of New York, ss:

I, John A. Shields, United States commissioner in and for the southern district of New York, and the commissioner named in the foregoing commission, do hereby certify that on the 21st day of April, A. D. 1879, I was attended by the witness, Timothy H. Porter, named in said commission, and the said witness being by me first carefully examined, and cautioned and sworn to testify the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, in the cause in said commission named, he gave his answers to the interrogatories named in said commission. I further certify, that such answers were reduced to writing by me in the presence of said witness, and from his statements; and after the same had been carefully read over to said witness he subscribed the same.

I further certify, that I was not of counsel nor attorney for either of the parties in said commission and deposition named, nor in any way interested in the event of the cause named in said commission.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal, this 21st day of April, A. D. 1879.

[L. S.] JOHN A. SHIELDS,
United States Commissioner in and for the Southern District of New York.

Filed May 21st, 1879.

P. WALTER, Clerk.

1764 At a stated term of the United States circuit court, held in and for the northern district of Florida, fifth circuit, at Jacksonville, on the 19th day of May, 1879—

Present, Hon. Joseph P. Bradley, associate justice Supreme Court; Thomas Settle, district judge.

vs.
GEORGE F. DREW, GOVERNOR, TRUSTEE, &C., et als.
} In equity. Two cases.

Application having been made to the court for leave to examine Jacobus Wertheim as a witness in behalf of complainant, and the defendant's solicitors consenting in open court that such order shall be taken, it is, a motion of Joseph B. Stewart, the solicitor of the complainant—

Ordered, That the complainant have leave to examine said Jacobus Wertheim, as a witness in its behalf, before Joseph H. Durkee, under and pursuant to rule 67 of equity practice, prescribed by the Supreme Court.

(Signed) JOS. P. BRADLEY,
Chief Justice.

At the request of the complainant's solicitor a subpœna was issued for the said Jacobus Wertheim, returnable forthwith at my office, No. 10 Bay street, Jacksonville, Florida, which subpœna was returned served on the 19th day of May, 1879.

At 4 o'clock p. m. May 19, 1879, met to take testimony under the above named order. The witness not appearing at 6 o'clock p. m., an adjournment is ordered until 9 o'clock a. m. May 20th, 1879.

JOSEPH H. DURKEE,
Examiner.

1765 MONDAY, May 20th, 1879.

Met pursuant to adjournment. Present, J. B. Stewart, solicitor for complainants.

The witness not being present, an adjournment is ordered until 2 p. m., and a certification made to the court of non-attendance of witness.

Two o'clock p. m. Met pursuant to adjournment. Present, J. B.

Stewart, solicitor for complainant; Henry R. Jackson, solicitor for defendants.

JACOBUS WERTHEIM appeared as a witness on the part of the complainants, and the said Jacobus Wertheim, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

Question 1. Please state your name, residence, age, and occupation.

Answer. I am Jacobus Wertheim, law doctor, barrister at the court of Amsterdam, and deputy judge of the 1st district court at Amsterdam. I reside at Amsterdam. My age is 51.

Ques. 2. Do you know the parties plaintiff and defendants to this suit, or either of them; and if yea, state who?

Ans. I desire to know who are the parties plaintiff and defendants.

Ques. 3. The party plaintiff is the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and the parties defendants are George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida, ex-officio trustee for Gideon M. Boissevain, Adrian Isaac Mildeus, Joseph Zaddock, Doctor Nicholas Jacob Den Tex, J. Fred Schutte, Jan Prins, and others, known as Dutch bondholders. Do you know any of said parties; and, if so, state who of them?

Ans. I have heard the names of all those parties. I know only personally Mr. Boissevain, Mr. Mildeus, Mr. Den Tex, and Mr. Zaddock, and Jans Schutte, and Jans Prins.

Ques. 4. What relation, if any, do you hold or occupy to the parties named in your answer?

Ans. They belong to the Dutch bondholders of whom I am counsel.

Ques. 5. What do you mean by Dutch bondholders?

1766 Ans. I consider them those who hold eight per cent. Florida bonds.

Ques. 6. When, and in what manner did you become counsel for the persons whom you name as Dutch bondholders?

Ans. I decline to answer, because I am counsel for those people.

(The counsel for the complainant ask the examiner to request Mr. Matt H. Carpenter, who is of counsel for the Dutch bondholders, but not of counsel in these suits, not to assume to advise or suggest to the witness as to any answer he shall make. That the witness must answer for himself, in his own way, without advice of counsel.)

Ques. 7. When did you become counsel for the persons whom you describe as Dutch bondholders?

(Solicitor for complainant asks the examiner to note that Mr. Matt H. Carpenter having advised the witness that he need not answer the question propounded, and requested him to instruct Mr. Carpenter that he must not assume to advise the witness as to his answer.)

Ans. I cannot give you the exact date, because I have not my professional diary with me.

Ques. 8. Please state the date as near as you can?

Ans. I cannot; or I should have done it.

Ques. 9. Was it as early as the year 1870?

Ans. I don't recollect.

Ques. 10. Can you give any date?

Ans. I find those queries being tedious. I should have answered if I could.

Ques. 11. You are not able to state, then, at or about what time you became counsel for the persons you describe as the Dutch bondholders? Is that so?

Ans. I have answered that question fully.

Ques. 12. Were you, or were you not, at any time, and, if so, when, counsel or solicitor for any other persons in reference to the Florida eight per cent. bonds, of which you have testified; and, if yea, state for whom and when?

1767 Ans. If the gentleman is acquainted with the different documents in those law suits, he can answer himself the question.

(Complainant's solicitor excepts to the answer as evasive, and question repeated.)

Ans. I answer the same way, and I leave it to the court whether my answer is evasive or not.

Ques. 13. Were you, or were you not at any time counsel for other parties in reference to the Florida eight per cent. bonds spoken of in your previous answers, and which are the subject matter of this suit, than those whom you describe as Dutch bondholders in your former answer.

Answer. I have been counsel for a great many people. If I had my diary with me I could give you all the names; as it is, really I cannot.

Question 14. I did not ask you for any multitude of persons, or the names, which might or might not appear upon the diary you have mentioned, but I did ask you the simple question, which I repeat. Were you, or were you not counsel or solicitor for any other parties in relation to the said eight per cent. Florida bonds than those you describe as Dutch bondholders?

Answer. I answer that I refer to my previous given answer, that the gentleman, if he will look at papers in the case he will find for whom I am counsel. Where some persons are not named in the papers I am bound as counsel not to answer that question.

Question 15. Do you, or do you not know Frank R. Sherwin, Charles D. Willard, Henry R. Jackson, Charles H. Simonton, Robert Walker, Calvin H. Allen, Hubbart L. Hart, John Clark, or either of them, and if yea, when did you first make their acquaintance, and did you or not, at any time, and, if so, when, act as solicitor or counsel for said parties or either of them, jointly or severally, in reference to said Florida eight per cent. bonds involved in this suit?

Answer, I know all those gentlemen except two, that is Mr. Walker and Mr. Clark. I have never been, and am not at this moment, the solicitor or counsel for any of those persons, either jointly or severally. I consider the gentleman too good a lawyer to ask that question only in joke.

1768 Question 16. Will you please look at the paper now shown you, and a copy of which I now make a part of this question, purporting to be a translation entitled in these words, "Proposition for a settlement tendered to the holders of eight per cent. Florida bonds, by M. J. Wertheim, attorney and counsellor of Amsterdam," which original purports to be in the Dutch language, and state what, if anything, you know about said people, and whether or not the same, the original was prepared by yourself?

(Solicitor for defendants, George F. Drew, governor, &c., objects to the question upon the ground that it seeks to elicit testimony irrelevant to any of the issues proposed and legally made in either of the cases.

Counsel for complainant requests the examiner to note that George F. Drew as governor, or individually, is not a party defendant to this suit, but that George F. Drew, governor, and ex-officio trustee for the Dutch bondholders, is a party to this suit, and request examiner to ask the counsel to be so good as to state whether or not he represents or is authorized to represent George F. Drew, governor of Florida, as ex-officio trustee for the said Dutch bondholders.

Solicitor for defendant answers that he is authorized to represent Governor Drew in the attitude which he occupies in this case, whatever that attitude may be.

Witness states that being a full stranger here, and unacquainted with the customs of the bar, he asks Mr. Stewart if he could answer that question, and he said to me upon his honor as a barrister, that I am bound to answer and therefore I answer.)

Ans. The document you show me is an abstract of a speech that I made extempore, in more than three hours in a public meeting of bondholders, and is in the Dutch language. Some gentlemen present at that meeting made an abstract and printed it. My name is signed under an abstract of a report of R. Walker, ex-receiver of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad, to certify that the said abstract was correct with the original copy which I laid before me. I must earnestly warn any man not to have much confidence in the English translation, as it is badly translated, and there are many expressions in the translation which I never made, and which are not in the original Dutch con-1769 text. The title of that document is entirely wrong because I have never offered a proposal of settlement, but I have merely given my professional opinion about the memorandum plan signed by Frank R. Sherwin, Henry R. Jackson, and Charles H. Simonton, to my clients, in a general meeting, I believe in April, 1877. I am not quite sure of that date.

Ques. 17. The translation, which is made part of my former question was made by Henry L. Thomas, the official translator of the Dutch language of the Department of State of the United States Government, at Washington, D. C., and is such as is received as official by the Government of the United States. Will you please state in what respect you find the same inaccurate, and for that purpose please look at the original translation in manuscript.

(Solicitor for defendant, George F. Drew, governor, &c., objects to the question on the grounds of irrelevancy.)

Ans. I decline to answer that question, being a witness and not a schoolmaster to correct cacographies of a United States translator, and much the less, because I am only bound to give my opinion upon original papers in my own language and not in any foreign language, because I may understand that language.

Ques. 18. The original paper in Dutch, which you have testified to as an abstract of your speech, bears date Amsterdam, 10th April, 1877; were you or were you not at that date counsel and advisor of the persons you describe as Dutch bondholders?

Ans. I truly answered that question in my previous answer.

Ques. 19. The paper purporting to be a translation contains the following language in the first paragraph: "Having been requested last year by certain parties in the United States interested in the reorganization of the railways in Florida to present plans, in the event of certain contingencies, to holders of bonds in the Netherlands, expressed my entire willingness to do so, on the following conditions." Will you please state, looking at the original in the Dutch language, whether the same represents what you said or expressed, and state who were the parties in the United States who had requested you to act.

1770 (Defendant's solicitor interposes same objection as to former question.)

Ans. Mr. Stewart promised to my learned friend Mr. Carpenter, yesterday, not to put before me questions which as an honest lawyer I could not answer. I consider this a question that I cannot answer and therefore I decline to do it.

(Counsel for the complainant states to the witness that if the question tended to elicit matters known to him only as counsel and not published to the public, he would not put the question, but as witness has stated that the paper in the Dutch language was an abstract of a speech made to the public and the same appears to have been published in pamphlet form and circulated to the public, he therefore supposed it was not private so as to prohibit the propounding of the question or to come within the restriction of confidential relations between counsel and client.)

Ques. 20. Will you please look at the paper shown you, a copy of which is made a part of this question, marked Jac. Wertheim, Exhibit B, and state what, if anything, you know about said paper?

Ans. That is a document that one of my clients handed to me and was attached to and referred to an affidavit that is signed by me.

Ques. 21. You have spoken of an affidavit made by you to which the prospectus Exhibit B was attached as an annex marked A; will you please look at the paper now shown you, and state whether or not the same is the affidavit to which you refer?

Ans. The affidavit which you show me was made and signed by me. I was asked by one of my clients to make that affidavit before the United States consul at Amsterdam. I have no objection to do so. Paper received and marked "in evidence and Exhibit C." The paper is dated 18th May, 1877.

Ques. 22. Are the matters and things in said affidavit stated facts within your own knowledge or matters derived from others, and if from others, state whom?

Ans. I decline to answer that question.

Mr. Stewart must be satisfied when he has the paper signed by me.

1771 Ques. 23. Do you know or can you state any other matter or thing material or of interest to the parties to this suit, plaintiff or defendant, and if yea, please state the same fully in your answer?

Ans. I cannot state anything to Mr. Stewart which can be of any use to him in this suit.

Cross examination by Henry R. Jackson, solicitor for defendant, George F. Drew, governor, trustee, &c.

Ques. 1. Do you not know that Mr. Boissevain, Mr. Mildeus, Mr. Den Tex, Mr. Zaddocks, Mr. Schutte are purchasers and holders of the Florida State eight per cent. bonds?

(Counsel for complainant objects to the question, as introducing matter not called for in the direct examination.)

Ans. I knew that they are holders and purchasers of said bonds because they told it to me personally.

Ques. 2. Are you not yourself the holder of some of the Florida eight per cent. State bonds?

Ans. I was so stupid as to invest some of my money in the Florida eight per cent. State bonds, at the rate of 80½ per cent., believing in the good faith of the State of Florida and the managers of the railroads. I was bitterly deceived, and I was unhappy enough to have more of these bonds out of the inheritance of my father—not I alone, but a great deal of widows, orphans, and charity institutions in Holland, who also believed it to be a good and safe investment, are sufferers.

(Complainant's solicitor objects to the answer as irresponsive and beyond the call of the question.)

Ques. 3. Did you buy these bonds upon speculation or as an investment of money?

Ans. I am 51 years old, and I have never in my life speculated, not for a penny.

Ques. 4. Are you still the owner of these bonds, and how many do you hold?

Ans. I am still the owner; the bonds are here in court. The receipts for the bonds are at home in my trunk.

1772 Ques. 5. Did you not purchase the bonds upon the faith which you gave to the act of the legislature of Florida, under which they were issued, to the decision of the supreme court of Florida which pronounced them to be constitutional, and to representations which were made that they were secured as well by lien upon the line of railroad from Jacksonville westward as by the statu'ary obligation of the State?

(Complainant's solicitor objects to the question for the reasons before stated, and for the further reason that the same is leading and otherwise incompetent.)

Ans. One of my brothers, who is a stock broker, told me at the time of the issue of these bonds that this loan was a State loan, with the guarantee or lien upon the railroad so as I have stated in my affidavit of 28th May, 1877, which Mr. Stewart has shown you. I asked that my brother if he could prove me that and he said yes, and took me at the office of Mr. Holge & Boissevain, where all the official documents and a map lay for inspection. I went there. I saw the papers, and I believe at that time that it was just as you told me. The facts are narrated in my affidavit already submitted, marked Exhibit C, Jac. Wertheim.

I certify that the foregoing testimony of Jac. Wertheim was taken before me, as special examiner, on the 20th of May, 1879, in my own handwriting, and that all erasures, alterations and interlineations made upon said testimony were made in the presence of the witness and before the signing of the same.

Filed in evidence and marked Exhibit A. Jac. Wertheim, May 20th, 1879.

JOSEP H. DURKEE,
Special Examiner.

1774 Proposition for a settlement tendered to the holders of eight per cent. Florida bonds, by Mr. J. Wertheim, attorney and counsellor, of Amsterdam.

To the holders of eight per cent. Florida bonds:

GENTLEMEN: Having been requested last year by certain parties in the United States interested in the reorganization of the railways in Florida to present plans, in the event of certain contingencies, to holders of bonds in the Netherlands, I expressed my entire willingness to do so on the following conditions:

1st. That Mr. Charles D. Willard, solicitor at the Supreme Court at Washington, who for a long time had seemed to me to be a man of extensive knowledge, and honorable and punctual in attending to any business entrusted to him, should be appointed, together with myself, as legal counselor in America.

This desire was complied with.

2d. That I should be permitted to submit all propositions and plans through Messrs. Skreglinger & Co., to their correspondents, Messrs. Kremelberg & Co., of New York, for their examination and approval, before communicating them to the bondholders, in order thus to obtain a guaranty both with regard to the soundness and feasibility of the plans, and with regard to the persons to whom their execution was to be entrusted.

This desire was also readily complied with.

1775 Before presenting to you the resolutions to be adopted (after introducing the plan for reorganization), I deem it my duty to call your attention to the following points:

PRESENT CONDITION.

I.

In considering the present condition, our conclusions may be based upon the following facts:

1st. That by a decree of the supreme court of Florida, in January, 1876, the following decision was made: "These bonds are invalid, and were issued in violation of the constitution, and they are entirely null and void, and the State is not bound to pay them, and that the State holds the lien upon the road as trustees for bondholders."

2d. That on the 12th day of December, 1876, the legislature of the State of Florida adopted a resolution to the effect that "the four million bonds issued by the State under and by virtue of an act of the legislature of the State, approved January 24th, 1869, and the several amendments thereto, and purporting to be issued in aid of the J., P. & M. Railroad Company, were issued in violation of the constitution, and are a fraud upon the taxpayers of the State of Florida."

"That the State of Florida is not responsible for, and will not pay the interest that has accrued or that may hereafter accrue upon said bonds or the principal of said bonds when they ultimately become due; that the governor of the State is instructed to take all legal steps to free the people from the payment of the principal and interest upon said bonds for all time, and that he will see that the State suffers no detriment from said bonds or interest."

The consequence of these decisions, both of the highest authority in a judicial and administrative sense, is, that the holders have or can assert no rights against the State of Florida, and can only assert a claim to the surplus that may remain of the proceeds of the sale (now announced) of the road after payment of the expenses, which are very considerable, and of the first mortgage given on the 472 Pensacola and Georgia bonds, according to a decree of the Supreme Court of the United States at Washington, October term, 1875, confirming a decision of the circuit court. The mortgage debt, including the arrearages of interest for eight years, amounts to $735,820. A discussion with re-1776 gard to this condition is useless; it may be a kind of relief to the disappointed holders, but cannot change the accomplished facts.

My clients have endeavored, at great trouble and expense, to devise a plan for a settlement and to prevent the holders of the P. and G. bonds from executing their decree of October, 1875, but on the contrary they have brought it to pass that said holders gave their approval and support to the plans for a settlement (sic). In principle the plan amounts to this:

The holders of the 472 P. and G. bonds, the holders of the eight per cent. Florida bonds, and a clique of American speculators and interested parties purchase the road by the judicial execution through three trustees, to be appointed by themselves.

The payment is made in bonds, and for that which may fall short, in money.

A new company takes the road with sufficient capital to improve and run it, and fastens upon it a mortgage debt, maximum amount of which is $12,000 per mile. (See annex A.)

Your first question will in probability be, by whom is the settlement proposed?

II.

The persons from whom the plan emanates, and who, if it is accepted, are to execute it, are Messrs. Robert Walker, who, by a decree of the Supreme Court at Washington, dated April 24, 1874, was appointed receiver, and who has managed the roads for twenty-five months.

Hubbard L. Hart, steamboat owner and large landed proprietor at Palatka, on the St. John's River.

John Clark, director of the First National Bank of Jacksonville.

C. H. Allen, railway engineer.

Robert J. Dodge, receiver of the city of Washington; assisted by my correspondent, Charles D. Willard, solicitor, at Washington.

Messrs. Kremelberg declare in their letter of March 6, 1877, that all these gentlemen are men of high standing, and deserving of entire confidence. Walker and Allen are very well known as railway directors, and fully understand their business.

1777 Their answer (dated March 17th) to a repeated inquiry by telegraph was as follows:

"Character directors new company sufficient guarantee to execute memorandum plan."

III.

You will see by the memorandum plan, which is herewith annexed (annex A), on what bases and in what manner it is proposed to carry out the reorganization. This plan has already been approved and accepted by General Jackson and Colonel Simonton, who represent, with the exception of about thirty, all the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad bonds, which, to the number of 472, hold a first mortgage. The share in the capital to be raised, consisting of $2,832,000 shares, and $2,832,000 first mortgage bonds, paying an interest of 5 per cent. in gold, which would be awarded to you, will be in the proportion of 33⅓ per cent. in bonds and 16⅔ per cent. in shares, that is to say, $333⅓ for every bond of $1,000, at 8 per cent. old (gold?), including the unpaid coupons and $166⅔ in shares.

IV.

Is the plan for settlement acceptable?

The Messrs. Kremelberg report, March 6, 1877, "compromise. looks well enough when nothing else obtainable," and confirm the same March 13, 1877, by telegram and by letter. A statement of R. Walker, dated January 12, 1877, contains the following:

"I do not hesitate to declare that this is the only feasible plan for saving anything for the holders of the State bonds.

"I am fully convinced that the approval of this plan by the holders of the Pensacola and Georgia Railway bonds is a great concession.

"Basing my calculations on my long experience in the management of railways, and especially on my management of this line, I consider this road to be perfectly able speedily to pay off the mortgage, which, according to this plan, would be fastened upon it, and that the interest on the bonds can and will be regularly paid."

The Messrs. Kremelberg asked again whether they consider the plan acceptable, and if so, whether they are willing to act as trustees for the Dutch bondholders, answer by telegraph that they are.

1778 In the plan you will observe that priority is awarded to the 472 P. and G. bonds in the redemption of the bonds of the new company, in exchange for the delivery of their old titles, although only a single mortgage, the total amount of which is $12,000 per mile, is issued. This condition was the sine qua non of their acceptance.

Although apparently oppressive, even this grievance disappears when we consider that they only amount to about one-fourth of the mortgage debt, in principal and interest, which, beginning by the drawing, at the expiration of three years, will be constantly diminished.

Moreover this sum total of the net receipts of the receiver's report shows that the road during its management under sequestration, which, from the nature of the case, was costly, was able to meet an obligation equal to that now to be contracted.

I confidently leave it for you to decide whether, under the given circumstances, and in view of the opinion of competent and trustworthy persons, the plan, as now presented, is likely to be accepted.

V.

What is to be expected from this plan in future? In other words, will the road be able to meet its new obligations, and is the necessary capital secured? In reply to the first part of this question, it is necessary to remember that an income of $600 per mile must be earned.

From the official report presented to the Supreme Court of the United States, by Mr. Walker as receiver, it appears that in twenty-five months the net receipts for 236 miles were $296,488.61, or about $602.48 per mile per year.

Messrs. Kremelberg say on this subject: "After a conversation with a friend of ours who is thoroughly acquainted with the railways of the South, we are convinced that the road needs capital in order to be placed in a condition to earn the necessary income. (Letter of March 6, 1877.)

"The road has got into a bad state, through neglect, and requires capital to be restored to a good condition, which cannot be done until the formation of the new company. The continuation of the road as far as Mobile, to join the already existing railways, will be necessary, and the road, if well managed, will be able to pay the interest on the capital mentioned in the plan of reorganization, since it appears 1779 from the receiver's reports, which will be made known to you, that the road in good hands earned sufficient for its support, and also yielded a considerable surplus."

As to the question whether the necessary capital is secured, we will simply state that the shares and the bonds to be issued yield a sufficient surplus, after the payment and settlement of all debts, the conversion of which into coin, so far as this may be necessary to meet contracts of acceptance and deliveries, is secured, if the plan be accepted, by the new and financial relations of the future directors, who now form the committee of settlement.

The surplus of 2,000 shares, more or less, and 430 bonds, is in the opinion of Messrs. Walker & Allen, associate framers of the plan, more than sufficient to improve the road and the rolling-stock and to increase the same as required.

After the foregoing introductory remarks, and referring to the plan, I have the honor to propose to the bondholders the adoption of the following resolution:

The holders of eight per cent. Florida bonds of 1870 hereby declare that they approve the memorandum plan that was adopted by Frank R. Sherwin on the one side and General Jackson and Colonel Simonton on the other, a copy of which was deposited February 14th, 1877, among the papers of the notary, J. C. G. Pollones, at Amsterdam, and they hereby appoint Mr. Adolphus Engler, a member of the firm of Kremelberg & Co., of New York, as their trustee for the execution of the reorganization described in that plan.

To such bondholders as shall vote for this resolution an opportunity will be first given to deliver their bonds to the Bank of Amsterdam for the execution of the approved arrangement, on which occasion a declaration, as shown in annex B, shall also be handed in by them; and a receipt shall be given by the Bank of Amsterdam for the bonds delivered to it, subsequently to be exchanged for certificates.

The holders of certificates being bound by the provision contained in article five of the document signed on the 29th of October last, before the notary J. W. H. H. Druyvesteyn, which reads thus: "It (the committee) is also empowered to make arrangements concerning those rights and claims (the rights and claims arising from the ownership or the possession of the delivered bonds and coupons) or the pay-1780 ment thereof; but for this purpose the previous approval of the (reckoning according to amount) majority of the holders of certificates to be delivered according to article two shall be required." It is therefore proposed to them, after consultation with the committee, to adopt the following resolution:

The holders of the certificates issued by the committee having charge of the interests of the holders of eight per cent. bonds of the State of Florida bearing date of 1870, appointed at the meeting of October 3d, 1873, constituted by a document signed October 29th, 1873, before J. W. H. H. Druyvesteyn, a notary, having taken cognizance of the memorandum plan adopted on the 12th day of January, 18—, at Savannah, by Frank R. Sherwin on the one hand, and General Jackson and Colonel Simonton on the other, a copy of which was deposited on the 14th of February, 1877, among the papers of J. C. G. Pollones, a notary at Amsterdam, hereby declare that they approve the said plan as the basis of an arrangement, appointing Mr. Adolphus Engler, a member of the firm of Kremelberg & Co., of New York, as trustee, to carry out the reorganization referred to in said plan; and, in accordance therewith, that they authorize the aforesaid committee, according to the proposals of Mr. Jac. Wertheim, contained in his circular dated April 10th, 1877, to deliver to the Bank of Amsterdam the bonds delivered to the committee for them and in their name, presenting, at the same time, a declaration according to the form printed as annex B of the said circular of Mr. Wertheim; the committee to receive, on delivery of the bonds to the bank, a receipt or certificate therefrom, and to exchange this, after the bonds and shares to be issued by the said railroad company, which is to be formed, shall have been placed in the market, for such bonds and share, in order to call in (withdraw) the certificates to be issued by the committee, on (in return for the) delivery (surrender) of said bonds and shares.

1. The right to the line of railway now known as the Florida Central, situated between Jacksonville and Lake City, and the right to the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad, situated between Lake City and the Chattahoochee River, and between Tallahassee and St. Mark's, and the right to complete said line westward as far as the city of Mobile, so far as this shall not have been secured by said plenipotentiaries at road Company by the undersigned on the one hand, and must be conveyed in such a manner that no lien or preference remains the last-named title or property, which shall take precedence of the first mortgage hereinafter to be mentioned.

The provisions contained in this article shall be executed by the undersigned on the one hand, if possible, within six months from the date of this agreement.

2. When, therefore, a perfect title shall have been obtained by the said Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, that company shall give a certificate of obligation to the trustees aforesaid, stating that immediately after the transfer the aforesaid railway property, which as above stated, has been purchased by the said trustees, and thus the entire line of the Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company shall be pledged to the amount of 12,000 dollars, at most, per mile, which debt must be paid within forty years from the day of the delivery, with interest at five per cent. per annum, payable every six months in New York or Amsterdam, Holland, at the option of the bondholders, principal and interest to be paid in gold. To secure said payment the said line of railway, with all its buildings, storehouses, rolling-stock, implements, and workshops shall be pledged by a first mortgage.

That, in the first place, care shall be taken for the issue of a series of bonds at par, equal in amount to the value of the delivered bonds and matured coupons of the said Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Company, in case these lines of railway, formerly known as the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads, should be purchased by the aforesaid trustees for a sum less than the aggregate amount of the aforesaid bonds and matured coupons; but if the aforesaid roads be sold for a sum equal to or exceeding the aggregate amount of the aforesaid shares and matured coupons and the interest on those coupons, then that first series of shares shall cover the amount of the last named aggregate amount, and this first series of shares shall form a first lien upon said line of railway, with its appurtenances, to serve as security for the payment of principal and interest when they shall become due. That first series of bonds shall be delivered to the chosen trustees to be delivered to the owners of the delivered bonds and coupons for the security of the T. & G. and T. Railroad Companies, 1782 which last bonds and coupons shall be taken charge of by the trustees and delivered to the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida, to be cancelled as soon as all such bonds now in circulation shall have been delivered to the aforesaid trustees, either in exchange for the aforesaid new first mortgage bonds or otherwise.

That in the aforesaid mortgage it shall at the same time be provided that in default of payment of a year's interest by the new company, it shall be lawful to make seizure to the amount of the entire capital and of the income which may have become due, and to proceed to the sale of the aforesaid road and all the appurtenances, the proceeds of both then in the first place to be applied to the payment of the first series of bonds and of the income that shall have become due, and the surplus, when there shall be any, to be applied to the payment of the remaining or second series of bonds.

That in the mortgage which is to be made, the provisions shall be contained that three years after the establishment of the aforesaid company, a sinking fund of one per cent. per annum in gold, payable half yearly, on the bond capital, shall be set aside, to be applied annually, as set aside, to the redemption of the bonds of the aforesaid company at par, and that by drawing; at which drawing the aforesaid first series of these bonds shall have the preference.

A form of the above-described bond and of the instrument of hypothecation, approved by the aforesaid trustees, shall be attached, as an annex to the written bond, and also a copy of the charter of the aforesaid Jacksonville & Mobile Railroad, containing the authorization of the new company to issue and deliver such bonds and such mortgage.

It must moreover be provided in the aforesaid mortgage that a sufficient number of bonds is to be reserved and used in order to place the existing railway in the best condition, and to repair the road, the rolling-stock, etc.; that the new railway company shall be managed by not more than seven and not less than five directors, who shall be appointed by the owners or holders of the aforesaid State bonds, and whose appointment shall be approved by the chosen trustees. In case of a vacancy in the board of directors, in consequence of the death or resignation of a member or otherwise, notice shall be given to the trustees of a proposed new appointment, and a protest presented in writing and 1783 signed by the majority of the holders of the first series of bonds, shall be sufficient to prevent the vacancy from being filled; this provision, however, shall not remain in force for more than six years from the date of the establishment of the new company.

It is further provided that all moneys required to cover the costs and expenses for auction sale or sales, and for the preparation of proofs of ownership shall be borne by the undersigned on the one hand.

In testimony whereof we have signed this agreement, sealed it with our seal, and exchanged it on the twelfth day of January, 1877, at Savannah, Georgia.

Signed, sealed, and exchanged before me.

1784 Extract from the report of Mr. R. Walker, ex receiver of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railway, to the Supreme Court of the United States, concerning his management during the period of twenty-five months, which report relates to the working of the road as follows:

During my receivership, my receipts amounted to....	D.	1,094,772 08
Certificate of the comptroller of the State of Florida, according to my report of September 8th, 1877	D.	2,308
Total receipts	D.	1,097,080 08

Of this amount there was received by me for the account of other lines	D.	303,571 06
Receipts of the roads in my possession	D.	794,509 02
Of this last amount there came into my possession on taking charge of the road on the 6th of May, 1874..	D.	4,300 74
Receipts during my receivership	D.	790,208 28

This total amount of the receipts was paid out as follows:

To connecting lines			D.	302,571 06
For building and clearing	D.	65,540 28
For land at Baldwin	D.	75	D.	65,595 28
For improvements, or in other words, working expenses of previous managements, with which this period was encumbered	D.	114,984 83
Working expenses of the receiver	D.	498,020 41
			D.	613,005 24
Paid in by order of the Supreme Court			D.	115,908 50
Total			D.	1,097,080 08

1785 Placing the receipts proper over against the total expenses of the receiver, that is to say, the amount of the real expenses for working and those for improvements, we get the following account:

Receipts proper	D.	790,208 28
Working (running) expenses and improvements	D.	613,005 24
Net receipts	D.	177,203 04
Amount paid to receiver	D.	4,300 74
Total net receipts	D.	181,503 78

This statement, like all similar statements in my previous reports, does not show the road's capacity to earn money, since the receipts are diminished by the running expenses of previous managements. The following statement will remove this inaccuracy, since the receipts are there diminished by the real running expense, during the time of my management.

Actual receipts of the roads during the receivership..	D.	720,208 28
Actual running expenses	D.	498,020 41

Actual net receipts	D.	292,187 87
Amount paid receiver	D.	5,300 74
Total net receipts for 236 miles of road	D.	296,488 61

This account was presented by Mr. R. Walker on the 3d day of November, 1876, although his management had terminated about six months previously.

The delay was caused, according to information which I have received, by various circumstances over which the receiver had no control.

1787 United States circuit court, northern district of Florida. In equity.

J. FRED SCHUTTE ET AL.
vs.
WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN N. C. R. R. Company et als.

Present, John A. Henderson, representing W. G. M. Davis, counsel for complainants, and George P. Raney, counsel for the trustees of the internal improvement fund at Tallahassee, September 19, 1878.

ROBERT H. GAMBLE, witness for the trustees of the internal improvement fund, being duly sworn, deposeth and sayeth as follows:

I was comptroller of the State of Florida in and during the year 1869. I was in Tallahassee on the 20th of March, 1869. I attended the sale of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad, and the Tallahasse Railroad made by the trustees of the internal improvement fund, at the railroad depot, at Tallahassee, on that day.

Question. Please state what you may know as to the terms upon which said roads were advertised to be sold on.

Answer. The terms were cash; I mean the advertised terms. (Witness handed a paper marked Exhibit R. H. G. (A) and filed herewith.) I think this is a true copy of the advertisement of sale of Pensacola and Georgia Railroad, as published. The advertisement of the Tallahassee Railroad was substantially the same. I saw these advertise-1788 ments in the New York Herald and a Savannah paper, I think, the Republican, and a paper published in Tallahassee.

(Complainants' counsel objected to the testimony as not being the best evidence, referring to the testimony in reference to the advertisement.)

It was generally understood in the country that the sale would take place at 12 o'clock, at the depot, and I so understood myself. I left my office at 11 o'clock to go to the depot, and in the hall of the capitol I was met by Attorney-General Meek, and on my suggestion to him that it was time to go to the depot, he remarked that there was going to be a meeting of the board of internal improvement immediately, and asked me to attend. I expressed surprise that there should be a meeting, and asked the purpose of it, to which he replied that it was for the purpose of arranging the preliminaries of the sale, and to decide who was to cry the road. I went to the attorney-general's office, where the board usually met. From the attorney-general's office I went to the depot.

Please state what took place at the depot.

A. After assembling at the depot, which was about 12 o'clock, Mr. Webster, the commissioner of the State land office, and a member of the board of trustees, read a paper, stating that the purchaser of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad would have to pay in cash some forty or fifty thousand dollars—I have forgotten the exact amount—and the balance of the purchase money at such time as the board might require, and a similar paper in regard to the Tallahassee Railroad, except that a smaller amount in cash was required. The cash payment was in the aggregate for both roads, sixty thousand dollars, but I cannot recollect the exact amount for each.

This announcement of a change in the terms was a surprise to many of those who were present. Mr. M. D. Papy came to me immediately, manifesting great surprise, and asked me when this change of 1789 terms took place. I told him I was utterly surprised myself, and we walked a few steps to Mr. Meek, and asked him when that change took place. Mr. Meek stated that the change had been decided upon that morning in a meeting of the board of the internal improvement.

The sale then took place. There were two bidders for the road, George W. Swepson and E. M. Cheney. They were both knocked off to Mr. Cheney, who directed that the sale should be entered in the name of F. Dibble and associates.

The Pensacola and Georgia Railroad sold for about twelve hundred and twenty thousand dollars, and the Tallahassee Railroad for about one hundred and ninety or ninety-five thousand dollars.

The estimate of the Tallahassee Railroad was made by Edward Houstoun, George W. Swepson, M. D. Papy, and myself, and some members of the board who were standing by, but whom I do not now recollect, that the bid for the Tallahassee Road would make about 94 or 95 cents on the dollar for the outstanding bonds of this road, and that deducting those that were known to be in the sinking fund it would bring these, the outstanding bonds, up to par.

What was the estimate in regard to the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad?

(Counsel for the complainant objects to the above question as being indefinite and irrelevant and as seeking to establish a fact upon the conjectures of spectators who witnessed a large transaction.)

A. That the road sold for more than an equal of the par value of all the bonds that were out; that was the estimate of Mr. Swepson, who had been to the comptroller's office several times to ascertain how many bonds were out, and who was at the sale. This was also the estimate of Col. Houstoun, Mr. Papy, and myself.

Col. Houston was at that time president of both roads. Mr. Papy was the attorney of the road. I was a director and bondholder, but I am not a bondholder now.

1790 The trustees of the internal improvement at this time were Gov. Reed, governor of the State; Mr. Conover, State treasurer; Mr. Adams, commissioner of immigration; Mr. Webster, register of lands; Mr. Meek, attorney-general, and myself, as comptroller.

I at the time gave the subject attention, but I can now only say that my recollection is that there were then two hundred and two or two hundred and four thousand dollars Tallahassee bonds, and about $1,218,000 P. & G. bonds outstanding at that time. I had no information whatever as to who F. Dibble and associates were. I knew Frank Dibble afterwards.

I learned from Mr. Calvin Dibble and Mr. Frank Dibble that besides themselves there were Mr. A. Huling, John L. Requa, E. M. Cheney, Wilkinson Call, and James M. Baker, and J. P. Sanderson, and George W. Swepson. Mr. Swepson became a member after the sale.

Subsequently when I asked Mr. Swepson how he happened to go into such an association, he replied that I did not know all the arrangements; that with a governor, and a supreme court, and a board of internal improvement all against him he thought it better to make the best terms he could, or words to that purpose. I don't recollect if that was his exact language.

Testimony of R. H. GAMBLE resumed.

Present, John A. Henderson, representing W. G. M. Davis, counsel for complainants, David S. Walker, sr., and George P. Raney, counsel for the trustees of the internal improvement fund.

1791 (Counsel for complainant objected to the testimony touching George W. Swepson's connection with F. Dibble and associates as altogether irrelevant and insufficient.)

Witness handed papers marked R. H. G., Exhibit B, R. H. G., Exhibit C, R. H. G., Exhibit D, purporting to be copies of resolutions of the board of trustees of the internal improvement fund of March 29th, April 7th, and April 8th, 1869, which were read by witness and filed.

I went to New York to carry out the provisions of the resolutions, that is, to deliver the deed and receive the balance of the purchase money for the railroad. I found at the Astor House, in New York, Gov. Reed, Mr. Adams, Mr. Meek, and Mr. Requa. After a delay of some days I enquired of Mr. Calvin Dibble what was the cause of the procrastination in settling this matter, and was informed that they were waiting for Mr. F. Dibble; and on a second application to know why there was still further delay, Mr. Requa, who was present at the time, asked me if I had any personal interest in the matter. I told him that I owned some bonds, but that that was not the object of my wishing the business settled, but that I had other business to attend to. He said they were still waiting for Mr. Franklin Dibble, but that if I desired it they would cash the bonds that I owned. I declined accepting it on the ground that I was there to settle for the board of trustees and that I would not receive the money for my bond until all was paid.

After a day, or probably two days, of further delay, I was informed that they were then ready to come to a settlement and was invited to come into a room at the hotel. I went to the room in company with Mr. Meek, Mr. Calvin Dibble, and Mr. Adams, and found in the room Mr. Swepson.

Mr. Calvin Dibble as we got in the room remarked, addressing himself to Mr. Meek and myself: I hope, gentlemen, you will not require us to to have the actual money present; remarking that he would 1792 not like to travel the streets of New York with four or five hundred thousand dollars in his hands.

He handed to Mr. Meek a paper which Mr. Meek after reading, addressing himself to Mr. Swepson, said, "Will you, Mr. Swepson, take this check for so much money?"

Mr. Swepson took the check, and said, after reading it, that he would do so. I asked them, "What is the amount of the check?" Mr. Swepson handed the check to me, and I read it and found that it was a check of Calvin B. Dibble, on Dibble, Worth & Co., for, to the best of my recollection, $472,064. I asked them, "How have you arrived at this amount?" Mr. Swep son showed me my own receipt for a large number of the bonds of these railroads and an acknowledgment of a banker that he had subject to Mr. Swepson's order another large amount of the bonds.

We then went into an estimate to determine what proportion of the purchase money was represented by these bonds and found that the check called for the balance of the purchase money.

The subject was then again referred to whether the money should be produced, and Mr. Swepson remarked, "What is the use, gentlemen, of having the money brought here when here is the order of your board that the money shall be turned over to Mr. Dibble and myself, and we tell you that we will take that check for so much money?"

Mr. Meek then said to me that he saw no necessity for requiring a different payment from that proposed.

I said to him that I saw no necessity for the currency being brought there as Mr. Swepson and Mr. Dibble had said that they would take the check as so much money.

Mr. Swepson and Mr. Dibble then gave Mr. Meek and myself a receipt for the amount called for by the check.

Mr. Swepson then endorsed an order on the receipt I had given him for the bonds that were locked up in the comptroller's office that I should turn those bonds over to the board of interna*na*l improvement; and he also gave me an order on a banking house who held the other 1793 bonds that have been referred to for the bonds; and we then delivered the deed.

As we were leaving the room, I stopped Mr. Swepson and said to him that friends had placed in my hands (referring to my memorandum-book) one hundred and three thousand dollars of Pensacola & Georgia & Tallahassee Railroad bonds, and that I would like to get the money for them. He said that he was not then prepared to take them up, but that he would be in Tallahassee soon and would take them up. He also said to me that the $1,700 of bonds that he understood I had as my own property he would pay at once. I told him I would not receive the money on my bond until others that I represented were paid, but that there were $45,000 of the $103,000 that I had spoken to him about that belonged to two ladies in Florida, in whom I took an interest, and I would like to be able to telegraph them that their money was paid. He replied that he thought he could accomplish that if I would meet him next day—naming the hour. I waited the next day at the place designated by him, and his not coming, I went to the bank that I understood he did business with, and asked the president if he could tell me where Mr. Swepson was. He told me Mr. Swepson had dined with him the day before, and had left his home just in time to take the train for North Carolina the evening before.

(Counsel for complainant objected to the testimony for its irrelevancy, and particularly to so much of it as is hearsay.)

The first time I saw Mr. Swepson again was in Tallahassee, when I tried in vain to collect the pay for my bonds, ($1,700 that I owned.) I asked him what he paid Mr. Meek to carry out that fraud in New York, and the pretended payment of the $472,000. He asked me why I thought he had paid him anything. I told him that circumstances had come to my knowledge that satisfied me that Mr. Meek had suddenly come into possession of money there; and he replied, "Well, I did give him $5,000."

1794 (Counsel for complainant objected to this testimony as irrelevant, incompetent, and indirect.)

A paper marked R. H. G., Exhibit E, purporting to be a copy of proceedings of the board of trustees, Jan. 17, 1869, handed to witness and was read by him and filed. Witness said that he signed the original of which said exhibit, to the best of his recollection, is a copy.

Q. You say in the above papers that the difference between the sum represented by the bonds therein referred to and the sum bid for said roads was turned over to Mr. Swepson, confidential agent of the board, to take up the outstanding bonds. Please state whether any money was in fact turned over to Mr. Swepson or Mr. Dibble, as such agents, and if not, what was turned over to them or either of them.

A. There was nothing turned over to them except the check, which purported to be the balance between the amount we received in bonds and the aggregate amount agreed to be paid for the road.

Witness here referred to that portion of his testimony where he says he was surprised to learn at the depot, on the day of the sale of the roads, that it was not to be a cash sale, and asked to make the following statement:

As I left the comptroller's office to attend the sale, I met Mr. Meek in the hall of the capitol, and asked him, "Is it not time to go to the depot to attend the sale?" He replied, "Yes; but there is a little business before. We are going to have a meeting of the board of trustees, to determine who is to cry the road." And he asked me to attend. We went into the attorney-general's office, where the board usually met, and I was made chairman of the meeting. After the appointment of chairman, and an agreement as who should cry the road, there was much whispering among various members of the board, which I did not participate in; and being embarrassed by this undertoned conversation in which I was the only one excluded, I got up from my chair and 1795 remarked, "As we have finished the business for which we have come together, we will now adjourn," and as I got my hand on the knob of the door and half opened it to go out, Mr. Meek remarked, "Stop a moment; we are not quite through." I asked him what there was to do, and he replied, "Nothing much." I then got into conversation with a member of the board at the door, and continued in conversation until the other members joined me going out, not observing that any such resolution had passed. I was much surprised, as others were, when the resolution changing the terms of the sale, by requiring a payment of the earnest money and the balance when called for by the board, was announced at sale. I am confident, as chairman of that meeting, I took no vote on such a resolution until it was read at the sale.

Cross-examination:

It is understood between counsel that the records of the internal improvement board shall be accessible to W. G. M. Davis for the purpose of getting copies of any proceedings with reference to the sale of the road on the 20th of March, 1869, this being part of an understanding with Gen. Davis covering other records and papers.

I knew that George W. Swepson was negotiating for the purchase of the bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad, and it was my impression that he would be the purchaser of the road. I sold him some bonds that I held at, I think, 35 cents on the dollar, in anticipation of the sale. The price at which the road was sold was a matter of great surprise to me and to many others.

The terms of the sale of the roads, as announced by Mr. Webster at the depot on the day of sale, were the same as those contained in the resolution purporting to have been adopted by the board of trustees at the meeting before the sale, and on that day, and as said resolution is recorded, as I have seen since the sale. I think the effect in the terms of the sale was to make the road bring more than would otherwise have been bid.

1796 I am aware of no relation existing between Mr. Papy and Mr. Swepson at the time of the sale. Mr. Papy was then attorney for the P. & G. Railroad. Col. Edward Houstoun was the president of said road. I had no knowledge of any relation between Mr. Houstoun and Mr. Swepson at the time of the sale. I do not know that it was then contemplated between Houston and Swepson that Houstoun was to be interested in the road in the event that Swepson became the purchaser. But I do know now that Houstoun had acted as agent for Swepson in buying up the bonds of the road previous to the sale.

I think the salesman of the road at that sale reported the sale to the board of trustees. I think his report was in writing, and that it appears on the minutes of the board.

The Mr. Papy with whom the attorney-general was authorized to confer in the preparation of the deed of conveyance is the same Mr. Papy referred to in my testimony as attorney for the P. & G. road.

There was in the fact of Governor Reed being at Astor House in New York, at the time spoken of in my testimony, nothing that connected him in my mind with the transaction that then and there took place. I was aware at the time of the delivery of the deed that Mr. Swepson was the confidential agent of the trustees in taking up the bonds of the roads.

After Mr. Swepson had said that he would receive the check spoken of in my testimony, as so much money, Mr. Meek received the orders for bonds and the check and delivered the deed. Mr. Meek and I then, acting under the resolution of the board, turned the check over to George W. Swepson, as confidential agent of the board, and took his receipt therefor.

We reported our action to the board on our return, and it was ratified by them. The report has been herewith filed, or a copy of it. On my own motion I had Geo. W. Swepson arrested at Tallahassee, Fla., under criminal proceedings in connection with this check. I had previous to this arrest frequently tried to have the board of trus- 1797 tees take some action to compel Swepson to account for the amount of this check, and failing to have anything effective done, I had him arrested. I think these proceedings were instituted some time in 1872—it may have been in the latter part of 1871. I do not know what has become of the check. I have not seen it since the day it was delivered to Swepson. The receipt was deposited with the treasurer of the board of trustees. What became of it afterward I do not know.

(The above testimony as to proceedings against and arrest of Swepson is taken subject to the objection by counsel of the trustees, that it is not the best testimony, that the records of the court are the best testimony, and no ground has been laid for the introduction of secondary evidence.)

Swepson was carried before Squire Tooer, a justice of the peace, and by him bound over and required to give bond. He refused to do this, and was taken before the supreme court on a writ of habeas corpus, when he gave him some kind of security by the deposit of some railroad stock, and pending that the board of trustees did not sustain me in my action, and I let the matter drop, as far as I was concerned:

(The above testimony taken subject to the same objections as are last stated.)

I introduced a resolution before the board of trustees, in August or September, I think, 1869, to call Mr. Swepson to an immediate settlement, as financial agent of the board, which did not meet with the approval of the board; one of the objections being that this would not be treating Mr. Swepson with proper courtesy. This was the remark of Gov. Reed, and Mr. Adams was either directed or requested to correspond with Mr. Swepson, with a view to ascertain what he had done in reference to taking up these bonds.

Redirect:

Q. Was that check ever paid to Swepson?

1798 A. I can only say that in applying to Mr. Swepson to take up the bonds which I held, he led me to believe that the check had not been paid.

Recross:

I have no direct knowledge whether it has ever been paid. What Mr. Swepson said that led me to believe that the check had not been paid was more by implication than by direct assertion.

Sale of the Pensacola & Georgia R. R.

The Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company having failed to pay the interest on their bonds and the amounts due the sinking fund (see act approved January 6, 1855, entitled "An act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvement in this State"), notice is hereby given that on Saturday, March 20, 1869, at the office of the said company, at Tallahassee, the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida will sell at public outcry, to the highest bidder, the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad, including the road-bed, iron, equipments, workshops, depots, and franchise, and all its property of every kind.

Terms cash.

By order of the board of trustees of the internal improvement fund.

FRANK W. WEBSTER,
Secretary and Salesman.

1801 R. H. G., EXHIBIT E.

TALLAHASSEE, FLA., June 17, 1869.

The board met pursuant to call.

Present, R. H. Gamble, comptroller; A. R. Meek, attorney-general; J. S. Adams, commissioner of immigration; Frank W. Webster, surveyor-general.

The report of Messrs. Gamble and Meek, as agents of the board (see resolution of March 29, 1869), was presented, and, on motion, unanimously adopted, and their action approved.

The report was as follows:

To the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida:

By resolution of your board, adopted March 29, 1869, we were directed and empowered to proceed to New York City with the deeds of the Pensacola & Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads, executed by you to F. Dibble on behalf of himself and associates, there present said deeds and receive payment for the roads conveyed by said deed.

We beg to report that the duty devolved upon us by said resolution was duly performed; that we received eight hundred and six thousand six hundred dollars first-mortgage bonds of the Pensacola & Georgia Railroad Company, at par, and one hundred and fifty-three thousand and some hundred dollars of first-mortgage bonds of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, at between ninety four and ninety-five cents on the dollar, and that the difference between the sum represented by these bonds and the sum bid for said roads was turned over by us, as required by a resolution of your board, to George W. Swepson, as confidential agent of said board, to take up the outstanding bonds of said companies.

The receipt of Mr. Swepson for four hundred and seventy-two thousand and sixty-five dollars, we have passed over to the the treasurer of this board.

1802 We respectfully ask for approval of our actions.

J. FRED. SCHUTTE ET AL.
vs.
WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN NORTH Carolina Railroad Company et al.

Present, John A. Henderson, representing W. G. M. Davis, counsel for complainants, and David S. Walker and George P. Raney, counsel for the trustees of the internal improvement fund, at Tallahassee, November 29, A. D. 1878.

T. W. Brevard, witness for the trustees of the internal improvement fund, being duly sworn, deposeth and saith as follows:

I occupied the relation of counsel for some of the holders of the bonds of the Pensacola & Georgia and of the Tallahassee Railroad Companies, issued under the internal improvement act during the years 1869 and 1870, subsequently to and at the time of the sale of the railroads at Tallahassee, in March, 1869. I represented these bonds. This was advertised as a cash sale. I held these bonds with a view to receive the pro rata valuation that was fixed by sale for them, it being un-
1803 derstood that the money would be applied to the payment of the bonds, that being my understanding and the declaration of trustees. I was in Tallahassee during the month of January and February, 1870. I am acquainted with the provision of the act of legislature of Florida, approved June 24, 1869, entitled "An act to perfect the public works of the State," and the act amendatory thereof, approved January 28, 1870, passed at the regular session of 1870. The purchasers of the railroad through Mr. Swepson made payment upon the bid for the property under the sale that was had in March, 1869, amounting to something more than one million of dollars. This payment was made in the first mortgage bonds of the companies, the bonds being received as cash, except that in the case of the Tallahassee Railroad bonds, which sold for something less than the actual bonded debt. Possession of the property was delivered to the purchaser under this payment, which is the only payment that was ever made of which I have any knowledge, and which left a balance, at the price bid, unpaid, to a very large amount. I had a very strong interest on behalf of the parties I represented in requiring the payment of this balance, in order that it might be applied to the outstanding bonds, a portion of which I represented, and in order to prevent any complication, and to see that the property was kept in the States where it would not be encumbered by any debts that the parties in possession might make. After the passage of the bill amendatory of the act of 1869, in apprehension that Gov. Reed might approve the act, and issue the bonds authorized by that act, in advance of the payment of the claims which I represented, I prepared a bill, which it was my purpose to file, to restrain him from doing so. In the mean time, I had several interviews with Gov. Reed in regard to the matter, informing him of my purpose. In these interviews Gov. Reed informed me that his views coincided with my own, and that he entertained no doubt whatever that the bonds represented by me, and all bonds of that class which were outstanding unpaid, constituted 1804 a first lien upon the railroad property, and that the bonds authorized by the act of 1870 could not issue legally until the original outstanding first mortgage bonds were paid off and retired. He requested me not to institute the proceedings to which I have referred; that they were unnecessary altogether, inasmuch that his fixed purpose was to issue none of the bonds authorized by the act of 1870 until the entire balance of the purchase money was paid up and the old bonds satisfied.

I told Gov. Reed, in reply, that if he would give me in writing an assurance of his views as expressed to me, and at the same time a pledge that no bonds of the character authorized by the act of 1870 should be issued until the purchasers of the railroad property had complied with the conditions of the purchase by payment of the entire balance of purchase price bid, and then unpaid, I would feel authorized to relinquish my purpose of instituting legal processes to restrain him. To this Governor Reed assented. This interview was in the governor's office.

I then went to the comptroller's office, on the same floor of the capitol, and there prepared the letter, of which a substantial copy is contained on the 16th and 17th pages of the answer of the trustees of the internal improvement fund in this cause. Having prepared the letter, I returned to the executive chamber and submitted it to Governor Reed, when the accompanying endorsement was made and signed by him.

My impression is that the original of that letter and endorsement is appended, as an exhibit, to an answer of E. C. Anderson and others, prepared by General Henry R. Jackson and myself, to a petition filed on behalf of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company by A. S. Sullivan in the United States circuit court at Jacksonville. A substantial copy of the letter and endorsement are to be found on the 155th and 156th pages of the printed record (vol. 1) of case The State of Florida vs. E. C. Anderson et al. in the Supreme Court of the United States.

1805 I made it a point to see many members of the legislature during the session that that bill was being passed by its friends, and to inform them of the condition of the properties, and of the existence of the large lien which was outstanding against them, with the very idea, that being my purpose, to prevent the passage of any act that would authorize the persons holding the properties to use it as a basis of credit until the old liens in favor of the original first-mortgage bonds were satisfied.

I filed a bill some time about the middle of the year 1870, as I recollect, on behalf of Joseph Cohen and others, holders of said P. & G. and Tallahassee bonds, in the circuit court of the United States at Tallahassee, against the trustees of the internal improvement fund, and against the persons then in possession of the railroad property, and perhaps others having relation to the company.

Setting up the transaction connected with the sale, the fact that a large balance of the purchase money was unpaid, and a large amount of the first-mortgage bonds were outstanding, and asking a decree for a resale of the property to satisfy the said balance; and that if the said property should fail to bring the amount to which complainants were entitled, that a money decree be entered against the said trustees, and the other defendants, jointly and severally.

(Complainant's counsel objects to this as not the best evidence.)

I notified Collins, who was agent for S. M. Hopkins & Co., of New York, who was then understood to be in negotiation with General Littlefield and others, as to the sale of the State bonds issued under the act of 1870, of the encumbrance resting upon the railroad properties in favor of the outstanding first-mortgage bonds. In the month of June, 1871, I prepared a letter addressed to Chairman Statis, and corporations arrears committee, Nos. 193, 194 and 195, Gresham House, London, of which a substantial copy appears on pages 331, 332, 333, 334, and 335 of vol. 1 of the printed record above referred to. 1806

That letter I had printed in pamphlet form and mailed copies to various addresses besides the said chairman. I cannot now recall the names of all persons to whom they were sent, but remember very distinctly that copies were mailed to S. M. Hopkins & Co., of New York, and to John Collison, of London, or at London, at what I then understood to be his address, but which I do not now remember, postage paid. Subsequently, as I now remember, John Collinson was in Tallahassee. I endeavored, but failed, to have an interview with him upon this subject, he having left Tallahassee at an earlier hour than I had been led to suppose he would get off. In company with General Littlefield, and in a special train, I ascertained that he had left in the direction of Jacksonville. A very few minutes after the departure of the train, and, feeling and being determined to give him full notification of the state of the railroad properties, I at once proceeded to the telegraph office and addressed to him a telegram, which was at once forwarded to Live Oak, requesting the operator to direct its delivery to Mr. Collinson on the arrival of the special train. As I now recollect that telegram, it notified Mr. Collinson of the fact that a large number of the outstanding first-mortgage bonds of the original issue upon the railroad property were outstanding and unpaid; that the holders of these bonds were determined to press for their legal remedies, and that he would be dealing with an unsafe security if he should invest upon the faith of their property. I cannot undertake to say that this dispatch was ever delivered to Mr. Collinson, but was informed by the operator at Tallahassee that it was, according to advises received by him from the operator at Live Oak.

(Complainant's counsel objects to the insufficiency of this testimony, the telegram itself being the best evidence of its contents, and the office receipt at Live Oak the best evidence of its delivery.)

1807 Subpœnas were served and service perfected on the trustees of the internal improvement fund in the suit instituted by Joseph Cohen et al., above referred to, and I believe upon the other defendants.

(Complainant's counsel objected to the sufficiency of this evidence, the return of the subpœnas being the best.)

Cross-examined:

I think that actual possession of the property was delivered to the purchasers after the transaction in New York. My knowledge of the transactions in New York is derived altogether from the statement of others. I have no personal knowledge of them. I understood that there was, and I suppose there is, no doubt that a check was delivered to represent the balance of the purchase money at about the time of the transfer of the deed.

Q. Do you or not know whether Gamble & Meek, representing the trustees of the internal improvement fund, then, or at any time afterwards, and if so, when, turned over the said check to any one, and if so, who, as the confidential agent of the trustees; and if yea, to what purpose was it turned over?

A. I have no personal knowledge upon that point. I was a party to an arrangement with the holders of the property for the payment of the bonds which I represented, which arrangement was made subsequent to the issue of the State bonds referred under the act referred to. This arrangement was in writing, of which I have no copy now. It was subsequent to the taking of the decree in favor of the bondholders in the United States court, at Jacksonville. I cannot remember all the entire arrangements, but the most prominent features of it, as I now recall it, was that any sale under the decree was not to be pressed, provided the parties then in possession of the railroad should pay off the amount due the bondholders in monthly instalments of the amount agreed upon. There was some payments under that agreement, but they failed to carry out the arrangements.

There was also an agreement made with D. P. Holland, to which I was a party. The first arrangement, above referred to, was with 1808 the J., P. & M. R. R., M. S. Littlefield as president. The arrangement with Holland was in writing, of which I have no copy, but the terms of the arrangement are substantially set forth on page 105, vol. 1, of the printed record. The decree above referred to was for the benefit of the unpaid bondholders, and provided for all who had filed their claims with the master appointed in the case, or all who could file such claims. I think that Joseph Cohen had transferred his bonds prior to the taking of this decree.

The bill filed by Joseph Cohen was not affected by this transfer of his bonds, because there was other complainants embraced in the bill. Proceedings under the Cohen bill were suspended by reason of the strong assurances that were constantly made by the trustees and by the parties in possession of the road that the outstanding claims against it would be satisfied.

Q. Were these assurances made and accepted as well before as after the sale of the State bonds?

A. I think the State bonds had left Tallahassee before the bill was filed.

Q. How long did that assurance affect the progress of that bill.

A. I don't remember.

The above testimony as to the arrangements with the J., P. & M. Railroad Company and D. P. Holland is taken subject to the following objections, made by counsel of the trustees of the internal improvement fund, to wit: It is not within the line or scope of the direct testimony. The agreement being in writing, verbal testimony cannot be introduced to prove the terms of such agreement, and the testimony is irrelevant.

C. H. FOSTER, witness for trustee of the internal improvement fund, being duly sworn, deposeth and saith:

I am clerk of the United States circuit court at Tallahassee, and have been such clerk since the summer of 1872. I am unable to find any bill on file by Joseph Cohen and others against the trustees 1809 of the internal improvement fund et al. to sell the road for the balance of the purchase money due on the sale of March 20th, 1869. I searched for this bill at the request of Geo. P. Raney. I did not examine the præcipe docket to see whether or not to see whether a subpœna had issued upon the filing of such a bill.

(Signed) CHAS. H. FOSTER.

I hereby certify that pursuant to the order made in the above stated cause of J. Fred. Schutte et als. vs. The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company et als., by the circuit court of the United States, fifth circuit, northern district of Florida, appointing me examiner, that I did on the 19th day of September, 1878, and 29th and 30th of November, 1868, take the testimony of R. H. Gamble, T. W. Brevard and Chas H. Foster, witnesses for the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida, as the same appears upon the preceding and above pages, numbered from 1 to 37, inclusive, and that such examination took place, and such testimony was taken down in writing by me in the presence of John A. Henderson, representing W. G. M. Davis, counsel for complainant, and of Geo. P. Raney and David S.

Walker, counsel for the trustees aforesaid; that the testimony of each of said witnesses was read over to them respectively and signed by them, as the same appears in said paper, in the presence of said parties; that such witnesses were duly sworn to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, and that these pages are true history of the proceedings in such matters.

Said testimony being taken at Tallahassee, Leon County, Florida.

In testimony whereof I hereto set my hand and seal this the 30th day of November, A. D. 1878.

FRIDAY, April 11th, 1879.

Met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, W. G. M. Davis, esq., counsel for complainant, and George P. Rainey, esq., counsel for the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, of defendants.

ALMON R. MEEK, a witness on the part of the complainants, being first duly sworn by me, deposed and testified as follows:

My name is Almon R. Meek; reside in Jacksonville, Florida;

1812 am a practicing lawyer by occupation. In the spring of 1869, while attorney-general of the State, and a member of the board of the internal improvement, after the deeds under sale of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads were executed, at a meeting of the board of trustees, a resolution was offered directing me to proceed to New York City, and there receive payment for the roads and deliver the deeds to the purchasers; at my request the resolution was so changed as to join Col. Gamble, the comptroller, with me in the commission, and as amended was adopted by the board of trustees. Col. Gamble and myself, within a few days after the adoption of the resolution, proceeded to New York, and there received, under instructions from the attorney of the board at the time, Col. Papy, about a million dollars of the bonds upon the two railroads sold, which left a balance of about four hundred and seventy thousand dollars, as then estimated. The question then, at the time of receiving the bonds, was asked Col. Gamble and myself as to what manner in which said balance of four hundred and seventy thousand dollars should be paid, accompanied with the statement that they, the purchasers, were ready to make payment in greenbacks. Col. Gamble and myself were not anxious to take the responsibility of receiving the four hundred and seventy thousand dollars, unless necessary to properly close up the transaction, under our authority from the board, as the resolution authorizing us to act in this matter required us to turn over whatever monies we might receive in payment to George W. Swepson and Calvin B. Dibble, or either of them, as confidential agents or agent for the purpose set forth in the resolution, and as George W. Swepson was present with us at the time, and was willing to receipt to us for the four hundred and seventy-odd thousand dollars, we closed up the transaction by permit'ing him to do so, and taking his receipt as for cash received by him. Knowing on my part as a matter of fact that Mr. Swepson had obligated himself to furnish the money with which to make the payment of said four hundred and seventy odd thousand dollars, and had made arrangements in New York by which he could make that payment in money, and if so paid we would be under the resolution required to turn over the money to him, we felt that our duty would be performed by the acknowledgement of the receipt of the money by Mr. Swepson. At the time it was suggested by some one of those present that some statement or evidence should be in the transaction, 1813 other than the naked receipt of Mr. Swepson, upon which a check was drawn representing the four hundred and seventy odd thousand dollars, in the name of Calvin Dibble on Dibble, Worth & Co., Calvin Dibble being at the time a member of F. Dibble and associates, and was accepted by Mr. Swepson as the money we were to turn over to him under the resolution, upon which we made a delivery of the deeds. The date of this transaction in New York was April 22d, 1869. The business was transacted in the room of J. L. Requa, in the Astor House, New York, There were present, I remember, Col. Gamble, Mr. Swepson, Calvin Dibble and perhaps Franklin Dibble and myself, and I think no other parties. The statement referred to above that they, the purchasers, were ready to make payment of the four hundred and seventy odd thousand dollars, was made to us by Mr. Swepson immediately upon the delivery of the deeds of the road to the purchasers; the deed appended to the answer of the trustees of the internal improvement fund, filed in this case and marked G, was executed and delivered to Mr. Swepson for the purposes in the deed set forth. I first knew Mr. Swepson personally about the 20th of March, 1869, the day of the sale of the roads. For a number of months previous to that time I had know of him as a man of large means through representations of a number of persons, chiefly and principally Col. Houston, the president of the roads, and M. D. Papy, esq., for one or two months previous to the sale attorney for the board. Mr. Swepson was represented by Col. Houston and Mr. Papy, and at Tallahassee, by those who knew him or of him, to be a man worth several millions of dollars, variously stated at from two (2) to five (5) millions and considered able to control almost any sum of money he might desire, and it was in view of his conceded large means that Col. Gamble and myself were not required or authorized to require surety for the proper application of the moneys we were directed to turn over to him as agent of the board. It was the understanding of the board of trustees, that Mr. Swepson was the principal owner at the time of the stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

Cross-examination by Mr. RANEY:

1814 No money was physically in the transaction in New York in the matter of passing the deeds, no cash actually passed. And the testimony being first read over by me to the witness, he signed the same in my presence as true and correct.

A. D. BASSNETT, Examiner.

MONDAY, April 28th, 1879.

Met pursuant to adjournment, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Present, Hon. H. Bisbee, jr., of counsel for complainants, and Hon. J. M. Baker, of counsel for the Florida Central Railroad Company, defendants herein.

HARRISON REED, a witness on the part of the complainants, being duly sworn, deposes and testifies as follows:

1816 My name is Harrison Reed; reside near Jacksonville, Fla.; and of lawful age.

I was governor of the State of Florida from June, 1868, to January, 1873. In 1869 I delivered four millions of State bonds. I believe, on recollection, that it was the spring of 1870, I issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company four millions of State bonds to aid in the construction of the road, and received in exchange four millions of railroad bonds. There was one million of these bonds issued by the Florida Central Railroad Company, and three millions by the J., P. & M. R. R. Co. I delivered one million of State bonds on the order of the president of the J., P. & M. R. R. Company to Edward Houston; the other three millions, I cannot recollect who received them, but Col. Sanderson came with the certificates and demanded the whole issue of four millions. The certificates were those required by the law as to the number of miles of the road. The first three millions of dollars of bonds were numbered from No. 1 to No. 3000, inclusive; I can't now remember whether I delivered these bonds so numbered to Colonel Sanderson or to some other representative of the J., P. & M. R. R. Co. The other million, numbered from 3001 to 4000, were delivered to Edward Houston on the order of the president of the J., P. & M. R. R. Co. The certificates I mention were delivered to me by Colonel J. P. Sanderson. Colonel Sanderson represented himself as attorney of the entire line of road from Jacksonville to Quincy, as vice-president of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

The million I delivered to Houston was exchanged for a like number of Florida Central Railroad bonds. I took Houston's receipt for the million of dollars of bonds I delivered to him. I do not know what relation Colonel Houston held in relation to the Florida Central Railroad Company at this time, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad gave you a legal opinion touching your duties and power to exchange the four millions of dollars of State bonds.

Q. State whether or not J. P. Sanderson, as the att'y representing both the Fl'a Central Railroad Company——

(Question objected to by Judge Baker for the reason that the same is improper, and would not be binding upon either of the companies, and for the further reason that the same is irrelevant to any of the issue in the cause.)

Answer. I heed that the law only authorized the issue of 1817 bonds on one hundred miles of constructed road from Jacksonville west. Colonel Sanderson construed the law differently, and said they were entitled to sixteen thousand dollars per mile on the entire line of road owned or operated by the company. I called in Mr. Papy, and he and Colonel Sanderson agreed and prepared a written opinion, upon which I issued the bonds in accordance, the whole four millions.

State whether or not there was any agreement in reference to taking up the outstanding bonds issued by the P. & G. & T. Railroad Company.

(Objected to by Judge Baker as immaterial to any of the issues of the cause, and for the further reason that the testimony would be secondary and illegal.)

At the time of this first delivery of the bonds the roads had been sold by the State and paid for subsequently. The million of bonds delivered to Houston were returned, it being understood that the negotiation for the sale of the entire issue bonds had failed. Afterwards Col. Houston demanded the redelivery of the one million of bonds he had returned, representing that the negotiation of the whole issue had succeeded. At this time the question had been raised by certain stockholders in the Florida Central, that they had not received pay for their stocks, and by holders of outstanding P. & G. bonds, endorsed by the internal improvement company, that they had not been taken up. I then required on the redelivery of the bonds which were delivered to T. B. Coddington, under the direction of Col. Houston, that before the million of bonds should be delivered to the purchasers, provision should be made for the payment of all these claims.

(The above answer objected to as irrelevant and not responsive to the question.)

State whether or not anything was said; and, if so, what, with reference to the consolidation of the roads of the two companies, to induce you or to remove objections which you had to to the issuing of so many bonds.

(Question objected to because it seeks to draw out testimony which would be irrelevant, illegal, and secondary, and which would not be binding upon the parties interested.)

Ans. It was represented by Sanderson and Houston and Littlefield that the J., P. & M. R. R. Co. owned the whole line of road from 1818 Jacksonville to Quincy and from Tallahassee to St. Mark's, with a branch to Monticello, and the J., P. & M. Co. claimed that it included also the branch from Live Oak to the Georgia line. The reason given why the companies were kept separate in their organization was for the protection of parties interested in their private accounts, and the office of the J., P. & M. Co. was established at Jacksonville as the company owning and controlling the entire line of road, and therefore the complainants announced that they had no further questions to ask witnesses.

Cross-examination by Judge Baker:

I think the whole four millions of bonds were delivered at the same time; the one million delivered to Colonel Houston were delivered on the order of M. S. Littlefield, president of the J., P. & M. R. R. Co. Colonel Sanderson presented two certificates, one as to the length of the road operated for Jacksonville to Lake City, and one as to the line of road operated from Lake City west; my recollection is that both thes' certificates were signed by Littlefield. Sanderson brought them both to me and said they complied with the law. The million dollars of bonds delivered to Houston were first issued to him about the first day of June, 1870; they were returned by Houston, I think, in August of the same year, and were redelivered in December or January next to Coddington, as above stated. At the time Houston returned the State bonds to me I returned to Colonel Houston the Florida Central Railroad bonds. There was no objection made by the Florida Central Railroad Company as to the redelivery of the million of bonds. I don't recollect whether it came to the knowledge of the Florida Central Company that the bonds had been returned to me by Houston. I don't recollect that I had any additional authority to redeliver the bonds to Houston or Coddington, nor the original authority for the company or companies. Houston was present when the bonds were delivered to Coddington.

And here the examination of witness was closed, and the testimony of witness being read over by me to witness he signed the same as true and correct; all erassures and interlineations made by me before signing by the witness.

A. D. BASNETT,

HARRISON REED.

1819 And therefore adjourned until to-morrow morning, Tuesday 29th of April, 1879.

A. D. BASTNETT,
Examiner.

TUESDAY, April 29th, 1879.

Met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, W. G. M. Davis, esq., solicitor for complainant, and Attorney-General Raney, of counsel for the board of internal improvement of the State of Florida, one of the defendants herein.

Cross-examination of Harrison Reed continued by Mr. Raney:

In your direct testimony you say that at the time of this first delivery of the bonds the roads had been sold by the State and paid for. Please state by whom, when and where, and in what way they were paid for.

Answer. The board of internal improvement appointed the comptroller and attorney-general to go to New York to receive the pay and deliver the titles. I happened in New York at the time these parties went there, and I received from them the information that the purchase had been completed according to the terms of sale and the conveyance delivered. I knew nothing of the details, how it was made or in what manner.

Redirect examination by General DAVIS:

Please state what you mean in your first examination when you speak and requiring "that before the million of bonds should be delivered to the purchasers provision should be made for the payment of all these claims."

Answer. I refused to deliver that one million of bonds to the representatives of the companies until I could have some guaranty that the outstanding claims against the internal improvement fund and the Florida Central Railroad Company should be provided for. I knew Mr. Coddington, of New York, as a man of high character as a business man, and I consented to place the bonds in his hands in trust for the payment of these claims when the bonds should be delivered to the purchasers. The claims against the internal improvement fund were those of outstanding funds of the P. & G. R. R. Co.

I had previously, I think, received from the president of the J., P. & M. R. R. Co. a draft upon S. W. Hopkins & Co., of New York, 1820 the reputed agents for the sale of the State bonds for an amount equal to the outstanding bonds of the P. & G. R. R. Co., as stated by the president of that company. This draft was not paid, and my recollection is that I made it obligatory upon Mr. Coddington to deposit in New York to the credit of the State of Florida sufficient amount arising from the sale of the State bonds to take up this balance unpaid. I think the amount of the draft was for some $227,000. I don't know where the draft now is. I made a personal demand upon Hopkins & Co. for the payment of this draft and they said it was all right and that it would be paid in ten days. I waited the ten days but it was not paid and never has been paid. My recollection is that the draft was payable out of the proceeds of the State bonds.

And the testimony being read over to the witness by me, he signed the same as true and correct.

A. D. BASSNETT, Examiner.
HARRISON REED.

JAMES M. BAKER, being duly sworn, testified as follows:

Direct examination by Wm. G. M. Davis, solicitor for complainants.

I first saw Mr. Geo. W. Swepson, March 20, 1869, at Tallahassee R. R's. I had no intercourse with him at that time, but it was understood that he came there for the purpose of bidding upon the railroad property. I saw him frequently a few days after in Jacksonville, Fla., during the negotiation between him and F. Dibbs and associates, and participated in the negotiation between him and them. He was reputed to be a man of large wealth and we dealt with him with, or upon, that understanding, but I know nothing of my own knowledge concerning his wealth, or what it consisted of, except that he was able to pay in a large amount of the P. & G. & Tallahassee R. R. bonds as a part of the purchase money bid for the roads. A part of that negotiation was that Mr. Swepson should buy up the outstanding P. & G. & Talahassee R. R. bonds on behalf of Dibble and associates and pay them in to the trustees of the internal fund on balance of the purchase money. I, as one of the associates, believed he had the authority to do this.

The above testimony is taken subject to objection of solicitor for trustees of the internal improvement fund that it is immaterial and irrelavant to the issue of the case.

JAMES M. BAKER.

1821 A. D. BASSNETT, Examiner.

And therefore an adjournment was ordered until 4 o'clock p. m.

A. D. BASSNETT, Examiner.

TUESDAY, April 29th, 1879.

Met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, W. G. M. Davis, esq., solicitor for complainants; Attorney-General Raney, solicitor for defendant The Board of Internal Improvement of the State of Florida; and James M. Baker, esq., solicitor for defendant The Florida Central Railroad Company.

JOHN A. HENDERSON, a witness on the part of the complainants, being first duly sworn, testified as follows:

Direct examination by General DAVIS:

Please look at the printed paper herewith submitted to you, and say whether you have any knowledge of the execution of a written instrument therein mentioned and described as a deed of trust stated to have been made by the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company; what is your knowledge, and how you obtained it.

Answer. I have knowledge of the execution of a deed of trust by the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company to F. H. Flagg, D. G. Ambler and Converse L. Chase; that my knowledge was obtained first in having written said deed of trust at the dictation of General W. G. M. Davis and having attested the execution of the same on the 2d day of October, A. D. 1871, by subscribing thereto as a witness to the same, the same having been executed by the J., P. & M. R. R. Co. by M. S. Littlefield, its president, to which there was attached the seal of the company.

Do you know where that deed is now?

I do not.

To whom was it delivered?

To C. L. Chase, as far as I can answer.

Do you know where C. L. Chase is now?

I have understood to-day since my arrival that he is now in New York City. Previous to this information I had supposed him to be in the Northwest.

1822 About what time did Chase leave the State of Florida?

Sometime during the year 1872. He was here last in January or February, 1873, but only for the time being, and has not returned since.

Do you know whether any of the parties named in said trust deed accepted the trust?

Converse L. Chase and Francis H. Flagg accepted the trust and entered into possession of the property under said deed of trust.

What did Flagg and Chase do in acceptance of said trust?

They entered into the possession and management of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad.

How long did they continue in possession and management of said railroad?

From the date of the execution of that deed until the appointment of

J. C. Greeley as receiver, under the authority by the circuit court of the State of Florida for Duval County, Judge Gillis presiding, in the suit of the State of Florida and the trustees of the internal improvement fund against the J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

What line of railroad did Flagg and Chase, trustees, take possession and management of?

The line of road from Jacksonville to Chattahoochee with branches to Monticello and St. Mark's.

What do you know as to the publication of the paper you now have in your hand, known as the Floridian?

On the 10th day of October, A. D. 1871, the Floridian, a newspaper published at Tallahassee, Florida, a copy of which of that date I now hold in my hand, and which is now filed herewith, published an editorial under the caption of important changes in the J., P. & M. R. R.

(Counsel for complainants files herewith the paper, marked Exhibit A., A. D. B., examiner.)

Please look at this paper, entitled the Floridian, dated October 17th, 1871, and say whether you have read the article therein on the first page, entitled the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, and whether or not said article contains to the best of your knowl-1823 edge a correct statement of the contents of the deed of trust which you have deposed you drew and witnessed by.

(J. M. Baker, esq., objects to the introduction of the evidence as being secondary, and the proper foundation not having been laid for the introduction of such secondary evidence, the original deed being the only proper evidence, and further objects to all evidence in relation to said trust deed, upon the same ground that it is improper, secondary evidence.)

Answer. According to my best recollections the said article is a true copy of the deed of trust before referred to.

Question. Have you had occasion to refer to said deed of trust since its execution; if so, how often, and did the contents become familiar to you?

Answer. I was the attorney for the trustees under said deed of trust, and as such had occasion time and again to refer to said deed of trust. I was at one time familiar with all its provisions, and have still a general recollection of the said deed.

(Same objection by Judge Baker on the same grounds as above.)

Question. Is Francis H. Flagg dead or alive?

Answer. He died in or about the year A. D. 1874.

(By Judge Baker, solicitor for the Florida Central Railroad Company, a general objection is made to all of the foregoing testimony as irrelevant and immaterial.)

Cross-examination by Judge Baker. No questions.

And the foregoing testimony being read over by me to the witness, he signed the same as true and correct, all erasures and interlineations made by me before signing.

A. D. BASNETT, Examiner.
JOHN A. HENDERSON.

And therefore an adjournment was ordered until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock a. m.

A. D. BASNETT, Examiner.

1824 WEDNESDAY, April 30th, 1879.

Met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, W. G. M. Davis, esq., counsel for complainants, and J. M.

Baker, esq., counsel for the Florida Central Railroad Company, one of the defendants herein.

EDWARD M. CHENEY, a witness on the part of the complainants, being first duly sworn by me, deposes and testifies as follows:

I became a director of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company on its first organization in the year 1870, and have been a director of the said company ever since. When the company was first organized it had its offices at Tallahassee, at the offices of the old Pensacola & Georgia Railroad Company. Afterwards the headquarters of the company were removed to Jacksonville. The offices of the president and superintendent being removed to Jacksonville, while some of the minor offices remained at Tallahassee.

The meetings of the directors after the removal were held at the president's office in Jacksonville. They were held in a building situated near the depot at Jacksonville, and which building was altered over by the company with the intention of making it hold all the offices of the company. The president and superintendent occupied the two rooms which were altered over for that purpose. The company never completed the alterations designed in the building. It is located on property formerly belonging to the Florida Central R. R. Co., and known as railroad property. This property is now claimed by the Florida Central Railroad Company, and is within a few hundred yards of the present depot.

I don't know the exact date of the removal of the offices from Tallahassee, but it occur'ed a short time after May, 1870. The occasion was caused a short time after this date, as the J., P. & M. R. R. and the Florida Central R. R. were then under one management and the removal was made for convenience in the management.

From the time of the removal of the offices to Jacksonville, and I think for a short time before the removal, until Mr. Greeley was appointed receiver, the entire line from Jacksonville to the western terminus was run as one line of railroad, under the name of the Jack-1825 sonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad, and under the management of the directors and officers of that road. The name of the Florida Central Railroad was dropped, and the whole line of road was known as the J., P. & M. R. R., and no part of the road known as the Florida Central Railroad. All contracts made in regard to the road were made in the name of the J., P. & M. R. R. Co. All the letter headings and freight bills were headed with the name of the J., P. & M.
R. R. Headings and new supplies were printed for all the offices with these headings. The officers of the road were employed and paid by the superintendent of the J., P. & M. R. R. Co., and no other officers received any control over the road or any part of it. The superintendent had control of the road under the supervision of the president and directors.
Prior to May, 1870, and in that month, J. P. Sanderson was president of the Florida Central Railroad Company. He was also at that time vice-president of the J., P. & M. R. R. Co. The attorneys for the J., P.
& M. R. R. Co., in May, 1870, and from its organization to his death, was J. P. Sanderson. Mr. M. D. Papy was also an attorney occasionally, associated with Sanderson, of the road (the J., P. & M. R. R.) during such time. The attorney of the Florida Central Railroad Company was Mr. Papy, as also Col. Sanderson, who was its president.

C. L. Chase and F. H. Flagg, under a deed of trust, took possession of the whole line of road as trustees under such deed, and ran the whole line of road under the name of the Jacksonville, Pensacola &

Mobile Railroad. They took entire possession of the road and took the place of the directors of the road in its management and control.

(J. M. Baker, esq., counsel for defendant, the Florida Central Railroad Co. objects to the introduction of the foregoing testimony upon the ground that the same is illegal, secondary, and irrelevant.)

Cross-examination by Judge Baker:

Question. Do you know whether there was any formal action taken by the directors and stockholders of the J., P. & M. R. R. Co., relating to the alleged consolidation of the two roads about which you have testified, and, if so, whether or not any record was left of the same;

1826 Answer. After the organization of the J., P. & M. R. R., numerous meetings were held by the stockholders and directors, the stockholders all being directors, at which resolutions were passed and arrangements were made looking to the consolidation of the J., P. & M. R. R. and the Florida Central Railroad. I cannot now recollect the details, and I do not know what records were made, as it was the duty of the secretary to keep the records and make the minutes, and I never looked over them, but the result of these arrangements, whatever they were, was the practical consolidation of the two roads and the remova of the offices to Jacksonville.

Question. Did or not the company keep minutes of the proceedings of directors and stockholders?

Answer. The company had its record books, and I think the secretary was always present and took minutes of the proceedings; I think he took them on separate pieces of paper and copied them afterwards in the records; I think it was the general custom of each meeting to read and approve the minutes of the preceding meetings.

I can simply say that the usual course was for all resolutions to be put in writing. These were handed to the secretary, and whether or not he recorded them in the books of the company I cannot say. I was not an officer of the Florida Central Railroad Company. I can't give the exact date of the consolidation of the J., P. & M. R. R. and the Florida Central R. R. Co., but it was after May, 1870, or shortly after that date, when the two roads were under one management. I do not know whether the Florida Central had any officers or not. When I said Mr. Papy was attorney of the F. C. R. R., I meant in May, 1870.

I gave very little personal attention to the details of the running the road, as these matters were under the control of General Littlefield as president, and the officers of the road. I had a general knowledge of the business of the road. I did not make myself familiar with the mode in which accounts were kept.

And, the testimony being read over to the witness by me, he signed the same as true and correct. All erasures and interlineations made by me before signing.

A. D. BASNETT, Examiner.

Met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, W. G. M. Davis, solicitor for complainants, and James M Baker, solicitor for the Florida Central Railroad Company, one of the defendants herein.

Edward M. L'Engle, a witness on part of the Florida Central Rail road Company, one of the defendants herein, being by me first duly sworn, deposes and says:

Witness handed a printed paper, being a letter dated Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 8th, 1871, addressed to "Messrs. Holge, Boissevain, bankers, Amsterdam, Holland," and signed "E. M. L'Engle, of counsel for the Florida Central Railroad Company," and is asked what he (witness) knows about the sending of said letter and the receipt of it in Europe?

Answer. The said printed paper is filed as Exhibit B to my answer in this suit. I wrote the original letter of which this is a copy. It was sent prepaid, addressed to Holge, Boissevain, bankers, Amsterdam, Holland. It was sent through the mail in the summer of 1871; I think in the month of June.

(Mr. John Collinson, counsel for complainants, objects to witness going on and answering further, as not being responsive to the question.)

Answer. Continued.

In the summer of 1871, I think in the month of June, Mr. John Collinson, of London, England, being in Jacksonville, Florida, told me that the letter had been received in Amsterdam by the persons to whom it was addressed and that he had read it in Europe. I do not recollect whether he said that he had read it in Amsterdam, but it was either in Amsterdam or in England.

(Counsel for defendant, the Florida Central R. R. Co., herewith files as an exhibit the copy of the letter handed to witness. Same filed and marked by me Exhibit A, E. M. L.

Solicitor for complainants objects to the printed paper testified to, on the ground that it is not legal evidence, and objects to the statement of the witness as to what was said to him by John Collinson.)

1828 Question by Judge Baker. State if you know what connection, if any, John Collinson had with the negotiation or sale of the bonds of the State of Florida mentioned in said letter.

Answer. He told me that he was interested in the negotiation and sale of said bonds, or of some of them—I mean pecuniarily interested. I do not know the particulars of his interest.

Solicitors for defendant, the Florida Central R. R. Co, here offers in evidence a printed copy of an original bill, filed in the circuit court, for Duval County, Fla., in which Edward M. L'Engle is the complainant and Milton S. Littlefield, Aaron Barnett, and others are defendants. The paper being handed to witness, he is asked:

Will you please look at the paper and state whether or not you have made search in the office of the clerk of the circuit court for Duval County, for the original bill of which this paper purports to be a copy, and whether or not you have been able to find said original bill on file in such office?

(Counsel for complainants objects to the introduction of the paper and to the question asked witness.)

Answer. I have myself made a thorough search in the clerk's office of the circuit court for Duval County, Florida, for the original complaint in the suit mentioned, of which original complaint this printed paper is a copy; I have also caused search to be made by the clerk of said court for said original; I could not find it; I have not been able to find it, and the clerk has repeated that he could not find it. The said original bill was filed by me in the said clerk's office of said court at my request. The original is not within my control, and I do not know where it is.

Question. Look at said printed paper and state whether or not it is a copy of the said original bill filed by you in the circuit court for Duval County, as above stated, and, if you say it is, state your means of knowing that it is such copy.

Answer. It is a correct copy of the said original bill or complaint filed by me in said suit in said court. I know that it is a correct copy because I caused it to be printed about the time at which the said original complaint was filed. I compared it with the said original, canceled all inaccuracies and errors, and made it to conform to said original exactly. The said printed paper has been in my possession ever since.

1829 Solicitor for defendant, the Florida Central Railroad Company, here offers in evidence the printed copy referred to and the same is marked Exhibit B, E. M. L.

Solicitor for complainants repeats his objections to said paper being offered in evidence.

Solicitor for defendant, the Florida Central Railroad Company, here offers in evidence a certified copy of an injunction issued in the above case on May 11, 1872, by Hon. F. I. Wheaton, judge of said 4th judicial circuit of Florida, and certified to be a true copy by Chas. L. Mather, clerk of the said circuit court for Duval County, under the seal of said courts.

Certificate dated May 15th, 1872. Filed and marked C, E. M. L.

Question. Was that bill filed during the existence of Code Practice in the State of Florida?

Answer. The practice known as the code, being an adoption of the code of New York to this State, was in force when that suit was commenced.

Cross-examination by General DAVIS:

Question. Do you know how Messrs. Baker, Niblack, and Call were paid by Littlefield for their interest in the railroads sold by the trustees and purchased by F. Dibble and associates, and through whom was such payment made?

(Solicitor for defendant, the Florida Central Railroad Company, objects to the question as not being proper on cross-examination, that the witness was not examined in relation to the subject-matter contained in the question.)

Answer. Recognizing as well taken, I decline to answer the question unless required to do so by the court.

Question. When did you become counsel for the Florida Central Railroad Company, who appointed you, and how long did you remain such counsel?

(Question objected to, upon the ground that it is not legal or proper cross-examination, as the witness in his direct examination did not testify as to subject-matter contained in the question.)

Answer. Same answer as before.

Question. When did you first become the owner of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company?

1830 (Same objection by Judge Baker.)

Answer. I make the same answer as before.

Counsel for complainant insists that the witness shall make a more specific answer to the question.

Question repeated.

When did you first become owner of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company?

(Same objection as before by Judge Baker.)

Answer. I make the same answer as I did to the first cross-interrogatory.

Question. Have you or not on this examination prompted the counsel for the defendant as to the questions which he should ask you and consulted him as to the answers you should make thereto?

Answer. The question being an impertinent one, I decline to answer it.

The complainant's solicitor insists upon an answer to the question, because he founded it upon what he has observed during the examination.

And the testimony being read over by me to the witness, he signed the same as true and correct, all interlineations and erasures made by me before signing.

THURSDAY, May 1st, 1879.

Met pursuant to adjournment.

Present, James M. Baker, esq., counsel for defendant, the Florida Central Railroad.

E. M. L'ENGLE, a witness on the part of the defendant, the Florida Central Railroad Company, recalled.

Direct examination by Judge BAKER:

Defendant's counsel hands witness a paper, in writing purporting to be a letter dated January 21st, 1871, addressed to Colonel E. Houston and signed J. P. Sanderson," and asks him in whose handwriting that letter is, if he knows, and by whom signed, and whether he knows where the said letter came from, and, if so, state all he knows about said letter. 1831

Answer. The letter is in the handwriting of and is signed by J. P. Sanderson, who at the date of the letter was the president of the Florida Central Railroad Company. I am very familiar with his handwriting. I often during his lifetime saw him write and sign his name. I was his law partner. He died in June, 1871. The said letter is a copy taken in a letter-press book which was used by said Sanderson in his lifetime. It was the book which he used to copy official letters in as president of said railroad company. Said book was put in my possession by said Sanderson before he died, and I have had possession of it ever since. I cut out of said book the leaves on which this letter is copied. I cut them out to-day for use upon this examination at the request of the counsel for the Florida Central Railroad Company and in his presence.

Signed as true and correct.

E. M. L'ENGLE.

Solicitor for defendant, the F. C. R. R. Co., here offers said paper in evidence and the same is marked Exhibit D, E. M. L., and filed May 1, 1879. Four leaves, Nos. 119, 120, 121, 122.

Solicitor for defendant, the Fla. Cen. R. R. Co., further offers in evidence a certified copy of a bill in chancery in the U. S. cir. c't. 5th cir. N. dist. of Fla., and other pleadings, orders, and proceedings, being a transcript of the record in the case of Francis P. Percher, complainant, and the Florida Central Railroad Company; the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, Milton S. Littlefield, Edward Houstoun, and others, defendants, and certified by J. E. Townsend, clerk of said court, under the seal of said court, on the 9th day of May, 1874, said transcript marked Exhibit E, E. M. L, and filed May 1, 1879.

Counsel for the defendant, the Florida Central Railroad Company, offers in evidence a certified copy, under the seal of the supreme court of the State of Florida and attestation of the clerk thereof, and certificate of the chief justice of said court, of the opinion of said court delivered by Associate Justice Wescott and the order in judgment of said 1832 court, delivered and made at the January term, A. D. 1875, of said court, in the cause wherein the State of Florida and the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, et al., are respondents and the Florida Central Railroad Company and others are appellants, said paper marked Exhibit F, E. M. L., filed May 1, 1879.

T. E. BUCKMAN, on the part of the defendant, the Florida Central Railroad Company, being produced as a witness, was by me first duly sworn, and deposed and testifies as follows:

Direct examination by Judge BAKER:

I am the clerk of the circuit court, for Duval County. Have charge of all records and papers in that court. Application has been made to me to search for the original bill of complaint in the case of Edward M. L'Engle versus Milton S. Littlefield, the Florida Central Railroad Company and others, in the circuit court, for Duval County, Fla., being the original of the exhibit which I hold in my hand marked B, E. M. L., handed to me by the examiner in this case, marked, filed April 30th, 1879. A. D. Basnett, examiner. I have made search in my office for the original, and have not been able to find any of the papers in this case, and have not been able to find the original of said exhibit. I have been clerk of said court for more than two years last past, and to the best of my recollection have never seen any of the papers in the case in the office, and to the best of my belief they are not in my office, and I do not know where they are.

And the foregoing testimony being first read over by me to the witness, he signs the same as true and correct.

Present, James M. Baker, counsel for defendant, the Florida Central Railroad Company.

HARRISON REED, recalled on the part of the Florida Central 1833 Railroad Company, one of the defendants, deposes and testifies as follows:

Direct-examination by Judge BAKER:

I was governor of the State of Florida in the years 1870 and 1871; my recollection is that in December, 1870, I received from certain bankers in Amsterdam, Holland, a telegraphic dispatch enquiring whether provision had been made for the payment of the interest on the State bonds issued to the J., P. & M. R. R. Co.; prepared a dispatch immediately in answer, stating that no provision had been made for the payment of the interest, and I think I stated in the dispatch prepared, that no provision would be made. I sent this dispatch to Col. J. P. Sanderson at Jacksonville, and after advice by the railroad company as I understood the dispatch which appears in Exhibit B attached to the answer of E. M. L'Engle in this suit as follows:

[(On the margin:) Mess. Holje, Boissevain, bankers, Amsterdam, Holland: Gent., on December 18th, 1870, Gov. Harrison Reed, of Florida, received a telegraphic dispatch from you. Being negotiating four millions bonds issued by|

"Bonds recently recalled by the company, no provision will therefore be made for interest," was sent to the Amsterdam bankers by me as governor, as a reply.

And the foregoing testimony being first read over by me to the witness he signs the same as true and correct.

JAMES L. TAYLOR, being offered and sworn as a witness on the part of the Florida Central Railroad Company, deposes and says:

I reside in Savannah, Georgia; I have resided there since November, 1876; I am general freight and passenger agent for the Atlantic & Gulf Railroad. of Georgia. Previous to November, 1876, I resided in Tallahassee, Florida. I was connected with the railroad service in different capacities for nine or ten years previous to 1876, in Tallahassee, Florida. I was general freight and ticket agent and auditor, and in my capacity as auditor I had charge of books and accounts of the railway service. I was acquainted with James H. Bull during his life-time, he being now dead, and familiar with his handwriting, In the year 1870 said Bull was employed as clerk in the office of Robert Walker, general superintendent of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company. I 1834 am acquainted with the said Robert Walker, who, at that time, was the general superintendent, as above stated. I am acquainted with his signature and can identify it. I am acquainted with James Anderson. In the year 1870 he was superintendent of the Florida Central Railroad Company. He subsequently acted as general superintendent of the entire line from Jacksonville to Quincy. I know his handwriting and signature. He lives in South Carolina at present. I knew F. H. Flagg during his life-time, he was secretary and treasurer of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, when I first knew him, and also Pensacola & Georgia Railroad Company; afterwards he was secretary and treasurer of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company. I was acquainted with his handwriting and signature. [Witness is handed a paper writing purporting to be a disbursement and expenses and earnings for the month of July, 1870, of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, together with other information concerning the operation of said railroads during said month, submitted by Robert Walker, general superintendent, to J. P. Sanderson, vice-president, and is asked as follows:]

Question. In whose handwriting is said paper, and by whom is it signed?

Answer. It is in the handwriting of James H. Bull, of whom I have testified, and is signed by Robert Walker, general superintendent, of whom I have testified.

Said paper writing is offered in evidence by the "Florida Central Railroad Company," and is filed marked Exhibit No. 1.

A. D. BASNETT,
Examiner.

Witness is handed a paper writing purporting to be a statement of disbursements, expenses, and earnings for the month of August, 1870, of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and of the Florida Central Railroad Company, together with other information concerning the operation of said railroads during said month, submitted by Robert Walker, general superintendent, to J. P. Sanderson, vice-president, and is asked as follows:

Question. In whose handwriting is said paper, and by whom is it signed?

1835 Answer. It is in the handwriting of James H. Bull, of whom I have testified, and is signed by Robert Walker, general superintendent, of whom I have testified; said paper writing is offered in evidence by the Florida Central Railroad Company and is filed marked xhibit No. 2.

A. D. BASNETT, Examiner.

Witness is handed a paper writing purporting to be the annual report made by James Anderson, general superintendent of the operations of the Florida Central Railroad for the period commencing April the 31st, 1871. Said report being made to the president and directors of the Florida Central Railroad Co., and dated April 10th, 1871, and is asked the following:

Question. In whose handwriting is said paper, and by whom is it signed?

Answer. The handwriting of said paper down to the signature is in the handwriting of James Anderson, of whom I have testified, and the signature is his. A sheet of paper attached to said report purporting to be a detailed statement of the operating expenses of the Florida Central Railroad Company from the 1st of April, 1870, to the 31st of March, 1871, I recognize to be in the handwriting of Frank B. Papy, who was at the date of said report connected with the road in the capacity of general freight and ticket agent, and with whose handwriting I am familiar. Said paper writing offered in evidence by the Florida Central Railroad Company, and filed marked Exhibit No. 3.

A. D. BASNETT, Examiner.

Witness is handed a paper writing, dated January 19th, 1871, addressed to James Anderson, general superintendent, by F. B. Papy, G. F. & T. A., per Taylor, purporting to be a statement of earnings of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad and of the Florida Central Railroad for the month of December, 1870; said paper is handed to witness, and he is asked the following:

Question. In whose handwriting is said paper, and by whom is it signed, and what you know about it?

Answer. The handwriting is my own, made out by me in my clerical capacity by direction of F. B. Papy, general freight and ticket agent of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad and of the Florida 1836 Central Railroad Companies. It was taken from the books of said companies, which were kept in the railroad office in Tallahassee, Florida.

Said paper is offered in evidence by the Florida Central Railroad Company, and is filed, marked Exhibit No. 4.

A. D. BASNETT, Examiner.

Witness is handed a letter dated August 2d, 1870, Jacksonville, superintendent's office, F. C. R. R., addressed Col. J. P. Sanderson, president, signed James Anderson, superintendent, and another letter dated June the 30th, 1870, addressed by the same to Col. J. P. Sanderson, president F. C. R. R., and another letter dated Florida Central and Tallahassee Railroads, Tallahassee, Florida, March 28th, 1871, addressed by the same as general superintendent to Col. J. P. Sanderson, president; said three letters are handed to witness, and he is asked the question:

Question. In whose handwriting they are and by whom signed?

Answer. In the handwriting of James Anderson, of whom I have testified, and signed by him.

Said three letters are offered in evidence by the Florida Central Railroad Company, and are filed, marked Exhibits No. 5 & 6 & 7.

A. D. BASNETT, Examiner.

Witness is handed a letter from F. H. Flagg, treasurer, to J. P. Sanderson, president F. C. R. R. Company, dated Tallahassee, Florida, February the 7th, 1871, and is asked:

Question. In whose handwriting is said letter and by whom signed?

Answer. The letter is in the handwriting of F. H. Flagg, of whom I have testified, and is signed by him.

Said letter offered in evidence by the Florida Central Railroad Company, and is filed as Exhibit No. 8.

A. D. BASNETT, Examiner.

During a portion of the time I was employed in the railroad office in Tallahassee. The accounts of the Florida Central Railroad Company and the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company were 1837 kept in said office. Generally speaking, the same books were used by both companies, but separate accounts were kept in them with each company. This was the case during the years 1870 and 1871.
The earnings were kept separately in this way: The passage earnings were distributed to each of said companies by the auditing officer at Tallahassee according to the ticket reports. The freight earnings of the two roads were distributed to the respective companies by the auditing officer at Tallahassee according to the way bills sent up by the several station agents. Mail earnings were distributed according to the mileage of each company. Wharfage earnings were all earned at Jacksonville, and were accordingly credited to the Florida Central Railroad Company. Miscellaneous earnings were distributed according to the facts and circumstances of each case. The expenses of each company were distributed thus: Where vouchers showed that expenditures were made for the benefit of one or the other company exclusively, they were entered and distributed accordingly; where service was rendered by the same person to both companies—as, for instance, by the agent at Lake City, who represented both companies, the cost of his services and labor in the depot were distributed equally. The expenses of the locomotive and car departments were distributed between the two companies by the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company charging the Florida Central Railroad Company a fixed monthly rental for cars and locomotives, a percentage agreed upon, the two companies was distributed between them as to other expenditures. The reports of Robert Walker filed in evidence this morning show this: In 1870 and 1871 the same persons performed official duties for both companies; both companies had the same treasurer, same general superintendent, same general freight and ticket agent, same master of roadway. This was generally the case during those two years, though there may have been exceptions at particular times. Both companies joined in the compensation of those persons who acted jointly for them. My impression is that during a short time in 1871 the road from Lake City to Quincy was called the Tallahassee Railroad, and papers concerning it were made out under that name; my impression is that in 1870 and 1871 the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company owned the rolling stock and nearly all the motive power used on the Florida Central Railroad.

1838 The foregoing testimony being first read over by me to the witness, he signs the same as true and correct.

Present, J. M. Baker, esq., solicitor for the Florida Central Railroad Company, one of the defendants herein.

E. M. L'ENGLE, a witness on the part of the Florida Central Railroad Company, one of the defendants, recalled.

Direct examination by Judge BAKER:

I am acquainted with the handwriting and signature of F. H. Flagg, formerly secretary of the Florida Central Railroad Company, who, in his lifetime, lived in Tallahassee, Florida. A paper writing purporting to be a copy of proceedings of a meeting of the directors of the Florida Central Railroad Company held November 21st, 1870, certified by F. H. Flagg, secretary, to be a true copy from the board of directors of said company, is handed witness, who is asked whether the signature is that of F. H. Flagg, and whether the seal is that of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

Answer. It is the signature of F. H. Flagg, the certificate is in his handwriting, the impression of a seal on said paper is that of the seal which the Florida Central Railroad Company used at that time. I know he was the secretary of the company at that time.

The foregoing testimony being first read over by me to the witness, he signed the same as true and correct.

D. Bloxham, and the seal of the State of Florida, which is filed by me, and marked Exhibit No. 10, E. M. L.

WILLIAM M. DAVIDSON, a witness on the part of the defendant, The Florida Central Railroad Company, being first duly sworn, deposes and testifies as follows:

Direct examination by Judge BAKER:

Was engaged in the year 1870 and 1871 as agent at Baldwin of the Florida Central Railroad Company. J. P. Sanderson was president of said company a part of the time at least, while I was agent at Baldwin; a part of the time I made my report to Robert Walker, as general superintendent; a part of the time to James Anderson, first superintendent of the Florida Central Railroad, and then general superintendent of the entire line from Jacksonville to Quincy, and to F. B. Papy, general freight and ticket agent, and my remittances were made to Mr. Flagg, treasurer of the Florida Central Railroad and the J., P. & M. R. R., the latter road being known as part of the time as the Tallahassee Railroad. My abstracts and freight way-bills were made out as follows: If the freight was for any station on the Florida Central Railroad, Jacksonville and Lake City included, the entire amount was reported in the Florida Central columns; if the freight was destined for some point beyond Lake City then my way bills would show Florida Central and J., P. & M., or Tallahassee, proportions in different columns. Abstracts of freight were made out in accordance with way-bills. The accounts of the two roads were always kept separate and distinct in my office, and in my monthly statements I always signed myself as Florida Central Railroad agent. On all blanks used in my office, and on all blanks used on all the line of the road, there was a column for the Florida Central Railroad earnings. The proportions allowed each road was 1840 changed two or three times while I was at Baldwin. My orders were received from the general freight and ticket agent as to the different proportion to be allowed to the different roads. The accounts of the two roads in my office were kept as entirely separate and distinct as are the accounts of the two roads to-day. In Feb., 1872, I left Baldwin and was sent into Alabama as the traveling agent of the line from Jacksonville to the Chattahoochie. I received such an appointment from Mr. Papy, general freight and ticket agent. J. H. Gardner was general manager at that time, and had been for about three months. There was no change made in the manner of keeping my books in the office at Baldwin, or in the mode of making abstracts and way-bills after Mr. Gardner became general manager, but remained the same until I left my office.

And the testimony being first read over by me to the witness, he signed the same as true and correct.

Examiner.

Met pursuant to adjournment at 4 o'clock p. m.

Present, Hon. J. M. Baker, counsel for the defendant, The Florida Central Railroad Company, counsel for complainants not attending.

1841 ROBERT BRADEN, a witness on the part of the Florida Central R. R. Company, one of the defendants, being first sworn, deposes and says:

Direct examination by Judge BAKER:

Live in Jacksonville; have been in the employment of the Florida Central Railroad since the latter part of the year 1867, and am now in the employ of said company; for several years I have had the charge of making the manifests for all freights forwarded from Jacksonville, and making reports both of freights forwarded and received; I had two books of entries for the business—one for freight forwarded and one for freight received; I had charge of such books, and they were kept by me; I kept them up to last year.

Witness is shown copies of abstracts of freights forwarded from Jacksonville, and is asked:

Question. State what those abstracts are, and from what place they were taken from, and by whom?

Answer. They are abstracts of freights forwarded from Jacksonville, from the office of the Florida Central Railroad Company, to different points on the Florida Central Road and other connecting roads. They were taken from the records which were kept by me, and are copies of the pages on said book indicated therein. They are copies from the records of said books, and were made by Mr. Roby, a clerk in the auditor's office, and myself, and were made to-day.

Question. In what order were they taken from the books?

Question. Explain what the headings of said reports mean.

1842 Answer. The first heading "Ex." stands for expenses; the heading "A. & G." stands for the Atlantic and Gulf Railroad, extending from Live Oak to Savannah; the heading "P. & G.," wherever it occurs, stands for the Pensacola & Georgia Railroad; the heading "J., P. & M.," wherever it occurs, stands for the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad; the heading "Talla.," wherever it occurs, stands for the Tallahassee Railroad (these last three roads are the different names by which the road from Lake City to Quincy was designated at different times); the heading "F. C." stands, wherever it occurs, for the Florida Central Railroad.

The figures under each of the above headings indicate the amount due to the several roads upon the amount of that specific article of freight, and was so done for the purpose of keeping the accounts of such roads separate and to enable each road to have the proper credit.

This mode has been in use ever since I was in office and first took charge of the books, and is now in use.

Solicitor for defendant, the Florida Central Railroad Company, here offers in evidence the abstract shown witness, and is by me filed and marked Exhibit No. 11, E. M. L.

A. D. BASSNETT, Examiner.

Witness is now shown a paper purporting to be an abstract of freight received at Jacksonville, and is asked from what book these abstracts were taken, and by whom and when and what does it purport to be?

Answer. It is taken from the record of freight received at Jacksonville by the Florida Central Railroad, and from the book of the record of such freight kept by me acting in the capacity above stated. These abstracts were taken by me to-day, and they are copies of abstracts of freights received at Jacksonville as entered in the reports of the dates indicated by the Florida Central Railroad.

Question. In what order were they taken from the books?

First, as they appeared on said record-book of date of October 8, 1869.
Next, January 7, 1870. Next, July 29, 1870. Next, January 14, 1843 1871. Next, June 30, 1871. Next, August 1 to August 8, 1872.
The heading "Ex." "A. & G." "P. & G." "J., P. & M." "& Talla," and "F. C," to the different columns in said report mean respectively the same railroad companies as before testified to by me in relation to the abstract of freight forwarded to Jacksonville.

The different columns for the different roads were so kept separate so that each company should receive its proper distribution of freight charges. The same mode of entering freight received at Jacksonville by distributing the same in different columns has been used by me now since entering the offices of the company in 1867.

The figures appearing in the different columns of these abstracts were taken from the way-bills received at Jacksonville from the different points on the road from Lake City to Quincy and other points, and entered in said books at said time by me.

Solicitor for defendant, the Florida Central Railroad Company, here offers in evidence the paper shown to witness, and the same is filed by me and marked Exhibit No. 12, E. M. L.

A. D. BASNETT, Examiner.

And the foregoing testimony being first read over by me to the witness, he signed the same as true and correct.

A. D. BASNETT, Examiner.
R. BRADEN.

And thereupon the time for taking testimony under the rule extending the time for taking the testimony in this cause having expired, the same, so far as taking testimony, is closed.

And upon request of solicitor for the complainant, I herewith note and report to your honorable court the following protest:

Complainant's solicitors being informed by the examiner that testimony was adduced before him by the solicitor of the defendant, 1844 the Florida Central Railroad Company, on Friday and Saturday, the 2d and 3d of May, protests against the report of such testimony by the examiner to the court, because no notice was given to the solicitor of complainant of the intention of said defendant to examine witnesses or introduce and prove documents on these days, and because, besides the want of notice to take testimony at such time, counsel for the complainant was not furnished with the names of the witnesses to be examined, which protest was made by General Davis in writing, on the morning of May 5th, 1879, at 10 o'clock a. m.

And I, therefore, report the same to your honorable court, and the testimony in this case is now closed.

A. D. BASSNETT, Examiner.

May 5th, 1879, six o'clock p. m.

I, Arthur D. Basnett, duly appointed as examiner in this cause, to take testimony and report the same to the court, do hereby certify that I have taken all the foregoing testimony contained in sixty written pages, numbering from one to sixty inclusive, and the same is recorded in my own handwriting, or under my immediate supervision. I further certify that all erasures, alterations, interlineations and marginal notes upon the testimony of any witness, were made before the signing of such testimony by the witness, and under his direction. And I further report that all exhibits herewith returned by me were filed before me at the date indicated on the file mark thereon, and at such periods and in such order as the marks thereon indicate.

1845 Articles of impeachment exhibited by the assembly of the State of Florida, in the name of themselves and of all the people of Florida, against Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, in maintenance and support of their impeachment against him for high crimes and misdemeanors in office, for incompetency and malfeasance, and conduct detrimental to good morals:

ARTICLE I. That said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, at Tallahassee, in the State of Florida, unmindful of the high duties of his office, of his oath of office, and of the requirement of the constitution that he shall see that the laws are faithfully executed, did unlawfully and in violation of the constitution and laws of the State of Florida, cause to be issued, and did himself sign his official signature, as governor, to a large number of State bonds to the amount of five hundred and twenty eight thousand ($528,000) dollars in excess of the amount of bonds authorized to be issued by the act of the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to alter and amend an act entitled an act to perfect the public works of the State," approved June 24, A. D. 1869, approved January 28, 1870, with intent then and there to violate the said act, whereby the said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, did then and there commit and was guilty of a high crime in office, of incompetency, and malfeasance.

Article II. That in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, at Tallahassee, in the State of Florida, said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, unmindful of the high duties of his office, of his oath of office, and in violation of the constitution of the State of Florida, and contrary to the provisions of an act entitled "An act to alter and amend an act entitled an act to perfect the public works 1846 of the State," approved June 24, A. D. 1869, approved January 28, 1870, did then and there, with intent to violate the constitution of the State and the act aforesaid, and without authority of law, fraudulently conspire to issue State bonds to the amount of one million of dollars ($1,000,000) for the purpose of purchasing the stock of the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, for the use and benefit of persons and parties and with full knowledge of and consent to said purpose, and in collusion with such persons and parties for his and their pecuniary benefit, whereby said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, did then and there commit and was guilty of a high crime in office and of incompetency and malfeasance.

Article III. That said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, unmindful of the high duties of his office and of his oath of office, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, at Tallahassee, in the State of Florida, did cause to be issued, and did himself sign his official signature as governor to one million dollars of the State bonds for the purpose of purchasing the stock of the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, for the use and benefit of persons and parties, contrary to and in violation of the constitution of the State of Florida and of the laws of the State of Florida, and especially in violation of an act of the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to alter and amend an act entitled an act to perfect the public works of the State," approved June 24, A. D. 1869, approved January 28, A. D. 1870, and with intent to violate the laws of the State of Florida, and especially said act, whereby the said Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida, did then and there commit and was guilty of a high crime in office and of incompetency and malfeasance.

Article IV. That Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, at Tallahassee, in the State of Florida, unmindful of the high duties of his office and of his oath of office, and in violation of the constitution and laws of the State, and especially of an act entitled "An act to alter and amend," &c., did cause to be issued, and did himself sign his official signature as governor to four million dollars of State bonds for the use and benefit of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company in the State of Florida, having full notice of the fraudulent title of said company to the property of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads, and with intent to violate the constitution and laws of the State of Florida, and especially of the act of the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to alter and amend an act entitled an act to perfect the public works of the State," approved June 24, A. D. 1869, approved January 28, 1870, whereby the said Harrison Reed, governor, &c.

1848 A, E. M. L.—A. D. Basnett, exam.—Filed April 30th, 1879.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., February 8th, 1871.

Messrs. HOLJE, BOISSEVAIN,
Bankers, Amsterdam, Holland:

GENTLEMEN: On December 8th, 1870, Governor Harrison Reed, of Florida, received a telegraphic dispatch from you substantially as follows:

"Being negotiating four million bonds issued by your State, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, beg to know by telegraph from you whether provision made for payment interest, whatever result railroad traffic; financial position of State really sound, and bonds undoubted security?"

To this dispatch Governor Reed replied as follows:

1849 It was hoped that Governor Reed's telegram would have the effect of causing the bonds to be returned, as the railroad companies desired they should be. This has not been done, but on the contrary more bonds than were then out have been sent to Europe for negotiation, though no money, I infer, has yet been realized. I feel it to be my duty, therefore, to make a statement of facts to you, which I hope that you will lay before others who may be interested with you in the negotiations.

When the legislature of Florida enacted the laws under which the bonds your telegram inquired about were issued, it was believed by the two railroad companies, hereafter named, that the proceeds of the State bonds when sold would be honestly and legitimately applied to the extension, through the western portion of this State, of the lines of railroad already built from the eastern to the middle portion. That extension was so much desired by the two companies owning the completed railroads that they were willing to mortgage, and did mortgage, their roads to the State, in order to secure the issuing of State bonds upon which to raise money to enable the newly organized company to build said extension. The railroads which so pledged their mortgage bonds to the State were the Florida Central Railroad, sixty miles long, and the Tallahassee Railroad, one hundred and fifty miles long. The former gave its mortgage bonds to the amount of one million dollars; the latter to the amount of three million dollars; and this latter road consolidated its line with that proposed to be built westward from the completed road and the two companies became one, under the name of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company. But the Florida Central Railroad, commencing at Jacksonville, and running westward sixty miles, was not included in the consolidation. Subsequently, and after three million of the State bonds had been sent to Europe, it was discovered that the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, who had been active in procuring the legislation, and inducing the completed roads to give to the State their bonds in exchange for the State's bonds which were issued to him, had made, even before he got the bonds, secret contracts with some of his creditors, by which the larger portion of the proceeds were to be diverted from the purposes for which the bonds were issued, and were to be applied in payment of individual debts. This produced such dissatisfaction, and caused such investigations by the companies which had mortgaged their roads to the State, as resulted in both of the companies, through their several directories, rescinding the action by which their roads were mortgaged, and recalling the bonds. The million of bonds issued by the State, on the security of a like amount pledged to the State by the Florida Central Railroad, had not then gone into the hands of the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, but were held by a party till certain conditions precedent were performed, before delivery to the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad. That million of bonds then were returned to the State, and the bonds of the company, upon the security of which the others were issued, were withdrawn from deposit with the State, and were in the hands of the party already referred to, to be returned to the company for cancellation, when they were by that party, without the au-1850 thority or knowledge of the railroad company, or of any of its officers, and in violation of the company's resolutions of recall and rescission, delivered to an agent of the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, who by influences best known to himself effected with the governor of the State their re-exchange for the State bonds, which latter were hurriedly and secretly sent out of the State and to Europe before any legal process could be obtained for their detention. This redelivery to the governor of Florida of the Florida Central Railroad Company's million of bonds is a gross fraud on that company, and none who are advised of it, and buy or advance money on the State's bonds, for which they were exchanged, will have any legal or moral right to ask that they receive any benefit or advantage from the security so wrongfully obtained.

The same may be said of the three million of State's bonds issued on the pledge of the same amount of bonds of the Tallahassee or Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad. No one who, having notice of that company's rescission of its action and recall of its bonds, advances money on, or buys the State's bonds for which the others were pledged, will have legally, or morally, any locus standi in curia as against that railroad company. The creditors and stockholders of the railroad companies will assert their right, resist the wrongs that have been perpetrated and attempted, and seek, successfully, redress in the judicial tribunals. You have had the above-mentioned action of the railroad companies brought to your notice by the telegram of Governor Reed, who sent it after consulting with the said companies, and at their instance, and you have incurred all the legal disqualifications to urge against the railroad companies any claim based on their supposed suretyship for any bonds of the State.

An examination of the laws under which the State's bonds were issued discloses that the governor has caused half a million more of bonds to be issued than the law provides for. The law allows the issue of $16,000 per mile upon so much of said roads as may be completed and in running order; only 210 miles were, when the bonds were issued, completed, and only a mile and a half have been completed since, and no more is being completed. This would allow of an issue at the time it was made of only $3,360,000. Add the liberal allowance of ten miles for side tracks, &c., if such unreasonable construction of the law be claimed, and it legalizes only $3,520,000 of the bonds.

To secure the principal and interest of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company's bonds (but not of the bonds of the Florida Central Railroad), the law gives the State of Florida a statutory lien, valid as a first mortgage on that company's road and property, and authorizes the governor, on failure of the company in any payment of principal or interest, to seize and sell the road at auction, and authorizes the State to purchase and to pay for it with any evidence of indebtedness the State may hold against the road, while every other bidder would, in case of purchase, have to pay cash. This summary process is not applicable to the Florida Central Railroad, but to the other road only. What would be the result in case of failure of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad to pay principal or interest on its bonds? The State, if no resistance, or if unsuccessful resistance through the courts were had, might seize, sell, and buy, 1851 paying for the purchase with the road's obligations, while the State might not, perhaps could not, or would not pay her own; nor is there any way known to our system of government by which a State can be compelled to pay its obligations. You will thus perceive the character of the securities offered you, and the taints of fraud that affected them from their first issue, and that still do, and will act advisedly. This communication is made in the interests of the stockholders of the companies whose bonds have, by misrepresentation and bad faith, been obtained and exchanged with the State of Florida for the State's bonds, which you have been, and may still be, negotiating for. The stockholders do not intend to submit to the fraud which has been attempted on them. They seek to have the State's bonds brought back, and a re-exchange effected, and it is to that end that this letter is written. Such a course will prevent litigation. Persistence in the wrong will insure it. Attempts may be made to give credit to the bonds by professional and perhaps by judicial opinions from this State, but the facts that I state are incontestable, and I can give you much more and more detailed information concerning the worthlessness of the securities that you are negotiating for, and I will do so if desired. But I have said enough to make discreet men repudiate the securities and abandon negotiations.

I will say further, that since the mortgage of the railroads to the State, 128 miles of the completed road, being all except twenty-two miles, on which the State has any statutory lien, have been sold by the United States under a judicial process in their favor, issued from a United States court, thus divesting the company's title, and vesting it in the individual purchaser. That sale of course relieves that much of the road of the lien created in favor of the State of Florida by the mortgage before mentioned. You are at liberty to show this letter to whom you please, and to give it the widest publicity, and will oblige me by acknowledging its receipt. I will presume on a very slight acquaintance to refer you, touching myself, to Hon. H. S. Sanford (late U. S. minister to Belgium), at Brussels.

Respectfully,

E. M. L'ENGLE,

Of Counsel for the Florida Central Railroad Company.

1852 (Copy.)

At a meeting of the directors of the Florida Central Railroad Company held November 21, 1870, upon motion of Mr. Papy, a committee was appointed to take in consideration the past issue of bonds, and also to report upon the policy of issuing bonds of the company and the amount.

The president appointed Messrs. Papy, Baker, and Huling said committee.

The board then adjourned to 4 p. m.

4 p. m.—The directors convened pursuant to adjournment, Colonel Sanderson, president, in the chair.

Mr. Papy presented the following report:

The committee finding that the bonds signed by G. W. Swepson, president, and countersigned by H. H. Thompson, treasurer, are in such form as that they cannot be used to carry out the intention of 1853 their issue when they were adopted, report the following resolution in respect thereto:

Resolved, That the resolution adopting the bonds to be issued by this company, signed by George W. Swepson, president, and H. H. Thompson, treasurer, at a meeting of the board of directors held on the 2d of June, A. D. 1870, be, and the same is hereby, rescinded, and that said bonds be destroyed.

M. D. PAPY, Chairman.

On motion, the report was received and adopted.

On motion of Mr. Foster, the resolution was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Papy made the following report:

The committee report the following resolutions in reference to the issue of bonds of the company and the securing the same:

Resolved, That the president cause bonds, payable to bearer, to be prepared, signed, and executed in due form, which shall be issued for purposes of the company, not exceeding seven hundred thousand dollars in amount, with interest at seven per centum per annum, not having more than thirty years to run, with coupons, for interest, attached, payable in New York semi-annually.

Resolved, That said bonds and the interest thereon shall be a first lien or mortgage on the Florida Central Railroad, its equipments, workshops, depots, franchises, and property of every kind; and that the president cause to be prepared and executed such deed of trust or other necessary instrument of writing, under the seal of this company, as may be needful to make the first lien or mortgage in favor of said bonds and the interest thereon effectual to all intents.

M. D. PAPY, Chairman.

On motion, the report was received and adopted.

On motion of Mr. Huling, the resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Adjourned to 4 o'clock next day, at which time the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That this board approve of the form of the trust deed read to the directors to secure the first lien or mortgage of the bonds, and interest thereon, authorized to be issued, and that the president of this company is authorized to select the trustees to whom said deed is to be made, not to exceed three in number.

Adopted.

[SEAL.]

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy from the records of the board of directors.

(Indorsed:) Exhibit No. 9. Filed May 3, 1879. A. D. Basnett, exam.

1854 B, E. M. L.—A. D. Basnett, exam. Filed April 30th, 1879.

In circuit court, Duval County, Florida.

EDWARD M. L'ENGLE, PLAINTIFF,
vs.
MILTON S. LITTLEFIELD, AARON BARNETT, Edward Houstoun, Mariano D. Papy, George W. Swepson, the Florida Central Railroad Company, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, Converse L. Chase, Francis H. Flagg, J. H. Gardiner, Harrison Reed, the governor of the State of Florida, J. P. C. Emmons, the attorney-general of said State, Robert H. Gamble, the comptroller of said State, Simon B. Conover, the treasurer of said State, and John S. Adams, commissioner of lands and immigration of said State, who are, as such officers, trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, the Gulf Steamship Company, and Sidney W. Hopkins, L. Lewis Spring, Charles Fouke, Frank H. Collins, and Robert J. Carpenter, merchants and copartners doing business in the city and State of New York under the firm name of S. W. Hopkins & Co., defendants.

The plaintiff, in behalf of himself and of all others, who, being stockholders of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or of the Florida Central Railroad Company, shall, in due time, come in and seek relief by and contribute to the expense of this action, complaining, alleges as follows:

That, under and by virtue of the provisions of an act of the legislature of the State of Florida entitled "An act to incorporate the 1855 Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, and for other purposes," approved January 24, 1851, and of the provisions of another act of the legislature of the State of Florida entitled "An act to amend an act to incorporate the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company," approved January 7, 1853, the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company was incorporated, and by that name the stockholders and members of said company, their successors and assigns, were authorized to construct and operate a railroad from some tributary of the Atlantic Ocean, within the limits of the State of Florida, having a sufficient outlet to the ocean to admit of the passage of sea steamers thence running through the State, in the most eligible direction, to some point, bay, arm, or tributary of the Gulf of Mexico, west of the Apalachicola River, in West Florida, having a sufficient outlet for sea steamers.

That, in accordance with the rights conferred by these acts, said company constructed a railroad from the town of Jacksonville, in Florida, to the town of Lake City, in said State, and operated the same for a number of years, and surrendered their right to build any portion of the line west of Lake City.

That, in accordance with the authority granted by an act of the legislature of Florida entitled "An act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvements in this State," approved January 6, 1855, the said Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, for the purpose of constructing the railroad authorized by its charter, issued a large amount of bonds.

That, under the provisions of the said act, and the contract therein expressed, these bonds constituted a first lien or mortgage on the said road-bed, iron, equipments, workshops, depots and franchise of the company.

That by said act and contract, it was provided that on failure of the company to pay the sinking fund of one per cent., the trustees, named in the act, should take possession of and sell the said road and all the property of said company.

That said company failed to comply with the requirements of the statute aforesaid, and the trustees took possession of the road and sold it, in conformity with the statute and contract aforesaid, at public auction, on the 4th of March, 1868.

That, at said sale, William E. Jackson and his associates became the purchasers of said road and other property of said company.

That the said purchasers, by an act of the legislature of the State of Florida, approved July 29, 1868, were vested with the powers and franchises granted to the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, by the act aforesaid, entitled "An act to amend an act to incorporate the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company," approved January 7, 1853, and they, and their successors and assigns, were authorized and empowered to exercise the said powers and franchises, so far, and only so far, as they appertained to the railroad constructed, as aforesaid, by the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, from Jacksonville to Lake City, in Florida, and were made a body politic and corporate, under the name of the "Florida Central Railroad Company."

That the said road, if a public work at all, is, and has long been, a completed public work.

1856 That the Florida Central Railroad Company, under its charter (which charter is a contract between the individual stockholders upon the one side, and the State and corporation on the other side), is invested with no functions, rights, or powers, except such as pertain to a completed road, and that, in point of fact, the sole purpose for which the corporation exists, and for which the charter was granted, is the operation, control, management, and maintenance of a completed line of railroad extending from Jacksonville to Lake City, aforesaid.

That the plaintiff is a stockholder in said Florida Central Railroad and a member of said corporation, and is also a stockholder in the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, hereafter mentioned, and a member of that corporation.

That on the 20th of March, 1869, the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company was a corporation, organized and existing under the laws of the State of Florida, with a line of railroad completed from Lake City, Florida, to Quincy, Florida, and engaged in the business of common carriers.

That on the day aforesaid, the Tallahassee Railroad Company was a corporation existing under the laws of the State of Florida, with a line of railway completed from Tallahassee, Florida, to St. Mark's, Florida and engaged in the business of common carriers.

That both of said railroad companies accepted and issued bonds under the provisions of the act of the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvements in this State," approved January 6, 1855, and became subject to all the provisions of said act.

That on the 20th of March, 1869, the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, under the authority vested in them by the third section of said act of the legislature of the State of Florida, upon and because of a failure on the part of said railroad companies to provide and pay the sinking fund as required in said act, on the bonds issued by the said companies, duly sold at public sale the aforesaid railroads, and all the property of each of said companies of every kind, for the sum of $1,415,000, and at that sum one Franklin Dibble and his associates became the purchasers of the said railroads, and of all the property of each of said companies.

And that on the 8th day of April, 1869, the said trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida made and delivered to said purchasers deeds of conveyance of said railroads and property, which deeds were duly recorded in the office of the clerk of the circuit court of Leon County, Florida, on the 22d and 23d days of October, A. D. 1869.

That the purchasers aforesaid paid the said trustees $960,000 on account of the purchase money of said roads, in first mortgage bonds of said companies (issued under the said act of January 6, 1855), at the par value thereof, and the said purchasers received credit therefor.

That the remainder of said purchase money never has been paid, nor the payment thereof in any manner secured, as the plaintiff is informed and believes.

That one George W. Swepson, in consideration of a large and controlling interest in the stock transferred and conveyed to him by the said Franklin Dibble, and the other persons associated with him 1857 in said purchase, and by the consent of the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida, acting by their duly appointed agents, and for other considerations promised to and received by him, undertook to pay the remainder of said purchase money, and to do other things for the benefit of said purchasers (and of the corporation which they, in conjunction with other persons acting with them, intended to be created into by act of the legislature). And the said trustees, acting by their duly appointed agents, accepted said Swepson as their debtor in the place of the said purchasers.

That on the 24th of June, 1869, the legislature of Florida passed an act entitled "An act for the relief of Franklin Dibble, E. M. Cheney and their associates," purchasers of the railroad from Tallahassee to St. Marks and of the railroad from Quincy to Lake City, and incorporating the Tallahassee Railroad Company, by which the said purchasers and their associates were created a body corporate, under the name of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, and were vested with like powers, franchises, and privileges as were granted to the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, and the Tallahassee Railroad Company by the acts incorporating said companies.

That on the 24th of June, 1869, by an act of the legislature of Florida, approved on that day, entitled "An act to perfect the public works of this State," and by an act amendatory thereof, approved January 28th, 1870, a corporation called the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company was created, empowered to build and operate a railroad from Quincy to Pensacola, in said State, and to consolidate its road, or line of intended road, with those of the beforementioned Tallahassee Railroad Company, and of the said Florida Central Railroad Company, and to exercise other powers and privileges.

That the Tallahassee Railroad Company, already mentioned, and the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, as this plaintiff is informed and believes, did, in the manner provided for by said last mentioned act, consolidate their said roads under the name of the latter company, and redistributed the stock.

The plaintiff further says, on information and belief, that before said consolidation, or afterwards, the said George W. Swepson, in consideration that the defendant, Milton S. Littlefield, would pay to the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida the remainder of said purchase money of the said railroad, which remainder, or any part thereof, the said Swepson had not paid as he undertook to do, and for other considerations undertaken by said Littlefield to be performed, he, the said Swepson, transferred and conveyed to said Littlefield, all of his, the said Swepson's, property and interest in the said Tallahassee Railroad Company, or in the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and in the Florida Central Railroad Company (one of these defendants), in which last mentioned company, as in the Tallahassee Railroad Company, or the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, he, the said Swepson, had a majority of the stock interest.

And the property so transferred and conveyed was of value much greater than the unpaid purchase money due to the said trustees.

That, as the plaintiff is informed and believes, said Littlefield received said transfer of interest, with and upon the distinct promise made 1858 by him that he would, out of his own resources, pay such unpaid purchase money. And the plaintiff avers, on his own knowledge, that when the said Littlefield received the said transfer and conveyance, and always before that time, he knew that the said Swepson had not paid said remainder of the purchase money of the said railroad, or any part thereof.

That the said Milton S. Littlefield was elected president of the Jacksonville, Pensocola and Mobile Railroad Company at the time of its organization, and has continued to be president ever since. And that afterwards he was elected president of the Florida Central Railroad Company; and that defendant, Aaron Barnett, claims now to be the president thereof, and to have been elected as such on the 9th or 10th of April, 1872.

That the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company was granted, by the acts incorporating it, the right to build a railroad from Quincy, Florida, westward to the Alabama State line, and that to aid it in doing so, the governor of the State of Florida was, by said acts, directed to deliver to the president of said company coupon bonds of the State, to an amount equal to $16,000 per mile, for the whole length of railroad owned by said company, in exchange for first mortgage bonds of said company; and said acts provided that the State should have a statutory lien on said road as security against loss.

That said acts also provide that the governor, for the purpose of further aiding said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company to speedily construct its road, shall deliver to the president of said company, other coupon bonds of the State of Florida, to the amount of $16,000 per mile, upon receiving from the president of said company first-mortgage bonds of like amount on any portion of the line of railroad between Quincy and Jacksonville, not exceeding one hundred miles of any part of railroad between those points, which provision is contained in the 4th section of the act approved January 4th, 1870.

That, as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, the said Littlefield received from the governor of Florida four million dollars of said bonds of said State, of which one million were issued in exchange for a like amount of bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, delivered to said governor, by said Milton S. Littlefield, which one million of State bonds were issued under section 4, of the act of 1870, above referred to.

That it is claimed by said Littlefield, and by the governor of the State of Florida, that the said million of dollars of bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, delivered to said governor and in exchange for which the million of State bonds were delivered to said Littlefield, constitute a lien upon the line of said road and the property owned by the said Florida Central Railroad Company, or are valid, legal and subsisting obligations of said company to the State of Florida.

Plaintiff says further, on information and belief, that the said million of dollars of bonds of the said Florida Central Railroad Company were deposited with the State about the 4th of January, 1871, without the knowledge or consent of the stockholders or directors, generally, of said company, or of its president, and against the wishes of them, or some of them; and that it was done with the knowledge and consent, and secretly, and by the contrivance of the defendant, Milton S. Littlefield, and in fraud of said company and of the stockholders and 1859 creditors thereof, and in violation of its charter and of the powers and privileges thereof, which never contemplated that said company should engage in the building of any other than its own line of road, or incur any obligation, or pledge its credit, for any other than the purposes mentioned in the charter.

And the plaintiff says that the State of Florida, acting through its officers, was a party to the fraud, and cannot allege ignorance of the facts, or of the law governing said corporation.

That the said Milton S. Littlefield, through himself and his agents, sold most of the said four million dollars of bonds, and, as the plaintiff is informed and believes, received a very large amount of money therefor; the plaintiff cannot say with positiveness or certainty how much, but to the best of his information and belief, more than $1,000,000.

That said bonds were issued by the State, and received by the said Littlefield, as president of the said railroad company, for the purposes stated in said act of the legislature, which were to aid the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company to complete, equip, and maintain its road westward from Quincy to the Alabama line. And the stockholders and creditors of said company, confided in him to receive the said funds and apply them to the purposes for which they were intended. But, instead of carrying out that trust and confidence, the said Milton S. Littlefield has received the said money, or a large proportion of it, and has diverted it from the legitimate uses of the corporation, and has misapplied it to his own personal and private uses and purposes, and has applied only a small proportion thereof to the purposes for which said bonds were issued.

That said Milton S. Littlefield has not given, and fails to give, any sufficient account on the application of said funds; that he has made no report of his receipts and disbursements, or of his administration of said roads, and of the affairs of said companies, since he has been president of them, respectively. And holding, as he does, the majority of the stock in both companies, he exercises an arbitrary and absolute control over their affairs, and by his votes shapes the directory of each company as he pleases.

That he makes, or permits to be made, nominal transfers of small amounts of stock in each company to such persons owning no stock, or insufficient thereof, as he wants elected directors thereof, in order to give them an apparent qualification as such, and causes them, by his votes, to be elected directors, when, in fact, they do not in good faith own any, or, if any, a sufficiency of stock in said companies, and are not really qualified to act as directors in the respective companies, under the respective charters thereof; and causes himself, or such person as he may select, thus to be elected president, and thus he shuns and escapes all investigation into his, or such other person's conduct, as president of said companies respectively.

That the said Milton S. Littlefield has purchased, and claims as his own property, a large amount of the capital stock of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and a large number of the first mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, or of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, or of both (for the non-payment of the sinking fund of which bonds, the said roads were, as has been herein stated, 1860 sold by the trustees of the internal inprovement fund of the State of Florida), which stock in the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or a large amount of which, he obtained by purchase with money realized and obtained from the assets and earnings of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and Florida Central Railroad Company, and not with his individual private funds, all of which purchases so paid for belong to the said corporations.

That the following are some of the purchases of stocks of said railroad made by said Littlefield with funds belonging to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or to the Florida Central Railroad Company, or to both, and claimed now by said Littlefield to be his own property, viz:

From James M. Baker, Silas L. Niblack, and Wilkinson Call, he purchased 3,750 shares of stock in the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, being 1.250 shares from each of them.

On information and belief, plaintiff further says that said Littlefield also in the same manner purchased stock in the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company from Alonzo Huling, F. Dibble, Calvin Dibble, and other persons, paying for the same, directly or indirectly, with funds belonging to the said corporation.

The plaintiff further says, on information and belief, that the stock so purchased by Milton S. Littlefield, and paid for, or contracted to be paid for, directly or indirectly, out of the funds belonging to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and to the Florida Central Railroad Company, constitute, with that which he has otherwise acquired, a majority of the stock of said companies, respectively, claimed by the said Littlefield as his property, and by voting which, directly or indirectly, he controls the organization and management of said companies, respectively, and upon which he claims and assumes the right to receive the dividends, if any there be.

All of which stock, so purchased, belongs to the corporations, respectively, to be divided among the several stockholders pro rata, or has become extinct as stock, thereby increasing by so much the value of each of the remaining shares of stock.

Plaintiff further says that said Milton S. Littlefield, as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, in the latter part of the year 1869, or early in the year 1870, made a contract, in writing, with certain commissioners representing the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, whereby more than one million dollars of the funds of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company were contracted by said Littlefield, as president, to be paid to said commissioners in satisfaction of a debt due by said Littlefield personally and individually, or which was contracted by said Swepson and assumed by said Littlefield, and for which the said railroad company was in no wise responsible.

On information and belief plaintiff says that a part of said money has been paid out of proceeds of the bonds of the State of Florida, issued to said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, under the act aforesaid, approved June 24, 1869, and that said contract is still subsisting.

Plaintiff further says that among the many other misappropriations and diversions by the said Milton S. Littlefield of the funds 1861 belonging to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and the Florida Central Railroad Company, he recites, on information and belief, the following, viz:

He caused to be paid out of said funds the following amounts to the following persons, viz: To Jennie Hunter, $300; Alonzo Huling, $5,000; F. A. Dockray, $5,000; J. L. ReQua, $5,000; A. G. Cattel, $735.60; J. B. Clark, $75,000; to some persons unknown, "for balance of judgment vs. Pensacola and Georgia Railroad, with interest," $30,000; to J. S. Meech, $12,600; to R. R. Swepson, $50,000; to First National Bank of Knoxville, $19,684.36; to C. F. Burton, $10,000; John Rankin, $9,225.17; J. R Campbell, $1,976.87; W. W. Hubbard, $500; W. Cummings & Co., $466; Drew & Davis, $377.53; to some unknown person for Grocers' Bank judgment vs. Road, $5,790; Mrs. E. Holland, $300; John T. Deweese, $20,000; to some unknown person, "balance due on Jacksonville property," $2,590.04; to Governor Reed "on account," $3,500; D. P. Holland "on account," $4,630; T. B. Coddington, $57,895.33; S. W. Hopkins, T. B. Coddington, R. Stewart and others, "for traveling expenses to and from Florida, hotel fares, ocean cables and other expenses while there," $6,216.38; I. B. Clark, for expenses to Florida, $100; G. B. Carse, do. do., $60; R. Stewart, Washington, $100; to divers unknown persons for "legal expenses, defending suits by N. W. Woodfin and L. P. Bayne," $17,850; to a person unknown, having a "draft from Florida," £4,433.19.3 (in English currency); to Baring Brothers & Co., for A. Barnett's claim £19,349.14.1 (in English currency); to Clewes, Habrecht & Co., for G. W. Swepson, £3,717.18.7 (in English currency); to the commissioners of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, £10,000.00.0 (English currency).

Plaintiff further says, on information and belief, that said Littlefield has, as president aforesaid, pledged the proceeds of said State bonds for the payment of the following additional amounts to or on account of the following persons, viz: R. H. Gamble, $15,000; F. H. Flagg, $4,000; T. B. Coddington, $25,000; L. P. Bayne & Co., $200,000; J. H. Porter, $10,000; D. P. Holland, $17,365; Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, $350,000; Governor Harrison Reed, $223,750; and that all of said additional amounts are gross and fraudulent misapplications sought to be made of said proceeds.

Plaintiff further says, on information and belief, that said Milton S. Littlefield has drawn for himself, upon the proceeds of said bonds, at one time $1,178.50, and at various other times £4,981.10.5 (English currency), and the plaintiff says, on information and belief, that nearly all, if not the entire amount of the last stated sums, were misapplied and squandered by said Littlefield for his own purposes.

The plaintiff further says, on the information of S. W. Hopkins & Co., of New York and London, that the said Littlefield, as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, offered to them, and sold to them, the said four million of State bonds, being four thousand bonds, at the price of £100 sterling for each bond, when, at that very time, said Littlefield knew that said bonds were contracted to be sold, or were sold by his agents, for the price of £138.1.10 sterling.

That on or about the 2d of October, 1871, the said Milton S. Littlefield, 1862 without authority of the stockholders, first had and obtained, as this plaintiff is informed and believes, executed, as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a lease of said company's road for the term of two years, to the defendants, Converse L. Chase and F. H. Flagg, for the purposes specified in said lease; among which were, that they should receive the income and profits of said road and apply the same to the payment of certain specified indebtedness thereof, and to the extension of said road westward.

That under said lease one J. H. Gardiner was appointed superintendent of said road, and that under color of said lease the said C. L. Chase, F. H. Flagg and J. H. Gardiner assumed, with the consent of said Littlefield, its president, the exclusive management and control of the Florida Central Railroad, and received its income; and applied it, as this plaintiff is informed and believes, to the payment of the debts of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and to the extension of said railroad westward, and to other purposes of said last mentioned corporation.

That said lease provides that the proceeds, when realized, of the million dollars of bonds, before mentioned, issued by the State of Florida and received by said Littlefield, as president aforesaid, in exchange for a like amount of bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company deposited with the governor of said State, should be applied to the extension of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad westward, and not to legitimate purposes of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

That, as plaintiff is informed and believes, said million, or thereabouts, of said bonds are deposited with or under the control of John Collinson, of London, in the kingdom of England, and have not yet been sold.

Plaintiff states, on information and belief, that the said C. L. Chase, F. H. Flagg and J. H. Gardiner have not accounted to the respective companies for the receipts of said roads, respectively.

The plaintiff further says, on information and belief, that on or about the 30th of November, 1871, the said Milton S. Littlefield, as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and the said C. L. Chase and F. H. Flagg, as trustees, under the lease or deed of trust heretofore mentioned, dated October 2d, 1871, did, by their attorneys duly authorized thereto, and in fraud of the rights of the stockholders of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and of said Florida Central Railroad Company, enter into a written agreement with one L. P. Bayne, and L. P. Bayne & Co., and one S. W. Hopkins & Co., of New York, and with one N. W. Woodfin, of North Carolina, representing the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, whereby it was provided, among other things, that out of the proceeds accrued and to accrue of $1,200,000 of bonds of the State of Florida, issued to the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by said State, under and for the purposes specified in the act of the legislature of said State, already mentioned, approved June 24, 1869, which bonds were then in the hands or under the control of said John Collinson, and of which the million of bonds issued upon the security of a like amount of bonds of 1863 the Florida Central Railroad Company, as already stated, were a portion, there should be paid to the said L. P. Bayne, for himself, and L. P. Bayne & Co., $200,000; and to said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad, $300,000; and by the same contract, it was agreed that the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company undertook to secure to the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company the payment of the further sum of $300,000, and to the said L. P. Bayne and L. P. Bayne & Co., the further sum of $140,000.

The plaintiff further says that all of the money above mentioned, provided by said contract to be paid, was for the payment of debts of said Milton S. Littlefield, as an individual, and not of debts of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company or of the Florida Central Railroad Company; and that, in entering into said contract, the said Milton S. Littlefield and the said C. L. Chase and F. H. Flagg committed a fraud upon the rights of stockholders in said companies, respectively.

Plaintiff further says, on information and belief, that the performance of the terms of said contract has, thus far, been prevented by the intervention of other parties having interests in said fund, but that the same may, unless prevented by this court, be still carried out.

The plaintiff further states, on information and belief, that said Milton S. Littlefield, as president of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and of the said Florida Central Railroad Company, without the advice or consent of the stockholders or directors of said companies (and in violation of section four of the act of the legislature of Florida, already mentioned, approved June 24, 1869, for the incorporation of the Tallahassee Railroad Company), and the said Aaron Barnett, claiming to be a large stockholder and the president of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and one John Scriven and other persons unknown to the plaintiff, are negotiating together to effect a lease of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and of the said Florida Central Railroad, to said John Scriven, who is a citizen of the State of Georgia, and owns a large interest in a railroad out of the State of Florida, or to the Atlantic and Gulf Railroad Company, a corporation created by and existing under the laws of the State of Georgia; among the terms whereof, as the plaintiff is informed and believes, it is designed that the said Milton S. Littlefield shall surrender and assign to such lessee, or to some one else for him, a moiety or a majority of the stock claimed by the said Littlefield as belonging to him in the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and in the said Florida Central Railroad Company, and that all the assets of said companies, including unexpended proceeds of bonds of the State of Florida issued to said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, as herein stated, and such of said bonds as may still be unsold, shall be delivered to said lessee for the purpose of paying to the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida the remainder of the purchase money, still unpaid, of the Pensacola and Georgia and the said Tallahassee railroads, and for which, not the said corporations, but the individual purchasers of the said last mentioned roads, especially said George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield, who took their stock, as herein stated, with the charge that they should pay the said debt, are liable to the said trustees.

1864 Plaintiff further says, on information and belief, that another proposition which the said persons who are negotiating together are considering, in violation of said section of said act of the legislature, is that the said John Scriven or the said Atlantic and Gulf Railroad Company shall lease, for a long term of years, the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and the said Florida Central Railroad, paying yearly a stipulated rental, all of the funds and assets of said companies now in hand being left with said companies to be applied, by said Littlefield, to the payment of the unpaid purchase-money of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad, and of said Tallahassee Railroad, and to other debts, for which, as the plaintiff claims, neither the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company nor the said Florida Central Railroad Company is liable.

On information and belief, plaintiff also says, that said Littlefield or said Barnett, or both of them, are negotiating with C. L. Chase and others to make another lease of said railroads to him and those acting with him, the terms of which are similar to those already stated.

And the plaintiff says, that unless the relief hereby prayed is granted, or a portion of it, one of the said propositions, or some other equally injurious to the stockholders of said road, and in violation of said act, and which may work a forfeiture of the charter of the company created by said act, may be adopted and carried into effect to the great damage of the plaintiff as a stockholder in the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railway Company and in said Florida Central Railroad Company.

The plaintiff further says, that under the management of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and of the said Florida Central Railroad, as it now is, and for twelve or more months has been, the incomes thereof are improvidently used and applied. The said Milton S. Littlefield, as president, is receiving an extravagant salary of, as the plaintiff is informed, ten thousand dollars per year, and has clerks and servants in his employ at an expense to the said companies, as the plaintiff is informed, of several thousand dollars a year; that, as plaintiff is informed, said Littlefield employs in England, New York, Florida and elsewhere, at the expense of said companies, but for the advancement of his own individual purposes, and not for the advantage of the companies, one or more attorneys-at-law in each of said countries and places, and that said president, clerks, servants and attorneys are of no use or benefit to said companies.

That, on or about the 19th of May, 1871, said Littlefield transferred and assigned to defendant, Aaron Barnett, by indenture, recorded in Leon County, Florida, in the clerk's office thereof, 41,963 shares of the stock of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company (which he, the said Littlefield, claimed and claims to own), and all other shares which he then owned, or thereafter might acquire, in the stock of said road, and 4,410 shares of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, which he, the said Littlefield, claimed and claims to own, and all other shares in the said company's capital stock which he then owned or thereafter might acquire; which transfer and assignment was in trust, to secure a certain company, known as the Gulf Steamship Company (a corporation created by the laws of Florida, but whose charter, as 1865 plaintiff is informed, has been repealed), in the payment by the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company of all moneys which might come due thereafter by said railroad company to said Gulf Steamship Company, for work done by said company, in extending the railway of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company westward from the Chattahoochee River.

That, by the terms of said assignment and transfer, said Milton S.

Littlefield reserved the right to vote said stock so assigned at all proper times and places.

That said stock of both companies, so assigned, is made up, in large part, of the stock purchased and paid for, or contracted to be paid for, by said Littlefield, with money belonging to the said companies, as herein stated; and plaintiff says, on information, as to a large portion of said stock so acquired, that the said Barnett knew when he received said stock that said Littlefield had purchased it with money belonging to the said corporations.

That said Gulf Steamship Company has not done any work in extending the said railway westward from Chattahoochee River, and has in nowise become entitled to receive any compensation therefor, or upon any other consideration, from said railroad company. That said Aaron Barnett was a member of said Gulf Steamship Company, and, as its agent, received said stock in trust, and, at the time of receiving it, had notice that the said unpaid purchase-money of the said Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, and of the said Tallahassee Railroad Company, had not been paid to the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida.

Plaintiff states, on information and belief, that the defendants M. D. Papy or Edward Houstoun, or both of them, also claim to hold, or in some way have control over, a portion of the stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, which said Milton S. Littlefield claims to own, which, as herein stated, has been assigned and transferred to said A. Barnett, in trust, and that said Papy or Houstoun, or both of them, claim the right to vote, and do vote, the said stock, or some of it.

That, as plaintiff is informed, said Papy, or Edward Houstoun, or both of them, claim to hold or control said stock, or a portion of it, and also a number of the first-mortgage bonds of the said Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, or of the said Tallahassee Railroad Company, which are claimed to be the property of said Littlefield, or in which he has some legal or equitable interest by virtue of, and for the performance of, some trust, unknown to plaintiff, and which plaintiff calls on them to set forth and substantiate.

And he says further, that, if the said stock and bonds belong to the said Littlefield, they and all stock owned by him, as well as all of his other property, should be held subject to payment of demands of the said corporations and of the stockholders whose money and assets he has misapplied and converted to his own use.

Plaintiff further says, on information, that the defendants herein named, as constituting the mercantile firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., claim or are alleged to have an interest in the last mentioned trusts, and in the bonds and stocks affected, or claimed to be affected, by these trusts, and also in the bonds of the State of Florida, herein mentioned, and that therefore they are made parties defendant to this suit.

Plaintiff further says, that the trustees of the internal improve-1866 ment fund of the State of Florida have commenced suit against the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and other defendants, to recover the sum of $472,000, unpaid purchase money, due as herein stated, and interest thereon from the day of the sale of said roads, and have prayed for and obtained the appointment of a receiver of the said roads, and of the other property of said company, and have prayed for and obtained an order that said receiver take the absolute and exclusive control of not only the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, but also of the Florida Central Railroad, and the receiver, who is Jonathan C. Greeley, has so taken possession and control of said railroads, and the said trustees seek to have the net earnings, not only of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, but also of the Florida Central Railroad, go into the hands of said Greeley and be applied, under the order of the court, to the payment of the purchase money still unpaid, and have obtained an order to that effect.

Plaintiff further says that said Milton S. Littlefield and said Aaron Barnett, in violation of their duty as president of said Florida Central Railroad Company, and in disregard of the interests of said company, and of stockholders therein, have permitted and still permit said receiver to take and hold possession of said railroad, and have made no attempt to recover it, nor to defend said suit.

That said Littlefield, as president of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, has made no attempt to recover possession of said road, nor, as plaintiff is informed, does he intend to defend said action, but will allow judgment to be had by default against said corporation.

Plaintiff further says, on information and belief, that Aaron Barnett, one of these defendants, has received from Milton S. Littlefield, individually, or as president of one of said railroad corporations, a large sum of money, amounting to about $100,000, for the purchase from him, the said Barnett, of steamboats, and for other considerations, uses and purposes which were not intended in and by the act of the legislature of Florida entitled "An act to perfect the public works of the State," approved June 24th, 1869, and the amendments thereto.

That the payments and advances, so made to said Aaron Barnett, were made out of the proceeds of the bonds of the State of Florida, issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, as herein stated, under said act; and that said Barnett, at the time he sold said steamboats and received said money therefor, and for other considerations, uses and purposes not contemplated by said act, knew that said money was the proceeds of the said bonds, and was affected and charged with the trust imposed by said act, and that said trust was violated by the payments made to him.

Plaintiff further says, on information and belief, that said Aaron Barnett received from said Littlefield, individually or as president of said railroad company, a large number of the said bonds of the State issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company for the purposes specified in said act of June 24th, 1869. That said bonds were not delivered to said Barnett for any legitimate lawful purpose or use of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, under the authority of the said act, but for speculative purposes outside of said act, and for uses and upon considerations foreign thereto; all of which was well known to said Littlefield and to said Barnett.

1867 And the plaintiff says, that said Barnett has not applied either said money or said bonds, or the proceeds of said bonds, to the legitimate uses of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company as intended and prescribed by the act aforesaid.

Wherefore the plaintiff demands judgment—

1st. That the delivery of one million dollars of bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company to the governor of the State of Florida, in exchange for one million dollars of the State bonds, be declared to be a fraud perpetrated upon said company and the stockholders; and that said bonds be declared to have no binding legal validity as obligations of said company.

2d. That the defendant, Milton S. Littlefield, be required to render a full, true and accurate statement in detail of his receipts and expenditures, and of those of his agents, from the proceeds of the State bonds, and from the income and assets of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and said Florida Central Railroad Company, respectively, and a statement of the considerations upon which such expenditures were made; and that a reference be had to ascertain and report such receipts and expenditures, and the sources thereof and consideration therefor.

3d. That the defendant, Milton S. Littlefield, be required to surrender all stock in either of said railroads, and all railroad bonds and other property purchased or paid for, in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, with the receipts or assets of said railroad companies, or either of them; and that such purchases be declared to inure to the benefit of said railroad companies, respectively, with whose funds, wholly or partly, the purchase may have been made; and that such stocks, bonds and other property be delivered for safe keeping to the receiver who may be appointed in this suit, and be held subject to the order of this court.

4th. That the defendants, Papy and Houstoun, be required, by the final decree of this court, to deliver to a receiver all stock and evidences of title thereto in the Florida Central Railroad Company, and all bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, and of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, held or controlled by them, or either of them, wherein the said Milton S. Littlefield, or the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or the said Florida Central Railroad Company, has a legal or equitable interest. That the said Barnett be required to deliver to a receiver all stocks, and evidences of title thereto, in the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and in the Florida Central Railroad Company; and all bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, and of the Tallahassee Railroad Company; and all other property held or controlled by him, wherein the said M. S. Littlefield, or the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or the Florida Central Railroad Company, has a legal or equitable interest, and all bonds of the State of Florida, issued in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, received by him from that company, or from its president, or its or his agents or attorneys, or from Milton S. Littlefield, or George W. Swepson, or their agents, or the agent of either of them; and all proceeds of such bonds of the State of Florida, so received by him, the consideration for the reception of which by him was different from the purposes for which said bonds were issued.

1868 5th. That the lease of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, made on the 2d October, 1871, by defendant, Milton S. Littlefield, be annulled and set aside. That said C. L. Chase, F. H. Flagg and J. H. Gardener be required to render a full and accurate statement of the receipts from and the expenditures on account of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and of the Florida Central Railroad, severally and respectively, and a statement of the sources of such receipts, and of the considerations and purposes of such expenditures; and to pay to a receiver or other person, under the order of this court, all moneys received from the income or assets of said roads respectively, and not expended legitimately and legally for the sole and exclusive use, benefit, and advantage of said corporations, respectively, from which moneys may have been received, and that a reference be had to ascertain these facts.

6th. That the defendants, F. H. Flagg and C. L. Chase, be enjoined from receiving any of the proceeds of State bonds of Florida issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and from expending any of such proceeds in their hands.

7th. That the said M. S. Littlefield, president as aforesaid, and his successors, and the said F. H. Flagg and C. L. Chase, their agents and attorneys, be enjoined from carrying out, or attempting to carry out, any part of the agreement made by them through themselves or their attorneys on the 30th day of November, 1871, or about that time, with L. P. Bayne, L. P. Bayne & Co., and S. W. Hopkins & Co., of New York, and N. W. Woodfin, of North Carolina, representing the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, which provided for the payment to the parties above mentioned, or any of them, of any portion of the unexpended proceeds of the bonds of the State of Florida issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, under the act of the legislature of Florida, approved June 24th, 1869, and the amendments thereto; or for the payment to any of said parties of any other moneys by said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, from any other source which said agreement may provide for the payment of.

8th. That the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and the successors of each of them, and the said corporations, be enjoined from leasing said roads, or either of them, or any part thereof, to John Scriven or his associates, or to the Atlantic and Gulf Railroad Company, or any other person or corporation, until the ownership of the stock of said companies be determined by the court, and until duly qualified directors and other officers of said companies have been elected by the votes of holders of a legal and bona fide majority of shares of stock, to be ascertained and determined by the court; and that under all circumstances the said corporations and their officers, respectively, be enjoined from leasing said railroads on terms violative of the rights or interests of any stockholder or creditor, or violative of the law governing said corporations, and that if any lease has already been made that it be vacated and set aside.

9th. That the defendants, Aaron Barnett, M. D. Papy, and Edward Houstoun, be enjoined from selling, transferring, assigning, pledging, making advances upon, or charging, or otherwise disposing 1869 of or encumbering any of the stock of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or of the Florida Central Railroad Company, or any of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company's bonds, or of the Tallahassee Railroad Company's bonds, or any of the bonds of the State of Florida, which they, or either of them, may hold or control in the manner hereinbefore set forth, and especially that the said Barnett may be enjoined from selling, assigning, transferring, hypothecating, charging, making advances upon, or otherwise disposing of or encumbering any of the stock of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or of the Florida Central Railroad Company, which he holds, or held, in trust, by indenture to him by M. S. Littlefield, executed on or about the 19th of May, 1871, to secure the Gulf Steamship Company in certain undertakings then had by and between said Littlefield and said Gulf Steamship Company; and that said Papy, Houstoun, and Barnett be enjoined from voting any of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company's, or Florida Central Railroad Company's stock, in any meeting of stockholders of said companies, or either of them.

10th. That said Milton S. Littlefield be enjoined, until further order of the court, from selling, transferring, assigning, pledging, or otherwise disposing of or encumbering any of the stock in the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or in the Florida Central Railroad Company, owned or claimed by him, or in which he has or claims to have an interest, legal or equitable.

That he be enjoined from voting in any stockholders' meeting any stock in either of said companies which was purchased or paid for, in part or in whole, directly or indirectly, with any money or assets of said railroad corporations, or either of them; and that he be required to deliver to a receiver, to be appointed by the court, all such stocks and bonds, to be held subject to the judgment in this suit.

11th. That the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, the Florida Central Railroad Company, and the president of each of said companies, and the said Milton S. Littlefield and said Aaron Barnett, be enjoined, until the further order of this court, from using or in anywise disturbing the bonds of the State of Florida, if unsold, or their proceeds if sold, which were issued in exchange for bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

12th. That the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida be enjoined from proceeding in their said suit, or upon their alleged cause of action, against the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company till they have exhausted George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield; and that they be enjoined from proceeding at all and under any circumstances against the Florida Central Railroad Company..

13th. That the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad and the said Florida Central Railroad be taken out of the hands of the receiver appointed in said suit of said trustees, and that they be put in the custody and control of a receiver to be appointed for the purposes of this suit, and that the order in said suit appointing a receiver be vacated; and that the earnings of said roads and all property of said companies in the hands of the receiver appointed at the instance of the said trustees, be delivered and paid to the receiver herein prayed to be 1870 appointed.

14th. That Aaron Barnett be required to deliver and pay to the receiver herein prayed for, or to such other person as the court may name, the money received by him out of the proceeds of bonds of the State of Florida issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or out of the funds or assets of the said Florida Central Railroad Company, with interest thereon from the time of his receiving the same.

15th. That a receiver, or receivers, be appointed for the purposes of this suit with the necessary and usual powers, and that he or they be instructed and empowered as herein prayed.

16th. That the plaintiff may have such other relief as may be just and requisite for the protection or enforcement of his rights, and that he may recover his costs in this suit.

EDWARD M. L'ENGLE, PLAINTIFF,
vs.
MILTON S. LITTLEFIELD, AARON BARNETT, Edward Houston, Mariano D. Papy, George W. Swepson, The Florida Central Railroad Company, The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, Converse L. Chase, Francis H. Flagg, J. H. Gardiner, and Harrison Reed, governor, J. P. C. Emmons, attorney-general, Robert H. Gamble, comptroller, Simon B. Conover, treasurer, and John S. Adams, commissioner of lands and immigration of the State of Florida, Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund of the State of Florida, and the Gulf Steamship Company, and S. W. Hopkins & Co., defendants.

JACKSONVILLE, FLORIDA, May 11*th*, 1872.

On the sworn complaint in the above-entitled action and on the notice therein made by the plaintiff for a preliminary injunction against the defendants, and sufficient reason appearing why the same should be granted, it is hereby ordered that until the further order of the court the said defendants and each of them hereafter named, their officers, agents, attorneys, employees, and servants, and each of them, be, 1872 and they hereby are, severally and respectively enjoined and restrained as follows, that is to say:

1st. The defendants Converse L. Chase and Francis H. Flagg are enjoined from receiving, as trustees or otherwise, any of the proceeds of State bonds of Florida issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and from expending any of such proceeds in their hands.

2d. The defendant Milton S. Littlefield, president, as aforesaid, and his successors, and the said Francis H. Flagg and Converse L. Chase, their agents and attorneys, are enjoined from carrying out or attempting to carry out any part of the agreement made by them, through themselves or their attorneys, on the 30th day of March, 1871, or thereabouts, with L. P. Bayne, S. P. Bayne & Co., and S. W. Hopkins and Co., of New York, and N. W. Woodfin, of North Carolina, representing the Western Division of Western North Carolina Railroad Company, which provides for the payment to the parties above named, or any of them, of any portion of the unexpended proceeds of bonds of the State of Florida issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, under the act of the legislature of Florida, approved June 24th, 1869, and the amendments thereto, and from the payment to any of said parties of any other moneys by said Jacksonville, Pensa-1873 cola and Mobile Railroad Company from any other source, which said agreement may provide for the payment of.

3d. Milton S. Littlefield, as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and Aaron Barnett, as president of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and the successors of each of them and the said corporations, are enjoined from leasing said railroads, or either of them, or any part thereof, to John Scriven or his associates, or to the Atlantic and Gulf Railroad Company, or to any other person or corporation.

4th. The defendants Aaron Barnett, Mariano D. Papy, and Edward Houston are enjoined from selling, assigning, transferring, pledging, making advances upon, or charging, or otherwise disposing of or encumbering any of the stock of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or the Florida Central Railroad, or any of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company's bonds, or of the Tallahassee Railroad Company's bonds, or any of the bonds of the State of Florida, which they or either of them may hold or control as the property legally or equitably of the defendant Milton S. Littlefield, or of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or the Florida Central Railroad Company, or in which the said Littlefield or either of 1874 said corporations may have an interest. The defendant Aaron Barnett is especially enjoined from selling, transferring, assigning, hypothecating, charging, making advances upon, or otherwise disposing of or encumbering any of the stock in the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Company, or in the Florida Central Railroad Company, which he holds or held in trust by indenture to him by Milton S. Littlefield, executed on or about the 19th day of May, 1871, to secure the Gulf Steamship Company in certain undertakings then had by and between said Littlefield and others and said Gulf Steamship Company, and the said Papy, Houston, and Barnett are enjoined from voting any of said stock in any meeting of the stockholders of said companies or of either of them.

5th. The defendant Milton S. Littlefield is enjoined from selling, transferring, assigning, pledging, or otherwise disposing of or encumbering any of the stock in the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company or in the Florida Central Railroad Company owned or claimed by him, or in which he has or claims to have an interest, legal or equitable, or any other property owned or claimed by him, or in which he has or claims a legal or equitable interest. He is further enjoined from voting in any stockholders' meeting any stock in either of said compa-1875 nies which was purchased or paid for in part or in whole, directly or indirectly, with any money or assets of said railroad corporations or either of them.

6th. The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, the Florida Central Railroad Company and the said Milton S. Littlefield and Aaron Barnett are enjoined until the further order of this court from using or in anywise disturbing the bonds of the State of Florida, if unsold, or their proceeds if sold, which were issued in exchange for bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

7th. The trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida are enjoined from proceeding in their suit or upon their alleged cause of action against the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company till they have exhausted their remedy against the defendants, George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield, and they are enjoined from proceeding at all in said suit or upon their alleged cause of action against the Florida Central Railroad Company.

And on the complaint on this action let the defendants or their attorneys show cause before this court or the judge thereof why the foregoing order or some order to be made of like purport and effect 1876 should not be continued in full force and until the final judgment and decree in this suit, and until the foregoing order is modified let the same be in full force and effect.

May 11th, 1872.

1877 JACKSONVILLE, Jan'y 21, 1871.

Col. E. HOUSTON :

D. SIR : I received a few days since what I suppose to be a copy of the paper you took on surrendering a million of the bonds of the Central Road. I am at a loss for language to express my surprise that you should have parted with the bonds at all, under any circumstances, without first consulting the board of directors of that company. Still more am I surprised that you should undertake to act on your own responsibility, and create trusts and liens upon the bonds different from those under which you received them, and changing the priority of liens created by other parties, over whose interests you had no control or authority to represent. It is useless now to speak of the effect of parting with the bonds, or the loss we may sustain. They are gone—gone without the consent of the parties having specific liens on them—gone without the sanction or consent of the company, whose property they are, and gone, too, without one particle of security for the return of the bonds if not sold, or proceeds if sold, and delivered 120 to a man who comes in the interest of S. W. Hopkins & Co., a house that procured 1878 the other bonds under false pretences, a house unworthy of credit, which has broken every engagement or contract they have ever made in reference to the bonds. I would not trust them to collect a draft of five dollars. Our bonds are delivered to a man who has confided in that house, who has come for a consideration in their interest.

I see by the paper you sent me that you arrange the priorities of liens 1 yourself according to the old agreement, 2 M. D. Papy, 3 R. H. Gamble. Here I desire to ask when did you get authority giving M. D. Papy a lien prior to mine, and those I represent, and by what authority did you create the lien of R. H. Gamble and others? And yet you know that there was to come to me as president of the company $340,000, and have let the bonds go without any provision for this amount or any part of it. I can only deny and protest against your action in this matter, both on behalf of my individual interest, those I represent, and as president of the company.

I fear the consequences of your action, and can only say that if 1879 my health had permitted should have felt it my duty both to myself and the company to have followed them and arrested the party with bonds as having obtained them without authority, by false pretenses and fraud.

I can but suggest that you owe it to yourself, to all others intrusted, to the company and State, to see that those bonds are returned at once and everything restored to its position as it was when, at your request, the company ordered an issue of a 1st-mortgage bonds. If that should prove impossible, you should certainly secure a prompt return of all the proceeds in accordance with the original agreement made and signed by you and M. S. Littlefield. Suppose, now, you were to get your money and you surrendered the stock now held by you to him, where would the rest of us stand? You have stipulated to do this on your getting your money without refference to whether we get the balance or not; but I forbear. Nothing has ever occurred with which I have had any connection so mortifying & painful, so inexplicable.

Respectfully,

J. P. SANDERSON.

(Indorsed:) Exhibit D, E. M. L. Filed May 1, 1879. A. D. Basnett, examiner.

1880 In the U.S. circuit court, 5th circuit, northern dist. of Florida. In chancery.

To the honorable the judges of said court:

Francis P. Porcher, of Charleston, a citizen of the State of South Carolina, by E. M. L'Engle, his attorney, in behalf of himself and of all others, except the defendants hereto, being stockholders of the Florida Central Railroad Company hereinafter mentioned, who shall, in due time, come in and seek relief by, and contribute to, the expenses of this action, brings this his bill against the Florida Central Railroad Company, a corporation created by, and existing under, the laws of the State of Florida, having its principal place of business in the district aforesaid, a citizen of the State of Florida, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a corporation existing under, and created by, the laws of the State of Florida, having its principal place of business in the district aforesaid, a citizen of the State of Florida, and against Milton S. Littlefield, Mariano D. Papy, Edward Houstoun, Converse L. Chase, Francis H. Flagg, J. H. Gardiner, Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida; Samuel T. Day, lieutenant-gov-
1881 ernor of the State of Florida, who claims to be the acting governor thereof; Horatio Bisbee, jr., who claims to be the attorney-general of the State of Florida; Robert H. Gamble, the comptroller of said State; Simon B. Conover, the treasurer of said State; and John S. Adams, the commissioner of lands and immigration of the said State, who, as such officers, are also trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, all of which defendants are citizens of the State of Florida and residents of the northern district thereof, and thereupon your orator complains and says—

That under and by virtue of the provisions of an act of the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to incorporate the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, and for other purposes," approved January 24, 1851, and of the provisions of an act of the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to amend an act to incorporate the Florida Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company," approved Jan'y 7th, 1853, the Florida Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company was incorporated, and by that name the stockholders and members of said company, their successors and assigns, were authorized to construct and operate a railroad from some tributary of the Atlantic Ocean within the limits of the State of Florida, having a sufficient outlet to the ocean to admit of the passage of sea steamers, thence run-1882 ning through the State in the most eligible direction to some point, bay, arm or tributary of the Gulf of Mexico west of the Appalachicola River, in West Florida, having a sufficient outlet for sea steamers.

That in accordance with the rights conferred by these acts said company constructed a railroad from the town of Jacksonville, in Florida, to the town of Lake City, in said State, and operated the same for a number of years, and surrendered their right to build any portion of the line west of Lake City. That in accordance with the authority granted by an act of the legislature of Florida, entitled "An act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvements in the State," approved Jan'y 6th, 1855, the said Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, for the purpose of constructing the railroad authorized by its charter, issued a large amount of bonds.

That under the provisions of said act, and the contract therein, and in the said bonds expressed by the company, these bonds constituted a first lien or mortgage on the said road-bed, iron, equipments, workshops, depots and franchises of the company.

That by said act and contract it was provided that on failure of the company to pay the sinking fund of one per cent. the trustees named in the act should take possession of and sell the said road 1883 and all the property of said company. That said company failed to comply with the requirements of the statute aforesaid, and the trustees took possession of the road and sold it in conformity with the statute and contract aforesaid, at public auction, on the 4th of March, 1868. That at said sale William E. Jackson and his associates became the purchasers of said road and other property of said company. That the said purchasers, by an act of the legislature of the State of Florida, approved July 29th, 1868, were vested with the powers and franchises granted to the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company by the act aforesaid, entitled "An act to amend an act to incorporate the Florida, Atlantic & Gulf Central Railroad Company," approved July 7th, 1853, and they and their successors and assigns were authorized and empowered to exerci*y*e the said powers and franchises in so far, and in so far only, as they app*ur*tained to the railroad constructed as 'foresaid by the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company from Jacksonville to Lake City, in Florida, and were made a body corporate and politic under the name of the "Florida Central Railroad Company." That the said road, if a public work at all, is, and has long been, a completed public work. That the Florida Central Railroad Company 1883½ under its charter, which charter is a contract between the individual stockholders upon the one side, and the State and corporation on the other side, is invested with no functions, rights or powers except such as pertain to a completed road, and that, in point of fact, the sole purpose for which the corporation exists, and for which the charter was granted, is the operation, control, management, and maintenance of a completed line of railroad, extending from Jacksonville to Lake City aforesaid. That the complainant is a stockholder in said Florida Central Railroad, and a member of said corporation, owning stock therein to the amount of $2,000, and of the value of $2,000.

Your orator further says that on the 20th of March, 1869, the Pensacola & Georgia Railroad Company was a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Florida, with a line of railroad completed from Lake City, Florida, to Quincy, Florida. That on the day aforesaid the Tallahassee Railroad Company was a corporation existing under the laws of the State of Florida, with a line of railroad completed frem Tallahassee, Florida, to St. Mark's, Florida. That both of said railroad companies accepted and issued bonds under the provisions of an act of the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal im-

1884 provements in this State," approved Jan'y 6th, 1855, and became subject to all the provisions of said act.

That on the 20th of March, 1869, the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, under the authority vested in them by the 3rd section of the said act of the legislature of the State of Florida, upon and because of a failure on the part of the said railroad companies to provide and pay the sinking fund, as required in said act, on the bonds issued by the said companies, duly sold a' public sale the aforesaid railroads, and all the property of each of said companies, of every kind, for the sum of $1,415,000; and at that sum one Franklin Dibble and his associates became the purchasers of the said railroads, and all the property of each of said companies. That the purchasers aforesaid paid to the said trustees $960,000 on account of the purchase money of said roads in 1st mortgage bonds of said companies (issued under the said act of January 6, 1855), at the par value thereof, and the said purchasers received credit therefor, but the remainder of said purchase money has not been paid, as your orator is informed and believes.

That one George W. Swepson, in consideration of a large and 1885 controlling interest in the stock of said roads, transferred and conveyed to him by the said Franklin Dibble and the other persons associated with him in the said purchases, and by the consent of the said trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida, acting by their duly appointed agents, and for other considerations received and promised to him, undertook to pay the remainder of said purchase money, and to do other things for the benefit of the purchasers and of the corporation which they, in conjunction with other persons acting with them, intended to be created into, by act of the legislature of Florida; and the said trustees, acting by their duly appointed agents, accepted said Swepson as their debtor in the place of the said purchasers.

That on the 24th of June, 1869, the legislature of Florida passed an act entitled "An act for the relief of Franklin Dibble, E. M. Cheeney, and their associates, purchasers of the railroad from Tallahassee to St. Mark's, and of the railroad from Quincy to Lake City, and incorporating the Tallahassee Railroad Company," by which the said purchasers and their associates were created a body corporate under the name of the Tallahassee Railroad Company and were vested with like powers, franchises, & privileges as were granted to the Pensacola 1886 and Georgia Railroad Company and to the Tallahassee Railroad Company by the acts incorporating said companies.

That on the 24th of June, 1869, by an act of the legislature of Florida approved on that day, entitled "An act to perfect the public works of the State," and by an act amendatory thereof approved June 28th, 1870, a corporation called the "Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company" was created, empowered to build and operate a railroad from Quincy to Pensacola in said State, and to consolidate its road or line of intended road with those of the before mentioned Tallahassee Railroad Company and of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and to exercise other powers and privileges.

That the Tallahassee Railroad Company already mentioned, and the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, as the complainant is informed and believes, did, in the manner provided for by said last mentioned act, consolidate their said roads under the name of the latter company and redistributed the stock.

Your orator further says on information and belief that afterwards the said George W. Swepson, in consideration that the defendant Milton S. Littlefield would pay to the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida the remainder of said purchase money of the 1887 said railroads, which remainder or any part thereof the said Swepson had not paid as he undertook to do, and for other considerations undertaken by said Littlefield to be performed, he the said Swepson transferred and conveyed to the said Littlefield all of his, the said Swepson property and interest in the said Tallahassee Railroad Company and in the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and in the Florida Central Railroad Company, in which last mentioned company, as in the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, he, the said Swepson, had a majority of the stock interest. And the property so transferred and conveyed was of value much greater than the said unpaid purchase-money due to the trustees.

That, as complainant is informed and believes, said Littlefield received said transfer of interest with and upon the distinct promise made by him that he would out of his own resources pay such unpaid purchase-money. And when he received the said transfer and conveyance and always before that time he knew that the said Swepson had not paid said remainder of the purchase-money of the said railroads or any part thereof.

That the said Milton S. Littlefield was elected president of the 1888 Jacksonville, Pensacola, and Mobile Railroad Company at the time of its organization and has continued to be the president ever since, and that afterwards he was elected president of the Florida Central Railroad Company and continued to be president thereof until the 9th April, 1872, when, or about that time, one A'ron Barnett, of Savannah, a citizen of the State of Georgia (and because he is a citizen of the State of Georgia he is not made a party defendant hereto), was, as complainant is informed, elected president of said railroad company.

That the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company was granted by the acts incorporating it the right to build a railroad from Quincy, Florida, westward to the Alabama State line, and to aid it in doing so the governor of the State of Florida was by said acts directed to deliver to the president of said company coupon bonds of the State to an amount equal to $16,000 per mile for the whole length of railroad owned by the said company in exchange for 1st mortgage bonds of said company, and the said acts provided that the State should have a statutory lien on said road as security against loss.

That said acts also provide that the governor, for the purpose 1889 of further aiding said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company to speedily construct its road, shall deliver to the president of said company other coupon bonds of the State of Florida to the amount of $16,000 per miles upon receiving from the president of said company 1st mortgage bonds of like amount on every portion of the line of railroad between Quincy and Jacksonville not exceeding one hundred miles of any part of railroad between those points, which provision is contained in the 4th section of the said act approved Jan. 20th, 1870.

That as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company the said Littlefield received from the governor of Florida $4,000,000 of said bonds of said State, of which one million were issued in exchange for a like amount of bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, delivered to said governor by said Milton S. Littlefield, which one million of said bonds were issued under section 4 of the act of 1870, above referred to.

That it is claimed by said Littlefield, and by the governor of the State of Florida, that the said million of dollars of bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, delivered to said governor, and in exchange for which the million of State bonds were delivered to said Little-1890 field, constitute a lien upon the line of road, and the property owned by the said Florida Central Railroad Company, or are valid, legal, and subsisting obligations of said company to the State of Florida, which claim or pretense the complainant says is not true, because, as stated, the said bonds are a fraud on the corporation, and because their delivery for the purpose stated if the act of the corporation was and is ultra vires. And for the further reason that the million of bonds of the State of Florida, for which they were exchanged, and which they are held as security against loss from, are themselves fraudulent and void, as obligations of the State.

The complainant says further, on information and belief, that the said million dollars of bonds of the said Florida Central Railroad Company were deposited with the State of Florida, or the governor thereof, about the 4th Jan'y, 1871, without the consent or knowledge of the stockholders or directors generally of said company, or of the president thereof, and against the wishes of most of them, and of the president of the company, and that it was done with the knowledge and consent, and secretly, and by the contrivance of the defendant, Edward Houston, 1891 who was a director in said company, and of the said Milton S. Littlefield, who was also a director at the time of said company, and in fraud of said company, and of the stockholders and creditors thereof, and in violation of its charter and of the powers and privileges thereof, which never contemplated that said company should engage in the building of any other than its own line of road, or incur any obligations, or pledge its credit for any other than the purposes mentioned in the charter. And the complainant says that the State of Florida, acting through its officers, was a party to the fraud, and cannot allege ignorance of the law or of the facts, and of this violation of the law governing said corporation.

The complainant further says, on information and belief, that the said million dollars or thereabouts of State bonds, issued in exchange for bonds to same amount of the Florida Central Railroad Company, are deposited with, or are under the control, subject to the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, of one John Collinson, of London, in the kingdom of England, and have not yet been sold, or if sold have not been delivered to purchasers.

1892 That in or about the 2nd October, 1871, the said Milton S. Littlefield, as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad company, executed a lease of said company's road for the term of two years, to the defendents, Converse L. Chase and Francis H. Flagg, for the purposes specified in said lease, among which were that they (the lessees) should receive the income and profits of said road, and apply the same to the payment of certain specified indebtedness thereof, and to the extension of said road westward.

That under said lease one I. H. Gardiner, one of these defendents, was appointed superintendent of said road, and that, under color of said lease, the said C. L. Chase, F. H. Flagg, and I. H. Gardiner assumed, with the consent of said Littlefield, its president, the exclusive management and control of the Florida Central Railroad, and received its income and applied it, as the plaintiff is informed and believes, to the payment of the debts of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and to the extension of said road westward, and to other purposes of said last-mentioned corporation.

That said lease provides that the proceeds, when realized, of 1893 the one million dollars of bonds before mentioned, issued by the State of Florida, and received by said Littlefield, as president aforesaid, in exchange for a like amount of bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, deposited with the governor of said State, should be applied to the extension of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad westward, and not to legitimate purposes of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

The complainant further says, on information and belief, that the said C. L. Chase, F. H. Flagg, and I. H. Gardiner have not accounted to the Florida Central Railroad Company for the income and property of said road and company, and that the said M. S. Littlefield has made no report of his receipts and disbursements, or of his administration of said road and the affairs of said company while he was its president; and that during that time, and ever since, the income of said road has been diverted from the uses of said company, and applied partly to the use of the other company, of which said Littlefield was and is president, as stated, and, in part, it has been misappropriated by said Littlefield 1894 to his own personal uses; and that, although the income of the said road has greatly exceeded its legitimate expenses, no dividend has been declared, nor any report made to stockholders of the application of such income.

The complainant further says, on information and belief, that on or about the 30th November, 1871, the said Milton S. Littlefield, as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company (being at the same time president of the Florida Central Railroad Company), and the said C. L. Chase and F. H. Flagg, as trustees under the said lease, having the possession and management at the same time of the Florida Central Railroad, did, by their respective attorneys duly authorized thereto, and in fraud of the rights of stockholders of the Florida Central Railroad Company, enter into a written agreement with one L. P. Bayne and L. B. Bayne and Co., and one S. W. Hopkins & Co., of New York, and with one N. W. Woodfin, of North Carolina, representing the western division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, whereby it was provided among other things that out of the proceeds accrued and to accrue of $1,200,000 of bonds of the State of Florida, issued to the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company by said State under and for the purpose specified in the act of the legislature of said State, already mentioned, which bonds 1895 were then in the hands or under the control of said John Collinson, and of which the million of bonds issued upon the security of a like amount of bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company as already stated were and are a portion, there should be paid to the said L. S. Bayrnes, for himself and L. P. Bayne & Co., $200.000, and to the said western division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, $300,000.

That none of the money above mentioned, provided by said contract to be paid, was for the payment of debts of the Florida Central Railroad Company, or inured, or was intended to inure in any manner, to the benefit of that corporation; but that on the contrary all the said sums of money were for the payment of debts of said Milton S. Littlefield as this complainant is informed and believes; and in entering into said contract the said Milton S. Littlefield and the said C. L. Chase and F. H. Flagg (the last named being also the secretary and treasurer of the Florida Central Railroad Company) committed a fraud upon the rights of stockholders in the Florida Central Railroad Company. The complainant says further, on information and belief, that the per-1896 formance of the terms of said contract has thus far been prevented by the intervention of other parties having interests in said funds, but that the same may, unless prevented by this court, be still carried out.

The complainant further says, on information and belief, that said Littlefield and said Aron Barnett and John Scriven, a citizen of the State of Georgia, and other persons unknown to the plaintiff, have been for the last month and still are negotiating together to effect a lease of the Florida Central Railroad to said John Scriven, or to the Atlantic and Gulf Railroad Company, a corporation created by and existing under the laws of the State of Georgia, among the terms whereof, as complainant is informed and believes, it is designed that all the assets of said company, (the Florida Central Railroad Company), and the unexpended proceeds of bonds of the State of Florida issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, as herein stated, and such of said bonds as may still be unsold shall be delivered to said lessee for the purpose of paying to the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida the remainder of the purchase money still unpaid of the Pensacola and Georgia and the Tallahassee Railroads, and 1897 for which not the Florida Central Railroad Company is responsible, but the individual purchasers, and especially the said Milton S. Littlefield, who took his stock with the charge that he should pay the said debt.

On information and belief, complainant says that another proposition which said persons are considering is that the said Scriven or the said Atlantic and Gulf Railroad Company shall lease for a long term of years the Florida Central Railroad, all of the funds and assets of the company now on hand, and the State bonds and proceeds thereof aforesaid being left with the said Milton S. Littlefield, to be applied by him to the payment of the unpaid purchase money of Pensacola and Georgia Railroad and the Tallahassee Railroad, due to the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida, and to other debts for which the Florida Central Railroad Company is in no wise liable.

On information and belief, complainant further says that said Littlefield or said Barnett, or both of them, are negotiating with said C. L. Chase, and others unknown, to make another lease of said road to him and those acting with him, on terms similar to those already 1898 stated. And the complainant says that unless the belief hereby prayed or a portion of it is granted, one of the said propositions or some other equally injurious to the stockholders of said road may be adopted and carried into effect.

The complainant further says, on information and belief, that the defendants, M. D. Papy or Edward Houstoun, or both of them, also claim to hold or in some way have control over a portion of the stock in the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or in the Florida Central Railroad Company, or in both of them, which said Littlefield claims to own, and that said Papy or Houstoun, or both, claim the right to vote and do vote the said stock, or some of it. That as complainant is informed said Papy or Houstoun, or both of them, claim to hold or control said stock, or a portion of it, by virtue of and for the performance of some trust unknown to complainant, but which he is informed by said Littlefield has no existence; and the complainant is further informed by said Littlefield that all such pretence of said Papy and Houstoun are without foundation.

The complainant further says he is informed that said M. D. Papy or

Edward Houstoun, or both of them, under some trust unknown 1899 to complainant, holds or controls a number of the first-mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, or of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, or of both of them, which are claimed to be the property of said Littlefield, or held for his benefit, or in which he has some interest, legal or equitable.

And the complainant further says, on information derived from said Littlefield, that he, the said Littlefield, has in his possession or control, or claims to be the owner of a large number of said first-mortgage bonds.

And the complainant further says, on information and belief, that a large portion of the railroad stock and bonds held by said Papy, Houstoun and Littlefield, as herein stated, was purchased and paid for, or contracted to be paid for, by said Littlefield with money belonging to the Florida Central Railroad Company, directly or indirectly; and that all stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company so purchased and paid for, or contracted to be paid for, has become extinct, or should be divided among the stockholders pro rata; and such stock, as well as stock in any other corporation; and all bonds and other property so paid for, or contracted to be paid for, belong to said corporation.

1900 And the complainant says further that if the said bonds and stock belong justly to the said Littlefield, they and all other property owned by him should be subject to payment of demands of the said Florida Central Railroad Company, and of the stockholders whose money and assets he has squandered and misapplied and converted to his own use.

And the complainant says further, on information and belief, that the said Littlefield, Papy and Houstoun vote the stock so held by them, but really owned by the company, and thereby control the management of the company; that they make nominal transfers of small amounts of stocks to such persons owning none or an insufficiency thereof as they want elected directors, in order to give them an apparent qualification, and by their votes cause such persons to be elected directors, when in fact they are not qualified to act as such.

The complainant further says that said M. S. Littlefield has judgments against him in the State of Florida to a very large amount, namely, to nearly if not quite $100,000, unsatisfied, and that except the said stock in said R. R. companies and said bonds, he has not in 1901 this State, or, so far as complainant is informed, elsewhere any visible property except what is exempt by law from levy and sale; and even of that nearly all of it is mortgaged for its full value. And on information and belief, the complainant therefore says that said Littlefield is utterly insolvent.

The complainant further says that the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida have commenced suit against the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and the Florida Central Railroad Company and other defendants to recover the sum of $472,000 unpaid purchase money due as herein stated, and interest thereon from the day of the sale of said road, and have prayed for and obtained the appointment of a receiver of the said roads and of the property of said companies, and have prayed for and obtained an order that said receiver take the absolute and exclusive control of not only the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, but also of the Florida Central Railroad, and the receiver, who is Jonathan C. Greeley, has so taken possession and control of said roads. And the said trustees seek to have the net earnings not only of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, but also of the Florida Central Railroad, go into 1902 the hands of said Greeley and be applied, under the order of the court, to the payment of the said purchase money still unpaid, and have obtained an order to that effect. The complainant further says that said M. S. Littlefield and said Aron Barnett, in violation of their duty as president of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and in disregard of the interest of said company and of the stockholders therein, have permitted and still permit said receiver to take and hold possession of said railroad, and have, as complainant is informed, made no attempts to recover or to defend said suit. All which actings and doings and pretences of the defendants are contrary to equity and tend to the injury of your orator in the premises.

To the end therefore that the complainant may have the relief, which can be obtained only in a court of equity, and that the defendants may answer the premises, but not under oath or affirmation, the benefit whereof is expressly waived by the complainant. And that the delivery of the one million dollars of bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company to the governor of the State of Florida in exchange for 1903 one million dollars of the State bonds may be declared to be a fraud perpetrated upon said company and the stockholders therein, and that said bonds of the company may be declared to have no binding legal validity as obligations of said company, and that their redelivery to said company may be decreed.

And that the defendant, Milton S. Littlefield, may be decreed to render a full and true statement in detail of his receipts and expenditures as president of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and of those of his agents from the income and assets of the said company, and a statements of the considerations upon which each expenditure was made.

And that he may be required to surrender all stock in the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and in the Florida Central Railroad Company, and all railroad bonds and other property purchased or paid for, in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, with proceeds of the State bonds of Florida issued in exchange for bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, or upon the faith of such bonds, or with receipts or assets of said company. And that such purchases may be decreed to inure to the benefit of said company, and that such stocks, bonds, and other property may be decreed to be delivered for safekeeping, until the final orders of the court, to a receiver to be ap-1904 pointed for the purposes of this suit.

And that the defendants, M. D. Papy and Edward Houstoun, may be required to turn over to such receiver all stocks, bonds, and other property purchased, wholly or in part, directly or indirectly, with income or assets of the Florida Central Railroad Company or with proceeds of or upon the faith and credit of bonds of the State of Florida issued in exchange for bonds of the Florida Central Railroad, as herein stated, or which, not being purchased in that manner, may belong to the defendant, Milton S. Littlefield, or in which he may be interested.

And that in the meanwhile the said Littlefield, Houston, and Papy may be enjoined from disposing of, pledging, or in anywise changing the status of said bonds, stock, or other property; and that the said Littlefield may be decreed to surrender to said receiver for safekeeping until the final order of the court all other stocks, bonds, and property which he, the said Littlefield, may have or be interested in, and that in the mean while he may be enjoined from selling, pledging, or otherwise disposing of or changing the status thereof.

And that the defendant’, C. L. Chase, F. H. Flagg, and J. H.

1905 Gardiner, may be required to render a full and true account of the receipts from and expenditures on account of the Florida Central Railroad Company received and disbursed by them or either of them, and a statement of the sources of such receipts and of the considerations and purposes of such expenditures, and to pay to said receiver all money received on account of or from the income or assets of said company and not expended legitimately and legally for the sale and exclusive use, benefit, and advantage of said company.

And that the said Milton S. Littlefield, as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and his successors, and C. L. Chase and F. H. Flagg, as trustees, may be enjoined from receiving any of the proceeds of State bonds of Florida issued in exchange for bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and from expending any of such proceeds that may be in or may come to their hands or under their control, and from using or disturbing said bonds.

And that the said Littlefield and the said Florida Central Railroad Company be enjoined from leasing the Florida Central Railroad, or any part of it, to John Screven and his associates, or to the Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, or to any other person or corporation, until the ownership of the stock herein charged to be the property of the Florida Central Railroad Company, but held and voted by 1906 said Littlefield, Papy, and Houstoun without authority, be determined by the court, and until duly-qualified directors and other officers of said company have been elected by the votes of holders of a majority of the legal bona-fide shares of stock, to be ascertained and determined by the court; and that, under all circumstances, the said defendants be enjoined from leasing said road on any terms violative of the rights of stockholders or creditors, and more especially that they be enjoined from making any contract of lease by which it may be agreed that any portion of the bonds or proceeds thereof of the State of Florida, issued to the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company in exchange for bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, shall be applied to paying any debts of said Littlefield, or any money due to the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida, or to the extention or repair of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, or to any other than legitimate purposes of the said Florida Central Railroad Company. And that the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida (defendants herein named) and their successors may be enjoined from proceeding in the suit or upon their alleged cause of action against the Florida Central Railroad Company.

1907 And that the Florida Central Railroad and all the property of said company may be put in the custody of a receiver to be appointed for the purposes of this suit.

And that a receiver or receivers may may be appointed with the usual and necessary powers, and that they may be instructed and empowered as herein prayed.

And that your orator may have such other and further relief as the nature of his case may require.

May it please your honor to grant not only a writ of injunction issuing out of and under the seal of this court, to be directed to the said Florida Central Railroad Company and to the said Milton S. Littlefield, Converse L. Chase, Francis H. Flagg, Edward Houstoun, and Mariano D. Papy, and to the said Milton S. Littlefield, as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and to his successors in office, and to the said Samuel T. Day, lieutenant-governor of the State of Florida, who claims to be the acting governor thereof, Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida, Horatio Bisbee, jr., who claims to be the attorney-general of said State, Robert H. Gamble, the comptroller of said State, Simon B. Conover, the treasurer of said State, and John S. Adams, the commissioner of lands and immigration 1908 of said State, composing the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, and their successors in office, to restrain them, their agents, and servants, as herein prayed, but also a writ of subpœna to be directed to the said Florida Central Railroad Company, the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, the said Milton S. Littlefield, Mariano D. Papy, Edward Houstoun, Converse L. Chase, Francis H. Flagg, and I. H. Gardiner, and to the said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, Samuel T. Day, lieutenant-governor of Florida, who claims to be the acting governor thereof, Horatio Bisbee, jr., who claims to be the attorney-general of Florida, William Birney, who also claims to be the attorney-general of said State, Robert H. Gamble, the comptroller of said State, Simon B. Conover, the treasurer of said State, and John S. Adams, the commissioner of lands and immigration of said State, who, as such officers, compose the board of trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, thereby commanding them and each of them at a certain time to appear before this court and answer the premises, and to stand to and perform such further orders and decrees therein as to your honors shall seem meet.

And your orator will ever pray, &c.

FRANCIS P. PORCHER, COMPLAINANT,
vs.
THE FLORIDA CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY, The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, Milton S. Littlefield, Edward Houstoun. Mariano D. Papy, Converse L. Chase, Francis H. Flagg, I. H. Gardiner, and Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida; Samuel T. Day, lt. gov'r, claiming to be the acting gov'r of Florida; Horatio Bisbee, jr., claiming to be the att'y gen'l of Florida; Robert H. Gamble, the comptroller of Florida; Simon B. Conover, the treasurer of Florida, and John S. Adams, the commissioner of lands and immigration of Florida, who, as such officers, are the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida, defendants.

And now comes the complainant, by E. M. L'Engle, his solicitor, and it appearing that the subpœna in said cause has been duly served upon the defendants The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, Milton S. Littlefield, Edward Houstoun, Mariano D. Papy, &
Francis H. Flagg, and that the trustees of the internal improve-1919 ment fund of Florida duly accepted service of said subpœna by
H. Bisbee, attorney-general of said State, and att'y of said trustees, and it further appearing that the time allowed by the rules and practice of the said court has long since elapsed within which said defendants might plead answer or demur to said bill, and that no plea, answer, or demurrer has been filed by said defendants, or either of them, so served with subpœna or so accepting service, and that said defendants are in default, it is therefore ordered and decreed that the material allegations of said bill be taken and held as confessed by said defendants so in default.

1920 (Indorsed:) United States cir. ct., 5th cir., N. D. Florida. In chancery. F. P. Porcher v. J., P. & M. R. R. Co., M. S. Littlefield et al., decree pro confesso. Filed Nov. 12th, 1872. J. E. Townsend, clk. E. M. L'Engle, sol. for compl't.

1921 In the United States circuit court, fifth circuit, northern district of Florida. In chancery.

To the honorable the judge of said court:

Francis P. Porcher, of Charleston, a citizen of the State of South Carolina, by E. M. L'Engle, his attorney, in behalf of himself and of all others, except the defendants hereto, being stockholders of the Florida Central Railroad Company, who shall, in due time, come in and seek relief by and contribute to the expenses of this action, brings this his amended bill of complaint against the Florida Central Railroad Company, a corporation created by and existing under the laws of the State of Florida, having its principal place of business in the district aforesaid, a citizen of the State of Florida, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a corporation existing under and created by the laws of the State of Florida, having its principal place of business in the district aforesaid, a citizen of the State of Florida, and against Milton S. Littlefield, Mariano D. Papy, Edward Houstoun, Converse L. Chase, Francis H. Flagg, J. H. Gardiner, the governor of the State of Florida, the attorney-general of the State Florida, the comptroller of said State, the treasurer of said State, & the 1922 commissioner of lands and immigration of said State, who, as such officers, are the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida, all of which defendants are citizens of the State of Florida, and residents of the northern district thereof, and thereupon your orator complains and says:

That on the day of , 1872, your orator filed in said court his original bill of complaint against the said defendants, to which bill this is an amendment and to which your orator begs leave to refer, in which bill your orator sets forth, among other things, the incorporation of the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, and of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, and of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, and the issue of bonds under the internal improvement act of Florida by said corporations, and the failure of said corporations to meet the requirements of said act and their seizure and sale by the trustees of the said fund, and the subsequent creation of the purchasers of the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad and other persons, into a corporation under the name of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and the subsequent creation of the purchasers of the Pen-1923 sacola and Georgia Railroad and the Tallahassee Railroad and other persons, into a corporation, under the name of the Tallahassee Railroad Company; and the creation of a corporation known as the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and the consolidation of that company with the Tallahassee Railroad Company last mentioned; and the passage by the legislature of the State of Florida of an act providing, among things, for the issuing to the president of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company of coupon bonds of the said State, for the uses and purposes and under the terms and conditions stated in the said act; and the reception by the said president of one million of said bonds in exchange for a like amount of bonds of the said Florida Central Railroad Company, and that said bonds of the said Florida Central Railroad Company were deposited with the governor of the State of Florida and exchanged for the said bonds of the State, in fraud of the said corporation, and of the stockholders and creditors thereof, by the contrivance of the defendants Milton S. Littlefield and Edward Houstoun; and that the said Milton S.
Littlefield had misapplied the income and assets of the Florida 1924 Central Railroad Company and had perverted them to his own use and had purchased stocks and bonds therewith which he claimed as his own, some of which the defendants Papy and Houstoun held in trust, the terms and nature of which the plaintiff was not particularly informed of, but which they claim was for the benefit of one or both of them.

Your orator now further shows by way of amendment (no answer, plea, or demurrer to the said original bill having been filed) that besides the misapplication of funds of the said Florida Central Railroad Company by the said Littlefield, stated in said original bill, the said Littlefield has, as your orator is informed and believes, perverted others of said funds from their legitimate use; that is to say, he paid out of said funds, as your orator is informed and believes, to the defendant Edward Houstoun more than one hundred and fifty thousand dollars (the exact sum being unknown to your orator) in payment for said Houstoun's stock-interest in said Florida Central Railroad Company, and for said Houstoun's bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, and Tallahassee Railroad Company (said bonds amounting, at par value, to about one hundred thousand dollars), and for other considerations, uses, and purposes which did not accrue to the benefit of said Florida Central Railroad Company.

1925 And your orator further says, on information and belief, that said Houstoun, when he received said money, knew that it was funds of the said Florida Central Railroad Company obtained by means of its bonds fraudulently issued as aforesaid, and that said funds were unlawfully diverted by the payments so made to him.

Your orator further shows, by way of amendment and on information and belief, that the million of dollars of bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, in the said original bill mentioned, were originally executed for the purpose of being exchanged with the State of Florida for the State's bonds, but that afterwards the authority to issue them was rescinded and the said bonds recalled, and that they were placed in the hands of said Edward Houstoun, one of the defendants, for the purpose of being returned to said company and cancelled, and the said Houstoun accepted and held them with such trust. But that the said Houstoun violated his trust and obligation, and surrendered said bonds to the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or to one of his agents (or to some other person in his interest), for the purpose of having said bonds exchanged with the State of Florida for the State's bonds, which exchange was effected.

1926 And your orator further says, by way of amendment, that the said Houstoun surrendered said bonds without the consent of the said company and in violation of the known wishes of said corporation, and that he did it fraudulently and to subserve his own pecuniary advantage; and that he received thereby from said M. S. Littlefield, president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a large sum of money—to wit, more than one hundred thousand dollars.

And your orator, submitting this amendment to his bill, prays as he has heretofore done therein, and prays also and further, that the said Edward Houstoun may be decreed to pay to the said Florida Central Railroad Company all moneys received by him as above stated, which were funds of the said corporation or to which it is equitably entitled, with interest on the same. And your orator prays also, that the said Edward Houstoun may be decreed to pay to the said Florida Central Railroad Company one million dollars of such other sum of money as may reimburse or indemnify the said corporation for or against the said million of dollars of bonds wrongfully put forth as aforesaid by the said Houstoun. And that your orator may have such other and further relief as may be equitable.

And your orator will ever pray, &c.

1931 The separate answer of Mariano D. Papy to the bill of complaint filed in the U. S. circuit court for the northern district of Florida, by Francis P. Porcher, of Charleston, a citizen of the State of South Carolina, agains' Edward Houstoun, The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, said Mariano D. Papy and other defendants.

This defendant, saving and reserving unto himself all and all manner of benefit of exception to the manifold errors and irregularities in said bill contained, and insisting upon the several special matters in this answer contained, and tha the may have the same benefit thereof as if he had pleaded the same, or had demurred to said bill, and insisting that there is no equity in said bill against this defendant, and that he is not bound to answer the same, nevertheless for answer unto so much of said bill as he is advised it is in any wise material for him to answer unto, answering, says that he does not hold, and does not claim to hold, any stock in the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Co., or to have any control over any portion of the same; that he does not hold, and does not claim to hold or control, any stock in the Central Railroad Company except ten shares, which he understands 1932 the minute-book of said company states as being in his name, but which he does not claim to own, but which it is true he has voted at the request of M. S. Littlefield, but the stock which defendant supposes to be referred to in said bill of complaint he does not hold or claim to hold.

In regard to this stock and the bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Company mentioned in said bill of complaint, defendant says that on the 12th day of April, 1871, an arrangement was made between Edward Houstoun and S. W. Hopkins, representing the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., to the effect that the certificates of stock held by said Houstoun, and standing in the names of Edward Houstoun, Edward Houstoun, guardian for Eliza V. Houstoun; Edward Houstoun, guardian for Claudia Houstoun, James S. Houstoun, amounting to about four thousand three hundred and seventy shares, be deposited with defendant, who was to hold the same, and not to be delivered by him to any person unless directed to do so by M. S. Littlefield and S. W. Hopkins jointly, or unless directed to be delivered to M. S. Littlefield by said S. W. Hopkins, or to be delivered to S. W. Hopkins by M. S. Littlefield.

It was also agreed that the one hundred and three thousand dollars of the first-mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, and of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, which 1933 said Houstoun had theretofore held as security for a draft in his favor given by M. S. Littlefield, president, &c., on S. W. Hopkins & Co. dated May 13th, 1870, be also deposited with this respondent to be delivered only on the same terms and directions as declared with respect to the delivery of the said stock certificates aforesaid.

It was agreed in addition that the delivery of said certificates and said bonds was not to be made unless in addition to the requirements aforesaid, the suit instituted in New York against said Edward Houstoun and others, by the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, claiming the stock represented by certificate No. 80, for three thousand one hundred and ten shares, and the suits brought against said Edward Houstoun by T. L. Clingman in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and by Rogers and Bayne and L. P. Bayne, in New York, shall have been dismissed.

Said Houstoun by said agreement delivered to said S. W. Hopkins three certificates of stock of said Florida Central Railroad Company, one in name of Edward Houstoun for twenty shares, one in name of James M. Baker for ten shares, one in name of George R. Foster for ten shares; said certificates were delivered to said Hopkins in order that they might be transferred to enable persons to become directors in said Florida Central Railroad Company, but the same were to be held 1934 by whomsoever said Hopkins directed as part of the securities growing out of the advance made by said Hopkins & Co., to take up the draft in favor of said Houstoun, given by said Littlefield, and the new certificates in lieu thereof were likewise to be delivered to this respondent, and were to be subject to the joint direction of said Hopkins & Littlefield, or of either of them in favor of the other as prescribed in regard to the other certificates and bonds deposited with respondent as aforesaid. And this respondent annexes hereto a copy of said agreement made by said Houstoun and said Hopkins as aforesaid, hereto marked Exhibit A, which he prays may be taken and considered as a part here*to*, subject to any corrections of any mistakes that may occur in copying the same.

Further answering, defendant says that afterwards, by a paper dated Tallahassee, April 13th, 1871, addressed to Edward Houstoun, Savannah, Geo., and signed by said M. S. Littlefield, said Houstoun was thereby authorized to deliver to S. W. Hopkins & Co. the stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, the bonds of the late Pensacola and Georgia Railroad, and Tallahassee Railroad bonds and drafts and notes and contracts held by him as collateral for the payment of 1935 a draft drawn by him on S. W. Hopkins & Co., due July 15th, 1870, $$163,020\frac{70}{100}$ upon the payment to him of that amount with interest. That this order by M. S. Littlefield on firm of said S. W. Hopkins & Co. was intended as was supposed to be, in compliance with that part of the conditions upon which said stock and bonds were deposited, which was to indicate to whom the delivery was to be made when the other conditions, which were the important ones so far as said Houston was concerned, were fulfilled.

Further answering, defendant says that afterwards said letter or order was presented to said Houstoun and to this respondent, with a request that some sort of acknowledgment should be made, and that on the 20th day of May, 1871, the date when the same was presented by said S. W. Hopkins & Co., or in their behalf, said Houstoun signed a paper, as well as respondent recollects, written across or on the back or foot of said order to the following effect: "The within named documents and securities having been deposited with M. D. Papy, subject to certain conditions, he is hereby directed to surrender the same when the conditions here alluded to are complied with, but there are no notes or contracts deposited or held by me as collateral." And on the same 1936 day this respondent signed to the following effect: "I hereby acknowledge the possession of the within named documents which are to be returned upon the compliance with the conditions mentioned or referred to by E. Houstoun above, and the surrender of this order and of the acknowledgement given by me," excepting there were no notes or contracts deposited; and respondent annexes copies thereof, marked Exhibit B, which he prays may be considered as part of this answer. That both the order aforesaid with the endorsements aforesaid, and the acknowledgement previously given by respondent were to be returned before said bonds and stock certificates and other papers deposited were to be delivered up, as well as the fulfillment of the conditions of said deposit.

Respondent, further answering, says he understood the deposite aforesaid was made for the special benefit of said Houstoun, and for his protection against the suits mentioned as having been instituted against him in New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. Further answering respondent says that so far as he is informed and believes, none of said suits have been dismissed but are still pending, and therefore the 1937 important condition of the delivery of said stock certificates and bonds, &c., has not yet been fulfilled.

Further answering, respondent says that he has been informed and believes that since said order on said Houstoun said Littlefield gave an order on said S. W. Hopkins & Co. in favor of A. Barnett for the stock aforesaid which was to be surrendered to said Hopkins & Co. upon the discontinuance of certain suits then pending against said Houstoun and when they were paid for certain advances, which was on the 24th day of May, 1871. "accepted" by said S. W. Hopkins & Co. And respondent annexes hereto a copy of said order (the original of which he has never seen) as handed to him, marked Exhibit C, and prayed to be taken as part hereof.

Further answering, defendant says that he has lately been informed that Rogers, of New York, claims in some form to be entitled to have delivered to him the said bonds and stock certificates upon some sort of transfer or assignment of the same to him, but to what extent and for what purpose defendant cannot answer.

Further answering, this defendant says that he has not now 1938 nor has he had since July, 1872, possession or control of said bonds or stock certificates, except as hereinafter mentioned; that in July last, being in the city of Savannah (where said bonds and stock certificates to the amount of four thousand three hundred and seventy shares had from the first been deposited for safe keeping), on his way to Upper Georgia, and with the possibility of his going North, suit was instituted against him by said Edward Houstoun to prevent the said bonds and stock certificates from being removed from said city of Savannah, as he alleges, and a writ of ne exeat was obtained against defendant, who was required either to replevy the same by giving bond, or to surrender them according to the order of the court; that defendant did not feel authorized or required to give so large a bond as would have been necessary to replevy the same, and he does not know that he could have obtained the necessary sureties. He therefore refused to replevy, and the court or the judge thereof thereupon ordered that the said bonds and certificates of stock be delivered by the sheriff to the cashier of the Central Railroad and Banking Company, to be by him deposited in the vault of the said bank and there to be safely kept subject 1939 to the future order of the court, and that thereupon the respondent be discharged; that said bonds and stock certificates were accordingly so deposited by the sheriff, as respondent is informed and believes; that since the date of said order, which respondent could not disobey, he has had no control or possession of said bonds and stock certificates which had been so as aforesaid in the city of Savannah, and was entirely disconnected therewith, and was and is in no wise responsible for the same.

And respondent annexes hereto a copy of said order of the judge of the superior court of Chatham County, marked Exhibit D, which he prays may be taken and considered as a part hereof, and he duly notified said S. W. Hopkins & Co. of what had been done by said order.

Further answering, defendant says the stock aforesaid does not stand and never has stood in his name, and he does and did not claim the right to vote it. He could only vote it as proxy for said Houstoun, if authorized by him to do so. Respondent does not recollect that he ever voted said stock even as proxy or by authority of said Houstoun, but that said Houstoun voted it himself at one stockholders' meeting, and 1940 Patrick Houstoun by proxy voted it at a preceding stockholders' meeting.

Further answering, says that the forty shares of stock, or the certificates thereof, or those afterwards given in lieu of the originals which were in names, respectively, of Edward Houstoun for twenty shares, and of James M. Baker for ten shares, and of George R. Foster for ten shares, were not embraced in said order of the judge of the superior court of Chatham County, Georgia.

This respondent denies that he has ever made nominal transfers of any amount of the stock aforesaid for any purpose, nor does this defendant believe any transfer of any portion of said stock has been made by anybody since said agreement between said Houstoun and S. W. Hopkins & Co., except the transfer of the forty shares which by the agreement itself was provided for the purpose of qualifying persons to be directors, as therein declared.

And this defendant says that he never has claimed any right in the bonds and stock aforesaid, or to exercise ownership over the same. He simply acted whilst they were in his hands as holder thereof under the said agreement between said Houstoun and S. W. Hopkins & Co.;
but since he became disconnected therewith by the said order of 1941 the judge of the superior court in Georgia, he has not felt that he had anything to do with them, and that there was no responsibility resting on him.

Respondent, further answering, says that he felt it to be proper to put in an answer to said suit in Georgia instituted by said Edward Houstoun, in which this respondent stated that various suits had been instituted in Florida in which said bonds and stock certificates were involved, and in which prayers for injunctions and receivers were contained, and in some of which injunctions had been awarded and issued, in order that the court there might be apprised that proceedings were or had been instituted in this State affecting said bonds and stock certificates.

And this respondent, further answering, says that there is another suit in this court, in which Miller is complainant against Edward Houstoun and others, and in which defendant has put in answer concerning said bonds and stock certificates; that there is also in the State courts one or more suits, in which they are likewise involved. This defendant refers to these suits with the view that no opposing decrees or orders may be made concerning such of the stock certificates 1942 or stock as are still in his hands, he having, as already stated, no control of the bonds and stocks in Savannah. The only stock certificates in his hands are the forty shares before mentioned, and as he supposes, the ten shares which the minutes represent as standing in his name, but for which he has no certificate.

Further answering, defendant says that on account of the deposits aforesaid he has been put to great trouble and labor in putting in answers to various suits, and to some expense in actual cash; that he is entitled to be protected, and asks that no decree be made concerning the same without providing compensation to him.

And he submits himself to the protection of this honorable court, alledging that he has done nothing intentionally to affect injuriously the rights of any person in his course concerning said bonds and stock, and that having no control or possession of the bonds and stock certificates in Savannah, no decree against or affecting this respondent ought to be made concerning said bonds and certificates or otherwise.

And having fully answered, defendant prays to be hence dis-1943 missed, with his reasonable costs in this behalf sustained.

M. D. PAPY,
In pro. per.

Oath to answer being waived by the bill of complaint, no affidavit is attached.

1944 EXHIBIT A.

Whereas, by an arrangement between Edward Houstoun and S. W. Hopkins, representing the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., it is agreed between them that the certificates of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, held by said Houston and standing in the names of the following named persons and for the following amounts, and numbered as follows, be and are deposited with M. D. Papy, who is to hold the same, and not to be delivered by him to any person unless directed to do so by M. S. Littlefield and S. W. Hopkins jointly, or unless directed to be delivered to M. S. Littlefield by said S. W. Hopkins, or to be delivered to S. W. Hopkins by M. S. Littlefield, viz:

	No. 40,	in the name of Edward Houstoun, for	100	shares.
	No. 41,	" " "	100	"
	No. 42,	" " "	100	"
	No. 43,	" " "	100	"
	No. 44,	" " "	100	"
	No. 45,	" " "	100	"
	No. 47,	" " "	100	"
	No. 48,	" " "	100	"
	No. 49,	" " "	100	"
	No. 50,	" " "	100	"
	No. 51,	" " "	70	"
1945	No. 57,	in the name of Edward Houstoun, guardian for Eliza V. Houstoun,	70	"
	No. 58,	in name of Edward Houstoun, guardian for Claudia Houstoun,	70	"
	No. 59,	in name of James S. Houstoun, for	20	"
	No. 79,	" Edward Houstoun,	30	"
	No. 80,	" " "	3,110	"
			4,370	"

It is also agreed that the one hundred and three thousand dollars of the first mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company and of the Tallahassee Railroad, which said Houstoun has heretofore held as security for draft in his favor, given by M. S. Littlefield, president, &c., on S. W. Hopkins & Co., dated May 15th, 1870, be also deposited with M. D. Papy, to be delivered only on the same terms and directions as declared with respect to the delivery of the said stock certificates aforesaid.

It is agreed, in addition, that the delivery of said certificates and said bonds is not to be made to said Littlefield unless, in addition to the requirements aforesaid, the suit instituted in New York against said Edward Houstoun and others by the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, claiming the stock represented by said certificates No. 80, for three thousand one hundred and ten shares, and the suits brought against said Houstoun by T. L. Clingman in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and by Rogers and Bayne and L. P. Bayne in New York, shall have been dismissed

It is further agreed that the four drafts of George W. Swepson on M. S. Littlefield, accepted by Littlefield, and amounting in the aggregate to the sum of one hundred and nine thousand one hundred and forty dollars, exclusive of interest thereon, be likewise deposited with M. D.

Papy, and are not to be delivered to said Littlefield unless and until directed to do so by said S. W. Hopkins.

Said Edward Houstoun has delivered to said S. W. Hopkins three certificates of stock of said Florida Central Railroad Company—one, No. 77, in name of James M. Baker, for ten shares, transferred in blank by said Baker; one, No. 78, in name of George R. Foster, for ten shares, transferred in blank by said Foster; and one, No. 82, in name of Edward Houstoun, for twenty shares, transferred in blank, making together forty shares. The said certificates are delivered to said Hopkins, in order that they may be transferred to enable persons to become directors in said Florida Central Railroad Company, but the same are to be held by whomsoever said Hopkins directs as part of the securities growing out of the advance made by said Hopkins & Co., to take up the draft in favor of said Houstoun, given by M. S. Littlefield, and the new certificates in lieu thereof are likewise to be delivered to M. D. Papy, and are to be subject to the joint direction of said Hopkins and Littlefield, or either of them, in favor of the other, as prescribed in regard to the other certificates and bonds deposited with M. D. Papy, as aforesaid.

Witness our hands this 12th day of April, 1871.

1946 EXHIBIT B.

TALLAHASSEE, FLA., April 13th, 1871.

EDWARD HOUSTOUN, Esq.,
Savannah, Ga.:

MY DEAR SIR: You are hereby authorized to deliver to S. W. Hopkins & Co. the stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, the bonds of the late Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad bonds, and drafts, notes, and contracts held by you as collateral for the payment of a draft drawn by me on S. W. Hopkins & Co., due July 15th, 1870, $163,020 $\frac{20}{100}$, upon the payment to you of this amount, with interest.

Truly yours,
(Si'g'd) M. S. LITTLEFIELD.

The within-named documents and securities having been deposited with M. D. Papy, subject to certain conditions, he is directed to surrender the same when the conditions here alluded to are complied with; but there are no notes or contracts deposited or held by me as collaterals.

May the 20th, 1871.
(Si'g'd) E. HOUSTOUN.

1947 I hereby acknowledge the possession of the within-named documents, which are to be returned upon the compliance with the conditions mentioned or referred to by E. Houstoun above and the surrender of this order and of the acknowledgment of the deposit of said documents given by me, excepting there were no notes or contracts deposited.

May 20th, 1871.

FRANCIS P. PORCHER ET AL.
vs.
THE FLORIDA CENTRAL RAILROAD ET AL.

Bills original and amended.

The plea of Edward Houstoun, one of the defendants to the bill of complaint in the above stated cause.

This defendant, by protestation, not confessing or acknowledging all or any of the matters and things in the said complainants' said bill mentioned to be true in such manner and form as are therein and thereby set forth and alleged, doth plead thereunto, and for plea saith that this honorable court hath no jurisdiction of the said bills of the said complainants against him, for that this defendant, before and at the time of the exhibiting of the said bills of complainant, original and amended, against him, was not and still is not a citizen and resident of the State of Florida; but that before and at the time of the exhibiting of the said bill of complaint against him, he was and still is a resident and citizen of the State of Georgia; all of which this defendant avers to be true and pleads the same to the whole of the said bills, and humbly demands the judgement of this honorable court whether he ought to be 1954 compelled to make any answer to the said bills of complaint, and prays to be hence dismissed with his reasonable costs in this behalf most wrongfully sustained.

1955 (Indorsed:) In the circuit court of the United States for the northern district of Florida. Francis P. Porcher et al., complainants, vs. The Florida Central Railroad Company et al, defendants. Plea of Edward Houstoun. Filed April 3d, 1873. J. E. Townsend, cl'k. Jackson, Lawton & Basenger, defendants' solicitors.

1956 In the United States circuit court, fifth circuit, northern district of Florida.

The President of the United States of America to Milton S. Littlefield, Mariano D. Papy, Edward Houstoun, Converse L. Chase, the Florida Central Railroad Company, and the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida:

Upon the application of Francis P. Porcher, who has filed his bill of complaint in this court against you and others, praying, among other things, that you be enjoined and restrained from doing certain acts herein complained of, the court doth strictly command and enjoin you and each of you, your agents, servants, and attorneys, in the manner following, that is to say, you, the said Edward Houstoun, Mariano D. Papy, and Milton S. Littlefield, are enjoined and restrained from disposing of, pledging, or in anywise changing the status of any stock in the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company or in the Florida Central Railroad Company, or any railroad bonds or other property purchased or paid for in whole or in part directly or indirectly with proceeds of State bonds of Florida, issued in exchange for bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, or upon the faith of such 1957 bonds or with receipts or assets of said company, or which, not being purchased in that manner, may belong to the said Milton S. Littlefield, or in which he may be interested.

And you, the said Milton S. Littlefield, are enjoined and restrained from selling, pledging, or otherwise disposing of or changing the status of any other stocks, bonds, or other property which you have or may be interested in.

You, the said Milton S. Littlefield, as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and your successors, and you, the said Converse L. Chase, are enjoined from receiving any of the proceeds of State bonds of Florida, issued in exchange for bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and from expending any of such proceeds that may be in your hands or that may come to your hands or under your control, and from using or disturbing said bonds.

You, the said Milton S. Littlefield, and you, the said Florida Central Railroad Company, are enjoined and restrained from leasing the Florida Central Railroad or any part of it to John Sereven and his associates, or to the Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, or to any other person or corporation until the ownership of the stock charged, in the said bill of complaint, to be the property of the Florida Central 1958 Railroad Company, but held and voted by said Littlefield, Papy, or Houstoun, without authority, be determined by the court and until duly qualified directors and other officers of said company have been elected by the votes of holders of a majority of the legal bona fide shares of stock to be ascertained and determined by the court; and under all circumstances you are enjoined from leasing said railroad on any terms violative of the rights of stockholders or creditors.

You are especially enjoined from making any contract of lease by which it may be agreed that any portion of the bonds or proceeds thereof of the State of Florida issued to the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company in exchange for bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, shall be applied to paying any debts of said Littlefield, or any money due to the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida, or to the extension or repair of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, or to any other than legitimate purposes of the said Florida Central Railroad Company.

You, the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida, and your successors, are enjoined from proceeding upon your alleged 1959 cause of action or in your suit against the Florida Central Railroad Company which you have instituted as stated in the said bill of complaint of the said Francis P. Porcher already mentioned.

Witness the honorable Salmon P. Chase, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, at the city of Jacksonville, in the said circuit and district, and the seal of said court, this twenty eighth day of February, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three.

In U. S. circuit court, northern dist. of Florida. Francis P. Porcher vs. Fla. Central R. R. Co. et al. Original. Injunction. Filed March 3d, 1873. J. E. Townsend, cl'k.

1961 In the U. S. circuit court, 5th circuit, northern dist. of Fla. In chancery.

To the honorable the judges of said court:

Francis P. Porcher, of Charleston, a citizen of the State of South Carolina, by E. M. L'Engle, his attorney, in behalf of himself and of all others except the defendent hereto, being stockholders of the Florida Central Railroad Company hereinafter mentioned, who shall in due time come in and relief by and contribute to the expenses of this action, brings this his bill against the Florida Central Railroad Company, a corporation created by and existing under the laws of the State of Florida, having its principal place of business in the district aforesaid, a citizen of the State of Florida, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a corporation existing under and created by the laws of the State of Florida, having its principal place of business in the district aforesaid, a citizen of the State of Florida, and against Milton S. Littlefield, Mariano D. Papy, Edward Houstoun, Converse L. Chase, Francis H. Flagg, I. H. Gardiner, Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida; Samuel T. Day, lieutenant-governor of the State of Florida, who claims to be the acting governor thereof; Horatio Bisbee [Bisbee erased], jr., who claims to be the attorney 1962 general of the State of Florida; Robert H. Gamble, the comptroller of said State; Simon B. Conover, the treasurer of said State, and John S. Adams, the commissioner of lands and immigration of said State, who as such officers are also trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, all of which defendants are citizens of the State of Florida and residents of the northern district thereof and thereupon your orator complains and says:

* * * * * * *

The complainant further says that the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida have commenced suit against the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and the Florida Central Railroad Company, and other defendants, to recover the sum of $472,000.00, unpaid purchase money due as herein stated, and interest thereon from the day of the sale of said road, and have prayed for and obtained the appointment of a receiver of the said roads, and of the property of said companies, and have prayed for and obtained an order that said receiver take the absolute and exclusive control of not only the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, but also of the Florida Central Railroad, and the receiver, who is Jonathan C. Greeley, 1963 has so taken possession and control of said roads. And the said trustees seek to have the net earning not only of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, but also of the Florida Central Railroad, go into the hands of said Greeley and be applied under the order of the court to the payment of the said purchase money still unpaid, and have obtained an order to that effect.

I, Josiah E. Townsend, clerk of the United States court for the northern district of Florida, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct extract from the original bill of complaint which was filed in this court in the said cause on the first day of May, A. D. 1872.

FRANCIS P. PORCHER
vs.
FLORIDA CENTRAL R. R. CO. ET AL.

The plaintiff's att'y objects to the interrogatories propounded by defendant Edward Houstoun to the witnesses Forley, Maddock, Claghorn, Hunter, and Houstoun, and objects to a commission being issued to take their testimony, because a decree pro confesso has regularly been entered in the cause against said defendant, which still stands against him, and because there is no issue between the said def't and the plaintiff, and because the said interrogatories are otherwise exceptionable and illegal.

vs.
THE FLORIDA CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, Milton S. Littlefield, and others.

Now comes E. M. L'Engle, soliciter for the complainant, and it appearing that on the 4th day of May, 1872, the defendant the Florida Central Railroad Company was duly served with subpœna in this cause, and no plea, answer, or demurrer therein having been filed, and the time for filing same having long since elapsed, and a decree pro confesso against said Florida Central Railroad Company having been prayed for and granted in open court on the 19th Dec., 1872, of which, however, no record has been made, it is therefore ordered and decreed that the material allegations of said bill be taken and held as confessed by the said defendant, the Florida Central Railroad Company, so in default.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company, a corporation created by and existing under the laws of said State, and a citizen thereof, the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, the Florida Central Railroad Company, corporations created by and existing under the laws of the State of Florida, and citizens thereof; Edward Lewis, Patrick Houstoun, Robert H. Gamble, Charles E. Dyke, sr., Edward M. L'Engle, Robert Walker, Clayton A. Cowgill, George W. Betton, directors in 1986 said last mentioned corporation, and who are citizens of the State of Florida; James M. Baker, George R. Foster, W. J. Lawton, Milton S. Littlefield, N. K. Sawyer, J. C. L'Engle, Edward M. L'Engle, Charles B. Fenwick, who are citizens of the State of Florida, and Joseph B. Stewart, who is a citizen of the State of New York, claiming to be directors in said Florida Central Railroad Company; George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida, Walter Gwynn, treasurer of the State of Florida, Hugh A. Corley, commissioner of lands and immigration of the State of Florida; George P. Raney, attorney-general; Walter Gwynn, treasurer; Columbus Drew; comptroller; George F. Drew, governor; which officers are trustees of the internal improvement fund, and herein sued as such; Milton S. Littlefield, in his own right; Robert J. Washington, who is a citizen of the State of Virginia.

Interrogatories to be propounded to Robert J. Washington, a witness to be examined in behalf of the complainants in the above entitled cause, who resides in Westmoreland County, in the State of Virginia.

Interrogatory first. What is your name, residence, and occupation?

Interrogatory second. Do you know or are you acquainted with the defendants Edward M. L'Engle and Joseph B. Stewart?

Interrogatory third. Do you or not claim any right, title, or interest in or to any shares of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company? If you answer you do make such claim, state what shares you do claim, say how you acquired them, whether by purchase or otherwise, and if by purchase, say from whom and when such purchase was made, what you paid, and how you made such payment, whether with funds 1987 of your own or otherwise, and if otherwise, how otherwise?

Interrogatory fourth. Whether or not you authorized Edward M. L'Engle to purchase for your own account any shares of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company; and if you say you did, say when you gave such authority, whether in writing or not, and if by writing, say what writing, give a copy of it, and say when and where it was executed?

Interrogatory fifth. Whether or not you caused a suit in equity to be brought in the circuit court of the United States for the northern district of Florida, in your name, for the purpose of obtaining a decree by said court to establish a title in yourself to stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company? If you say you did cause such a suit, say when you did so, and say when, and how and when, you first became informed that a suit was pending in said court such as above mentioned. Say whether you have or have not any real, personal, pecuniary interest in said suit. If you say you have, state fully how you acquired such interest.

Interrogatory sixth. When did you first become acquainted with the existence of the Florida Central Railroad Company, with the condition and value of its shares and stock?

Interrogatory seventh. Have you or not become a party to any written deed, agreement in writing or other instrument whereby any shares of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company have been conveyed to you by the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, or by Joseph B. Stewart, as its attorney? If yea, please file a copy of said paper writing, if the original is in your possession, and if not, say what you know of the existence of such paper and from whom you derived your information as to its execution, and what, if anything, you have done in connection with or in relation thereto.

1988 Interrogatory eighth. Whether or not you now hold, own or claim to own, or have at any time in the past two years held, owned or claimed to own in your own right, or otherwise, bonds purporting to have been issued by and to obligate the Florida Central Railroad Company to pay money to the bearer of such bonds? Does any one hold such bonds for you or by your consent? If you say you have ever owned or possessed any such bonds, or that any one has held or now holds any such for you, or by your authority, state fully how you obtained title to or possession of said lands, what you gave for them, on what account they were transferred to you, or to any one for you, and say what has become of such bonds, and if sold or pledged, say by and to whom and on what consideration such sale or pledge was made, and who received the consideration.

Final interrogatory. Do you know or can you set forth any other matter or thing which may be a benefit or advantage to the parties at issue in this cause or either of them, or that may be material to the subject of this your examination in the matters in question in this cause? If you, set forth the same fully and at large in your answer.

J. FRED. SCHUTTE AND OTHERS
vs.
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company, the Florida Central Railroad Company, and others.

The Florida Central Railroad Company objects to the interrogatories filed by the complainants in the above entitled cause, to be propounded to Robert J. Washington, in behalf of the complainants, and state grounds of objections as follows:

It objects to the third interrogatory and to every portion thereof because it and every portion of it is irrelevant and immaterial, and enquires about matters altogether foreign to the issues in the suit.

It objects to the fourth interrogatory on the same ground.
1990 It objects to the fifth interrogatory on the same ground.
It objects to the sixth interrogatory on the same ground.
It objects to the seventh interrogatory on the same ground.
It objects to the eighth interrogatory on the same ground.

Cross interrogatories to be propounded by the Florida Central Railroad Company to Robert J. Washington, a witness produced on the part of the complainants in the above entitled cause.

First cross-interrogatory. State whether you do not claim as trustee a right in shares of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company? State whether you did not authorize bids on said shares of stock to be made in your name, at a judicial sale, and whether it was not understood when said shares were bid off in your name that the amount of the bid was to be credited upon the decree or execution by order of the attorney for the plaintiffs in said decree or execution.

Second cross-interrogatory. State whether you did not authorize E. M. L'Engle, as an attorney at law of Jacksonville, Florida, to bring suit in your name concerning the property so bid off to you, and whether he was not authority to institute the suit mentioned in the fifth interrogatory.

State whether or not it was necessary, or was required, that you should be informed of the pendency of such suit?

State whether you did not give the said E. M. L'Engle the largest discretion in said matter.

State whether, when you authorized bids on said stock to be made in your name, you did not at the same time authorize suits to be brought in your name concerning it.

Deposition of Robert J. Washington, of Westmoreland County, Virginia.

In the circuit court of the United States for the northern district of Florida. In equity.

J. FRED. SCHUTTE, JAN PRINS, ADRIANUS, et al.,
vs.
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company et al.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
County of Alexandria, ss:

Robert J. Washington, a witness in behalf of the complainant in the above entitled suit, and residing at Westmoreland County, in the State of Virginia, more than one hundred miles from the place of trial of this cause, having been duly cautioned and sworn to tell the whole truth, and being carefully examined, deposes and says as follows, to wit:

WESTEL WILLOUGHBY,
Commissioner.

In answer to first direct interrogatory, the witness testified: My name is Robt. J. Washington; my residence is Westmoreland County, Virginia; my occupation is that of a lawyer and farmer.

In answer to the second direct interrogatory, witnessed testified: I know E. M. L'Engle, but do not know Joseph B. Stewart.

In answer to third interrogatory, he testified: Individually, 1992 I claim no right, title, or interest in or to any shares of stock in the Florida Railroad Company. My only claim to any shares of said stock is a trustee under a certain deed between E. M. L'Engle and myself as trustee, executed, I think, in the summer of 1875, the original deed or copy of which is in the possession of E. M. L'Engle. I had at one time information as to what these shares were, but do not now remember or know. They were acquired, I was informed, by purchase at a public sale of said stock in Jacksonville, Florida, at which certain shares were knocked off to me. I do not know this of my own knowledge, but believe it to be true from information I have had. By whom said sale was made and when. I do not remember. The amount paid for said shares I do not know. The matter was attended to by Mr. E. M. L'Engle, who as attorney represented me as trustee; and it was understood between Mr. E. M. L'Engle and myself that the amount of bid was to be credited upon the execution under which said sale was made. I used no funds of my own in that purchase, and have had no other connection with it except under the aforesaid deed.

In answer to the fourth direct interrogatory, the witness testified: When the deed referred to in answer to the third interrogatory was executed, it was understood by me, and agreed to by Mr. E. M. L'Engle, that I was to have no trouble in the matter; that he was to represent me (the trustee) in all matters connected with the deed; and in this respect I gave him unlimited authority. I never expected to hear of the thing again. He told me at the time that there would be a sale of some shares of the Florida Central Railroad, which he proposed to bid for in my name, and that if they were bought in, no money would have to be paid by me as trustee or individually, and that the amount of the bid would be credited on the execution under which the sale occurred. There was no writing between us upon this subject, and never has been any except the deed above referred to.

In answer to the fifth interrogatory, the witness testified: The 1993 only authority given by me for the institution of any suit in connection with this matter was given by me to Mr. L'Engle at the time of the execution of the deed referred to. At that time he said to me that there would probably be one or more suits in connection with the matter, and that I might probably soon see my name as a party to suit in this matter in the Supreme Court. I then told him 'a' he could go ahead and bring any suit he thought necessary, or do anything in the matter that in his judgement was proper. In other words, I gave him full and unlimited authority to represent me as trustee in the deed aforesaid. My recollection is that I never heard of the suit referred to in this interrogatory until I was informed of it by Gen. Davis, I think in August, 1877. I have before stated that I have no pecuniary interest, or interest of any kind, in this suit, or in any other suit in connection with the matter, except under the terms of the deed referred to.

In answer to the sixth interrogatory, the witness testified: It is impossible for me to say when I first became acquainted with the existence of the Florida Central R. R. Co.; I do not remember. I know nothing now and have never known anything about the condition and value of its shares or stock. I have heard Mr. L'Engle and Gen. Davis talk upon this subject, but I have had no knowledge or information about it except through them.

In answer to the seventh interrogatory, the witness testified: I am sure that I understood fully this interrogatory, but in answer thereto state that I am a party to no deed or agreement in writing that I remember or know of in connection with this whole matter, except the deed referred to in my former answers.

In answer to the eighth interrogatory, the witness says: I do not own, hold, or claim to own, and have not at any time within the past two years held, owned, or claimed to own in my own right any such bonds as are referred to in the eighth interrogatory. If any such bonds are held or owned by me as trustee in the deed aforesaid or have within 1994 the past two years been held or owned by me as such trustee, I have no knowledge of it.

In answer to the final direct interrogatory, the witness says: I know nothing more about the subject-matter of these interrogatories than I have stated in my answers thereto.

In answer to the first cross-interrogatory, the witness says: I do claim, as trustee, a right in shares of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, as stated by me in answer the third direct interrogatory. I again state, as stated in answer to the third direct interrogatory, that I did give Mr. E. M. L'Engle authority to bid on shares of stock in said road, which he informed me would be sold in Jacksonville, and at the same time it was understood that the amount of the bid was to be credited on the decree or execution under which the sale would take place, by the order of the attorneys for the plaintiff in that execution or decree. This was done at the time of the execution of the deed referred to in my former answer to direct interrogatories, and is fully set out in my answer to the fourth direct interrogatory.

In answer to the second direct interrogatory, the witness testified: I do not remember ever giving Mr. E. M. L'Engle authority to institute, as my attorney, any particular suit; but I considered at the time of the execution of the aforesaid deed I gave him full authority to represent me as to all interests I might have under that deed, and to bring as many suits in my name as his judgment might dictate. I did not deem it necessary at all that I should be informed of the pendency of the suit referred to in the fifth direct interrogatory, or any other suit in connection with this matter, which might be brought; and, in fact, I had no desire to be informed. I had every confidence in Mr. L'Engle, and felt fully assured that he would do whatever was right, necessary, and proper in the premises, and nothing more, and gave myself no thought 1995 or concern about it; and further deponent saith not.

STATE OF VIRGINIA,
County of Alexandria, ss:

I hereby certify that on the 24th day of April, A. D. 1879, before me, Westel Willoughby, appointed, as shown by the commission hereunto annexed, issued by the United States circuit court for the northern district of Florida, dated March 4th, A. D. 1879, to take the deposition of Robert J. Washington, personally appeared the said Robert J. Washington, at Alexandria, Virginia, and being by me first duly cautioned and sworn to testify the whole truth, and being carefully examined, deposed and said as appears by the deposition hereto annexed.

And I further certify that the said deposition was then and there reduced to writing by me, and in my presence, and was, after it had been reduced to writing, subscribed by the witness, as appears by his signature at the close of said deposition.

And I further certify that the reason why the said deposition was taken was that the said witness resided more than one hundred miles from the place of hearing, and that the cause was one pending in equity, in which depositions are competent evidence.

And I further certify that I am not of counsel or attorney to either of the parties, nor interested in the result of the cause.

And I further certify that the fee for taking such depositions, $, has been paid to me by the complainant in this cause, and that the sum is just and reasonable.

Interrogatories to be propounded to S. H. Pierce, a witness to be examined in behalf of the complainants in the above entitled cause, who resides in Kingston, in the island of Jamaica, one of the west India Islands.

Interrogatory first. What is your name, occupation, and business?

Interrogatory second. Where did you reside in the years 1870 and 1871?

Interrogatory third. By whom, if by any person, were you employed in the latter part of the year 1870 and in the year 1871? What was the nature of your employment, if any?

2002 Interrogatory fourth. If you answer the preceding interrogatory by saying that you were during the period herein specified employed by the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Company, state what business said firm was engaged in at said time, and at what place they conducted said business.

Interrogatory fifth. Have you any knowledge or information of or concerning any sale by S. W. Hopkins & Company to any person or persons of any bonds similar to the copy of a bond hereto annexed, marked A? If you say you have such knowledge, state how you acquired the same, and say whether you saw and inspected such bonds, and describe them as near as you able to from memory.

Interrogatory sixth. Do you or not know under what authority and in what capacity said S. W. Hopkins & Company acted in London or elsewhere in dealing with bonds such as you have been interrogated in respect of in the preceding interrogatory.

Do you or not know whether the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. had and held any written authority to deal with such bonds? If you answer in the affirmative, say whether you ever read such authority.

Interrogatory seventh. Examine the printed document hereto annexed, marked T. B. C., 2, and say whether you have any recollection of having seen and read any similar document, and say when and where you saw it, and say whether the paper now exhibited to you is or not a copy of the document before seen and not testified to by you, if any you do testify to having seen.

Interrogatory eighth. If the answer to the proceeding interrogatories to any sales by S. W. Hopkins & Company of any bonds, as agents of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, to any person or persons, state fully all that you know as to such sales; when, where, to whom, at what price, and of what number of bonds such sales were made.

2003 Interrogatory ninth. If, in answer to the proceeding interrogatories you state that S. W. Hopkins and Company made sale of bonds to John Collinson, and state that such bonds were similar to the copy of the bond before referred to, marked A, say whether or not you know what was done by said S. W. Hopkins & Company, prior to such sale, to induce buyers of bonds to purchase such bonds. Relate fully all that was done by said S. W. Hopkins & Company for the purpose before stated, so far as you may be able to do so.

Final interrogatory. Do you know, or can you set forth, any other matter or thing which may be a benefit or advantage to the parties at issue in cause, or either of them, or that may be material to the subject of this your examination on the matters in question in this cause ? If yea, set forth the same fully and at large in your answer.

T. B. C. 2.

Know all men by these presents that the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad, a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Florida, one of the United States of America, have made, constituted, and appointed, and by these presents do make, constitute, and appoint, Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., of the city of New York, and London, England, its financial agents, and true and lawful attorneys for said company, and in its name, place and stead to sell, dispose of, transfer, and deliver to the purchasers thereof all or any part of the bonds of the State of Florida to which said company is now or may hereafter become entitled under the laws of said State, and to purchase for said company all such materials, iron, and other supplies, for the purpose of building and equiping of the railroad of said company, as said company shall from time to time direct, giving and guarantee' unto the said S. W. Hopkins & Company, the financial agents and attorneys of said company, full power and authority to do and perform 2005 any and everything whatsoever requisite and necessary to be done and performed as such financial agents, as fully to all intents and purposes as the said company, by its board of directors, could or might do, with power of substitution and revocation, hereby ratifying and confirming all that the said S. W. Hopkins & Co., or their substitute, shall lawfully do or cause to be done, as such financial agents of said company, by said company by virtue hereof.

In witness whereof, the said Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company has caused these presents to be signed by its president, and the corporate seal of said company to be affixed thereto, on the fourth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy.

The Florida Central Railroad Company objects to the interrogatories filed by the complainants in the above cause, to be propounded to L. H. Pierce, of Kingston, Jamaica, in behalf of the complainants, and states grounds of objections as follows:

It objects to the 5th direct interrogatory, because it is irrelevant, immaterial, and does not seek the best evidence which the case admits of, and is otherwise illegal.

It objects to the 6th direct interrogatory on the same grounds.

It objects to the 7th direct interrogatory on the same grounds.

It objects to the 8th direct interrogatory on the same grounds.

It objects to the 9th direct interrogatory on the same grounds

In the circuit court of the United States, northern district of Florida

J. FRED. SCHUTTE ET AL.
vs.
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN
North Carolina Railroad Company et al.

Cross-interrogatories on the part of the defendants to the direct interrogatories propounded to the complainant's witness, L. H. Pierce.

The defendants except to the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth interrogatories propounded by the complainant to L. H. Pierce, because the same are leading, illegal, and incompetent, and does not waive or abandon such exceptions by the cross-examination of the witness, but on the contrary expressly and hereby reserves the same.

Cross-interrogatory 1st. When did you make the acquaintance of S. W. Hopkins & Company, if you ever did know them? State the exact origin, character, and extent of your acquaintance. What knowledge have you of their private business transactions, and how did you acquire that knowledge? Did they permit you to see and read their private agreements and transactions in business matters, and especially in the purchase and sale of bonds? Had you any interest pe-2008 cuniarily in the business transactions of said Hopkins & Company? And if yea, state what they were. When did you leave their employment, and why did you do so? Please answer these several questions fully and in detail.

Cross-interrogatory 2d. When did you first see a paper purporting to be a bond of the State of Florida, and how do you know, or can you state positively, that the paper marked A, made part of the fifth direct question, is a correct copy of any paper or bond you ever saw?

Cross-interrogatory 3d. Do you not know that the papers purporting to be bonds of the State of Florida, mentioned as referred to in the several interrogatories propounded to you on the part of the complainants, were not sold by said Hopkins & Company in the regular manner in which genuine bonds are sold in the market, but on the contrary do you not know that said bonds were taken to account by said Hopkins & Company on speculation, at the nominal price of about one-half of their face value, or say about $500 or less for $1,000 bond? And do you not know that the bonds as taken to account were nominally sold to John Collinson at a stated advance of about $190 on each bond, or say at a nominal price of about $690 per bond? And do you not know that besides said Hopkins & Company and said John Collinson that one Boissevain, one Mildrew, one Zadocks, one Stoop, one Manga, and others, residing and speculating in bonds, in Amsterdam, and Rotterdam, in Holland, were jointly and personally interested in said speculation in said bonds?

Be so good as to state fully, distinctly and in detail all that you know, or that came to your knowledge, about the alleged bonds mentioned in complainant's direct interrogatories.

Cross-interrogatory 4th. Do you not know that the reason said bonds were so taken to account by said Hopkins & Company, Collinson, Boissevain, Mildrew, and others, was that the same was pronounced by various means, reports and public declarations, both verbal and written, and published in newspapers and public journals in the United bonds were fraudulent and illegal, and were issued in violation of laws and that the statute or act of the legislature of Florida, passed January 28th, 1870, under which the said bonds were issued, was a violation of the constitution of the State of Florida, and that said statute and the said bonds issued under the provisions thereof were null and void? Please state fully and distinctly all that you know, or that came to your knowledge, in regard to the validity of said bonds.

Cross-interrogatory 5th. Do you not know that in consequence of such charges of fraud, illegality and unconstitutionality in the issue of said bonds that said Hopkins & Company, Boissevain and others, or some of them, sought and obtained the opinion of J. P. Benjamin, Queen's counsel in London, as to the validity of said bonds, and that he gave it as his opinion that the same were unconstitutional and void? And do you not know that in consequence thereof said Hopkins & Company, Collinson, Boissevain and others, or some of them, before said bonds were disposed of, sent one Collins from London to Florida to procure some official or judicial opinion in favor of the validity of said bonds? And do you not know that such expressions were obtained from some of the supreme court judges of the State of Florida, and was treated as assurances of the validity of said bonds? And do you not know that such opinions were used in England and Holland to induce persons to purchase said bonds? Be so good as to state fully and in detail all that occurred in this behalf.

Cross-interrogatory 6th. Do you not know in consequence of such charge of fraud, illegality and unconstitutionality that the said Hopkins & Company, Collinson, Boissevain and others agreed to and did deduct, from the amount of the gross sales of said bonds, the amount of about $400,000 to be reserved and used as a fund to float said bonds on the markets in England and Holland while the same were being so speculated in and placed in the market? State fully what occurred, within your knowledge and information, as to the means by and the manner in which said bonds were floated in the market.

2010 Cross-interrogatory seventh. Do you not know that the first agreement for the delivery of said bonds between Hopkins & Company and Collinson was was dated November 14, 1870? And do you not know that in consequence of the charges and allegations of fraud and illegality in the issue of Florida State bonds a modified agreement was prepared and executed between said Hopkins & Company and Collinson, and other parties speculating therein, on the 28th day of December, 1870, a copy of which said agreement is hereto annexed, marked C? And do you not know that the fraudulent and illegal character of said bonds was a matter of general notoriety at and about the time of the executing of said agreement? Please state all your knowledge or information in reference to the statements and publications about the fraudulent character of said bonds either in England or Holland; and if you have a copy of said publications in either the Dutch or English language please make the same part of your answer.

Cross-interrogatory 8th. Do you not know that said Florida State bonds were offered to the public by said Collinson and others upon the terms stated in a printed prospectus, and is or not the printed paper hereto annexed, marked B, a correct copy of such prospectus? And do you not know that said bonds failed in the English market because of said charges of fraud and illegality, and that said prospectus was subsequently translated into the Dutch language, and the said bonds placed in the market in Holland by the united efforts of said Hopkins & Company, Collinson, Boissevain, Mildeus, Zadocks, Stoope, and others? State fully all that occurred or transpired in the handling of said bonds in this respect.

Cross-interrogatory 9th. With whom have you conversed or corresponded, if any one, on the subject matter of this suit or your testimony in the same? And have you been advised by any one of the object of this suit? and, if so, state by whom, and if in writing produce the same or a copy thereof as part of your answer; and state whether you and if yea, state where and under what circumstances you made their acquaintance or the acquaintance of either of them, and state in what capacity they or either of them were at the time acting. State in full all the knowledge and information you have on the subject inquired about.

Cross-interrogatory 10th. Do you not know that said Hopkins & Company were the fiscal and financial agents for the State of Florida at and during the time you were engaged in the service of said firm, if you say that you were in their employment?

Solicitor for Defendants.

DEFINITIVE PROSPECTUS.

A.—Annexed referred to in affidavit of J. Wertheim, LL. D., dated the 28th day of May, 1877.

1870.

Florida State loan, issue of 4,000,000 dollars, authorized by act of the legislature, dated 28th of January, 1870, in bonds to bearer of 1,000 dollars each, bearing interest at the rate of eight per cent. per 2012 annum, principal and interest payable in gold, free from all United States taxes.

Payments will be made at the Florida State agency, in the city of New York, of the principal at par on January 1st, 1900, and the interest on January 1st and July 1st in each year.

The bonds, with accrued interest since 1st July (being £6 18s. 2d.), are offered at the price of £183 per $1,000, making the interest equal to nearly 9½ per cent. per annum.

Payment on application £10 per 1,000-dollar bond, and the remainder on allotment. Should no allotment be made, the application money will be returned in full.

Messrs. are authorized to receive subscriptions for the Florida State bonds to the amount of $4,000,000.

The State of Florida pledges its credit for the above, guaranteeing payment in gold of both principal and interest.

The governor of Florida (Harrison Reed) makes the following statements:

That the real property therein, taken at its present minimum value, is $50,000,000, on which a tax of ½ of one per cent. is annually levied, being $250,000.

That an addition of $30,000 to $50,000 is receivable from specific taxes on polls, specific licenses, etc.

That there are four hundred miles of railroad and a thousand miles of telegraph line in operation; oyster beds and fisheries along a thousand miles of the coast, equal to the best in the world. Foreign corporations doing business in the State, insurance companies, steamship com-2013 panies, etc., all of which pay no taxes, and from which large tributes can, if necessary, be levied.

As further security for her debt, the State of Florida possesses already 11,000,000 acres of public lands, and will receive when the government surveys are completed, over 5,000,000 acres additional.

The money to be now raised is solely to be devoted to railroad purposes, and will be paid on completion of every twenty miles, at the rate of $16,000 per mile; the State being secured by first mortgage liens conditional upon the payment by the company of principal and interest.

The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railway, to aid in constructing which the money will be applied, is a line 450 miles in length, of which 250 miles are completed, fully equipped, and given over to traffic. The full paid capital stock is $6,550,000, and the present earnings on the finished portion of the road show a net return of over $380,000 per annum.

This railway company has mortgaged to the State its entire property, including all real estate, road-bed, iron, equipments, and all franchises, as additional security for the prompt payment of principal and interest of these bonds.

The total debt of the State of Florida is $1,011,756, held by the United States Government, and within the State itself.

All the original documents connected with this loan have been submitted to Messrs. Ashurst, Morris & Co., solicitors, of 6, Old Jewry, London, who have stated that they are fully satisfied that they are in perfect order, and that the bonds are properly issued.

Subscription lists will be simultaneously opened in London, Frankfort, Amsterdam, and Rotterdam, and prospectuses and forms of application can be obtained in London, of Messrs.

No. .] Thirty-year eight per cent. bond. [$1,000.

Payable January 1st, 1900. Interest payable 1st July and January in gold, at Florida State agency, in the city of New York.

This bond is one of a series issued in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company to the extent of $16,000 per mile upon completed road, the State of Florida holding the first mortgage bonds of said railroad company for a like amount as further security to the holder thereof.

HARRISON REED,
Governor of Florida.

2015 C.

Memorandum of agreement made the twenty-eight day of December, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, between Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Company, of 58 Old Broad Street, London, of the one part, and John Collinson, of 9 Victoria Chambers. London, of the other part.

Since the agreement between the same parties dated the fourteenth day of November, 1870, was signed, a question has been raised by Mr. Collinson whether the issue of the bonds which is the subject of such agreement is not invalid as being unconstitutional. Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Company, although not admitting that there can be any doubt as to the validity of such bonds, have nevertheless agreed with Mr. Collinson as follows:

It is therefore agreed between the parties that Mr. Collinson, in lieu of paying the Messrs. Hopkins & Company against delivery on application of each of such bonds the sum of one hundred and thirty-eight pounds one shilling and ten pence, shall pay to them one hundred and twenty-four pounds five shillings and ten pence, and that the difference, vidilicit, thirteen pounds sixteen shillings shall, at the risk of Messrs. Hopkins & Company, be paid to the joint account of Frank Howard Collins and John Collinson, with Messrs. Drake, Klineworth & Cohen, bankers, of ten Church street, London. Messrs. Hopkins & Company engage forthwith to take steps for obtaining and to produce to Mr. Collinson, duly certified by the proper officers of the State, the decision of the supreme court of the State of Florida upon the question so as aforesaid raised by Mr. Collinson.

In the event of such decision of the supreme court being in favor of the validity of the bonds, the amount in the hands of Messrs. Drake, Klineworth & Cohen shall, upon the production to Mr. Collinson, his executors or administrators, of the official copy of such decision, duly certified as aforesaid, belong and be paid to Messrs. Hopkins & Company.

In the event of the decision being adverse to the validity of the bonds, such amount as aforesaid shall belong and be paid to the said John Collinson, his executors or administrators, as representing the bondholders.

In either case, such interest as Messrs. Drake & Company may allow shall be paid to Messrs. Hopkins & Company.

2106 In other respects the agreement of the fourteenth day of November, 1870, shall remain in full force, and nothing herein contained shall prejudice the claims of Mr. Collinson or any bondholder against the State of Florida or the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, as witness the hands of the parties hereto the day and year first above written.

(Signed) S. W. HOPKINS & CO.
JOHN COLLINSON.

Witness to the signature of S. W. Hopkins & Co., and John Collinson.

(Signed) ADAM S. BLANDY.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Northern District of Florida:

I, Philip Walter, clerk of the United States circuit court, in and for the northern district of Florida, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the original cross-interrogatories and exhibits on file and of record in my office.

Witness my hand and the seal of said circuit court at Jacksonville in said district, this the twenty-seventh day of February, A. D. 1879.

[SEAL.] PHILIP WALTER, Clerk.

(Endorsed on back:) United States circuit court, northern district of Florida. J. Fred. Schutte et al. vs. the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company et al. Interrogatories, cross-interrogatories, and commission to take deposition of L. H. Pierce before U. S. consul at Kingston, Jamaica.

2017 Instructions.

I. All the commissioners named in the commission should have notice of the time and place of executing it; and if any of them do not act, let the fact that they were notified, or could not be notified, and the reasons for their not acting, be stated.

II. The commission must be executed by Geo. E. Hoskinson, the commissioner named therein.

III. The acting commissioner will examine the witnesses separately, after publicly administering to them the following oath or affirmation: "You do swear that the answers which shall be given by you to the interrogatories proposed to you shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth: so help you God." The oath shall be administered (except in cases hereinafter mentioned) by the witness laying his hand upon and kissing the Gospels. But if the witness shall desire it, he shall be permitted to swear in the following form: "You do swear in the presence of the ever-living God," and while so swearing he may or may not hold up his hand, in his discretion. Or, if the witness 2018 shall declare that he has conscientious scruples against taking an oath, or swearing in any form, he shall be permitted to make his affirmation in the following form: "You do solemnly, sincerely, and truly declare and affirm," omitting the words, "So help you God."

IV. The general style or title of the depositions must be drawn up in the following manner: Deposition of witnesses, produced, sworn (or affirmed), and examined the day of in the year one thousand eight hundred and at under and by virtue of a commission issued out of the circuit court of the United States for the northern district of Florida, in a certain cause therein depending and at issue, wherein J. First. To the first interrogatory he saith, &c. (Insert the witness's answer.)

Second. To the second interrogatory he saith, &c., and so on throughout.

If he cannot answer, let him say that he knoweth not.

V. If there be any cross-interrogatories, the witness will go on thus:

First. To the first cross-interrogatory he saith, &c., and so on throughout.

VI. When the witness has finished his deposition, let him subscribe it, and the acting commissioner will certify as follows:

Examination taken, reduced to writing, and by the witness subscribed & sworn to this day of 18 , before , commissioner.

VII. If any papers or exhibits are produced and proved, they must be annexed to the depositions in which they are referred to, and be subscribed by the witness, and be endorsed by the acting commissioners in this manner:

"At the execution of a commission for the examination of witnesses, wherein this paper writing was produced and 2020 shown to (insert the witness's name) and by him deposed unto at the time of his examination, before commissioners."

VIII. The acting commissioner will sign his name to each half sheet of the depositions and exhibits.

IX. If an interpreter is employed, one of the commissioners will administer to him the following oath, and certify thereto:

"You do solemnly swear that you will truly and faithfully interpret the oath and interrogatories to be administered to , a witness now to be examined, out of the English language into the language, and that you will truly and faithfully interpret the answers of the said thereto, out of the into the English language."

Let the depositions be subscribed by the interpreter as well as by witness, and certified by the acting commissioners as follows:

Examination taken, reduced to writing, subscribed by the witness and by the sworn interpreter, and sworn to by the witness, this day of 18 , before , commissioner.

2021 X. The commissioner will make return on back of the commission by endorsement, thus:

"The execution of this commission appears in certain schedules hereunto annexed" , commissioner.

XI. The depositions and exhibits (if any) must be annexed to the commission, and then the commission, the directions, the interrogatories, the cross-interrogatories, depositions, and exhibits must be folded into a packet and bound with tape. The acting commissioner is to set his seal at the several meetings or crossings of the tape, endorse their names on the outside, and direct it thus: "U. S. circuit court, northern district of Florida. J. Fred. Schutte, Jan Prins, and others, complainants, vs. The Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company and others, defendants. To the circuit court of the United States for the northern district of Florida, at Jacksonville, Florida; care of Philip Walter, clerk."

XII. When the commission is thus executed, made up and directed, it must be returned in the manner specified in the direction of the commission, if there be any.

2022 XIII. If there be no direction on the commission specifying the manner in which it is to be returned, then it must either be delivered to the court by one of the acting commissioners personally, or else be forwarded by some person coming to this place, who will be required, on his arrival, to make oath before one of the judges or the clerk of the court "that he received the same from the hands of A. B., one of commissioners, and that it had not been opened or altered since he so received it."

XIV. In case of returning the commission by mail, it is to be deposited by one of the acting commissioners in the nearest post-office, he making the following endorsement thereon: "Deposited in the post- this day of , 18 , by me , commissioner.

In case of returning the commission by a vessel, it is to be deposited by one of the acting commissioners in the letter-bag of such vessel, he making upon the commission the following endorsement: "Deposited in the letter-bag of the now lying at and bound for the port of New York, this day of , 18 , by me commissoner." 2023

The commissioners are requested to be very careful to observe the foregoing instructions, as the smallest variance may vitiate the execution of the commission.

If the commission be returned by an agent, let him be instructed to call, on his arrival at this place, upon , who will direct him as to its delivery.

UNITED STATES CONSULATE AT KINGSTON, JAMAICA,
March 22d, 1879.

2024 Deposition of witness produced and sworn and examined the twenty-second day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, at Kingston, Jamaica, under and by virtue of a commission issued out of the circuit court of the United States for the northern district of Florida, in a certain cause therein depending and at issue, wherein J. Fred. Schutte, Jan Prins and others are complainants, against The Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company and other' defendants, as follows:

LOUIS HORACE PIERCE, of Kingston, Ja., by occupation, clerk, aged thirty-eight years and upwards—GEORGE E. HOSKINSON, Commissioner—being duly and properly sworn, pursuant to the directions hereto annexed, and examined on the part of the complainants, doth depose and say as follows:

First. To the first interrogatory he saith: My name is Louis Horace Pierce; my age, thirty-eight years; my occupation, clerk.

Second. To the second interrogatory he saith: London, England.

Third. To the third interrogatory he saith: S. W. Hopkins & Company; I was chief clerk in their employment.

Fourth. To the fourth interrogatory he saith: First they were dealers in railway iron, and carried on business at No. 58 Old Broad street, London.

Fifth. To the fifth interrogatory he saith: I have a knowledge of the sale of such bonds, by handling those bonds, counting them, entering them in books, cutting coupons therefrom. Of course I saw and inspected such bonds, and remember them as of a light green color, and that they bore a great seal.

GEORGE E. HOSKINSON,
Commissioner.

Sixth. To the sixth interrogatory he saith: They acted as agents in behalf of the railway company by whom they were issued. I believe they had, but I never saw it or read it.

Seventh. To the seventh interrogatory he saith: I have no recollection of having seen or read that document.

2025 Eighth. To the eight' interrogatory he saith: They sold to John Collinson, of London, twenty-eight hundred of said bonds at the price of one hundred and thirty-eight pounds one shilling and ten pence sterling for each bond, to the best of my recollection during the years 1871 and 1872 in the city of London.

Ninth. To the ninth interrogatory he saith: The said S. W. Hopkins & Co. endeavored to negotiate their Florida bonds in Paris in 1870, but were frustrated in their attempts by the declaration of war between France and Germany. I can't say what they did to induce purchasers to buy the bonds and am therefore unable to relate what was done by said S. W. Hopkins in that way.

GEORGE HOSKINSON,
Commissioner.

Final interrogatory. To the final interrogatory he saith: A portion of these Florida bonds were held in London by T. B. Coddington, a native of the United States, who ultimately relinquished these bonds to the said Hopkins & Company, receiving payment therefor; how much I cannot say; from S. W. Hopkins & Company in New York; it was not the London firm but the New York firm who paid Coddington the said amount on receiving said portion of the bonds from Coddington. S. W. Hopkins & Company, of London, opened negotiations with John Collinson for the purchase by him of all the said bonds in their possession. John Collinson was introduced to the said Hopkins & Company, of London, by Alexander Mendel, of Brussels; and it was agreed between the said Alexander Mendal and the said S. W. Hopkins & Company that they would pay him a commission, pro rata per bond, for every bond purchased by the said John Collinson. I am unable to say at what rate per bond, but I recollect that a considerable sum was paid the said Mendel, as commissions, on the twenty-eight hundred bonds, and to my best recollection they sold to no other parties.

This is all I know of the transaction.

LOUIS HORACE PIERCE.

2026 Examination taken, reduced to writing, and by the witness subscribed and sworn to this 22d day of March, 1879.

[SEAL.] GEO. E. HOSKINSON,
Commissioner and Consul of the United States at Kingston, Ja., as witness my official seal.

First. To the first cross-interrogatory he saith: I made the acquaintance of S. W. Hopkins & Company in the year 1870. I was introduced to them by Geo. Richardson, a brother-in-law of Frank Collins, a partner in the firm of S. W. Hopkins. I have no knowledge of their private business transactions, except that they were dealers in railway iron. I acquired that knowledge by business repute. They did not permit me to see and read their private agreements and transactions in business matters. Know nothing about it, having just entered their office as clerk. I had no pecuniary interest whatever in the business transactions of said Hopkins & Company. I left their employment in the year 1874, because they had suspended payment; stopped business and my services were no longer required.

Cross-interrogatory second. To the second cross-interrogatory he saith: The first time I saw a paper purporting to be a bond of the State of Florida, was upon the occasion of T. B. Coddington calling on Hopkins & Company, in London, with a portion of the said Florida bonds. I believe the paper marked A to be a copy of the bonds from the purport of its reading, and a correct copy.

Cross-interrogatory third. To the third cross interrogatory he saith: I know that the bonds were sold privately to John Collinson, of London, and that the said bonds were originally taken by said Hopkins & Company, on speculation, at about half of their face value; they were really sold to John Collinson at an advance of one hundred and thirty-eight pounds one shilling ten pence (£138 1 10) per bond; besides Collinson & Hopkins & Company, to the best of my knowledge and belief, the said Boosevain Mildeus, Zadocks, Stoope, and Manga and others, were jointly and personally in said speculation in said bonds.

2027 Hopkins & Company sold to Collinson, Collinson sold to the Amsterdam parties already named, who in their turn issued the said bonds on the Amsterdam market. To the best of my belief the already named Amsterdam parties and John Collinson and Alexander Mendel were in constant communication, as was Alexander Mendel, with S. W. Hopkins & Company.

Cross-interrogatory fourth. To the fourth cross-interrogatory he saith: I did not know of any of these facts at the time. Nothing came to my knowledge in regard to the invalidity or illegality of the said bonds.

Cross interrogatory fifth. To the fifth cross-interrogatory he saith: In regard to the first part of this question, I say, I had heard of a consultation with J. P. Benjamin, but did not learn the result of his opinion, nor the object of the consultation. I remember one C. H. Collins returning to the United States, with the intent of visiting Florida, but for what purpose I cannot say. I cannot recall that opinions were ever given by the courts of Florida in regard to the validity of the bonds, except by telegrams to that effect received by Hopkins & Co. in London from parties in Florida. I do not know what means were used to induce the sale of the bonds in England, but I believe a pamphlet was published in Dutch conducing to the sale of the bonds in Holland. This is all I know about it.

Cross-interrogatory sixth. To the sixth interrogatory he saith: I believe that a sum of money was set aside as therein mentioned. How much I cannot recall. As a fund to float the issue of said bonds. Paragraphs and articles appeared in the leading newspapers in Holland of a flattering character and speaking highly of the resources of the State of Florida. Nothing of the sort appeared in any of the English newspapers, that I can recollect.

2028 Cross-interrogatory seventh. To the seventh cross-interrogatory he saith: To the best of my belief the first agreement was on that date, which was subsequently followed by a modified agreement, dated, I think, in December following, but there was no question raised at that time in London as to the validity or otherwise of the bonds, though I recollect that the question of the validity of the bonds was raised and warmly discussed in Holland, judging from translations of newspaper articles taken from Holland newspapers which I saw some time after. I have no documents whatever, of any character, relating to any of these matters.

Cross-interrogatory eighth. To the eighth cross-interrogatory he saith: I think Collinson did offer the bonds to parties in Holland according to the terms of the prospectus marked B, which I think is a correct copy of said prospectus. I do not recollect any attempt to issue the bonds in the London market was ever made by Hopkins & Company, although Collison may have done so.

Cross-interrogatory ninth. To the ninth cross-interrogatory he saith: I have only recently corresponded on this subject with W. G. M. Davis, of Florida. I first made his acquaintance in London in the year 1872, when he called at the office of Hopkins & Company. I am not acquainted with any of the other names, nor have corresponded with any one else on the subject. Mr. Davis was acting, I believe, as legal adviser of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company. The correspondence began on his part at the close of the year 1877. I submit a copy of my entire correspondence with Mr. Davis in reference to this subject as a part of this answer. (Schedules A, B, C, D, & E.)

Cross-interrogatory tenth. To the tenth cross-interrogatory he saith: They represented themselves as being the fiscal agents of the State of Florida.

LOUIS HORACE PIERCE.

2029 Examination taken, reduced to writing, and by the witness subscribed and sworn to this 24th day of March, 1879, before

[SEAL.] GEORGE E. HOSKINSON,
Commissioner and Consul of the United States of America at Kingston, Ja., as witness my official seal.

LONDON, October 14th, 1876.

DEAR SIR: The Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company has utterly failed. The road will soon be sold and pass into hands of new company. I am engaged in trying to wind up its affairs. The creditors will get but little. The State bonds have been declared illegal, as unconstitutionally issued and not obligatory on the State. This by the State supreme court. This is final and conclusive. But at same time the court holds that the company is liable to the purchaser of the bonds to repay what they paid.

There was an old lien on the road, and it is to be sold to meet both the claims. It will not pay twenty per cent. of them. Hopkins, Collins & Company, which have gone under financially and morally, here and in America, cannot well be found, and are doing no business that their former acquaintances know of. They have entirely released by the J. P. & M. Railroad Company, as you can learn, and if they were not, they have nothing to pay if they were held liable. I have tried to find them, but without success. They employed Mr. Chase, who settled with them as trustee, to put them in possession of the evidence to show who got the £38 pounds which Hopkins & Company did not credit the company with the account they filed in the court in New York. The division was made here, as Collins and Carpenter both told me, but they did not tell me who should do it.

If I may find that H. & Co. did not in fact get from Collinson the £138 110 per bond, or that the £38 1s. 10d. was divided, who acted with Hopkins & Company in selling, introducing, etc., the bonds, I will be able to secure a large sum of money from any such persons who live in England or Holland, if they are able to pay. The fact, any one 2030 can be made liable for the entire sum, £119,000 and interest. I know that you are able to give me the true history of the transaction. It is your duty to do so. I will give any assurity that no steps shall be taken to make S. W. Hopkins & Company liable, not to use what you state as evidence against them. You are of course obliged to answer if you are called as a witness. In case a suit is begun here a commission to take your deposition would be sent out. You are not bound to secresy where your former employers' interests are not attacked. Will you write me at New York, care of William H. Brodie, 97 Pearl street, and say what you can and will do to aid me?

Yours truly,

W. G. M. DAVIS.

KINGSTON, JAMAICA, 23*d November*, 1876.

Gen'l W. G. M. DAVIS,
Care William H. Brodie, esq., 97 Pearl street, New York, U. S.:

DEAR SIR: Your letter dated London, 14th October, 1876, duly reached me here on the 5th inst., and I have carefully noted its contents.

I am quite willing and ready to aid you in your endeavors to wind up the affairs of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad, and will furnish you with all the information I possess, provided you remunerate me to the following extent: On receipt of a sight draft to my order drawn by Brown Brothers of New York, on Brown, Shepley & Company, of London, for £50, say fifty pounds sterling, I will at once write you all I know regarding the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad, and the late negotiations and sale of Florida bonds.

Possibly my demand may appear unnecessary and unjust, but as I attribute to a great extent the suspension of S. W. Hopkins & Company to the negotiating of and dealing with said Florida bonds, and their suspension resulting in my not only losing a good position of trust, but money also, I do not hesitate to make this demand; and permit me to mention that by you complying thereto you will be spared considerable trouble and expense of a commission to take any evidence here.

2031 Of course under all circumstances I am to be held harmless for imparting what I know in the matter. By giving you the information as legal advisor to the railroad, it is to further the ends of justice, and not to indulge any supposed feelings of animosity that I might entertain towards S. W. H. & Co., or any one else. If you agree to my request, I would suggest you sending me a series of questions to be answered and I will supplement my answers with all or any information I may consider likely to be of value to you. I think I can furnish you with a sketch of the Florida bond negotiations from the time Littlefield appeared in London (the very time I entered the service of S. W. H. & Co.) down to that period when I saw the bonds quoted at 17 on the Amsterdam Bourse.

The history of this negotiation is painfully interesting even to outsiders. I fear it has been the cause of much weeping and gnashing of teeth throughout the land. That disease known by the faculty of medicine as "kleptomania" is often rivaled by another complaint too frequently an epidemic in commercial and financial circles, a vulgar complaint against which honesty has but little chance of coming to the front. I know of no better inscription for the portal of a stock exchange nor motto for a financier than the words of the eighth commandment.

I am, dear sir, yours faithfully,

L. H. PIERCE.

P. S.—Kindly prepay postage of any future correspondence. I assume my evidence will require to be certified here before United States consul.

WASHINGTON CITY, D. C., December 15*th*, 1876.

DEAR SIR: I received your letter on my return from Europe, and am obliged by your attention. I think your demand very reasonable if the information you can give will lead to the recovery of the £38 1 10 which was paid (as Collinson swore) and not we all pay.

I do not think the evidence of Collins would be sufficient; he would not be credited unless he is supported by other evidence, hence I have not sought to procure his affidavit. He told Chase that he would 2032 furnish the evidence that the money was spent in subsidizing the press, paying a syndicate, &c., and that Collinson aided in doing it. He has not yet done so. Now you see what I think is wanted as evidence. If you admit been received by S. W. H. & Co.; if the fact be that the money was not really paid to S. W. H. & Co., as I am told by Collins & Carpenter; if there was any agreement to treat the money as paid and to make a division among the syndicate and others, and if sufficient proof of this can be made by witnesses of character, by documents, &c., I can recover the money in England or Holland, if the parties who illegally received the money will furnish the facts to put me in the way to get it. I will send the fifty pounds, if you will call on the counsel and show him this letter and he writes me that he thinks you are able to give what I want. I will send him the money to pay you when you supply the facts needed. I would prefer that a solicitor should look into the matter also. I will pay his fee. Address me here, care C. D. Willard, 812 F st., Washington, D. C.

Yours truly,

W. G. M. DAVIS.

KINGSTON, JAMAICA, 25th January, 1877.

Gen'l G. W. M. DAVIS,
Care of C. D. Willard, esq., 812 F st., Washington, D. C.:

DEAR SIR: Your letter dated 15th December last duly received. I cannot quite understand the modus operandi you suggest with reference the U. S. consul here. I called on the consul and informed him of your desire that he should write you if he considered me capable of supplying the information you require, but he told me he was not acquainted with you, and that it was not a consular matter at all; in fact he could only certify my signature to any document or statement. If, as you state, you would like a solicitor to look into the matter, I have no objection; on the contrary, would desire a solicitor to draw up my statement of facts in legal form, but on the condition only that you first comply with my request by sending me £50. I cannot part with my information until I get that payment. If you have any doubt as to 2033 my keeping my word, or that my statement may not after all be of use to you, then the matter had better remain undisturbed. I beg to give you the names of respectable firms of solicitors here: Messrs. Harvey & Bourke, Burke & Lee, Ingleton & Garcia, and I shall be happy to learn you have instructed any of the above to take the matter in hand in your behalf. But please note I act only on the conditions stated in my last letter, and by complying thereto I will keep my word, and give you all the information in my power unreservedly.

I am, dear sir, yours faithfully,

L. H. PEIRCE.

P. S.—I think it right to mention that the information I can furnish will, I consider, be of great value to you. I suppose you are hardly inclined to run down and visit the sunny South. Kingston accommodations for travelers is very poor, but it might be worth your while to talk matters over with me in detail. The Atlas line of steamers run conveniently from and to N. Y. Passage £10, time 6 days.

L. H. P.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 26th, 1877.

C. D. WILLARD,
Attorney and Counsellor-at-law, No. 812 F Street, N. W.:

DEAR SIR: I have delayed my reply to your last letter owing to the uncertain state of the affairs of the railroad. The governor has advertised the road for sale on the 4th June next for nonpayment of interest on State bonds. The road is in possession of the governor, and the company have not any assets. I am employed by the Dutch bondholders to see to their interests. I may go to Europe in a few days to see about the business. I had no intention of insinuating any doubt of your good faith, and no reason to base any such doubt in what I meant by asking that you should state to some one exactly what you could prove. Has the value of your evidence to the person I represent, might be judged of, whether it would establish such conduct on the part of any financial party in England or in Holland, or would statement of such facts relating to the sale of the bonds to your brother-in-law, Mr.

2034 H. Acherson, with authority to him to deliver it to Mr. A. Scott Lauson, solicitor, 32 Essex st., Strand, on his paying fifty pounds, so if I get the consent of my friends to pay there may be no delay. If you would also make your statement to a solicitor to be employed by you, C. L. to pay the fee, and get him to state what he thinks the evidence will amount to, and he says it will establish that there was a fraudulent dealing by Collinson and his associate, with any part of the money agreed to be paid by Collinson for the bonds, it will aid me in getting authority to pay and to get you further advantages.

Collinson was in this country, and left suddenly, fearing arrest in a civil suit arising out of his dealing with General Mahone's road—the Atlantic, Ohio & Mississippi—which bonds he sold, General Mahone has published, lead to a recovery of the £38. I know you think your evidence would be sufficient for such purpose, and you may be correct, but it is a matter of which a lawyer must be a better judge. It would be necessary to have some additional evidence, oral or written. This, I have no doubt, you can assist in procuring. The amount of money you ask is trifling in comparison with the end which I seek; and if I had authority to use the money from those who would be benefited by your evidence, I would not hesitate to employ you to go to England and give your aid, &c., and to pay your expenses; and for your benefit, &c., I will present the matter in this way to the parties, and urge them to agree to pay you. I feel a great anxiety not only to recover the money, but also to unearth the fraud that has been perpetrated.

Suppose you send an account of Collinson's conduct, and trust it to the bondholders, a large part of whom live in Holland. The Dutchmen are greatly incensed against Collinson. With kind regards,

Yours truly,

W. G. M. DAVIS.

General W. G. M. Davis,
Care C. D. Willard, Esq., 812 F street, Washington, U. S.:

DEAR SIR: Accept my thanks for your last letter, dated 26th February, 1877. As by this time you may be in London, I send press 2035 copy of this to the care of A. Scott Lauson, esq., for delivery to you. To save this mail and thereby two weeks' delay, I think it expedient to act at once. Accordingly I send my brother-in-law, Mr. W. Hutchinson, thereby my statement, to be handed to you or Mr. Lauson, against payment of the £50 as agreed. As I am particularly anxious not to assume a false position in this matter, I think it right to mention the purport of that statement, which will show as follows: 1st. The parties to whom S. W. H. & Co. paid certain moneys so as to obtain possession of the bonds. 2d. The name and whereabouts of a person who must be thoroughly acquainted in detail with all Collinson's dealing with the bonds; and I have no doubt that person could be legally compelled to divulge all he knows in the matter, not only as regards Collinson, but others also.

3d. The price Collinson paid S. W. H. & Co. for the bonds.

You will be able to judge from this if the information in my statement will further your views. If you want to fix Collinson with fraudulent dealing, I must confess my inability to state what he did with his gains in the transaction, or to what sum those gains amounted, but I think the person named in clause No. 2 of my statement is capable of giving detailed information on compulsion. I am quite prepared to supplement my statement with any further information in my power. I may as well mention now that in the event of your clients requiring my presence in Europe, it would be necessary not only to pay my traveling expenses, but salary of £20 per month, as I could not ask or expect my employers to pay me during absence. In fact, unless it be a case of great necessity, I might have difficulty in obtaining the leave, unless I also arranged for a fellow clerk to do my work for me, which I have no doubt could be done, and I would then willingly hold myself at your disposal.

Awaiting your further instructions, I am, dear sir, faithfully yours,

L. H. PIERCE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19th, 1878.

L. H. PIERCE, Esq.,
Kingston, Jamaica:

2036 DEAR SIR: When I last wrote to you I stated I expected to go to England in a short time. My intention was frustrated, as you will learn herein. So expecting, I suggested you to forward your statement to Mr. Hutchinson. Mr. Lauson informed me that you had done so. I owe you a statement of the reasons I did not take and pay for the paper. Soon after I received your letter, informing me that you had sent the statement to London, the affairs of the J., P. & M. Co. were put under the control of the governor of the State, by an order of the Supreme Court of the United States.

I mentioned to the governor what I had done, but he was not willing to furnish the funds to enable me to carry out what I promised, your aid being part of my plan. I did not feel willing to pay out any money of my own, and so wrote to Mr. Lauson. I did not for the same reason go to England. The bondholders of the Florida 8 per cent. bonds sold by Hoyle, Boissevain and Mildeus & Co., have since sent an agent to this country to collect their claims. The officers of the J., P. & M. Co. do not remit their claims, but it is insisted by other parties, a litigation now exists in which it is necessary for the bondholders to prove what was the representations made by the J., P. & M. Co. by its agents, S. W. Hopkins & Co., as to the line of R. R., &c., &c. I am now employed by the Dutch bondholders. Gen. Littlefield admits all I need to prove, but there is doubt as to the value of his evidence. S. W. Hopkins is here and is willing to testify. Collins is not far off, and will state what we want to prove on the same point, yet they are doubtful witnesses. I have the prospectus published by Hoyle & Boissevain, and I have the names of directors of the Amsterdam Bourse and of bankers and brokers who can testify what were the representations which were made to the purchasers of the bonds. Collinson was there a few days since. He went to England, but will return again. I can examine him here on his return, yet with all his evidence I would like to have your testimony, in order to let you see that of £138 1 10 for the principal and accrued interest of each bond, and that he took and paid for $2,800,000 of such bonds, and for same amount of accrued interest. You say, in your number three of facts, that you can prove the same things that Collinson has admitted, and which Hopkins and Collinson are now willing to swear to.

2037 The only matter about which we have no positive proof is the division that was made of the £38 1 10. Hopkins and Collinson will no doubt divulge the whole thing; but as they were parties to the fraud their evidence will not be deemed sufficient to affect any witness corroborated by law. With such evidence as I can get you can be of service. I will call your attention to your letter of 24th March, which I enclose with two others of yours.

You say you can prove first, the parties to whom S. W. Hopkins & Company paid money to obtain possession of the bonds. Unless you can state to whom they paid any part of the £38 1 10, such evidence will not serve my clients. S. W. Hopkins & Company only credited the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company with £100—a price at which, as they allege, the bonds were sold. Collinson swore in his bill in chancery, filed in England, that he was paid as a disinterested witness. It is material to my clients to ascertain and establish the truth. The difference between the account sales of the bonds, rendered by S. W. Hopkins & Company and Collinson and statement equals $500,000 in 1871. If we can show the facts, we may compel the persons who got this money to pay it. If any one was interested in the fraud he will be liable for the whole. Collinson, though not bankrupt, is no longer known as a financial agent. He can command money, I am informed. If the fraud can be proven, the parties will be liable to a criminal prosecution in England and Holland. I believe some of the parties in Holland who put the bonds on the market were parties to the fraud. Hopkins, Carpenter & Collins are insolvent; we do not intend to pursue them; it would be useless. You say you cannot tell anything to the gain of Collinson but legitimate profits, which we do not care about, so we do not need your evidence on such points. Telling that a certain time you acted as attorney of S. W. Hopkins & Company (in 1871), and signed for the firm, and as you were their confidential clerk at the time the first contract was made by them with Collinson, and as you had full knowledge of all moneys received and paid on account by Collinson, as well as of the payments made by S. W. Hopkins & Company out of the money received from Collinson, it seems you ought to be able to prove how the £38 1 10 per bond was divided, who participated in the division, etc., etc. I believe, as I said, Hopkins & Collins will prove 2038 this; but your evidence will be of more weight. They may furnish papers to sustain what they swear to. I suppose checks, etc., are to be had, which will help.

Now I propose this to you: If you will come to this country and testify, and if you can furnish the evidence we want as to the division of the £38.1.10 per bond, and show that Collinson or any one else engaged in the sale of the bonds (other than S. W. H. & Co.) made an agreement to divide and share the said amount, I will pay your expenses coming and returning, your hotel and traveling expenses, etc., whilst here on the business, and the sum of three hundred and fifty dollars gold. If you are absent on this busines more than one month from the time you leave Kingston I will pay you in addition at the rate of one hundred dollars per month gold, per month for such excess time over one month. If you decide that you can give the evidence which I need I will pay the money stated, relying on your honor and judgment as to the value of your evidence and your promise to remain until your evidence is taken by commission. I will deposit the money with Messrs. Pin, Forward & Co., 50 Broadway, New York, upon receiving a cable from you that you will come. The deposit will be made to your credit, to be paid on your arrival in New York, and Messrs. Pin, Forward & Co. also will notify you by cable at my expense. I will arrange with the cable company to send your message and collect the cost from me, so as to save you any expense. I would send you the money by this steamer did I know that you could give the required evidence. I pursue the course I indicate because I wish you to sail in the next steamer leaving after you get this letter. This is essential, as we have no time to lose. As you see, I leave all to your judgment and honor. You will not trust anything to me. The deposit will be paid you on your arrival and your passage money provided. I am soon going to Florida and will be there when you get this letter. You will therefore call me at that place, and on your arrival at this city you will find at the office of Pin, Forward & Co., 50 Wall street, a letter from me saying when I will have you examined as a witness. Trusting you are well, I am

Yours faithfully,

W. G. M. DAVIS.

KINGSTON, JAMACIA, 3d December, 1875.

2039 General W. G. M. DAVIS,
Care William H. Brodie, esq., 96 Pearl st., N. Y.:

DEAR SIR: On Friday, 29th November last, I received your letter bearing date 19th of same month. As you omit any specified address, I shall send this to the care of W. H. Brodie, and press copy to Jacksonville, Florida. For reference I keep copy of all my correspondence. I regret not having heard from you for so long a time, as I concluded matters had fallen through, and it was with pleasure and surprise I received your long communication, though unable at so short a notice to act according to your wishes. Having carefully and seriously considered contents of your letter, I find myself placed in a difficult position. Most willing to aid you all in my power, at the same time I am equally apprehensive that my evidence may not be worth the expenses you propose to insure. The difficulty hinges upon this point: It is required of me to swear that there was a division of £38.1.10. I would be willing to swear that to the best of my knowledge, belief, and recollection money was paid by Hopkins & Co. to a certain person as commission for aiding Hopkins & Co. to sell the bonds. Would such evidence answer your purposes? Of course I would give the name and whereabouts of such person. I do remember the agreement with Collinson, and he did pay Hopkins & Co. £138.1.10 per bond for the bonds he took. It appears to me you should get hold of that person who received commission from Hopkins & Co. Whether the law would hold that commission paid him was or was not a division or participation in the £38.1.10 you know best. I should say it was. Assuming you followed up said person properly, he would endeavor to shelter himself by the statement that the commission was not a participation in the £38.1.10. Now I am almost certain said commission was prorated per bond, but how much per bond I cannot tax my memory to state. For the sake of argument, suppose Hopkins told him—I will give you a limit sum as commission to enable me to effect sales of bonds. Could you legally criminate that person by reason of that commission, for participation in the £38.1.10? It may appear strange to you, and possibly may look like a fool, to use a vulgar expression, at my not being able to furnish a more substantial and decided statement, but I must beg you to consider the following points:

2040 1st. I am on my oath.

2d. I would rather not make my statement, than to make a false one, thereby committing myself and acting unjustly towards you.

3d. Although I was head clerk to Hopkins & Company, they were suspiciously careful in keeping many things from me, and among them the agreement to share the £38.1.10. So you see I am compelled to use the words—to the best of my knowledge, belief, and recollection. If you merely want my opinion, I should say there was an agreement, and commissions paid a certain individual, and a rich man, too, worth following up.

To make matters more complex still, at the time the negotiations were going on between Hopkins & Company and John Collinson, Hopkins & Company were moving all the power on earth to negotiate on the continent a second issue of the bonds of the Peninsular Railway of Michigan, Indiana and Illinois. As I was cashier, accountant, correspondent, and bookkeeper, you can imagine the difficulty I had to encounter to keep a clear track between the two negotiations and the books and accounts in order. I assure you the office of Hopkins and Company at that time was a pandemonium of confusion and misery to me. I had not been long with Hopkins & Company, and was suddenly brought in contact with a number of persons, heads of correspondence, agreements, &c., connected with both negotiations going on at the same time, and now, after a lapse of nearly six years, I am called upon to give evidence from memory, on oath. I beg you to consider my position, my dear sir. Why not first obtain Hopkins' and Frank Collins' evidence, and let me comment on it. As the person who received commissions from Hopkins & Company is not only reputed very wealthy and very influential, both in London and on the continent, Hopkins and Frank Collins, with a view to his future services, may decline to mention his name, to save him from trouble, but I would not stand on any such scruples, as the man is nothing whatever to me. Never anticipating the the investigation you wish to make, I have willingly allowed my memory to become dormant as much as possible on the events connected with myself and Hopkins & Co. I toiled for them night and day, could have taken bribes for information, suffered materially in health, lost by their promises valuable 2041 opportunities to better and raise my position, and untimately found myself compelled to commence life again elsewhere, with the loss of £120 arrears of salary. Mr. Hopkins is aware of this, but in reply to appeals made by me to him for such arrears I am told he used the expression "I might do my damndest to get it." This is of course between ourselves, but do you wonder at my endeavoring to obliterate from my memory the recollections of so unsatisfactory a period of my life? I regret you are under the impression that I am unwilling to trust you, which is not the case, but I am particulary desirous not to assume a false position in this matter. Now if you consider the evidence I can give is worth the expense you mention in your letter, in that case I would ask you to remit me £40 by Pin, Forward & Co., draft on McDonald, Hanbey & Co., their correspondents here. or by A. Brown Bros.' draft on London. I could not quit Kingston without leaving some funds for my wife to carry on house, and I must pay up a couple of months' rent in advance and purchase some wearing apparel, &c. Could I borrow money here I would not ask you for the remittance. Assuming my employers will allow me leave, I must arrange for one of my fellow clerks to keep up my work and forego my salary during my absence. As I work steadily nine hours a day you can understand there is work to be done and kept up. I give you my word not to appropriate the remittance except for the purpose intended, i. e., my passage to New York and as part of my remuneration, part of same with other expenses to be paid me by you as per terms of your letter of 19th of Nov., 1878.

Awaiting your reply, believe me, dear sir, yours faithfully,

L. H. PIERCE.

P. S.—By-the-bye, Hopkins & Co. possessed a pamphlet on Florida, its resources, and the J., P. & M. R. Road. The contents were so exaggerated, and of the contents "de rose" type as to bear the stamp of untruth on almost every page. Possibly that is the identical pamphlet, rendered still more charming by the copiousness of the Dutch language, that has been used as part and parcel of the snare. I think with you that many parties in Holland contributed to the fraud.

2042 A—P. S. To prevent disappointment and misunderstanding in the matter, I beg to remind you that the person I have alluded to may be dead. I am totally ignorant as to whether he is or not. I saw him last in 1872-'73, and appeared about 45 or 50 years of age. It is generally claimed that wealth, luxury, and a residence in the safe climate of Northern Europe tends to a ripe old age. I would be very thankful to feel that hard work and limited means were conducive to the same end in the West Indies.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., Feb'y 28, 1877.

H. L. PRINCE, Esq., Kingston, Jamaica:

DEAR SIR: I have applied for and will obtain a commission giving power to the United States consul as Kingston, Jamaica, to take your deposition in the suit of the Dutch bondholders, pending in the United States court in Florida, of which you have heard previously. I had wished to have you present in this city to be examined verbally in respect to the matters as to which you will be interrogated by the commissioner. The expense of paying your traveling fare, hotel, and necessary charges, and reasonable allowance to you for your time, prevented me from carrying out the intentions above stated. I was not able to get the necessary money furnished me. I think that if you could have been here your testimony as to the sale of the bonds by Hopkins & Co., and the representations made by them, would have satisfied everybody, seeing that you are a disinterested party. Full opportunity to examine you verbally and to cross-examine you would have been much more satisfactory to all parties, as well as to the court. When you are interrogated you will perceive that the object of the suit is not to name the difference between the price which Collinson swore he paid for the bonds and that which Hopkins & Co. gave the J., P. & M. credit for. I mention this, because I had written to you making inquiries as to such difference in amount. At the time when I wrote I thought it probable that a suit might be brought in England, or on the Continent, and the amount of such difference equal to, I think. £119,000 sterling, recovered; but I was not encouraged to proceed in such matters. I hope that you will be willing to give your deposition 2043 before the consul, and that you may be able to remember all that took place at the time of the sale of the bonds by Hopkins & Co.

Yours truly,

W. G. M. DAVIS.

UNITED STATES CONSULATE,
Kingston, Ja., March 31, 1879.

I hereby declare the foregoing correspondence, embraced within and including the letters A and E, and confined herein by the seal of the U. S. consulate at Kingston, Ja., to be all and every of the letters referred to in my answer to the ninth cross-interrogatory.

LEWIS HORACE PIERCE.

2044 U. S. CONSULATE AT KINGSTON, JA., Mar. 31, 1879.

At the execution of a commission for the examination of witnesses, wherein J. Fred Schutte, Jan Prins, and others, complainants, against the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and others, defendants, this paper-writing was produced and shown to Louis Horace Peirce and by him deposed unto at the time of his examination before

GEO. E. HASKINSON,
Commissioner.

2045 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

No. 100. State of Florida. $1,000.

First mortgage bond of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Co. Secured by first lien on the entire road. Interest guaranteed by special pledge of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida.

(On the margin:) Recorded in the comptroller's office of the State of Florida.

C. H. AUSTIN,
State Treasurer.

T. W. BREVARD, Comptroller.

Know all men by these presents, that the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company acknowledges itself indebted to   or bearer in the sum of one thousand dollars, for value received, which sum the said Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company promises and agrees to pay to   , or bearer, on the first day of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and eighty, in Charleston, South Carolina, with interest thereon at the rate of seven per centum per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of January and July in each year, on the presentation and delivery of the proper coupons hereunto attached.

This bond is one of a series of like tenor, limited to ten thousand dollars per mile, for the purchase of rails, spikes, plates, chairs, and equipments, and two hundred and fifty thousand dollars for constructing bridges across the Choctawhatchee, Apalachicola, and Swannee Rivers, issued in accordance with the act of the legislature of the 1855, to pay every six months to the trustees of the internal improvement fund at least one-half of one per cent. on the entire amount of bonds issued as a sinking fund for the ultimate redemption of the bonds.

In witness whereof the said company have caused this bond to be attested in its behalf by its president and secretary and its common seal affixed at its office in Tallahassee, this first day of January, in the year 1860.

E. HOUSTOUN, President.

F. H. FLAGG, Secretary.

Issued in accordance with the provision of the act of the legislature of the State of Florida, passed 6th January, 1855, creating the internal improvement fund, which fund is specially pledged for the payment of the interest on these bonds.

2047 Tallahassee, March 28th, 1860.

PHILIP WALTER, Clerk.

2048 Memorandum of an agreement and final settlement made this 10th day of November, A. D. 1870, at London, England, between General Milton S. Littlefield, of the State of Florida, in the United States of America, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by Milton S. Littlefield, the president thereof, the parties of the first part, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, acting through and represented by Colonel Nicholas W. Woodfin, chairman of the commission appointed by the general assembly of the State of North Carolina, by an "act" ratified twenty-fourth day of March, A. D. 1870, to settle with George W. Swepson, and for other purposes, which act was approved by the stockholder' of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company of the second part.

Whereas, on the sixteenth day of April, A. D. 1870, at the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, in the United States of America, a contract in writing was made and entered into by and between The Florida Railroad Company, George W. Swepson, president, General Milton S. Littlefield; The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company by Milton S. Littlefield, the president thereof, 2049 as parties of the first part, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, represented by Nicholas W. Woodfin, M. G. Candler, W. W. Rollins, and W. P. Welsh, commissioners appointed by the legislature of the State of North Carolina, by an act ratified on the twenty-fourth day of March, A. D. 1870, which act was duly ratified, approved. adopted, and made a part of the charter of the said party of the second part, the said corporation, a copy of which contract is attached hereto, and made a part of this contract; and

Whereas the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company have received certain bonds of the State of Florida, under sundry acts of the legislature of the said State, which bonds by the term of the laws authorizing the issue of the same are made payable, both principal and interest, in the gold coin of the United States and bearing interest at the rate of eight (8) per cent. per annum; and

Whereas by reason of the present war in Europe all financial operations are more or less restricted, which has up to this time prevented the negociation for the sale of the said bonds; and

Whereas the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad through and by its representative, Nicholas W. Wood-2050 fin, chairman aforesaid, is pressing the immediate payment by the said party of the first part of the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, with interest at the rate of eight (8) per cent. per annum since the first day of November, A. D. 1869; to pay or settle the said claim, now will cause a great sacrifice to the said party of the first part; and

Whereas the said Nicholas W. Woodfin, as chairman of the said commission for the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, for the purpose of removing embarrassment out of the way, which, in his judgment, prevented the sale of the said bonds, and to avoid litegation, did, on the seventeenth day of October, A. D. 1870, ocntract with Henry Clews & Co., bankers in the citties of New York and London, to purchase a certain claim held by them against George W. Swepson, amounting to about twenty thousand dollars lawful money of the United States of America, which contract was made with the knowledge and approval of the said party of the first part, for the reason it was understood by all parties to the said agreement that this would secure the full co-operation of the said Henry Clews & Co. to aid in the sale and negociation of the said Florida bonds:

2051 Now, therefore, be it remembered, that for and in consideration of the premises herein stated, and for various other good and sufficient considerations, and for the further purpose of aiding the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company to complete their road from the junction with the main line at Ashville to Paint Rock, at the State line between the States of North Carolina and Tennessee, and to complete their road without delay on the one hand, and to avoid a hasty sale and sacrifice of the said bonds on the other hand, it is agreed, by and between the parties of the first and second part, that in full compromise, payment, satisfaction, and accord of the obligation of the party of the first part to pay to the party of the second part the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, lawful money of the United States of America, with interest thereon at the rate of eight (8) per cent. from and after the first day of November, A. D. 1869, as per terms of the said contract made and executed at the city of Washington aforesaid, and that the said party of the first part may be fully and finally discharged from every and all liability on account of the terms and conditions of the said contract, hereunto appended, the said 2052 party of the first part agree to furnish iron to the said party of the second part sufficient to lay a single track of railroad from the junction at Asheville, along the French Broad River, to Paint Rock, at the Tennessee State line, and into the State of Tennessee to the present terminus of the Cincinnati, Cumberland Gap, and Charleston Railroad, with turn outs and side-tracks, provided that the whole of the railroad shall not exceed, including turn-outs and side-tracks, fifty-three miles in length. The iron shall be of a good quality of English iron, weighing not less than fifty pounds per lineal yard, with the necessary chairs and spikes to lay the same, the iron to be shipped in the quantities and at the terms and places as follows, to wit:

To Norfork, Virginia, on or before the tenth day of December, A. D. 1870, three hundred tons; to the same place, on or before the tenth day of January, A. D. 1871, five hundred tons; to the same place, on or before the first day of April, A. D. 1871, one thousand tons, and the rest to be shipped to New York, in the State of New York, on or before the first day of September, A. D. 1871, but the said party of the first part may ship the iron as fast as he may wish, all duties and freights on the above-described iron to be paid by the party of the first part.

2053 And it is further agreed by the party of the first part that he will ship, in addition to the above*d*-mentioned quantity of iron, one thousand tons of the same weight and quality as the above described iron, with the necessary chairs and spikes to lay the same, to New York, duties and freight paid, on or before the first day of September, A. D. 1871, the shipping of which iron Mess. S. W. Hopkins & Co. are to guarantee.

In addition to the shipping of the iron, the said party of the first part does hereby sell and deliver unto the said party of the second part, by placing to the order of the party of the second part, with Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., eight hundred bonds of the State of Florida, of the denomination of one thousand dollars each, numbers of said bonds to be designated by the said party of the first part, but upon the express stipulations and condtions that the said bonds are to be left with Messers. S. W. Hopkins & Co. for sale at such prices as the said party of the second part may direct.

And it is further agreed by the party of the first part that he will pay to the party of the second part two hundred pounds sterling, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged.

And it is further agreed by the party of the first part to assume 2054 and discharge the obligation of the party of the second part to Henry Clews & Co. of about twenty thousand dollars lawful money of the United States of America.

Now, when the foregoing undertakings and agreements of the party of the first part are fully accomplished and performed, it is to be taken as a full compliance with and final discharge of the parties of the first part to this contract, as well as all parties of the first part to the said contract executed at the city of Washington aforesaid, a copy of which is hereto attached, and this shall operate as a receipt and final discharge thereof for all obligations growing out of the same.

MILTON S. LITTLEFIELD.
MILTON S. LITTLEFIELD,
Pres. Jack., Pen. & Mobile R. R. Co.
N. W. WOODFIN,
Chairman of the Board of Commissioners.

2055 Memorandum of agreement and settlement between the Florida Central Railroad, George W. Swepson, president, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, Milton S. Littlefield, president, and Milton S. Littlefield, majority owner of the stock of said companies and also of the stock and of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, of the first part, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, represented by N. W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, W. Pink Welsh, and W. W. Rollins, commissioners appointed by an act of the legislature of North Carolina, approved by the stockholders of said corporation, of the second part, witnesseth:

That whereas, George W. Swepson, late president of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, made certain investments of the funds of said company in securities of and interests in the said Florida Central Railroad, Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and the Tallahassee Railroad, of the said State of Florida, as per report made by the said George W. Swepson to the said commissioners, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, to bear interest from the first day of November' 1869, at the rate of eight per cent. per annum; and

Whereas the said George W. Swepson heretofore conveyed to the said Milton S. Littlefield, subject to the payment of the above-recited claim, his interest in the above-recited railroads; and whereas the said Littlefield has received authority from the legislature of the State of Florida and the said several railroad companies to receive bonds, to be issued by and for account of the several railroad companies, which bonds are to be exchanged for the bonds of the State of Florida to be issued for the purpose of aiding the finances of the said several railroad companies, all of which bonds are now in a state of preparation; and 2056 Whereas the said Milton S. Littlefield has made a contract with S. W. Hopkins & Co., No. 71 Broadway, for the disposition of said bonds as the same may be issued, the proceeds of the issue of the bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company of the said State of Florida, amounting to nine hundred and sixty thousand dollars, are to be applied to the payment of existing liabilities of the said several railroad companies, including the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, to be paid to the commissioners aforesaid for the purpose of paying existing liabilities of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company.

It is understood and agreed by the parties of the first and second parts that the proceeds of the sale of the said bonds so to be issued by the said Florida railroad companies and the said State of Florida is to be equally divided, dollar for dollar, between the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company and the said Florida railroads, and as the commissioners aforesaid receive by this first sale of bonds only the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, it is further understood and agreed that out of the proceeds of the sale of the issue of the bonds of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad there is first to be received by the commissioners aforesaid a sum sufficient to be equal to the amount received by and on account of the said Florida railroads, and then an equal amount is to be received by the said commissioners and the said Florida railroads, dollar for dollar, until the entire amount of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand and thirty-six dollars and three cents, with interest at eight per cent. as aforesaid, being the sum reported by the parties of the first part as due to the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad is fully paid.

It is further understood and agreed by the parties of the first and second parts that all the interest owned or claimed by the said parties of the first part, both George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield, or which they as individuals have a right to control in the said Florida railroads, are hereby pledged for the faithful fulfillment of this 2057 contract, without the right on part of any party to interfere with our management or control of the affairs of the roads.

2059 Whereas George W. Swepson has paid to the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, for and on account of F. Dibble and his associates, in payment for the Pensacola & Georgia and the Tallahassee Railroads, sold to said F. Dibble and his associates by said trustees on the 20th day of March last, bonds of said roads amounting at their face to nine hundred and sixty thousand and three hundred ($960,300) dollars, and has also paid to said trustees for the same parties the sum of four hundred and seventy-two thousand and sixty-five ($472,065) dollars, being the full amount due said trustees for said roads; and whereas, said F. Dibble, for and on behalf of himself and his associates, has obligated himself and them, and does hereby obligate himself and them, to cause bonds upon said roads as now completed, as soon as further legislative authority from said State of Florida shall be obtained therefor, to be issued, the same to be secured and in every respect to be, as stated in an agreement, executed and dated the twenty-sixth day of last March, between said F. Dibble, on behalf of himself and his associates, and said George W. Swepson, which bonds, when executed, are to be and shall be placed, as provided in said agreement, for the purposes therein set forth, and for the further purpose of enabling said Swepson to be reimbursed the said sum of four hundred and seventy-two thousand and sixty-five dollars.

Now, therefore, this indenture, made and entered into between F. Dibble, on behalf of himself and his associates, party of the first part, and George W. Swepson, party of the second part, witnesseth:

That said party of the first part, for and in consideration of the premises, has granted, bargained, conveyed, and confirmed unto said party of the second part all that property of whatever name, nature, and description, conveyed to said party of the first part by said trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida by two separate deeds of conveyance, each dated April 8th, A. D. 1869, which deeds for full description of property are hereby made part and portion of this instrument; the said property hereby conveyed to be held by said party of the second part in trust for the express purpose of enabling said party of the second part—which he hereby agrees and binds himself to do—to convey the same to that incorporation, consisting or to consist as incorporators of said F. Dibble and his associates. As soon as said Dibble and his associates shall have granted to them such a similar relief as the legislature of the said State of Florida granted to Wm. E. Jackson and his associates by act for relief of Wm. E. Jackson and his associates, approved July 29th, 1868, and also for the further purpose of securing said party of the second part in all advances made, as specified and agreed upon in the said agreement between these parties, executed and dated March 26th, 1869, and the advancement, as aforesaid, of said sum of four hundred and seventy-two thousand and sixty-five dollars, until such time as said relief shall have been granted and said party of the second part shall have conveyed said property to said incorporation, as hereinbefore provided:

To have and to hold said property to said party of the second part for the purposes and trusts herein declared.

2060 In testimony whereof said party of the first part has hereunto signed his name and affixed his seal this 22d day of April, A. D. 1869.

2061 Whereas, by an act of the general assembly of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to incorporate the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company," approved January the eighth, A. D. 1853, the said railroad company was duly incorporated;

And whereas the said railroad company duly and fully accepted the provisions of an act of said general assembly, entitled "An act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvements in this State," approved January sixth, A. D. 1855, and in writing, dated January twelfth, A. D. 1855, notified the trustees of the internal improvement fund, created under said last-mentioned act, of said acceptance;

And whereas the third section of said act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvements in this State provides, among other things, "that all bonds issued by any railroad company, under the provisions of this act, shall be a first lien or mortgage on the road-bed, iron, equipments, workshops, depots, and franchise, and upon the failure of any railroad company accepting the provisions of this act to provide the interest, as herein provided, on the bonds issued by said company, and the sum of one per cent. per annum as a sinking fund, as herein provided, it shall be the duties of the trustees, after the expiration of thirty days from said default or refusal, to take possession of said railroad and all its property of every kind and advertise the same for sale at public auction to the highest bidder, either for cash or additional security, as they may think most advantageous for the interest of the internal improvement fund and the bondholders;"

And whereas the said Pensacola & Georgia Railroad Company, on the sixth day of February, A. D. 1869, and for a long time previous thereto, to wit, more than thirty days, had failed to provide the interest on the bonds issued by said company, and the sum of one per cent. per annum as a sinking fund, as provided by said act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvements in this State, and had thereby incurred the liability of being sold by the trustees of said internal improvement fund, under the requirements of said act;

And whereas the trustees of said internal improvement fund, at a meeting of said trustees, held at the capital of said State, at the city of Tallahassee, on the sixth day of February, A. D. 1869, at which meeting were present his excellency Harrison Reed, governor; R. H. Gamble, comptroller; J. S. Adams, commissioner of immigration; Frank W. Webster, surveyor-general; and A. R. Meek, attorney-general of said State, did resolve that: Whereas, the Pensacola & Georgia Railroad Company had failed to provide the interest on the bonds issued by said company, and the sinking fund of one per cent. per annum, as required by said act, to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvements in this State, that the said trustees, by virtue of and in compliance with the provisions of said act, take possession of said road and all its property of every kind, and advertise the same to be sold at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash or additional approved security, at the office of said company, in Tallahassee afore-2062 said, on Saturday, the twentieth day of March, A. D. 1869, and that the notice of said sale be published forthwith until day of sale in the Journal of Commerce and the New York Herald, published in New York; the Savannah Republican, published in Savannah, Georgia; the Florida Union, published in Jacksonville, in this State, and all the papers in Tallahassee aforesaid;

And whereas, in compliance with said resolution, said trustees did take possession of said road and all its property of every kind, and immediately after the adoption of said resolution, and until said day of sale, advertised the same for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, at the time and place and in the newspapers named, and in compliance with the requirements of said act, and pursuant to said resolution, did proceed and offer said Pensacola & Georgia Railroad, its road-bed, iron, equipments, workshops, depots, and franchise, and all the property of said railroad, subject to said sale under said act, at public auction to the highest bidder therefor, for cash, subject, however, to the condition that the purchaser shall be bound to continue the payment of one-half of one per cent. semi-annually, to the sinking fund, until all the outstanding bonds of said company are discharged, under the penalty of an annulment of the contract of purchase and the forfeiture of the purchase money paid in, and all other conditions of said act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvements in this State; and whereas, at said sale F. Dibble and associates were the highest and best bidders, having bid the sum of one million two hundred and twenty thousand dollars for the said Pensacola & Georgia Railroad, its road-bed, iron, equipment, workshops, depots, and franchise, and all the property of said railroad subject to said sale, under said act, were knocked off to said F. Dibble and his associates;

And whereas, F. Dibble and his associates have requested said trustees to execute to said F. Dibble, on behalf of himself and his associates, a deed of said railroad and other property as aforesaid, agreeing, upon the execution and delivery of said deed, to pay the said purchase money bid:

Now, therefore, this indenture, made and entered into between Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida; R. H. Gamble, comptroller; S. B. Conover, State treasurer; J. S. Adams, commissioner of immigration; Frank W. Webster, surveyor-general, and A. R. Meek, attorney-general of said State, constituting, ex officio, the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, under and by virtue of said act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvement in this State, and subsequent acts of the general assembly in relation thereto, party of the first part, and F. Dibble, on behalf of himself and his associates, party of the second part, witnesseth:

That the said party of the first part, for and in consideration of the premises, as also of the said sum of one million two hundred and twenty thousand dollars to them in hand paid by the said party of the second part, at and before the ensealing and delivery of these presents, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, have granted, bargained, sold, aliened, and confirmed, and do by these presents grant, bargain, sell, alien, confirm, and deliver unto the said party of the second part, the said Pensacola & Georgia Railroad, its iron, equipments, workshops, depots, and franchise, and all its property of every kind subject 2063 to sale under the provisions of said act; to have and to hold the same, with all the rights, privileges, and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining to said party of the second part, their successors or assigns forever, in as full and ample manner as the said trustees of said internal improvement fund can convey the same, and the said party of the first part will, from time to time, and at all times hereafter, upon the reasonable request of the said party of the second part, their successors or assigns, make and execute all such further deeds necessary, if any, for the perfect and absolute assurance and confirmation of the said railroad and other property hereby conveyed or intended to be conveyed unto said party of the second part, their successors or assigns.

In testimony whereof the said trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida, party of the first part, have hereunto set their hands and seals this eighth day of April, anno Domini, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine. Internal revenue stamps to the amount of twelve hundred and twenty dollars affixed and cancelled.

(Indorsed:) Filed May 27th, 1879. Phily Walter, clerk.

2065 Whereas, at a sale by the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida on the 20th day of March, 1869, of the Pensacola & Georgia and the Tallahassee Railroads, F. Dibble, in behalf of himself and his associates, became the purchaser thereof, bidding for the Pensacola & Georgia Railroad $1,220,000, and for the Tallahassee Railroad $195,000; and whereas George W. Swepson is the holder of a large amount of the first mortgage bonds of the Pensacola & Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies; and whereas said parties desire to come to an accommodation respecting their interests, the one through said purchase, and the other as the holder of said bonds: Now, therefore, it is hereby agreed between said F. Dibble, in behalf of himself and his associates of the one part, and said George W. Swepson of the other part, in manner and form following, that is to say:

First. That said George W. Swepson shall deliver, as he shall come into possession of them, to be surrendered to the trustees of the internal improvement fund aforesaid by said F. Dibble, in behalf of himself and his associates as part of the purchase-money for said roads respectively, the first mortgage bonds of said roads purchased by him, amounting to about nine hundred thousand dollars, for bonds of the Pensacola & Georgia Railroad Company, and to about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars of the Tallahassee Railroad Company; the bonds of the Pensacola & Georgia Railroad Co. to be surrendered at par, and those of the Tallahassee Railroad to be surrendered at their pro rata of the amount bid for said road at the said sale, and the balance or remainder of the purchase money to be supplied by said F. Dibble and his associates.

Second. As soon as may be after the title is acquired by F. Dibble, in behalf of himself and his associates, from the trustees of the internal improvement fund, first mortgage bonds are to be issued in such form and to be executed in such manner as may be devised to make them legal and binding as an obligation on said roads, their equipments, workshops, depots, and franchise; said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, payable in New York semi-annually, principal and interest to be paid in gold, and having not more than thirty years to run. To secure said bonds, a proper deed of trust is to be executed by F. Dibble, in behalf of himself and associates, to Calvin B. Dibble and George W. Swepson as trustees, with the ordinanry conditions in such cases, and shall contain a provision that on default in the non-payment of any installment of interest for sixty days the principal shall become due, and that on such default the trustees shall enter upon and take possession of said railroads, their equipments, workshops, depots, and franchise without any legal process whatever, and a'vertise the same for sale and sell the same at public outcry for cash, the proceeds of which shall be applied to the payment of said bonds, principal and interest, and if a sufficient amount thereof shall not be realized at such sale, then to apply the same pro rata in the payment of said bonds.

Third. The bonds to be thus issued shall be delivered to Calvin B. Dibble and George W. Swepson, to be sold or negotiated, and the money realized on them or a sufficient amount thereof for that 2066 purpose shall be paid to George W. Swepson to reimburse him for the amount of money he has paid out in purchasing the first mortgage bonds aforesaid, and all amounts paid or to be paid by him for commissions and attorney's fees in connection with his business with said roads, together with interest on said amounts from the time they were paid out by him until the date of his reimbursement, and also to pay him the additional sum of one hundred & fifty thousand dollars.

Fourth. The stock is to be divided and owned in the following manner: George W. Swepson is to have and own one-third; Calvin B. Dibble is to have and own an amount of stock which, in connection or united with the stock of said Swepson, shall constitute a majority of the whole, and F. Dibble and his associates are to have and own the remainder, to be subdivided among themselves as they shall determine.

Fifth. Said Swepson is to have the right to appoint four directors of said roads, F. Dibble and his associates are to have the right to appoint four, and Calvin B. Dibble shall be appointed by both parties the ninth director. This provision is to expire as soon as said Swepson is reimbursed and paid the amounts hereinbefore mentioned, with interest, as provided, and thereafter the stock shall stand on a common footing, as in all other cases.

Sixth. Until the title is acquired from the trustees of the internal improvement fund, the roads are to remain as they are and to be operated as they are.

Seventh. None of the stock shall be transferable for the space of two years from this date, except as may be necessary to qualify the persons to be appointed as directors to be such directors.

Eighth. The roads are to protect the outstanding transportation notes or tickets of the Tallahassee Railroad Company to an extent not exceeding twenty-eight thousand dollars, and shall receive the same as usual for transportation, freight, or fare.

Ninth. F. Dibble is to be the president until the stock becomes transferable.

In testimony whereof, the said parties have hereunto set their hands and seals this twenty-sixth day of March, A. D. 1869.

2067 Whereas by an act of the legislative council of the Territory of Florida, approved February tenth, A. D. 1834, entitled "An act to incorporate the Tallahassee Railroad Company," the said railroad was duly incorporated;

And whereas the said railroad company duly and fully accepted the provisions of an act of the general assembly of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvements in this State," approved January 6th, A. D. 1855, and in writing presented December nineteenth, A. D. 1855, notified the trustees of the internal improvement fund, created by said last mentioned act, of said acceptance;

And whereas the third section of said act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvements provides, among other things, "that all bonds issued by any railroad company, under the provisions of this act, shall be a first lien or mortgage on the road-bed, iron, equipments, workshops, depots, and franchise; and upon a failure on the part of any railroad company, accepting the provisions of this act, to provide the interest, as herein provided, it shall be the duty of the trustees, after the expiration of thirty days from said default or refusal, to take possession of said railroad and all its property of every kind and advertise the same for sale at public auction to the highest bidder, either for cash or additional approved security, as they may deem most advantageous for the interest of the internal improvement fund and the bondholders;"

And whereas the said Tallahassee Railroad Company, on the sixth day of February, A. D. 1869, and for a long time previous thereto, to wit, more than thirty days, had failed to provide the interest on the bonds issued by said company, and the sum of one per cent. per annum, as a sinking fund, as provided by said act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvements, and had thereby incurred the liability of being sold by the trustees of said internal improvement fund, under the requirements of said act;

And whereas the trustees of said internal improvement fund, at at a meeting of said trustees, held at the capital of said State, at the city of Tallahassee, on the sixth day of February, A. D. 1869, at which meeting were present His Excellency Harrison Reed, governor; R. H. Gamble, comptroller; J. S. Adams, commissioner of immigration; Frank W. Webster, surveyor-general, and A. R. Meek, attorney-general of said State, did resolve that: Whereas, the Tallahassee Railroad Company has failed to provide the interest on the bonds issued by said company and the sum of one per cent. per annum, as a sinking fund, as required by said act, to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvements, that the said trustees, by virtue of and in compliance with the provisions of said act, take possession of said road and all its property of every kind, and advertise the same to be sold at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash or additional approved security, at the office of said company, in Tallahassee, aforesaid, 2068 on Saturday, the twentieth day of March, A. D. 1869, and that the notice of said sale be published forthwith until day of sale in the Journal of Commerce and the New York Herald, published in New York; the Savannah Republican, published in Savannah, Georgia; the Florida Union, published in Jacksonville, in this State, and all the papers in Tallahassee, aforesaid;

And whereas, in compliance with said resolution, said trustees did take possession of said road and all its property of every kind, and immediately after the adoption of said resolution advertise the same for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, at the time and place and in the newspapers named, and in accordance with the requirements of said act, and pursuant to their said resolution, did proceed and offer said Tallahassee Railroad and all its property of every kind, including road-bed, iron, equipments, workshops, depots, and franchise, for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, subject, however, to the condition that the purchaser shall be bound to continue the payment of one-half of one per cent., semi-annually, to the sinking fund, until all the outstanding bonds are discharged, under the penalty of an annulment of the contract of purchase and the forfeiture of the purchase money paid in, and all other conditions of said act;

And whereas, at said sale, F. Dibble and associates were the highest and best bidders, having bid the sum of one hundred and ninety-five thousand dollars for the said Tallahassee Railroad and its property of every kind, including the road-bed, iron, equipments, workshops, depots, and franchise, the same was knocked off to said F. Dibble and associates, as the highest bidders therefor;

And whereas said F. Dibble and his associates requested said trustees to execute to said F. Dibble, on behalf of himself and his associates, a deed of said road and all its property as aforesaid, agreeing, upon the execution and delivery of said deed, to pay the purchase price bid:

Now, therefore, this indenture, made and entered into between Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida; R. H. Gamble, comptroller; S. B. Conover, State treasurer; J. S. Adams, commissioner of immigration; Frank W. Webster, surveyor-general, and A. R. Whereas at a sale of the Pensacola & Georgia Railroad and of the Tallahassee Railroad, on the twentieth day of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, by the trustees of the internal improvement fund, under and by virtue of the provisions of the internal improvement law, the said Pensacola & Georgia Railroad and the Tallahassee Railroad were purchased by F. Dibble and associates, consisting of Franklin Dibble, Alonzo Huling, John L. ReQua, Edward M. Cheney, Wilkinson Call, James M. Baker, and Silas L. Niblack;

And whereas by an act of the general assembly of the State of Florida, approved on the twenty-fourth day of June, eighteen hundred sixty-nine, the said Franklin Dibble, Alonzo Huling, Edward M. Cheney, and their associates and their successors and assigns were made and constituted a body politic and corporate under the name of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, by which said act of the general assembly it was intended that the title to the said Pensacola & Georgia Railroad and to the said Tallahassee Railroad, as well as the road-beds, iron, equipments, workshops, depots and franchise unto the said Pensacola & Georgia Railroad and Tallahassee Railroad belonging or appertaining, should vest in the said Tallahassee Railroad Company, which by said act was created;

And whereas doubts exist as to the completeness of the title the said Tallahassee Railroad Company acquired to the said property under the said act of incorporation:

Now, therefore, for the purposes of removing all doubts, and of perfecting to the said Tallahassee Railroad Company a title to the said late Pensacola & Georgia Railroad and to the said late Tallahassee Railroad, and in consideration of the sum of one dollar to them in hand paid by the said Tallahassee Railroad Company, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, the said Franklin Dibble, Alonzo Huling, Lucy E. Huling, wife of Alonzo Huling, John L. ReQua, Helen ReQua, wife of John L. ReQua, Edward M. Cheney, Maria J. Cheney, wife of Edward M. Cheney, Wilkinson Call, James M. Baker, Fanny G. Baker, wife of James M. Baker, Silas L. Niblack, and Atalie N. Niblack, wife of Silas L. Niblack, have granted, bargained, sold, released, relinquished and quit-claimed, and by these presents do grant, bargain, sell, release, relinquish and quit-claim unto the said Tallahassee Railroad Company, which was organized and framed by the act of the general assembly of the State of Florida, approved June twenty-fourth, eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, and to their successors and assigns, all their and each of their right, title, interest, estate, claim and demand, both at law and in equity, which they the said Franklin Dibble, Alonzo Huling, Lucy E. Huling, John L. ReQua, Helen ReQua, Edward M. Cheney, Maria J. Cheney, Wilkinson Call, James M. Baker, Fanny G. Baker, Silas L. Niblack, and Atalie N. Niblack, or either of them, have in and to the said late Pensacola & Georgia Railroad and the said late Tallahassee Railroad, and in and to the road-bed, iron, 2072 equipments, workshops, depots and franchise unto the said late Pensacola & Georgia Railroad and the said late Tallahassee Railroad belonging or appertaining, the said Lucy E. Huling, Helen ReQua, Maria J. Cheney, Fanny G. Baker, and Atalie N. Niblack, joining their said husbands in this conveyance for the purpose of relinquishing their dower in and to the property hereinbefore described and conveyed.

In testimony whereof the said Franklin Dibble, Alonzo Huling, Lucy E. Huling, John L. ReQua, Helen ReQua, Edward M. Cheney, Maria J. Cheney, Wilkinson Call, James M. Baker, Fanny G. Baker, Silas L. Niblack and Atalie N. Niblack have hereunto set their hands and seals this day of A. D. 1870.

2073 AN ACT to repeal any and all acts creating, recognizing, or continuing in existence the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company.

The general assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. That chapter twenty-four of the private laws, special session of 1868, ratified August 19th, 1868; chapter twenty of the laws of 1868-'69, ratified 29th day of January, 1869; and chapter one hundred and fifty of the laws of 1871-'72, ratified 8th day of February, 1872, and any and all other acts and parts of acts creating, recognizing, or continuing in existence the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, are hereby repealed.

SEC. 2. That all the property, rights, credits, rights of action and effects that now exist in favor of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, or which may result from any existing matters, causes, circumstances, or contingencies, shall become absolutely the rights and property of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and the said Western North Carolina Railroad Company is hereby authorized and empowered to prosecute, defend, and 2074 manage any and all suits and actions pending in the courts of this State, in the courts of the United States, or the courts of any other State or Territory, in reference to the property, rights, and credits of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company; provided the said Western North Carolina Railroad Company shall not be liable or responsible for any debt, contract, obligation, or other liability of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company beyond the sums it shall actually realize and receive from the transfer of property, rights, credits, &c., provided for in this sections.

SEC. 3. That all persons who are now or have been acting or assuming to act as officers, directors, agents and attorneys of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company shall, within thirty days after demand upon them by the governor of the State, turn over and deliver to the board of directors of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company all books, records, papers, moneys, bonds, property, contracts, effects, and evidences of debt which may be in their 2075 possession or within their control, and upon their failure or refusal to do so shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars or imprisoned, in the discretion of the court, and the superior courts of any county on the line of the Western North Carolina Railroad shall have jurisdiction of such offence.

SEC. 4. That this act shall not be construed to relieve any person from any criminal prosecution now pending, or which may hereafter be instituted in any court or courts for any criminal offence theretofore committed in relation to the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, nor shall it be so construed as to abridge or release any rights, rights of action, or credits which now exist or may result from existing circumstances or contingencies in favor of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company.

SEC. 5. This act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

Ratified this 13th day of March, A. D. 1879.

2077 AN ACT to amend the charter of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company

The general assembly of North Carolina do enact: That the Western North Carolina Railroad shall consist of two separate and distinct divisions, one called the eastern division, and shall embrace the said road from Salisbury to the French Broad River, near Asheville, and the other called the western division, which shall embrace the said road from the French Broad River to Ducktown and Paint Rock, on the Tennessee line.

§2. The property appropriations and subscriptions of stocks heretofore made by the State and private stockholders for the eastern division of said road, as provided in section 1 of this act, shall be used only for the purpose of the completion and operation of said eastern division of said road, and shall be managed and controlled and directed by a board of directors, as now provided by law.

§3. The western division of said road, as provided in section 1 of this act, shall be managed, constructed, and controlled by a board of directors separate and distinct from the board of directors of the eastern division, which board of directors shall consist of twelve; eight on the part of the State, to be appointed by the governor, and four on the part of the private stockholders, to be elected under the same 2078 rules and regulations as now provided by law; Provided, that the directors on the part of the private stockholders shall be elected by the stockholders of their divisions respectively.

§4. The board of directors of each division shall have the selection of its own officers and agents, a distinct treasurer, and otherwise independent of the other.

§5. For the purpose of securing the completion of the western division, the capital stock of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company is hereby increased to a sum sufficient to attain that object, not to exceed twelve millions of dollars, and the public treasurer is hereby authorized and required to make subscription from time to time for two-thirds of the stock, and make payment as heretofore provided by law.

§6. Upon the completion of the two divisions as provided for in section 1 of this act, the whole road and property may be consolidated on such terms as are agreed between the stockholders of the respective divisions.

§7. The provisions of the above act to be in full force and operation, upon condition that the western division of said road shall be put under contract before the State shall be called upon for its subscription to said road.

§8. The said western division of the Western North Carolina Railroad shall be completed within four years from the time that the said road shall be put under contract.

2080 AN ACT to provide for the completion of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad.

The general assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Section 1. That J. L. Henry, N. W. Woodfin, W. P. Welsh, W. G. Candler, and W. W. Rollins be, and the same are hereby, appointed and constituted a commission to examine and fully investigate the condition and affairs of the Western Division North Carolina Railroad Company as far as concerns the administration of G. W. Swepson, late president thereof, and to make a full and final settlement of all accounts and liabilities of said president, G. W. Swepson, in connection with said company. It shall be the duty of said commissioners hereby created to collect and receive the funds and other assets belonging to the said company, and due from the said G. W. Swepson, and all other officers of said company elected or appointed since its organization, and to place the same in some safe bank, there to be held, and to be faithfully applied to the construction of the said road, the construction and work in which shall remain as heretofore, under the supervision of the president and board of directors. The said commissioners shall first cause all just debts of the company to be paid, and then from time to time as the progress of the construction of said road shall require, and upon properly certified estimates of work done, shall sign joint orders with the president of the board of directors for the payment of such sums as may be proper to secure an economical and speedy completion of the said work, or so much thereof as the funds within their control may be sufficient to construct. The said commissioners shall, for the purpose aforesaid, have power to send for persons and papers to be examined by them, and 2081 make all necessary orders and regulations to that end; and if need be, the said commissioners may send one or more of their members to the city of New York or elsewhere, to ascertain and report facts. A majority of said commissioners shall be sufficient to carry out the purposes of this act, and a majority of those so present shall have full authority to transact all business. The commissioners shall report from time to time, and in such way and form as has been heretofore prescribed by law for the reports of presidents of railroads, and at least once in every six months, their action to the governor of the State, who shall report to the next general assembly.

SECTION 2. That nothing contained in this act shall be construed as exempting any person from criminal prosecution for misapplication of funds of the company.

SECTION 3. This act shall take effect, if assented to by said company, from and after its ratification.

In general assembly read three times, and ratified this 24th day of March, A. D. 1870.

2083 Circuit court of Florida, second judicial circuit in Leon County

ROBERT H. GAMBLE AND JAMES D. WESTCOTT, Jr., plaintiffs, in behalf of themselves and other stockholders and members of the Florida Central Railroad Company,

vs.

EDWARD HOUSTON, MARIANA D. PAPY, JOHN P. Sanderson, Milton S. Littlefield, The Florida Central Railroad Company, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

Robert H. Gamble and James D. Westcott, jr., citizens of the State of Florida, residents of the county of Leon, plaintiffs, in behalf of themselves, and others like themselves, stockholders and members of the Florida Central Railroad Company, plaintiffs, bring this their complaint against Edward Houstoun, a citizen of Florida, and likewise a resident of the county of Leon; Mariana D. Papy, a citizen of the State of Florida, and resident of the county of Leon; Milton S. Littlefield, a resident of the county of Leon, and against the Florida Central Railroad Company, a corporation created by and organized under the laws of the State of Florida, plaintiffs, complain and say: That under and by virtue of the provisions of an act of the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to incorporate 2084 the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, and for other purposes," approved January 24th, A. D. 1851, and of the provisions of an act of the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to amend an act to incorporate the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company," approved January 7, 1853, the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company was incorporated, and by that name the stockholders and members of said company, their successors and assigns, were authorized to construct and operate a railroad from some tributary of the Atlantic Ocean within the limits of the State of Florida, having a sufficient outlet to the ocean to admit of the passage of sea steamers running through the State in the most eligible direction to some point, bay, or arm, or tributary of the Gulf of Mexico west of the Apalachicola River in West Florida, having a sufficient outlet for sea steamers, and that in accordance with the rights conferred by these acts said company constructed a railway from the town of Jacksonville, on the St. John's River, in East Florida, to the town of Lake City, in the county of Columbia, and operated the same for a number of years; that in accordance with the authority granted by an act entitled "An act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvements in this State," the said Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, for the purpose of constructing the railway authorized, issued a large amount of bonds; that under the provisions of the said act and the contract therein expressed by the company, these bonds constituted a first lien or mortgage on the roadbed, iron-equipments, workshops, depots, and franchise of the company; that by said act and contract it was provided that in case the said company failed to pay the interest on said bonds, and the sum of one per cent. per annum as a sinking fund, it was made the duty of certain trustees therein named, after the expiration of thirty days from such failure or refusal to take possession of said railroad and all its property of every kind, and advertise the same for sale at public auction to the highest bidder either for cash or additional approved security.

2085 Plaintiffs further show unto your honor that the said company, having failed to comply with the requirements of the statute in reference to the interest and sinking fund as aforesaid, and having done acts which authorized the trustees aforesaid to take possession of the road and sell the same, the said trustees took possession of said railroad, extending from Jacksonville to Lake City, and all its property, and after due and legal notice, and in conformity with the statute and contract, sold the same at public auction on the fourth day of March, A. D. 1868; that at said sale William E. Jackson and his associates became the purchasers thereof; that the purchasers, William E. Jackson and his associates, by an act of the legislature of the State of Florida, approved July 29, 1868, were vested with the powers and franchises granted to the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company by the aforesaid act, entitled "An act to amend an act to incorporate the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, approved January 7, 1853," and they and their successors and assigns were authorized and empowered to exercise the said powers and franchises so far only as they appertained to the railroad constructed as aforesaid by the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company from the city of Jacksonville, in Duval County, to Lake City, in Columbia County, in this State, and were made a body politic and corporate under the name and style of the Florida Central Railroad Company; that the said road, if a "public work" at all, is a 'completed public work," and that the Florida Central Railroad Company, under its charter, which charter is a contract between the individual stockholders upon the one side and the State and the corporation on the other, is invested with no functions, rights, or powers, except such as pertain to a completed road, and that, in point of fact, the sole purpose for which the corporation exists, and for which the charter was granted, is the operation, control, management, and maintenance of a complete line of railway extending from Jacksonville to Lake City; that the plaintiffs are stockholders and members of the said 2086 Florida Central Railroad Company, and that the said defendants, Milton S. Littlefield, Edward Houstoun, Mariana D. Papy and John P. Sanderson, are likewise stockholders and members of the said company, and that the said John P. Sanderson is the president of the said company; that the said Littlefield is or was, and now claims to be, the owner and holder of a majority of the stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

Plaintiffs further show and state, that at the time of the sale of the said Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company as afore said by the said trustees, a line of railroad extending from Lake City to Quincy was being operated by the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, a company duly incorporated for that purpose; that said railway company, in like manner as is hereinbefore as stated to the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company issued bonds, which were a first mortgage on its road-bed, property and francises; that under the act authorizing these bonds, it was provided that in case the company failed to make certain payments of the interest, as well as a sinking fund to pay the principal, the trustees of the internal improvement fund should take possession of the railroad and all its property of every kind, and sell the same, after due advertisement; that the company having so failed, a sale was made, and the road was purchased by parties, some of whom were unknown to plaintiffs; that these said purchasers subsequently transferred their bid on the said road to parties connected with the other line of railway extending from Lake City to Jacksonville.

Plaintiffs further show that subsequent to this sale a majority of the stock in both lines of railway became owned by Milton S. Littlefield, and that the said Littlefield and others devised a scheme by which, contrary to the rights of the plaintiffs, they would consolidate the two lines of railway, and force the members and the stockholders of the Florida Central Railroad Company, contrary to their charter as 2087 well as to their interests, to undertake the extension of a line of road from Quincy, Florida, to some point west in the direction of Mobile, Alabama; that in accordance with this design the said parties who owned a majority of the stock in each company, or rather who owned a majority of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, and the largest interest in the purchase of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, for they had not then and have not now any charter to operate the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad, or the line of road once so called, obtained the passage of an act by the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to perfect the public works of this State;" that this act provided that in order to maintain and equip a railroad from Jacksonville to Pensacola, George W. Swepson, M. S. Littlefield, J. P. Sanderson and others, their associates, successors, and assigns, were constituted a body politic and corporate under the name of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and also, that the said company should be vested with the like powers, franchises, and privileges as were or are conferred by the act to incorporate the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, and the act to amend an act entitled "An act to incorporate the Florida and Gulf Central Railroad Company," although, in fact, all the franchise and power vested by this act in so far as they pertained to the railway from Lake City to Jacksonville, had been previously vested in the Florida Central Railroad Company, on already "perfected and completed public work."

Plaintiffs further allege and state, that these parties or the corporation were granted the exclusive right to build a railroad with one or more tracks from Quincy to the Alabama State line, and that, in order thus to build the said road, or rather to extend two already completed public railways to points further westward, the governor of the State of Florida was directed to deliver to the president of this new corporation coupon bonds of the State to an amount equal to fourteen thousand dollars per mile of the estimated length of the road from 2088 Quincy westward to the Alabama line according to the certificate of the president under the corporate seal, and the same amount per mile for the excess above this estimate if, after the road shall be definitely located, it shall be likewise certified that the length of the road is greater than the first estimate, but said estimate shall not exceed in length the roadway already completed from Quincy to Jacksonville, and from Tallahassee to St. Mark's united, the said bonds shall be of the denomination of one thousand dollars, signed by the governor, countersigned by the treasurer, sealed with the great seal of the State, shall bear seven per cent. interest, payable semi-annually, and shall be payable to bearer; they shall be dated on the first day of July, A. D. 1869, and shall be due thirty years thereafter, and principal and interest shall be payable at such place in the city of New York as the governor shall designate.

That said act further provided that, in exchange for the bonds of the State above described, the president of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company should deliver to the governor of the State coupon-bonds of the company, bearing a like rate of interest, payable to the State of Florida, signed by the president, sealed with the corporate seal, coupons payable to the State of Florida, authenticated by the written or engraved signature of the president, the bonds to be of such denomination not less than one thousand dollars as the said company may choose, and principal and interest shall be payable at the same time and place as the aforesaid State bonds; that under the provisions of this act the State was to have a statuary lien on the entire length of the road and on all the property of the company, and in case of failure of the company to pay either principal or interest of the bonds, it was made lawful for the governor to enter upon and take possession of said property and franchises, and sell the same at public auction.

2089 Plaintiffs further show unto your honor that bonds purporting to be bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company (which were not authorized by said act), to the extent and in the amount of one million dollars, were issued at the instigation of the said Milton S. Littlefield; that it is claimed that these bonds constitute a statutory lien upon the line of road in which plaintiffs are interested, and that to said bonds are in the custody and control of Edward Houstoun, under the following circumstances, viz, that on or about the 13th May, A. D. 1870, defendant M. S. Littlefield was indebted to defendant E. Houstoun, in the sum of one hundred and sixty-three thousand and twenty-six dollars and seventy cents, for the purchase of certain stock of E. Houstoun in said Florida Central Railroad Company, and on other private accounts not connected in any manner with the operation or maintainance of the said line of road from Jacksonville to Lake City; that these bonds were about being issued and placed in the control of the said Littlefield, and that the said Houstoun objecting to the creation of said liens or to their passing into the hands of purchasers, or to the State without security for his stock debt, the said Houstoun and Littlefield executed and entered into articles of agreement, of which the following is a copy:

STATE OF FLORIDA,
Leon County:

This agreement made and entered into at the city of Tallahassee, in the county and State aforesaid, between Milton S. Littlefield, party of the first part, witnesseth, that whereas the said Edward Houstoun owns and holds a certain draft, which is in the words and figures following, to wit:

$163,026 $\frac{70}{100}$. Tallahassee, May 13, 1870.

Sixty days after date pay to the order of Edward Houstoun one hundred and sixty-three thousand and twenty-six $\frac{70}{100}$ dollars, value received, and charge the same to account of Acceptance waived.

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co.,

2090 for the payment of which said draft the said Edward Houston has and holds as security the following securities: 103 first mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company and the Tallahassee Railroad Company, amounting to one hundred and three thousand dollars of said bond; one thousand three hundred shares of the capital stock of the Florida Central Railroad, four drafts of George W. Swepson, on M. S. Littlefield, accepted by said Littlefield; one draft for $26,520, due at six months; one draft for $27,030, due at nine months; one draft for $8,050, due at fifteen months, all of said drafts being dated August 2, 1869, and amounting in the aggregate to the sum of one hundred and nine thousand one hundred and forty dollars, exclusive of interest thereon; and whereas the said draft of $163,026.70 was given to the said Houstoun for value received in the various transactions between the parties relative to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and the Florida Central Railroad Company, growing out of the late Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company and said Florida Central Railroad Company and the Tallahassee Railroad Company; and whereas it is the great interest of said parties of the first and second parts that moneys should be raised to promote the interests of said Florida Central Railroad Company to extend and provide for the business of said company, and to pay said draft when due; and whereas the said parties of the first and second part are owners and proprietors of more than a majority of the capital stock of said Florida Central Railroad: Therefore, know all men by these presents that the said parties of the first and second part do hereby covenant and mutually agree, each with the other, that they do cause to be issued one million dollars of the first mortgage bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company of like denomination and effect and condition as the first mortgage bonds of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, which said one million of dollars of said bonds are to be placed in 2091 the hands of the said Edward Houston as additional security for the payment of said draft for one hundred and sixty-three thousand and twenty-six dollars and seventy cents, to be held by the said Houston in addition to the securities aforesaid for the faithful payment of said draft at maturity; and it is further agreed that if the said draft is not paid at maturity, then and in that case, the said Edward Houstoun is hereby authorized and fully empowered to cause said one million of dollars of the bonds of said Florida Central Railroad Company, placed in his hands as security for said draft as aforesaid, to be sold at public outcry in the city of New York after default of payment of said draft, upon giving ten days' notice of said sale of said bonds, and of the time and place of said sale to Milton S. Littlefield by mail to his residence at Tallahassee, Florida, and by giving like notice to Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., No. 71 Broadway, New York City, by delivering said notice at their office, and by giving ten days' notice of said sale in the New York Herald, by advertisements, at which sale of said bonds the said Edward Houstoun may become the purchaser. And in the event of the sale being made as aforesaid the said Edward Houstoun, after first paying said draft and the expenses of said sale of bonds, shall pay over all the moneys arising from said sale, and all the securities now in his hands and heretofore set forth and enumerated, to the said Milton S. Littlefield, and the said Houstoun shall only retain of or from said sale of bonds and securities aforesaid sufficient to pay said draft and expenses of selling said bonds.

In witness whereof the said parties have hereunto set their hands and seals this 30th day of May, A. D. 1870.

MILTON S. LITTLEFIELD. [SEAL.]
E. HOUSTOUN. [SEAL.]

Signed, sealed, and executed in presence of—
D. P. HOLLAND.
E. K. HOLLINGER.

2092 Plaintiffs further show and state that subsequently and on or about the 7th day of June, A. D. 1870, this agreement was modified, and another agreement entered into, of which the following is a copy:

The agreement made between Milton S. Littlefield and Edward Houstoun, dated the 30th day of May, A. D. 1870, is hereby modified, changed, and altered, as follows, to wit:

First. In lieu of the $1,000,000 of first-mortgage bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, which by said agreement were to be placed in the hands of said Houstoun as security for the payment of the draft in said agreement mentioned there shall be placed in the hands of the said Houston, as security for the payment of the draft in said agreement mentioned, the same amount of bonds of the State of Florida to be exchanged for the said bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

Second. If said draft be not paid at maturity, the said Houstoun is authorized and empowered to sell said bonds of the State of Florida at public outcry, giving the like notice of sale as provided for in said agreement, and said Houstoun may become a purchaser at said sale.

Third. After first paying said draft and expenses of sale said Houstoun shall, out of the balance of the proceeds arising from sale of said bonds, if sufficient for this purpose, pay to John P. Sanderson the sum of fifty-seven thousand five hundred and sixty dollars; to M. D. Papy sixteen thousand dollars; to T. W. Brevard, attorney of certain holders of bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, if certain negotiations now pending for their purchase shall be consum'ated, the sum of forty thousand dollars; to John P. Sanderson, president of the Florida Central Railroad Company, the sum of three hundred and forty thousand dollars; after these payments the balance, if any, to be paid to said Littlefield.

2093 Fourth. When said draft shall mature, said Houstoun, instead of selling said bonds of the State, shall have the option and choice of returning the same to the State and receiving in lieu thereof the one million dollars of first-mortgage bonds of the Florida Railroad Company exchanged for the State bonds as aforesaid.

Fifth. If, under the option and choice given to said Houstoun to return the bonds of the State of Florida aforesaid to said State and receive in lieu thereof the bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, as hereinbefore provided, said Houstoun, upon delivering said bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, received from the State as aforesaid, to the president of said company, shall receive and have executed and delivered to him in lieu thereof other first-mortgage bonds of said company, which said bonds shall be made payable to bearer, and shall be good, effectual, and first lien on said road.

Sixth. Upon receiving said first-mortgage bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company from the president thereof, as above provided for, the said Houstoun shall hold the same as security for the payment of said draft, and is authorized and has the power at any time, after giving thirty days' previous notice to the president of said company, to sell the said bonds so received from the president of said company at public outcry, in the city of New York, at which said Houstoun may become a purchaser, and said Houstoun shall, after first paying said draft and the expenses of said sale, dispose of and pay over the rest and residue of the proceeds of the sale of said bonds, if any, to the persons named and for the amounts named, as provided for in the third clause hereof.

2094 Seventh. If said Littlefield shall pay said draft before or at its maturity, said Houstoun shall deposit said bonds of the State of Florida, placed in his hands under the first clause hereof, with S. W. Hopkins & Co., No. 71 Broadway, New York, with the stipulation and agreement that they, the said Hopkins & Co., shall, in disposing of said bonds, hold the proceeds of said sale subject to the claims and for the amounts mentioned in the third clause hereof, to wit: John P. Sanderson, the sum of fifty-seven thousand five hundred and sixty dollars; M. D. Papy, sixteen thousand dollars; T. W. Brevard, attorney of certain holders of Pensacola and Georgia Railroad bonds, the sum of forty thousand dollars, if negotiations now pending for their purchase shall be consum'ated; John P. Sanderson, president of the Florida Central Railroad Company, the sum of three hundred and forty thousand dollars; said Hopkins & Co., after first paying the amounts above named to the parties above named out of the proceeds of the sale of said bonds, shall pay the rest and residue, if any, of the proceeds of the sale of said bonds to said Littlefield.

Witness our hands and seals, this the 7th day of June, A. D. 1870, at Tallahassee, Florida.

M. S. LITTLEFIELD. [SEAL.]
E. HOUSTOUN. [SEAL.]

Signed, sealed, and executed in our presence, the words "the sum of forty thousand dollars" interlined on the page before signing and sealing.

(Signed) A. J. PEELER.

Plaintiffs state and allege that the said defendants, Papy and Sanderson, have each an interest in the bonds, as the foregoing contract discloses.

Plaintiffs further show that one million of the State bonds, instead of the company bonds, passed into the hands of the said Houstoun originally, and that the said Houstoun, as well as the said Littlefield 2095 and the said Sanderson and the said Papy, proceeded to the city of New York, where great efforts were made by the said Littlefield to sell said bonds. That, failing in this, the said Houstoun returned to the State of Florida, bringing with him the said State bonds, and that, in exchange for said State bonds, which he was authorized to do by contract and agreement with the parties, he obtained from the governor of the State the first-mortgage bonds of the said company, which said bonds he holds as a security for his own stock debt and the debts named in the contract, none of which are debts of the company, or if so, to but a very small amount.

Plaintiffs further show that they are informed and believe that it is not the desire of the said Sanderson, or the said Papy, that these bonds should be surrendered by the said Houstoun, but they allege that the said Houstoun, in the event certain acts are performed by the said Littlefield, to wit, the performance of his said agreement with him, feels it his duty to deliver said bonds, and will do so, unless restrained by the process of this court from so doing, and that the said Littlefield is now urging a delivery of the bonds, and there is, in the judgment of the plaintiffs, great danger that they will pass into his hands.

Plaintiffs further allege that the said Littlefield now states that he has completed arrangements, as to the State bonds, for their sale, and that he is ready to deliver the bonds to the purchasers if he gets possession of them, which he proposes to do by surrendering the company bonds to the governor.

Plaintiffs further allege that the said bonds are, as far as the said Littlefield has any control of them under this contract, improperly under his control, and that he has no right to use the road and cover it with liens to raise money to pay private debts, notwithstanding he is the owner of a majority of the stock.

Plaintiffs, as the relief to which they are entitled to, "demand" or pray:

2096 First. That defendant Edward Houstoun may be restrained and enjoined, until the hearing of this cause, from in any manner disposing of said bonds, by sale or otherwise, or parting with the control of the same, or delivering the same to any other person.

Second. That the said Houstoun may be decreed and ordered to deliver the said bonds of the said Florida Central Railroad Company up, to be canceled, as being unauthorized by, and contrary to, the rights of plaintiffs, and that the same may be canceled, and for such other relief as to your honor shall seem proper.

JAMES D. WESTCOTT, Jr.
R. H. GAMBLE.

STATE OF FLORIDA,
Leon County:

Before me, Edwin M. Randall, chief justice supreme court of Florida, came Robert H. Gamble and James D. Westcott, jr., who, being duly sworn, say that the matter set up in the foregoing complaint as of their own knowledge are true, and that those stated upon information derived from others they believe to be true.

JAMES D. WESTCOTT, Jr.
R. H. GAMBLE.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 6th day of January, A. D. 1871.

E. M. RANDALL,
Chief Justice Supreme Court of Florida.

(Endorsed:) Filed in the office of clerk of the circuit court Leon County, May 14th, 1874. C. H. Edwards, clerk.

2097 In the circuit court for the second judicial circuit of Florida, in Leon County.

The State of Florida to Edward Houstoun, Milton S. Littlefield, Mariana D. Papy, John P. Sanderson, and The Florida Central Railroad Company, greeting:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of Robert H. Gamble and James D. Westcott, jr., plaintiffs, against you, which will be filed in the office of the clerk of the circuit court of Leon County, at the court-house in Tallahassee, and to serve a copy of your answer on either of the undersigned, at his office in Tallahassee aforesaid, within thirty days after service of this summons, and if you fail so to answer, the plaintiffs will apply to the court for the relief demanded in this complaint.

JAMES D. WESTCOTT, JR.
R. H. GAMBLE.

Dated January 7th, 1871.

(Endorsed:) Due and legal service of this summons acknowledged. M. D. Papy. Tallahassee, Florida, January 7, 1871. Filed in the clerk's office, June 10th, 1874. C. H. Edwards, clerk.

2098 Circuit court of Florida, second judicial cicuit, in Leon County.

ROBERT H. GAMALE AND JAMES D. WESTCOTT, jr.,
vs.
EDWARD HOUSTOUN, MILTON S. LITTLEFIELD, et alias.

On reading the complaint in this cause, and upon consideration thereof, and upon the plaintiffs entering into an undertaking without security, in the sum of two thousand dollars, as required by section 171 of the act or code of procedure of this State, it is considered that the prayer of said complaint for injunction be granted, and it is ordered that the said defendant Edward Houstoun be, and he is hereby, enjoined and restrained from in any manner disposing of the bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company in said complaint mentioned, by sale or otherwise, parting with the control of the same, to any other person until the further order of this court. Adjudged and ordered at chambers this 7th day of January, A. D. 1871.

P. W. WHITE,
Judge Second Judicial Circuit of Florida.

(Endorsed:)

2099 STATE OF FLORIDA,
Leon County:

I certify that I served a true copy of this injunctional order upon Edward Houstoun, the within named party, on the ninth (9th) day of January, 1871.

A. B. MUNGER,
Sheriff Leon Co.

Filed in the clerk's office June 10, 1874.

C. H. EDWARDS, Clerk.

Circuit court of Florida, second judicial circuit, in Leon County.

ROBERT H. GAMBLE AND JAMES D. WESTCOTT, jr., plaintiffs in behalf of themselves and others, stockholders and members of the Florida Central Railroad Company,

vs.

EDWARD HOUSTOUN, MARIANO D. PAPY, John P. Sanderson, Milton S. Littlefield, The Florida Central Railroad Company, and The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

Whereas an injunction in accordance with the prayer of the bill in this case is about being granted by the judge of the second judicial circuit of Florida; and whereas the judge of said court, before granting said injunction, requires a written undertaking by the plaintiffs conformably to the requirements of section 171 of the code: 2100 Now, therefore, be it known that we, the undersigned, undertake and agree to and with Edward Houstoun to the following effect, that is to say:

First. That if the court shall finally decide that the plaintiffs in this suit were not entitled to the injunction prayed for and granted, we undertake and agree to and with the said Edward Houstoun to pay to him such damages, not exceeding the sum of two thousand dollars, as he may sustain by reason of said injunction.

Witness our hands and seals, at Tallahassee, Florida, this the 7th day of January, A. D. 1871.

2128 The people of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to all whom these presents shall come or may concern, greeting:

[SEAL.]

Know ye that we, having examined the records and files in the office of the clerk of the county of New York, and clerk of the supreme court of said State for said county, do find a certain decree there remaining, in the words and figures following, to wit:

2129 At a special term of the supreme court of the State of New York, held at the court-house in the city and county of New York, on the 27th day of December, 1872.

Present, Hon. George C. Barrett, justice.

JOHN COLLINSON, PLAINTIFF,
vs.
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, ROBERT J. CARPENTER, and Frank H. Collins, composing the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, Samuel D. Babcock, Joseph Stewart, D. G. Ambler, Francis H. Flagg, and Converse L. Chase, defendants.

Whereas an order was entered on the 6th day of December, 2130 1872, in the above-entitled action by consent of all the parties who appeared therein, to which order reference is hereby made;

And whereas in and by the said order it is provided that John Collinson, the plaintiff, shall deposit the surplus moneys resulting from the sale of the bonds mentioned in the said order in the National Trust Company, in the city of New York, to be held and disposed of subject to the further order of this court to be made in this action upon notice to the attorneys for all the parties who have appeared therein, and to John L. Requa, in the action secondly mentioned in the said order, and the said proceeds so deposited stand in place of the said bonds themselves, subject to the same rights and liens, if any, on the part of either or any of the parties to either of said actions now existing as against said bonds;

And whereas on this 27th day of December an order has been entered herein modyfying said order of 6th December, by substituting the New York State Loan and Trust Company as depositary of the surplus proceeds of the bonds to be sold in the place of the National 2131 Trust Company of the city of New York;

And whereas an agreement was made between the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile R. R. Co. and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina R. R. Co., dated 15th day of June, 1872, of which a copy is hereto annexed, and which was mutually ratified by both said companies;

And whereas the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company passed certain resolutions on the 2nd day of October, 1872, of which a copy is hereto annexed, and which was accepted by the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and they have complied with the said resolution by a release and discharge of the injunction and receivership mentioned in said resolution:

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the said agreement and resolutions, and upon the consent and stipulation of Horace Barnard, esq., attorney for the defendants The Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile R. R. Co., D. G. Ambler, Francis H. Flagg, and Converse L. Chase, and of 2132 Algernon S. Sullivan, esq., attorney for the defendant The Western Division of the Western North Carolina R. R. Co., and on hearing Martin & Smith, esqrs., attorneys for Samuel D. Babcock and for Joseph Stewart, and on hearing Barlow, Larocque and Macfarland, attorneys for John Collinson, the plaintiff, and on the consent and stipulation of Messrs. Sewell & Pierce, attorneys for S. W. Hopkins & Co., it is ordered, adjudged, and decreed as between all the said parties represented as aforesaid by the said Horace Barnard and the said Algernon S. Sullivan that the said New York State Loan and Trust Company make payment of $200,000 to the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company or to N. W. Woodfin, esq., commissioner, etc., or to his order, out of the first proceeds of the said bonds, to be paid to the said Trust Company in pursuance of the said order, after first providing for the payment of the balance of the receiver's fees in said action of the said John Collinson, adjusted at the sum of $9,000; and that the said sum of two hundred thousand dollars, when so 2133 paid to the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, shall be in full satisfaction and discharge of all the claim or lien whatever of the said last-mentioned company upon the said bonds or said proceeds, and that such payment to them when made as aforesaid shall form a credit on the said indebtedness mentioned in said agreement, it being understood and agreed that this decree is confined to the said bonds or their proceeds, and is not to affect otherwise the rights of either party, as provided for in said agreement or resolutions or in any other respect.

It is further decreed that no payment shall be made under this decree until notice of ten days shall be given to the parties or their attorneys in this action and to the plaintiff in the action secondly mentioned in said order.

And it is further ordered and decreed that nothing herein contained should prejudice the rights, legal or equitable, of John L. Requa, the plaintiff in the action secondly mentioned in said order, or prevent or estop him from obtaining any relief to which he may be entitled in said action.

Enter.

(Endorsed:) Filed Dec. 27th, 1872.

2135 An agreement made this 15th day of June, 1872, between the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, by Nicholas W. Woodfin, chairman of the commissioners, &c., and hereto duly authorized, of the first part, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by Converse L. Chase, their attorney, by virtue of a power of attorney, a copy of which is hereto annexed, of the second part.

Whereas differences and disagreements have for a long time existed between the parties hereto, and litigations have been and are still pending between them, and they have come to an adjustment thereof as hereinafter stated:

Now, this agreement witnesseth, that the parties of the first part, in consideration of the sum of one dollar to them paid by the parties of the second part, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, agree with them as follows:

That in case there shall be paid within two months from the date hereof to the parties of the first part by or on behalf of the said 2136 J., P. & M. R. R. Co., or their trustees, or by or on behalf of the said Chase, the sum of three hundred thousand dollars, that such payment shall be and operate as a release for the claim of the parties of the first part upon eight hundred eight per cent. Florida bonds, the subject of difference between the parties hereto and upon the proceeds thereof and as a release to S. W. Hopkins & Co. from all claims and causes of action of the parties of the first part against them, S. W. Hopkins & Co., and as a release of all equitable liens of the said parties of the first part upon any stock, but not as a release to the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or to any other party or parties, except S. W. Hopkins & Co., nor as a release from any claim, lien, or equity, right of property, stocks, title, or otherwise to which the parties of the first part are now entitled, except as aforesaid, unless they shall pay to the said parties of the first part the sum of three hundred thousand dollars.

The claims of the parties of the first part against the parties of the second part having been adjusted and are hereby adjusted and settled at the sum of $600,000, which the parties of the second part agree 2137 to pay, which the parties of the second part agree to|pay as follows: $300,000 thereof within said period of two months, and the remaining $300,000 within six months from the date hereof, which last payment is to be secured by the deposit with Duncan, Sherman & Co., of New York, of one million of dollars of the Florida State land-grant bonds to which said parties of the second part shall become entitled, or by the deposit of such mortgage bonds to a like amount as they shall issue and as shall be satisfactory to the parties of the first part.

Nothing herein contained is intended, nor shall the same be construed, as impairing, affecting, or postponing any of the claims, demands, liens, or equities, actions, or rights of action of the parties of the first part against the parties of the second part, or against S. W. Hopkins & Co., or against any other person or persons, or upon or against the said bonds or proceeds, &c., upon any stocks or other property, unless the said first-mentioned sum of $300,000 shall be paid within the time limited therefor, as above.

It is expressly agreed that nothing herein contained is intended 2138 to be, nor shall the same be, a personal liability on the part of the said Converse L. Chase.

It is mutually agreed that this agreement shall not be binding upon either party until both of the said railroad companies shall have duly ratified the same.

In witness whereof the parties hereto have hereunto executed this agreement by their respective representatives, as above.

2139 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
State of Florida, Duval County :

Be it remember' that at a meeting of the directors of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, held in pursuance to a call duly made therefor, at their office, in the city of Jacksonville, in the said State of Florida, on the twelfth day of April, A. D. 1872, there was adopted the following resolution, which had been previously adopted by a majority vote of all the capital stock of the stockholders of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a resolution of said stockholders in the words and figures following, i. e.:

"Resolved by the stockholders of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, That the president of the said company be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to cause to be made, executed, and delivered to Converse L. Chase, esq., a power of attorney, constituting him, the said Converse L. Chase, the attorney in fact of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, with full power and authority to proceed to the city of New York, in the State of 2140 New York, or wherever else it may be necessary for the purpose and for and on account of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, to consider any proposition for settlement and adjustment of any and all disagreements and differences between the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and all parties, persons, and corporations of associations, and particularly with the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., of New York and London, and, in his discretion, for and in the name of the said the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, to reject or accept any and every, or either such settlement or adjustment, with power to alter or modify the same, for and on account of the said company, which said power of attorney shall be duly attested under the corporate seal of the company, and certified by the secretary thereof.

"Resolved further, That we do hereby ratify and approve of all our said attorney shall lawfully do by virtue thereof."

Now, therefore, know all men by these presents, that under and by virtue of the foregoing resolutions of the stockholders thereof, the said the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company doth 2141 hereby constitute and appoint the said Converse L. Chase attorney of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, for it, and in its name, place, and stead, to settle and adjust all and every the differences and disagreements of the said company aforesaid, with all and every person, parties, corporations or associations, and particularly with S. W. Hopkins & Co., of New York and London, and generally to do and exercise all and singular the powers and authority contemplated in the foregoing resolutions, hereby ratifying and allowing all that our said attorney shall lawfully do by virtue hereof.

In witness whereof the said president of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and the said F. H. Flagg, the secretary thereof, have hereto attached their names and affixed the corporate seal of the said company.

Done at Jacksonville, Fla., this eighteenth day of April, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two.

2142 STATE OF FLORIDA,
Duval County, city of Jacksonville:

I, Augustus Sherman, a commissioner for the State of New York, residing in the city of Jacksonville, Duval County, and State of Florida, do certify that on the 13th day of April, in the year 1872, personally appeared before me, in the city of Jacksonville, Duval County aforesaid, Milton S. Littlefield, who is personally known to me to be the individual described in and who has executed the foregoing instrument as the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and he then and there acknowledged to me that he executed the said instrument as such president of said company; and I do further certify that I know said Milton S. Littlefield to be the president of said railroad company.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and official seal, at the city of Jacksonville, in the county and State aforesaid, this thirteenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two.

[SEAL.] AUGUSTUS SHERMAN.
A Commissioner for the State of New York.

2143 STATE OF NEW YORK,
City and County of New York, ss:

I, Richard Stagpoole, a notary public in and for the State of New York, residing in the city of New York, do hereby certify that I have compared the foregoing copy agreement with the original thereof, and after such comparison and careful inspection of such copy, I certify that such copy is a true and correct copy of such original, and of every part thereof.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my notarial seal the 17th day of June, 1872.

[SEAL.] (Sig.) RICH'D STAGPOOLE, Notary Public.

2144 Whereas on the 15th day of June, A. D. 1872, at New York, a certain agreement in writing was entered into by and between the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company by Nicholas W. Woodfin, chairman of the commissioners, &c., and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by their attorney (duly authorized therefor), Converse L. Chase; which said agreement was sanctioned and ratified by said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

And whereas, by reason of our inability to dispose of our securities, said agreement has not yet been performed by this company.

And whereas (and since said agreement), by consent of said Converse L. Chase, attorney, &c., in two certain suits in chancery, at London, England, entitled C. "Collinson vs. Collins," and "Jacksonville and Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company vs. Collinson," a decree was agreed upon and is said to have been made by Vice-Chancellor Wickens affecting the rights of the parties thereto in respect of certain bonds of the State of Florida, which bonds were issued to said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

2145 Now, therefore, at a meeting of the directors of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, held pursuant to a call duly made at their office, in the city of Jacksonville, in Florida, on the second day of October, A. D. 1872, it is resolved—

I. That said agreement with the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company of the 15th day of June, 1872, and the adjustment and settlement thereby of the indebtedness of this the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company to the said the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, are hereby approved and confirmed and shall stand as this company's act.

II. That in consideration of the release and discharge in New York of a certain injunction and receivership upon certain Florida State bonds in a pending suit there, wherein John Collinson is complainant, our said attorney, Converse L. Chase (or some duly appointed agent), may and shall in the name and on behalf of this company by drafts, orders or assignments signed by him in the name of and on behalf of this 2146 on the National Trust Company, or upon their agent in London, or on any other parties, make payment of $200,000 on account of said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, or to said N. W. Woodfin, commissioner, &c., out of any the first proceeds of said State bonds. And the deficiency in the payment of the sum of $300,000 (provided in said agreement to be paid in two months) shall be due as a present debt of this company, and, in addition, shall be secured to be paid to in all respects, as said agreement provides for the payment of $300,000, payable in six months from the 15th day of June, 1872, said additional security to be of the same character, deposited with the same parties and in the same proportions of bonds for said deficiency as for said $200,000.

III. That the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile
Railroad Company is hereby authorized and directed to cause to be executed, under the seal of said company, and to deliver any and all agreements and powers of attorney, to authorize and enable the said 2147 L. Chase to perform said original agreement and to carry out these resolutions.

IV. That Messrs. Barlow, Larocque and Macfarland, or their successors, attorneys, and counsellors of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, in the city of New York, in the suits there pending, are hereby authorized and directed to consent of record to the entry of judgments and decrees in said suits, settling and adjudging the liabilities and obligations of this company, as specified in said agreement of the 15th day of June, A. D. 1872, and in these resolutions.

OFFICE OF THE JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA
AND MOBILE RAILROAD COMPANY,
Jacksonville, Florida, October 2d, 1872.

I do hereby that the foregoing is a true copy from the records of the company of resolutions adopted at a meeting of the board of directors of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a quorum being present, held at Jacksonville, Fla., the 2nd day of October, A. D. 1872.

2148 [SEAL.] R. STEWART,
Assistant Secretary Jacksonville, Pensacola
and Mobile Railroad Company.

(Endorsed:) Filed December 27th, 1872.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the said court this 25th day of April, 1879.

[SEAL.] HUBERT O. THOMPSON, Clerk.

(Indorsed:) N. Y. supreme court. John Collinson vs. Sidney W. Hopkins & others. Decree; exemplified copy. Filed May 26, 1879. Philip Walter, clerk.

2151 The people of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to all to whom these present' shall come or may [L. S.] concern, greeting:

Know ye that we, having examined the records and files in the office of the clerk of the county of New York, and clerk of the supreme court of said State for said county, do find a certain order there remaining, in the words and figures following, to wit:

2152 At a special term of the supreme court of the State of New York, held at the court-house in the city and county of New York, on the 18th day of January, 1873.

Present, Hon. George C. Barrett, justice.

vs.
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, ROBERT J. CARPENTER, and Frank H. Collins, composing the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co.; The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company; The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company; Samuel D. Babcock, Joseph Short, D. G. Ambler, Francis H. Flagg, Converse L. Chase, and Lawrence P. Bayne, defendants.

Whereas an order was duly entered on the 6th day of December, 1872, in the above-entitled action, by consent of all parties who appeared therein, to which order reference is hereby made;

And whereas in and by the said order it was provided that John Collinson, plaintiff, shall deposit the surplus monies resulting from the sale of the bonds mentioned in the said order, in the National Trust 2153 Company in the city of New York, to be held and disposed of subject to the further order of this court to be made in this action, on notice to the attorneys for all the parties who appeared therein, and to John L. Requa, in the action secondly mentioned in the said order, and the said proceeds so deposited stand in the place of the said bonds themselves, subject to the same rights and liens, if any, on the part of either or any of the parties in either of said actions now existing against said bonds.

And whereas, by another order duly entered in this action on the 27th day of December, 1872, it was further ordered that the said order bearing date the 6th day of December, 1872, directing a delivery to the plaintiff by the receiver of the bonds therein mentioned, be, and the same was thereby, modified by substituting the New York Loan and Trust Company as the depository of the surplus proceeds of the bonds to be sold, in place of the National Trust Company in the city of New York mentioned in said order.

And whereas it is admitted by the parties who consent to the entry of this order that in and by a certain agreement bearing date the

And whereas it is in like manner admitted by the said parties that there is now due and owing to the said Lawrence P. Bayne on his claim and on his said lien on the said bonds the sum of ninety-six thou-2155 sand six hundred and fifty dollars, paper currency of the United States, with interest thereon from the said 29th day of August, 1872.

And whereas it is in like manner admitted by the said parties that Thomas B. Coddington had, on the said 29th day of August, 1872, a claim and lien to the amount of forty thousand dollars, and interest from the 29th day of August, 1872, on one thousand of the said twelve hundred bonds, so delivered to the said John Collinson upon the footing of the said agreement with him, and the said decree of the said court of chancery, and such lien of said Thomas B. Coddington, attached and still attaches to the proceeds or so much thereof as may be necessary of the said one thousand bonds, and he is entitled to be paid out of such proceeds said sum of forty thousand dollars, United States currency and interest as aforesaid.

And whereas it is in like manner admitted by the said parties that by the said trust deed or indenture duly made in the State of Florida between the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company of the first part, and Francis H. Flagg, D. G. Ambler, and Converse L. Chase of the second part, and bearing date the second day of October, 2156 1871, the said parties thereto of the first part transferred and assigned to the said parties thereto of the second part, among other things, the proceeds of all the said eight per cent. Florida bonds, and to be applied as provided for in the said indenture or trust deed, as will more fully appear by reference to the same.

And whereas it is in like manner admitted by the said parties that the said Chase and the said Flagg alone accepted the trust reposed in them under and in virtue of said indenture or trust deed, and the other trustee therein named, D. G. Ambler, disclaimed and declined to accept the said trust, and the same devolved wholly on the said Flagg and the said Chase.

And whereas the said Francis H. Flagg recently died, leaving the said Converse L. Chase sole surviving trustee under and in virtue of the said indenture or trust deed, and he and the said Flagg, during the lifetime of the said Flagg, were entitled, and ever since the death of the said Flagg has been entitled, as such trustee, to all the proceeds of said twelve hundred bonds, subject nevertheless to the aforesaid lien of the said L. P. Bayne for the said balance due him as aforesaid, 2157 and subject to the said lien of said Thomas B. Coddington as aforesaid.

And whereas, by an order or decree heretofore entered in this action, on the 27th day of December, 1872, it was ordered, adjudged, and decreed as between all the parties who consented to the entry of said decree that two hundred thousand dollars be paid to the defendants, the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, out of the first proceeds of said bonds to be paid to the said trust company after first providing for the payment of the balance of the receiver's fees in this action adjusted at the sum of nine thousand dollars.

Now, therefore, in consideration of the premises and on the consent and stipulation of Horace Barnard, esq., attorney for the defendants, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and Converse L. Chase, surviving trustee as aforesaid, and of Algernon S. Sullivan, esq., attorney for defendants, the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and for the defendant, Lawrence P. Bayne, it is ordered as between all of the said parties consenting and stipulating as aforesaid that the said Thomas B. Coddington had and still has a lien 2158 on the proceeds of the said one thousand bonds for the said sum of forty thousand dollars paper currency of the United States, with the interest as aforesaid, subject nevertheless to the payment of the balance of the said receiver's fees adjusted as aforesaid, and also subject to the payment in the first place of the said sum of two hundred thousand dollars to the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company; and it is further order that as between all of the said parties consenting and stipulating as aforesaid that the said Lawrence P. Bayne had, and still has, a lien on the said twelve hundred bonds and proceeds to the amount of the said balance of ninety-six thousand six hundred and fifty dollars and interest as aforesaid, subject nevertheless to the payment of the said balance of the said balance of the said receiver's fees adjusted as aforesaid, and to the payment as hereinbefore mentioned to the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company; and it is further ordered as between all the said parties consenting and stipulating as aforesaid that the said Converse L. Chase as such surviving trustee is the owner 2159 of and entitled to receive all of the residue of the said proceeds; and it is further ordered that this order is made without prejudice to the rights of any party to this action who has not expressly consented in writing to the entry thereof, and also without prejudice to the rights of John L. Requa, the plaintiff in the action secondly mentioned in the order of the 6th of December above referred to.

We consent to and stipulate for the entry of the above order.

Dated New York, January 18th, 1873.

ALGERNON S. SULLIVAN,
Plaintiff's Attorney, 32 Chambers St.

2165 Supreme court, city and county of New York.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company
ag'st
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, FRANK A. COLLINS, AND Robert J. Carpenter.

The complaint of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, plaintiff in the above-entitled action, against Sidney W. Hopkins, Frank A. Collins, and Robert J. Carpenter, the defendants therein:

The said plaintiff, by Algernon S. Sullivan, their attorney, respectfully show to this court that they are a body corporate and politic, created and existing under and by virtue of and act of the legislature of the State of North Carolina, passed on the 15th day of February, in the year 1855, entitled "An act to incorporate the Western North Carolina

"Railroad Company"; and another act of the legislature of the same State, passed the 19th day of August, in the year 1868, entitled 2166 "An act to amend the charter of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company," and that the defendants, at and during the times of the transactions hereinafter mentioned were, and from thence hitherto, have been, and still are, co-partners together, doing business in the cities of New York and London, England, under the firm name and style of S. W. Hopkins & Company.

That on or about the tenth day of November, in the year 1870, at the said city of London, by virtue of an agreement between the owners and holders of the bonds hereinafter mentioned, and the said plaintiffs and said defendants, eight hundred instruments, for the payment of money or bonds of the State of Florida, commonly called Florida bonds, each of said bonds being for the sum of one thousand dollars, payable in the gold coin of the United States, with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, and then being in the possession of said defendants, were assigned and transferred to said defendants to be held as the property of the plaintiffs, and to be sold on account of said plaintiffs, and the proceeds of the sale thereof to be paid over to 2167 the said plaintiffs; and said defendants thereupon acknowledged to said plaintiffs in writing that they held said bonds for sale as the agents of said plaintiffs.

And said plaintiff further alleges that said defendants have since sold a large amount of said bonds, if not the whole thereof, and have received a large amount of money, to wit, not less than four hundred thousand dollars in the gold coin aforesaid, on account of the sales thereof, and that they have paid over to the plaintiffs on account of such sales, the sum of $53,776.66, and a further sum of $1,000 and no more; that said plaintiffs have since such sales were made of such bonds frequently and from time to time demanded of the said defendants that they account for and pay over to them the residue of the moneys so received by them as aforesaid on account of such sales, but that said defendants have refused and still refuse to account for or pay over the same.

And the said plaintiffs further say that by reason of the refusal to account as aforesaid, they are not certainly informed as to whether said defendants have in fact sold all of said bonds; but they allege 2168 that said defendants have fraudulently for a long time prior to the bringing of this action, made use of said bonds and the proceeds thereof for their own private schemes and enterprises, and that they fraudulently and in violation of their trust in the premises, design and intend to continue to so use said bonds if any remain unsold in their hands, and the proceeds of such as may have been sold, and that the personal credit of said defendants is very low, and their personal pecuniary responsibility wholly insufficient to furnish any sufficient protection in the premises to the plaintiffs, and that the said plaintiffs will be without adequate remedy in the premises as to any of their said bonds remaining unsold, unless the benefit is vouchsafed to them by this court of its orders and judgment by way of injunction and specific relief.

Wherefore the said plaintiffs demand judgment, that the said defendants account to them in respect of the said bonds and the sales thereof, and the moneys or other proceeds of such sales, and that they pay over and deliver to said plaintiffs the amount of moneys or othe proceeds so received by them with interest, and that as to any o 2169 said bonds which remain unsold they surrender and deliver up the same.

2170 Supreme court, city and county of New York.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company
against
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, FRANK A. COLLINS, AND Robert J. Carpenter.

Sufficient cause having been shown to me by the verified complaint herein and by affidavit, I do hereby order and direct that Sidney W. Hopkins, Frank A. Collins, and Robert J. Carpenter, the defendants in the above entitled action, and each of them and their and each of their agents, attorneys, or servants, be, and they and each of them hereby are, enjoined and restrained and ordered to refrain from selling, assigning, transferring, or any manner parting with or disposing of any of a certain parcel of eight hundred instruments in writing for the payment of money or bonds of the State of Florida, commonly called or known as Florida bonds, at any time held by said defendants as the agents of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and which may not have been sold by said defendants, and from in any manner parting with or disposing of 2171 the proceeds of any of said eight hundred bonds as may have been sold; and that the said defendants show cause on the complaint and affidavits served herewith, before one of the judges of this court, at a special term thereof to be holden at the chambers of said court at the city hall, in the city of New York, on the first Monday of July next, at twelve o'clock noon, why this injunction should not be continued until the trial of this action, and why the plaintiffs therein should not have such further order or relief by way of the appointment of a receiver or otherwise as may be just.

Dated June 20th, 1871.

GEORGE G. BARNARD, J. S. C.

Order to arrest and hold to bail.

Supreme court.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company, plaintiff, against
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, FRANK A. COLLINS, AND Robert J. Carpenter, defendants.

2172 To the sheriff of the city and county of New York:

It having been made to appear to me by affidavit that the plaintiff above named has a sufficient cause of action against Sidney W. Hopkins, Frank A. Collins, and Robert J. Carpenter, you are required forthwith to arrest Sidney W Hopkins, Frank A. Collins, & Robert J. Carpenter, the defendants in this action, for the cause aforesaid, and hold each of them to bail in the sum of three hundred thousand dollars, and to return this order to Algernon S. Sullivan, plaintiff's attorney, at his office, No. 32 Chambers street (dist. att'y's office), New York City, on the first Monday of July, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one.

Dated June , 1871.

A. S. SULLIVAN,
Plaintiff's Attorneys, No. 32 Chambers street (dist. att'y's office).

Supreme court, city and county of New York.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company, plaintiffs,
ag'st
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, FRANK A. COLLINS, AND Robert J. Carpenter, defendants.

2173 CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss:

Nicholas W. Woodfin, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is a citizen and resident of the State of North Carolina, and one of the commissioners appointed by an act of the legislature of said State, passed the 24th of March, 1871, entitled "An act to provide funds for the completion of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company," which said act was afterwards, and prior to any of the transactions hereinafter mentioned with the defendants above named, duly accepted, ratified, and approved by the stockholders and afterwards by the board of directors of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, the plaintiff above named; and that by the provisions of said act, and the acceptance, ratification, and approval thereof as aforesaid, this deponent, together with the other persons named in said act as commissioners, have the power and are charged with the duty of recovering and receiving certain of the debts, dues, claims, and assets of the said company, including, among other things, the eight hundred bonds hereinafter mentioned of the State of Florida and the proceeds thereof.

2174 And this deponent further says that the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company is a body politic and corporate of the said State of North Carolina by virtue a certain act of the legislature of that State, passed on the 15th day of February, in the year 1855, entitled "An act to incorporate the Western North Carolina Railroad Company," and a certain other act of the said legislature passed the 19th day of August, in the year 1868, entitled "An act to amend the charter of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company," and divers other acts of the same legislature amendatory of the said two above mentioned acts, and that Sidney W. Hopkins, Frank A. Collins, and Robert J. Carpenter, the defendants above named, were, at and during the time of the transactions herein stated to have been had with them, and from thence hitherto have been, and still are, as this deponent is informed and verily believes, merchants and bankers and copartners in business, having their principal office or place of business in the city of New York, where they carry on their business under the firm name of S. W. Hopkins and Company, and another office or place of 2175 business or branch house in London, England, where they carry on their business under the like firm name.

And this deponent further says that for a long time prior to the 10th day of November, 1870, he, together with others of said commissioners, had diligently engaged in efforts to recover, as far as possible, a large portion of the funds and property of said company which had been by certain officers of said company improperly and in violation of their official duty and trusts diverted from the uses of said company and misapplied or squandered in divers ways, and that such efforts had, prior to the day last mentioned, been so far successful that deponent and others of said commissioners associated with him had procured an agreement, bearing date at Washington, D. C., the 16th day of April, 1870, to be executed by and between certain railroad companies, bodies corporate of the State of Florida, and one M. S. Littlefield and George W. Swepson, of the first part, and deponent and others of said commissioners, of the second part, whereby it was agreed in substance that the proceeds of certain bonds for the payment of money of the State 2176 of Florida, then about to be issued and delivered to or for said parties of the first part, and by them, upon the issue thereof, to be placed in the hands of the said firm of S. W. Hopkins and Company for sale, should be divided and paid over as the same were received, one-half to said Florida railroads and the other half to the said commissioners for the use and benefit of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Company until the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand and thirty-six dollars, with interest at the rate of eight per cent. from the date of the agreement last mentioned, should be received by said commissioners, which agreement was based by way of consideration upon the fact conceded by all the parties thereto, that the said Florida railroad companies had received to the extent of the sum last mentioned the monies and funds of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company wrongfully diverted as aforesaid, and that it was represented by and on the part of the parties to the said agreement, before the execution thereof, that the amount of bonds of the said State of Florida so to be issued as aforesaid was four millions of dollars.

2177 And this deponent further says that after the making of the agreement last mentioned, and prior to the said 10th day of November, 1870, bonds of the said State of Florida, of the character aforesaid, to the amount of three millions of dollars or thereabouts, were in fact issued and delivered to the said Florida railroad companies, and were afterwards and before said 10th day of November, 1870, and in accordance with the contemplation of the parties to the said last mentioned agreement, placed in the hands of the said firm of S. W. Hopkins & Company, in the city of New York, for sale, and that at or about the time when the said bonds were so placed in the hands of the said firm for sale, the said firm and the several members thereof had, as deponent has reason to believe and does believe, due knowledge and notice of the agreement last above mentioned, and of the rights of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company.

And this deponent further says that afterwards and in the month of August, in the year 1870, M. S. Littlefield, hereinbefore named, 2178 who had the principal management of the financial affairs of the said Florida railroads, and to whom the said three millions dollars of bonds last mentioned had been delivered on the issue thereof, and by whom the same had been placed in the hands of the defendants for sale, as above mentioned, wrote a letter, addressed to S. W. Hopkins and Company, a copy of which is annexed hereto, marked Exhibit A, which letter this deponent received from said Littlefield, and in the month last aforesaid delivered to the defendant Sidney W. Hopkins, in the city of New York, and at the same time asked him if he would recognize and accept the order contained in said letter; that said Hopkins put this deponent off, upon the pretense that he desired to consult with his counsel, and said that as soon as he could so consult he would give this deponent an answer; but that deponent, upon calling next day at the office of said firm of S. W. Hopkins & Company, in the city of New York, ascertained that said Sidney W. Hopkins had gone to one of the Western States, and he could obtain from no one else at said 2179 office a satisfactory answer as to whether said firm would recognize or accept the order contained in the letter of said Littlefield, and thereupon he wrote and left with the defendants, at their said office, in the city of New York, a letter, of which a copy is annexed hereto, marked Exhibit B, to which deponent received from said defendants an answer, a copy of which is annexed hereto, marked Exhibit C; that such answer not being satisfactory to deponent he again visited the office of said S. W. Hopkins & Company and saw the writer of said letter, one L. L. Spring, who appeared to have charge as partner, or otherwise, of the business of said firm, and remonstrating with him concerning the unsatisfactory character of said answer, and insisted that he, deponent, was entitled to an express recognition and acceptance of the order contained in said letter of said Littlefield, and afterwards again visited said office, together with his counsel, Algernon S. Sullivan, esq., who explained to said Spring that deponent was 2180 entitled to such express recognition or acceptance, and no satisfaction in the premises.

And deponent further says that before he received said letter from said Littlefield he had received information that said Littlefield designed in a very short time to leave New York, where he then was, and go to Europe, without the knowledge of deponent, which was the reason why deponent desired to obtain from him such a letter, and that when he applied to said Littlefield and requested him to give him, deponent, such a letter, said Littlefield at first refused so to do, upon divers pretexts; but that deponent insisted that he should give such a letter, and threatened that unless he did, he, deponent, would take legal proceedings to protect the interests of the said Western Division of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company in the said Florida bonds, and that thereupon the said Littlefield wrote said letter and almost immediately thereafter embarked for Europe; and that said Littlefield, for several days prior to the departure 2181 of said Sidney W. Hopkins for the West as aforesaid, was in the habit of frequent and confidential communication with said Sidney W. Hopkins, and deponent says that, from the circumstances hereinbefore stated, he had reason to apprehend, and did apprehend, that said Littlefield and said Sidney W. Hopkins were in collusion with each other, and that it had been arranged and understood between them that the order contained in said letter of said Littlefield should not be recognized or accepted by said firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., and that some fraudulent scheme was in contemplation by said Littlefield and said Hopkins prejudicial to the rights and interests represented by deponent, and having been informed prior to that time that said bonds had been, some time in July, 1870, transmitted by said firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co. to their branch house aforesaid in London, he deemed it expedient and necessary, in order to the protection of the rights and interests aforesaid, to proceed himself with all possible dispatch to London, England, with the view 2182 of their taking suitable measures to secure such rights and interests; and that he did accordingly forthwith embark for England, and arrived in London on or about the 29th of August, 1870; that he then ascertained that the said Littlefield was on the continent of Europe, in company with the defendants Collins, and deponent remained in London awaiting his return, and while so awaiting was very frequently at the office or place of business of said branch house of the defendants in London, where he saw and frequently conferred, from time to time, with the defendants Collins (who returned to London before said Littlefield) and Carpenter in reference to the transactions hereinbefore mentioned; that deponent soon after his arrival in London as aforesaid exhibited to said defendant Carpenter copies of the said letters of said Exhibits A, B, and C, but learned from him that he had already received copies of the same from the said firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., New York, and deponent demanded of said Collins and Littlefield that the order contained in the said letter of Littlefield 2183 should then be recognized and accepted, which they at first refused to do; but at a later period, and after deponent had declared to them his determination to take such legal measures as should seem best calculated to secure the rights and interests he represented, they informed deponent they would recognize and accept said order in any manner deponent might desire, provided deponent would return to New York, where, as they pretended, deponent might with advantage attend to the interests connected with the negotiation of said Florida bonds; but that deponent refused to accede to such terms, being then determined to remain until he could see said Littlefield, and, if possible, better secure the rights and interests he, deponent, represented.

And deponent says that he also learned from said defendant Carpenter, on his arrival in London, that the said Florida bonds so issued and placed with said S. W. Hopkins, as hereinbefore mentioned, had been received by said S. W. Hopkins and Co., in London. But the said Carpenter pretended and represented that the same had been taken 2184 by the said Littlefield and the defendant Collins to the continent of Europe, for purposes connected with the negotiation thereof.

And deponent further says, that some weeks after his arrival in London aforesaid, the said Littlefield returned from the continent to that city, and that thereupon deponent had frequent interviews with him, both alone and together with said Collins and Carpenter, and that after divers negotiations between all these parties last mentioned, a mode of satisfying the agreement hereinbefore mentioned was arranged and agreed upon by and between this deponent, the said Littlefield and said firm of S. W. Hopkins & Company; and thereupon a new agreement in writing was drawn up and executed by the said Littlefield, acting on behalf of himself and as the president of and in behalf of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a corporate body then recently created as was stated and represented by said Littlefield under the laws of the said State of Florida, by an amalgamation of the Florida railroad companies hereinbefore mentioned, and into which the 2185 said first mentioned Florida railroad companies had become merged, as the party of the first part, and by deponent acting on the part and in behalf of said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, as the party of the second part therein, and that the said firm of said S. W. Hopkins & Company, in pursuance of the arrangement and understanding under which the said last mentioned agreement was drawn and executed as aforesaid, endorsed upon the back thereof their undertaking or guaranty in writing guaranteeing the performance of the obligations assumed by the parties therein of the first part, in respect of furnishing and delivering railroad iron to and for the parties therein of the second part, which agreement, with the guaranty aforesaid endorsed thereon, was afterwards duly delivered, and that a copy of said agreement and guaranty is annexed hereto, marked Exhibit D; and that at the same time the said firm of S. W. Hopkins & Company delivered to deponent a written acknowledgement to the effect that said firm held the eight hundred of said Florida bonds mentioned in said last mentioned agreement as the agent of said last mentioned railroad company, a copy of which said written ac-2186 knowledgement is annexed hereto, marked Exhibit E; and deponent says that at that time, as was stated and represented by said Littlefield, Collins and Carpenter, said firm held the whole of said three millions dollars of said Florida bonds, which said bonds were three thousand in number, each for the sum of one thousand dollars, payable in the gold-coin of the United States with interest at the rate of eight per cent.; and immediately afterward deponent executed in writing and delivered to said firm of S. W. Hopkins & Company a letter of instructions concerning the sale of said eight hundred of said bonds, of which last mentioned letter a copy is annexed hereto, marked Exhibit F.

And this deponent further says, that thereupon he returned to the city of New York, where he arrived on or about the 30th day of November, 1870, and upon his arrival visited several times the place of business of said defendants in said last-mentioned city, and there had several interviews with the defendant Sidney W. Hopkins and conferred with him concerning the agreement which had been made as last 2187 above mentioned; that on the first of the visits last mentioned the said Sidney W. Hopkins informed him that he had the day before received from the branch house of his said firm in London a telegram apprising him of a sale of a large amount of the said bonds, including the said eight hundred belonging to the said last-mentioned railroad company, and produced the said telegram and read the same to deponent, and that it was, as read by said last-mentioned defendant, in substance and in the very words, or nearly so, as follows: "Satisfactory sale of fifteen hundred bonds—eight hundred for Woodfin, seven hundred for us. Private. Tell Woodfin only. Contract by mail; by City of Paris."

And deponent further says, that on the following day he went to the said office of S. W. Hopkins & Company with William W. Rollins, one of the commissioners hereinbefore mentioned, associated with deponent, and also the president of the said last-mentioned railroad company, and stated to said Sidney W. Hopkins that said Rollins was such president, and that he could keep no secret from him concern-2188 ing the said company, and wished the said Hopkins to read to him the said telegram, which he, the said Hopkins, then did.

And deponent further says, that being then about to go to Raleigh, North Carolina, where the legislature was then in session, the said Sidney W. Hopkins earnestly requested him, upon some pretense that it would be detrimental to negotiations connected with said bonds if the agreement made in London as hereinbefore mentioned were known, not to make the same public, and with the view of enabling deponent to furnish some reason therefor to those who had the right to call upon him for an account of his doings in the premises, gave deponent a letter to be exhibited to such persons as he thought fit, a copy of which letter is annexed hereto, marked Exhibit G.

And deponent further says, that at this time the said Sidney W. Hopkins faithfully promised to obtain, as soon as possible, all the particulars concerning the sale mentioned in the telegram aforesaid, and to communicate fully and promptly to deponent and to said Rollins, 2189 and by letter if they should not be in New York, all the information he should at any time receive concerning the said eight hundred bonds and any sale thereof; and that prior to his departure from London as hereinbefore mentioned, the defendant Collins had in like manner promised to keep deponent fully informed concerning the said last-mentioned bonds and concerning everything which might happen affecting the same.

And deponent further says, that he thereupon left the city of New York, together with said Rollins, and went to North Carolina, where he remained until about the middle of March, 1871, when, having received no communication from said defendants, or any of them, concerning said Florida bonds, and no iron having arrived in accordance with the said agreement in London, deponent again came to the city of New York for the sole purpose of learning what had been done with said eight hundred bonds and the proceeds thereof, and attending generally 2190 to the interests of said last-mentioned railroad company involved in the agreement hereinbefore mentioned and the transactions connected therewith, and that a few days after his arrival in New York he was then joined by said Rollins and James L. Henry, another of said commissioners associated with deponent, who visited New York for the same purpose.

That upon this visit deponent and said Rollins remained about three weeks, and the said Henry about two weeks; and during the period of about ten days after their arrival, they, the said three persons last named, were almost daily at the office of said defendant, where they saw from time to time said Sidney W. Hopkins and said Carpenter. That at this time, in answer to the inquiries of deponent and his said associates concerning said bonds, said Hopkins and Carpenter stated that the sale mentioned in the telegram hereinbefore mentioned had not been consummated, but that the completion thereof was awaiting the furnishing of evidence to be procured from Florida, touching 2191 the regularity and validity of said bonds; and further stated on divers occasions thereafter, and during the same visit of deponent and his said associates, that the sale of said Florida bonds was proceeding in London slowly, and professed to be unable to furnish deponent and his associates with the particulars of such sales or any other more definite information in respect thereto.

And deponent further says that he also made inquiries during the visit last mentioned concerning the iron mentioned in the last above mentioned agreement, and which was to be furnished by said Littlefield;

in answer to which said Sidney W. Hopkins informed deponent that such iron had not been shipped in consequence of the slow sales of said Florida bonds. That during the visit last mentioned, the inquiries of deponent and his associates concerning the promise were made almost daily of said Sidney W. Hopkins or said Carpenter, and it was represented to them by said Hopkins and Carpenter that they were in 2192 daily expectation of receiving advice from London of sales of said bonds, and of remittances of money on account thereof; and that as soon as any such remittances were received, payment should be made to deponent and his associates.

That after deponent and his said associates had remained in New York about ten days, said Hopkins and Carpenter announced their intention of going to the West, but stated that they should be absent but for a few days; that deponent and his associates remonstrated against their both leaving New York, while communications and remittances from London were from day to day expected, and it was finally agreed that said Carpenter should not go, but should remain in New York; but that notwithstanding they did both leave New York together, and were absent about nine or ten days, during which time deponent and said Rollins were obliged to remain in New York awaiting the expected remittances from London; that upon the return of said Hopkins and Carpenter deponent could obtain no satisfactory intelligence from them as to what was being done in London in reference to said bonds or 2193 the shipment of said iron, and said Hopkins pretended that it was necessary for him to proceed at once to Florida upon business in some way connected with said Florida bonds, and told deponent that he was then able to pay over ten thousand pounds sterling, and in a very short time would be able to pay over at least one hundred and fifty thousand dollars more, or thereabouts, and probably, indeed, the whole amount of the proceeds of the sales of said eight hundred bonds.

That he accordingly did pay over to deponent and his associates on or about April 3d, 1871, the sum of fifty-three thousand seven hundred and seventy-six dollars and sixty six cents ($53,776 66), for which amount he requested deponent and his associates to draw on said firm of S. W. Hopkins and Company, and at the same time to sign a letter addressed to said firm respecting the same. That deponent objected to so drawing such draft and signing such letter, for the reason that it would appear as if he and his associates were borrowing money instead of receiving the proceeds of bonds sold, but said Hopkins 2194 represented to deponent that it was important that the business should be put in that shape for the reason that he did not wish one Houston, who also had bonds of a similar description in the hands of said firm for sale, to know that he was receiving and paying over proceeds of the sales of said bonds, and that deponent and his said associates accordingly drew the draft as desired by said Hopkins, and signed a letter in form as drawn up by him, a copy of which letter is hereto annexed, marked Exhibit H. But deponent says that the said Hopkins did not pretend that the said money so paid over by him was in fact an advance, but paid it over as and for so much proceeds of sales of said eight hundred bonds, and the same was so received by deponent and his said associates, who afterwards applied the same to the use of said company.

And deponent further says that at this time the said Hopkins further stated to deponent that he was in daily expectation of receiving advices from London of the purchase and shipment of iron, pursuant to 2195 the terms of said agreement made in London, and upon deponent representing to him the pressing need of said iron for the use of the said company represented by him, said Hopkins promised that in any event the said defendants would ship from New York to Norfolk for said company five hundred tons of railroad iron within thirty days, and further promised to keep deponent fully informed concerning sales of said bonds, or anything which might happen affecting the same, and thereupon deponent and said Rollins returned to North Carolina.

And deponent further says, that afterwards and about the 7th of May, 1871, he and the said Rollins—no further communications having been received from said defendants concerning said bonds or shipments of iron, and the shipment of iron from New York, as promised by said Hopkins, not having been made—again visited New York for the sole purpose of attending to the business connected with said agreements, hereinbefore mentioned; but were informed, upon inquiry at the office of said defendants, that said Hopkins was in Florida, and said Carpenter in Michigan, and and the only information they were able to obtain was given to them by one Spring, who had charge of the business of said defendants, and held their power of attorney for that purpose, which was to the affect that sales of said bonds were proceeding in London slowly, but at rather better prices. 2196

And deponent further says, that on the 12th of June, he and said Rollins again visited New York on the same business, and upon going on that day to the office of said defendants, were told by said Spring, that although said Hopkins had returned to New York on the previous Saturday, he had not been at the office that morning. That on the next day deponent and said Rollins again visited said office about one o'clock p. m., and were told by said Spring that said Hopkins had not been to the office that day, but that he was expected momentarily; that after the lapse of an hour or thereabouts, deponent and said Rollins again called at said office, and were told by said Spring that said Hopkins was then in, but engaged upon very important business, but was very anxious to see deponent, and proposed to meet him, deponent, at his, deponent's, hotel, between 9 and 10 o'clock the next day; that deponent accordingly remained at his hotel the next day from nine o'clock a. m. until about three o'clock p. m., sending in the meantime to said Hopkins a telegram to which no answer was received, and about four o'clock p. m., of the same day, deponent and the said Rollins again visited the office of defendants, and were told by said Spring that Hopkins was in, but that he declined seeing deponent or having any further interview with him or said Rollins. 2197

And deponent further says, that from the facts and circumstances hereinbefore mentioned, and from diligent inquiry made by him from all other sources of information known to him, he verily believes and charges that sales have been made by said defendants of all or nearly all of said eight hundred Florida bonds, and that said defendants have received the proceeds thereof to a very large amount, if not to the whole amount thereof; that the rates at which said bonds have been so sold, as deponent is informed and believes from his knowledge derived during his visit to London, and at other times, and from the quotations of the value thereof in Europe, are from fifty to seventy cents on the dollar in gold, and that the said defendants, as deponent verily believes, have received in money, for and on account of sales of said eight hundred of said bonds, not less than four hundred thousand dollars in the gold coin of the United States, or its equivalent. 2198

And this deponent further says that the said defendants have not paid over to deponent or his associates, or the said company represented by him, any other moneys except the said sum of fifty-three thousand seven hundred and seventy-six dollars and sixty-six cents aforesaid, and the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) paid in March, 1871, and nineteen pounds sterling, being the passage money on deponent's re-2199 turn from Europe on his visit aforesaid to London, and that they have never shipped any iron whatever in accordance with said agreement made in London, or performed, with the exception aforesaid, any of their promises in the premises; but that they have from the outset, and ever since the making of the agreement made in London as aforesaid, behaved towards deponent and his said associates and the company represented by them in an utterly faithless manner, and have continually delayed, postponed, and put them off by false pretences, excuses, and pretexts almost without number.

And deponent further says that said defendants, as deponent is informed and believes, are themselves largely interested with said Littlefield in the Florida Railroad enterprises with which the issue of said Florida bonds is connected, as well as with other railroad enterprises in some Western State, and that they are contemplating and striving to enrich themselves therefrom, and that as deponent verily 2200 believes they are and have been from the outset dealing in the most shameless manner with the property and interests of said last mentioned railroad company which have been placed in their hands and under their control, and that they are, in conjunction with said Littlefield, now using and design and intend to continue to use the moneys they have received on account of sales of said eight hundred bonds, so far as they have sold the same, and the said bonds themselves which remain unsold, if any, in order to advance their own private schemes and enterprises in utter violation of the rights of the railroad company last mentioned.

And said deponent further says that he has reason to believe and does believe that unless the most stringent methods and means of redress and security which the law affords are vouchsafed to said company last mentioned, the said defendants will deal with the moneys 2201 received by them on account of sales of said eight hundred bonds and with such of the bonds themselves, if any, which remain unsold in such manner as to utterly and forever deprive said last mentioned company of the benefit thereof.

NEW YORK, August, 1870.

Messrs. S. W. HOPKINS & Co.,
70 Broadway, N. Y.:

GENTLEMEN: You will please pay the money which may come into your hands from the sale of any bonds which I have placed with you over to G. M. Roberts, esq., treasurer of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, according to the terms of a contract made and entered into between the commissioners
2202 appointed by the legislature of the State of North Carolina, George

W. Swepson and myself, dated Washington, D. C., April, 1870, upon your receiving orders signed by the board of directors of the said Western Division W. N. C. R. R. Co. and the board of commissioners hereinbefore named.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) M. S. LITTLEFIELD.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11*th*, '70.

Messrs. S. W. HOPKINS & CO.:

GENTEMEN: On yesterday I delivered to you a copy of the contract made between the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company by the commissioners appointed by the legislature of the State of North Carolina, and approved by the said corporation of the one part, and M. S. Littlefield, acting for himself and as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and George W. Swepson, president of the Florida Central Railroad Co., of the other part, 2203 dated the 16th of April, 1870, by which it was stipulated that said Western Division of the West. North Carolina Railroad Co. should receive one-half of the proceeds of the sales of certain State bonds which were to be placed in your hands to sell, and at the same time I handed you a letter from Gen. M. S. Littlefield directing you to pay over to G. M. Roberts, esq., treasurer of said West. Division West. North Carolina Railroad Co., the part of the proceeds of the sales of said bonds, when received, to which said corporation will be entitled according to said contract.

It only remains for me to request of you the favor to acknowledge the receipt of said letter and copy of contract, and to comply therewith, as the money may be received by you.

Respectfully,
(Signed) N. W. WOODFIN,
For the W. D. W. N. C. R. R.

EXHIBIT D.

Memorandum of an agreement and final settlement made this tenth day of November, A. D. 1870, at London, England, between General Milton S. Littlefield, of the State of Florida, in the United States of America, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by Milton S. Littlefield, the president thereof, the parties of the first part, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, acting through and represented by Colonel Nicholas W. Woodfin, chairman of the commission appointed by the general assembly of the State of North Carolina, by an act ratified the 24th day of March, A. D. 1870, to settle with George W. Swepson, and for other purposes, which act was approved by the stockholders of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, of the second part.

Whereas, on the 16th day of April, A. D. 1870, at the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, in the United States of America, a contract in writing was made and entered into by and between the Florida Railroad Company, George W. Swepson, president; General Milton S. Littlefield; the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by Milton S. Littlefield, the president thereof, as parties of the first part, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, represented by Nicholas W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, W. W. Rollins, and W. P. Welch, commissioners appointed by the legislature of the State of North Carolina, by an act ratified the twenty-fourth day of March, 1870, which act was duly ratified, approved, adopted, and made a part of the charter of the said party of the second part, the said corporation, a copy of which contract is attached hereto, and made a part of this contract; and

Whereas the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company have received certain bonds of the State of Florida under sundry acts of the legislature of said State, which bonds, by the term of the laws authorizing the issue of the same, are made payable, both principal and interest, in the gold coin of the United States, and bearing interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum; and

Whereas by reason of the present war in Europe, all financial operations are more or less restricted, which has up to this time prevented the negotiation for the sale of said bonds; and

Whereas the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, through and by its representative, N. W. Woodfin, chairman as aforesaid, is pressing the immediate payment, by the said party of the first part, of the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, with interest at the rate of eight (8) per cent. per annum since the first day of November, A. D. 1869, to pay or settle the said claim now will cause a great sacrifice to the said party of the first part; and

Whereas the said Nicholas W. Woodfin, as chairman of the said commission for the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, for the purpose of removing embarrassments 2206 out of the way, which in his judgment prevented the sale of said bonds, and to avoid litigation, did, on the 17th of October, 1870, contract with Henry Clews & Co., bankers in the cities of New York and London, to purchase a certain claim held by them against George W. Swepson, amounting to about twenty thousand dollars, lawful money of the United States of America, which contract was made with the knowledge and approval of the said party of the first part, for the reason it was understood by all parties to the said agreement that this would secure the full co-operation of the said Henry Clews & Co. to aid in the sale and negotiations of the said Florida bonds:

Now, therefore, be it remembered that for and in consideration of the premises herein stated, and for various other good and sufficient considerations, and for the further purpose of aiding the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company to complete their road from the junction with the main line, at Asheville, to Paint Rock, at the State line between the States of North Carolina and Tennessee, and to complete their road without delay, on the one hand, and to avoid a hasty sale and sacrifice of the said bonds on the other hand, it is agreed by and between the parties of the first and second parts, that, in full compromise, payment, satisfaction, and accord of the obligation of the party of the first part to pay to the party of the second part the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents lawful money of the United States of America, with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent. from and after the first day of November, A. D. 1869, as portions of the said contract made and executed at the city of Washington aforesaid, and that the said party of the first part may be fully and finally discharged from all and every liability on account of the terms and conditions of the said contract, hereunto appended, the said party of the first part agree to furnish the iron to the said party of the second part sufficient to lay a single track of railroad from the junction at Asheville, along the French Broad River, to Paint Rock, at the Tennessee State line, and into the State of Tennessee to the present terminus of the Cincinnati, Cumberland Gap and Charleston Railroad, with turn-outs and side-tracks, provided that the whole railroad shall not exceed, including turn-outs and side-tracks, fifty-three miles in length. The iron shall be of good quality of English iron, weighing not less than fifty pounds per lineal yard, with the necessary chairs and spikes to lay the same, the iron to be shipped in the quantities, and at the times and places as follows, to wit:

To Norfolk, Virginia, on or before the tenth day of December, A. D. 1873, three hundred tons; to the same place on or before the 10th day of January, A. D. 1871, five hundred tons; to the same place on or before the first day of April, A. D. 1871, one thousand tons; and the rest to be shipped to New York, in the State of New York, on or before the first day of September, A. D. 1871; but the said party of the first part may ship the iron as fast as he may wish, all duties and freights on the above described iron to be paid by the party of the first part.

And it is further agreed by the party of the first part that he will ship in addition to the above-mentioned quantity of iron, one thousand tons of the same weight and quality as the above-described iron, with the necessary chairs and spikes to lay the same, to New York, 2207 duties and freight paid, on or before the first day of September, A. D. 1871, the shipping of which iron Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co. are to guarantee.

In addition to the shipping of the iron, the said party of the first part does hereby sell and deliver to the said party of the second part, by placing to the order of the party of the second part, with Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., eight hundred bonds of the State of Florida of the denomination of one thousand dollars each, numbers of said bonds to be designated by said party of the first part, but upon the express stipulation and conditions that the said bonds are to be left with Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co. for sale at such prices as the said party of the second part may direct.

And it is further agreed by the party of the first part that he will pay to the party of the second part two hundred pounds sterling, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged.

And it is further agreed by the party of the first part to assume and discharge the obligation of the party of the second part to Henry Clews & Co., of about twenty thousand dollars, lawful money of the United States of America.

Now, when the foregoing undertakings and agreements of the party of the first part are fully accomplished and performed, it is to be taken as a full compliance with and final discharge of the parties of the first part to this contract, as well as all parties of the first part, to the said contract executed at the city of Washington aforesaid, a copy of which is hereto annexed; and this shall operate as a receipt and final discharge thereof from all obligations growing out of the same.

MILTON S. LITTLEFIELD.
MILTON S. LITTLEFIELD,
President J., P. & M. Railroad Company.

N. W. WOODFIN,
Chairman of the Board of Commissioners.

2208 Memorandum of agreement and settlement between the Florida Central Railroad Company, George W. Swepson, president, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, Milton S. Littlefield, president, and Milton S. Littlefield, majority owner of the stock of said companies and also of the stock of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, of the first part, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, represented by N. W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, W. Pink Welsh, and W. W. Rollins, commissioners appointed by an act of the legislature of North Carolina, approved by the stockholders of said corporation, of the second part, witnesseth:

That whereas George W. Swepson, late president of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, made certain investments of the funds of said company in securities of and interests in the said Florida Central Railroad, Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad, and the Tallahassee Railroad, of the said State of Florida, as per report made by the said George W. Swepson to the said commissioners, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, to bear interest from the first day of November, 1869, at the rate of eight per cent. per annum; and whereas the said George W. Swepson heretofore conveyed to the said Milton S. Littlefield, subject to the payment of the above recited claim, his interest in the above recited railroads; and whereas the said Littlefield has received authority from the legislature of the State of Florida and the several railroad companies to receive bonds to be issued by and for account of the several railroad companies, which bonds are to be exchanged for bonds of the State of Florida to be issued for the purpose of aiding the finances of said several railroad companies, all of which bonds are now in a state of preparation; and whereas the said Milton S. Littlefield has made a contract with S. W. Hopkins & Co., No. 71 Broadway, N. Y., for the disposition of said bonds as the same may be issued, the proceeds of the issue of the bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company of the State of Florida, amounting to nine hundred and sixty thousand dollars, are to be applied to the payment of the existing liabilities of the said several railroad companies, including the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars to be paid to the commissioners aforesaid for the purpose of paying existing liabilities of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company.

It is understood and agreed by the parties of the first and second parts that the proceeds of the sale of said bonds so to be issued by the said Florida railroad companies and the said State of Florida are to be equally divided, dollar for dollar, between the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company and the said Florida Railroads, and as the commissioners aforesaid receive by this first sale of bonds only the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, it is further understood and agreed that out of the proceeds of 2209 the sale of the issue of the bonds of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad there is first to be received by the commissioners aforesaid a sum sufficient to be equal to the amount received by and on account of the said Florida railroads, and then an equal amount is to be received by the said commissioners and the said Florida railroads, dollar for dollar, until the entire amount of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand and thirty-six dollars and three cents, with interest at eight per cent., as aforesaid, being the sum reported by the parties of the first part as due to the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad, is fully paid.

It is further understood and agreed by the parties of the first and second parts that all the interest owned or claimed by the said parties of the first part, George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield, or which they as individuals have a right to control, in the said Florida railroads, are hereby pledged for the faithful fulfilment of this contract without the right on the part of any party to interfere with our management or control of the affairs of the road.

NICHOLAS W. WOODFIN, Esq.,
Chairman of the Commissioners of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina R. R. Co.:

SIR: We are in possession of your favor of this day's date, covering order from Messrs. Littlefield, president Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, dated November 16th, 1870, for eight hundred Florida bonds.

We accept the said order and agree to hold the within described bonds as agents for the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, subject to the order of the commissioners.

We remain your most obedient servt's,

S. W. HOPKINS & CO.

LONDON, Nov. 16*th*, 1870.

Messrs. S. W. HOPKINS & Co.,
London:

GENTLEMEN: I do hereby authorize and instruct you to sell or dispose of the eight hundred bonds of the State of Florida, eight per cent. gold, given in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company now lodged with you, at not lower than £60 for each bond. However, I leave the price to your own good judgment; if you think it impossible to sell at £60 for each bond, then you are hereby authorized to sell at the best price you can get.

I remain, gentlemen, your obedient servant,

N. W. WOODFIN,
Chairman.

NEW YORK, Dec'r 2nd, 1870.

N. W. WOODFIN, Esq.,
Asheville, N. C.:

DEAR SIR: We have received, per steamer City of Brussels, a copy of the new contract entered into between yourself, on the part of the commissioners of North Carolina, and Gen. M. S. Littlefield, on the part of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company. This contract is certainly very advantageous for those you represent, any apparent concessions you have made being more than compensated by the security of your present position and the definite period fixed for its fulfilment, but we beg to suggest that its provision, and, in fact, its existence, should not, for the present, be made public, as you are aware how delicate a matter is the negotiation of a security, and how easily the efforts of the enemies may prove fatal to its success.

Very truly, yours,

S. W. HOPKINS & CO.

(Signed) J. L. HENRY.

Supreme court city and county of New York.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company, plaintiffs,
against
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, FRANK A. COLLINS, AND Robert J. Carpenter, defendants.

2214 CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss:

William W. Rollins, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is a citizen and resident of the State of North Carolina; that he has read the affidavit of Nicholas W. Woodfin, annexed hereto, and that he is one of the commissioners associated with said Woodfin, appointed as stated in said affidavit, and that he is president of the company named in the above title; that he has knowledge of, and participated in, the efforts mentioned in the said affidavit to recover the funds and property of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and the agreement dated at Washington, D. C., April 15th, 1870, mentioned in said affidavit.

Deponent further says that upon the return of said Woodfin from his visit to London, England, as mentioned in said affidavit, he met the said Woodfin in the city of New York, and had an interview, together with said Woodfin, with Sidney W. Hopkins, one of the defendants above named, at one of which said Hopkins read the telegram mentioned in said affidavit, and that said telegram was read in the words stated by said Woodfin in his said affidavit. 2215

Deponent further says that in the months of March and April, 1871, he was with the said Woodfin in the city of New York, for the purpose of attending to the business of said railroad company growing out of and connected with the agreement made in London, and the guaranty in respect thereof, of the said defendants as stated in said affidavit of said Woodfin, and that the statements in said affidavit of said Woodfin relating to the statements and admissions and representations of said Hopkins and Robert Carpenter concerning sales of Florida bonds and concerning railroad iron and promises by said Sidney W. Hopkins are true as therein stated.

Respondent further says that he accompanied said Woodfin upon the two subsequent visits made by him to New York, as mentioned in said affidavit, and that the statements of said Woodfin therein of the 2216 various calls at the office of said defendants upon such two last-mentioned visits, and of what took place and was said on the occasions of such calls, are true to the knowledge of deponent.

Deponent further says that he visited the city of New York in the month of February, 1871, and remained in said city nearly two weeks upon the same business, and was frequently at the office of said defendants, and was postponed, baffled, and put off in a similar manner, as deponent and said Woodfin were on the occasions when they were in New York together, as described by said Woodfin in his said affidavit. And deponent further says that he has reason to believe, and does believe, from the facts within his knowledge, as hereinbefore mentioned, and from the information which he has derived by diligent inquiry from other sources of information, that said defendants have sold the whole or nearly the whole of the eight hundred Florida bonds held by them for the said railroad company, and have received the proceeds 2217 thereof to the amount of not less than four hundred thousand dollars in the gold coin of the United States, or its equivalent; and he says that it is impossible to obtain from them without the aid of legal proceedings the moneys so received by them, or any account in respect thereof.

Deponent further says that as he has learned from said Hopkins and Carpenter themselves, and from other sources, the said defendants are largely interest' and involved with said Littlefield and others in railroad enterprises in Florida which require the use of large amounts of money, and that he verily believes that said defendants are now, and have for a long time in violation of their trust been, using the moneys received by them on account of sales of said eight hundred bonds or portions thereof, for their own purposes, and in order to enable themselves to carry on the enterprises in which they are so engaged, and that they fraudulently design and intend to continue to so use said moneys, 2218 and also to so use such, if any, of said eight hundred bonds as still remain in their hands unsold.

And deponent says that by reason of the premises the said railroad company has a just cause of action against said defendants to compel them to account for and pay over to said company the amount of money so received by them as aforesaid, and also to compel them to deliver up to said company such of said eight hundred bonds as remain in their hands unsold.

CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss:

Before me personally came Robert W. Pulliam (of Asheville, North Carolina), who having first been duly sworn, makes oath and says that he was well acquainted in and prior to the year 1869 with Mr. George W. Swepson, also of North Carolina.

Affiant further says that said Swepson was president of the plaintiffs herein, and by virtue of his office held bonds of the State of North Carolina to the amount of nearly six millions of dollars, said bonds having been furnished by said State to said plaintiffs, to be used solely for the purpose of con'tracting their railway.

2220 Affiant further says that said Swepson, to this affiant's personal knowledge, arranged to purchase in his own name a large amount of mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, whose railroad was in the State of Florida, and, in order to obtain the money wherewith to purchase said bonds, said Swepson pledged and used the North Carolina State bonds above described, and which belonged to the plaintiffs in the above entitled action.

Affiant further says that said Swepson used of said money, in and about said purchase, about seven hundred thousand dollars, with which he purchased about one million of dollars in said Florida Railroad bonds.

Affiant further states that he was present when the said Swepson made the arrangements for the said purchase.

Affiant further says that subsequently said Swepson was displaced from the presidency of the plaintiffs, and was succeeded in that 2221 office by General Milton S. Littlefield, and in order to reimburse and secure as far as practicable, to said plaintiffs, the value of their bonds thus misapplied as above stated, the said Swepson assigned and transferred to said Littlefield in trust for said plaintiffs, all the bonds, stock, claims, and interests which he, said Swepson, had acquired in said Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, and in any other Florida railroad companies.

Affiant further says that he was president of the Raleigh National Bank, and by reason of his position, he had constant intercourse with the parties above named during the period occupied in the transactions above referred to, and affiant was then cognizant of the details of said transactions.

And affiant further states that to his knowledge and information and belief, the affidavit made herein by George W. Swepson, on the 9th instant, is correct and true.

On the annexed affidavit and all other papers and proceedings in this action let the plaintiffs or their attorney show cause before me at chambers at the new court-house in the city of New York on Friday, the 30th instant, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, why the order of arrest in this action should not be discharged or why the bail should not be reduced or why such further or other order should not be made as shall be just.

New York, June 28, 1871.

GEORGE G. BARNARD, J. S. C.

2223 Supreme court.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company
agst.
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS AND OTHERS.

CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss:

Sidney W. Hopkins, being duly sworn, doth depose and say that he is the defendant Hopkins in this action mentioned, and he further says as follows:

First. That whatever claim the plaintiffs had for which they have claimed a right to receive any of the Florida bonds mentioned in this action, or the proceeds thereof, was against George W. Swepson individually in the first instance and no other person whatever, and was afterwards against Milton S. Littlefield, individually, and was not against the Florida Railroad mentioned in the affidavits in this action or any of them; that critical examination of the copy of the original agree-2224 ments annexed to the affidavits on the part of the plaintiffs in this action will show this averment to be true. Said agreement recites "that whereas George W. Swepson late president of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company made certain investments of the funds of said company in securities of and interest in the said Florida Central Railroad, Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad and the Tallahassee Railroad of the said State of Florida, as per report made by the said George W. Swepson to the said commissioners, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $1,287,436.03, to bear interest from the first day of November, 1869, at the rate of eight per cent. per annum," "and whereas the said George W. Swepson heretofore conveyed to the said Milton S. Littlefield, subject to the payment of the above recited claim, his interest in the above recited railroads," and said agreement also contains the clause "it is further 2224½ understood and agreed by the parties of the first and second part that all the interest owned or claimed by the said parties of the first part, both George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield, or which they as individuals have a right to control in the said Florida Railroad, are hereby pledged for the faithful fulfillment of this contract."

And deponent doth further say as further evidence of the truth of the above allegation that the plaintiff in this action recently begun a suit in this court against one E. Houston and Milton S. Littlefield, in which the said plaintiffs aver the fraudulent misapplication by the said George W. Swepson of the funds of the said plaintiffs, and allege in substance that in order to reimburse them for their property and funds taken and misappropriated by and on account of the said Swepson, he, said Swepson, transferred to said Littlefield a large amount of property (meaning the stock of the Florida Railroad) and in which 2225 they further allege that said Littlefield has never accounted to the plaintiffs for any of said property, "and said Littlefield is largely indebted to plaintiffs therefor."

And they in said complaint further aver that he, said Littlefield, had expressly pledged to the plaintiffs the whole of the interests and rights held by him, said Littlefield, of every kind, in said Florida Central Railroad Company and in any and all other railroads in Florida, to secure said plaintiffs all moneys due to them by said George W. Swepson or by said defendant, Littlefield, as will more fully appear by reference to said complaint.

Second. That it was represented to this deponent's firm by Nicholas W. Woodfin, chairman of the commission mentioned in the affidavits on behalf of the plaintiffs in this action and otherwise, that the plaintiffs in this action had a valid claim upon the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company for the whole or a large part of the 2226 four thousand bonds issued by the State of Florida, and it was upon the faith of these representations that the house of the defendant, S. W. Hopkins & Co., was induced to sign and deliver the letter dated London, November 16th, 1870, more particularly hereinafter mentioned.

And deponent further says that, under the circumstances before mentioned, he is advised and charges that said letter of acceptance is void against these defendants as being a fraud upon them.

Third. And deponent doth further say that the said letter of acceptance was in the words and figures following:

LONDON, November 16, 1870.

NICHOLAS W. WOODFIN, Esq.,
Chairman of the Commissioners of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina R. R Co.:

SIR: We are in possession of your favor of this day's date, covering order from M. S. Littlefield, president Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, dated November 16, 1870, for 800 Florida bonds.

2227 We accept the said order and agree to hold the within described bonds as agents for the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company subject to the order of the commissioners.

We remain, sir, your most obedient servants,

S. W. HOPKINS & CO.

And deponent says that the order referred to in the words in said letter "We accept the said order" was in the words and figures following:

LONDON, November 16, 1870.

Messrs. S. W. HOPKINS & Co.,
58 Old Broad street, London, and 71 Broadway, New York:

GENTLEMEN: On the 10th day of November, A. D. 1870, I made a final settlement with the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, represented by Mr. Nicholas W. Woodfin, chairman of the commissioners appointed by the legislature of 2228 North Carolina to collect the moneys due said company. The commissioners are N. W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, W. W. Rollins, W. P. Welsh, and J. L. Henry.

One of the terms of said settlement were that it should place, to the order of said company, any 800 of the Florida 8 per cent. gold bonds my railroad contracted with you to negotiate on the 13th day of April last. Therefore, you will place to the order of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company 800 of said bonds, and sell or dispose of the same as the said chairman may direct; but this order is subject to the following conditions:

First. The said bonds are to remain in your hands to sell.

Second. The proceeds of said bonds are to be transferred to your New York house and disbursed to said company upon the order of a majority of said commissioners.

I remain, gentlemen, your most obedient servant,

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
Pres. J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

2229 That the above copies of said acceptance and said order are from press copies thereof in the hands of deponent, sent to him by his London office.

That the contract referred to in said order as dated the "13th day of April last," was a contract in writing, between the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and S. W. Hopkins & Co., which, among other things, recited "whereas a certain number of miles of said road are now completed, and said company is entitled to receive from the said State of Florida about the sum of four million dollars of bonds. Said agreement, among other things, constituted the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. financial agents to sell, negotiate, and dispose of all the said four million dollars of the said bonds of the State of Florida."

And said deponent says that his firm has received the said four million of bonds, and has contracted to sell the same and they have delivered a large number of said bonds, but they have in their posses- 2230 sion, undelivered, many more than eight hundred of said bonds, upon which they have not yet received any payment whatever.

Fourth. And deponent doth further say that by the terms of the said agreement, a copy of which is annexed to the affidavits on the part of the plaintiffs, and dated the 10th day of November, 1870, it is provided that the numbers of the 800 bonds mentioned in said agreement were to be designated by the said party of the first part to the said agreement, "but upon the express stipulations and conditions that the said bonds are to be left with S. W. Hopkins & Co. for sale." And deponent says that the numbers of said 800 bonds have never been designated by the said party of the first part, nor otherwise to the knowledge or belief of deponent.

Fifth. And deponent doth further say that an action has just been begun in this court in favor of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company against the plaintiffs in this action, this 2231 deponent and his partners, the commissioners mentioned in the papers of the plaintiffs herein, and Milton S. Littlefied, a copy of the complaint in which action is hereunto annexed as a part of this affidavit.

That said complaint is verified as appears by said annexed copy, and has attached thereto the affidavit of Aaron Barnett, a copy of which said last-mentioned affidavit is also hereto annexed, and deponent says that he is informed and believes that every averment in the said complaint and in the affidavit of verification and the other affidavit thereto annexed is true.

Deponent says that he has been served with a copy of said complaint and with a notice of motion for an injunction as prayed in said complaint.

Sixth. And deponent doth further say' that he denies upon information and belief that there was any other consideration for the agreement mentioned in the ninth folio of the affidavit of Nicholas W. Woodfin sworn on the 19th day of June, 1871, than the claim of the plaintiffs in this action against said Swepson and said Littlefield individually. 2232

And deponent says that the sale of the Florida bonds mentioned in the 32nd folio of the affidavit of the said Woodfin afterwards fell through and was never completed, and in confirmation thereof deponent refers to a letter dated London, 27th March, 1871, signed George Richardson, in the possession of deponent and ready to be produced if required, and he says that the fact that said sale had fallen through was well known to the said Woodfin when he made his affidavit.

And deponent further says that the £10,000 sterling referred to in folios 44 and 45 of the affidavit of said Woodfin was what it purported to be, an advance, and was not a payment.

And deponent doth further say that his firm are not interested with said Littlefield in the Florida railroad enterprises as stated in the affidavit of the said Woodfin, except so far as they, said S. W. Hopkins & Co., have undertaken the negotiation of lands and the sale of iron, and that they are not connected with the said Littlefield in other railroal enterprises in some Western State or any other railroad enterprise whatever, and he admits that his firm has endeavored to make a reasonable profit out of their business transactions, but they have not otherwise striven to enrich themselves, and he denies that they design or intend to use any of the moneys whatever or the bonds in question in this action, or any of them, in order to advance their own private schemes and enterprises in violation of the rights of any railroad or any person whatever, and he denies all the allegations to the contrary thereof in folios 60, 61, 62, and 63 of the affidavit of the said Woodfin. 2233

And deponent doth further say that he denies each and every allegation in the affidavits made on the part of the plaintiffs in this action and in the complaint herein, inconsistent with the statements of this affidavit, and deponent doth further say that his firm are entirely unembarassed in their pecuniary affairs and abundantly able to pay all the damages claimed in this action. 2234

And further saith not.

S. W. HOPKINS.

Amended answer.

Supreme court.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company
ag'st
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, FRANK H. COLLINS, and Robert J. Carpenter.

And the said defendants, by Sewell & Pierce, their attorneys, for answer to the complaint of the plaintiff show:

2234½ They admit that the plaintiff is a body corporate, created under the laws of the State of North Carolina as in the complaint alleged, and that the defendants are and were at the times in said complaint set forth partners doing business in New York and London under the firm-name of S. W. Hopkins & Co.

And said defendants, further answering, say that on the 10th day of November, 1870, these defendants, as the financial agents of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a corporation created under the laws of the State of Florida, for the purpose of perfecting the public works of that State were engaged in negotiating for the sale of four thousand bonds of the State of Florida, which before that time had been issued to the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company to aid in the construction of a railroad within said State of Florida from Quincy towards Mobile, a large proportion of which 2235 said bonds were then in the possession of the said defendants in the city of London, and which said bonds were of the denomination of one thousand dollars each, payable in gold coin of the United States, with interest at eight per cent. per annum. That said bonds were so placed in the hands of said defendants by the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company for the purpose of negotiating the sale thereof for said company, and for the purchase with the proceeds of materials for the construction of said railroad.

That on the day aforesaid, and prior thereto, one Nicholas W. Woodfin represented to the defendants that he and certain other persons had been appointed by the legislature of the State of North Carolina a commission invested with full power to settle certain claims which the plaintiff herein had against the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, amounting to over one million of dollars, and 2236 falsely and fraudulently represented to these defendants that the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company was in truth indebted to the plaintiff herein in the sum aforesaid, by reason of the fact that the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company had received from one George W. Swepson, a former president of the plaintiff, the aforesaid sum of over one million dollars, the property of the plaintiff, which said sum the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company had expended for its own use and had had the benefit of, and that Milton S. Littlefield, the president of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, had full power and authority from the board of directors of said last-named company to settle with the said commission on behalf of the plaintiff the said claim, and for that purpose to transfer to the plaintiff such amount 2237 of the bonds aforesaid in the hands of the defendants as would be sufficient to liquidate the said claim.

That, after making the representations aforesaid, the said Woodfin did present to the defendants in London an order signed by said Littlefield, as the president of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, directing these defendants to hold for the plaintiff any eight hundred of the said bonds, and when the same should be sold to transfer the proceeds to the said commissioners for the plaintiff.

That these defendants believing the representations of the said Woodfin to be true, and relying upon them, did agree with said Woodfin to hold any eight hundred of said bonds, and when the same should be sold to deliver the proceeds to the plaintiff, and defendants allege that there was no other consideration whatever for said agreement, 2238 but that the same was made in the belief that the plaintiff had a valid claim on said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, as stated by said Woodfin, and that said Littlefield had full authority from the board of directors of said company to order said transfer.

That said representations so made by the said Woodfins, were false in this, that the plaintiff had no valid claim against said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company; that said last named company never received any money from George W. Swepson, or any other person the property of the plaintiffs, and never expended or had the benefit of any moneys of the plaintiffs, and said Littlefield had no authority whatever from the board of directors of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company to transfer any of the said bonds to the plaintiffs or to divert any of the proceeds thereof from the purpose for which the same were issued. That all of the aforesaid 2239 facts were well known to said Woodfin, but that said Woodfin made the aforesaid false and fraudulent representations with the intent of deceiving the defendants, and of fraudulently obtaining from them the said eight hundred bonds, or the proceeds thereof.

That the said pretended claim against the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company is in fact a claim for money misappropriated by said Swepson when president of the plaintiffs, which claim was assumed by said Littlefield, and that in executing and delivering to the plaintiffs the said order for said bonds directed to these defendants, the said Littlefield was attempting to pay a private individual indebtedness of his own with the bonds of said company, which the said Woodfin at the time well knew.

And these defendants deny that they have sold the said eight hundred bonds, or any part of them, or received the proceeds thereof.

2240 And these defendants deny each and every allegation in the complaint contained not hereinbefore specifically admitted, denied or answered.

II. And for a second and separate answer and counter claim, the defendants show all the allegations, matters, and things which in their first answer hereto they have shown with the same effect as if the same was repeated verbatim in this second and separate answer, and further show,

That relying upon the said representations of the said Woodfin, and believing the same to be true, these defendants, on the 5th day of April, 1871, advanced and paid to the plaintiffs the sum of fifty-three thousand seven hundred and seventy-six dollars and sixty-six cents, by way of a loan upon the security of said bonds. No part of which has been paid.

Wherefore the defendants demand judgment:

2241 First. That the acceptance by the defendants of said order of said Littlefield, signed by him as president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company be declared to be void and of no effect, and that the same be delivered up and cancelled.

Second. That defendants have judgment against the plaintiffs for fifty-three thousand seven hundred and seventy-six dollars and sixty-six cents, with interest from said 5th of April, 1871, and costs.

SEWELL & PIERCE,
Def'ts' Att'ys.

City and County of New York, ss:

Sidney W. Hopkins, one of the defendants above named, being duly sworn, deposes and says, that the foregoing answer is true of his own knowledge, except as to those matters therein stated on information and belief, and as to those matters he believes it to be true.

Notary Public, New York County.

2242 Supreme court, city and county of New York.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company
against
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, FRANK H. COLLINS, and Robert J. Carpenter.

The reply of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, the plaintiffs in this action, to so much of the answer of the defendants therein as seeks to set up a counter-claim.

The said plaintiffs, by Algernon S. Sullivan, their attorney, deny that Nicholas W. Woodfin, named in said answer, at the time or times in that behalf mentioned in the said answer, or at any other time, made the representations alleged in the said answer to have been made by him; and they further deny that the order mentioned in said answer as having been presented by said Woodfin to said defendants, is correctly described in said answer.

2243 And said plaintiffs further replying say that prior to the tenth day of November, 1870, the said plaintiffs had a good and valid equitable lien upon the four thousand Florida State bonds mentioned in the said answer for a much larger sum than the entire value of eight hundred of said bonds, and that at the same time the said defendants by reason of certain contracts to which they were, parties in respect of said bonds and the proceeds thereof, and in other ways, had an interest in the settlement of said lien, and were very desirous of reducing the same to as low an amount as possible; and that accordingly, on or about the day last mentioned, a conditional settlement of the lien, rights and claims of the said plaintiffs in respect of the said four thousand bonds was made by an agreement between the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and one Milton S. Littlefield, the president thereof, therein named as parties of the first part, and 2243½ the plaintiffs herein named as parties of the second part, whereby it was among other things agreed by said parties of the first part, that eight hundred of the said bonds should be and the same were thereby sold absolutely to the said plaintiffs, and in pursuance thereof the order was delivered to said Woodfin the agent of said plaintiffs, and the same was thereupon duly accepted by said defendants.

And the said plaintiffs say that said last mentioned agreement was made with the full knowledge of said defendants, and in pursuance in part of their express wishes and request, and was entered into on the part of the plaintiffs upon the faith and in part in consideration that the said defendants would faithfully perform all the obligations which by the terms of said agreement would devolve upon them, which said defendants before the making of said agreement promised the said plaintiffs to do.

And the said plaintiffs further say that by the terms of said 2244 agreement the said parties of the first part had the privilege of designating out of the said four thousand bonds, the particular eight hundred which should pass to the plaintiffs under the agreement aforesaid, which said privilege the said parties of the first part, a few days after the day last mentioned, waived, of which waiver the said defendants had at the time thereof due notice; and the said plaintiffs say, that on or about the 16th day of November aforesaid, the said defendants duly accepted the said above mentioned order, but the said plaintiffs deny that they, the said defendants, accepted the same, or agreed with said Woodfin to hold said or any eight hundred of said Florida bonds, relying upon any representations of said Woodfin; on the contrary, the said plaintiffs allege that the said defendants accepted said order with full knowledge of the premises hereinbefore in this behalf stated, and because they were especially desirous that the agreement aforesaid should be made, and that the said Woodfin should be made to believe that the same would be carried out and performed in good faith, and the said plaintiffs, further replying, deny the allegations and each of them in said answer, that the plaintiffs had no valid claim 2245 against the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and that the said company never had the benefit of any moneys of the plaintiffs, and that said Littlefield had no authority whatever from the board of directors of said last mentioned company to transfer any of said bonds to the plaintiffs, or that the facts alleged in the said answer and herein denied, or any of them, were ever known to said Woodfin; and they deny that said Woodfin ever made any statement or representation whatever alleged in said answer to be false or fraudulent, or any representation whatever with any false or fraudulent intent, or with any intent to deceive said defendants, or to obtain from them the said eight hundred bonds or any of them, or the proceeds thereof, or any thereof.

And said plaintiffs further deny that their claim in respect of any of the said four thousand bonds was a claim merely for money misappropriated by George W. Swepson, named in said answers, or that the said Littlefield, in the executing or delivering the said order directed to the said defendants for said eight hundred bonds was attempt-2246 ing to pay a mere private individual indebtedness of his own with the bonds of said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

And the said plaintiffs, further replying, deny the allegations and each of them, contained in that part of said answer beginning with the words "That relying," in the twelfth folio thereof, and ending with the words "has been paid" in the same folio.

ALGERNON S. SULLIVAN,

CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss:

W. W. Rollins, being duly sworn, deposes and says, that he is president of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, the plaintiffs named in the foregoing reply, and that he has heard the said reply read, and knows the contents thereof, and that the same is true of his own knowledge, except as to the matters therein stated on information and belief, and as to those matters he believes it to be true.

W. W. ROLLINS.

Sworn to before me this 19th day of July, 1871.

GEORGE S. McKAY,
Notary Public, N. Y. County.

2247 Supreme court, city and county of New York.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company, plaintiffs,
ag'st
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, FRANK A. COLLINS, AND Robert J. Carpenter, Aaron Barnett, Curtis Woodruff, Jeremiah P. Robinson, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, defendants.

The supplemental complaint of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, against Sidney W. Hopkins and the other defendants above named.

The said plaintiffs, by Algernon S. Sullivan, their attorney, respectfully show to this court, that on or about the 19th day of June, in the year 1871, they made and served their original complaint and brought an action in this court against the defendants above named, Sidney W. Hopkins, Frank H. Collins, and Robert J. Carpenter, and that a copy of their said original complaint is annexed hereto and made a 2248 part of their supplemental complaint, and is marked A.

And said plaintiffs further show that at the time of the bringing of the said action said plaintiffs procured from a judge of this court upon the said original bill and the affidavit of Nicholas W. Woodfin and William W. Rollins, an order of arrest directing the sheriff of the city and county of New York to hold the said three last named defendants to bail in the sum of three hundred thousand dollars, and also an injunction order enjoining and restraining the said three last named defendants from parting with the proceeds or any of the proceeds, of any of the eight hundred bonds mentioned in said original complaint, which had been sold or disposed of by said three last-named defendants, and also from parting with any of the said eight hundred bonds which had not been sold by them.

And the said plaintiffs further shows that the said Sidney W. Hopkins, having been duly served with the summons and complaint in said action, and also with the said injunction, he afterwards gave bail, 2249 and the said three last-named defendants duly appeared in said action and put in their joint answer to said original complaint, by which said answer the said three last-named defendants not denying that the said eight hundred bonds were transferred and assigned to the plaintiffs, as alleged in said original complaint, nor denying that they thereupon acknowledged to the plaintiffs in writing that they hold the same for sale as the agents of the plaintiffs, but denying that they had sold the greater part or any of said eight hundred bonds, and denying that they had received four hundred thousand dollars in gold coin on account thereof, pretended by way of defence to said original action, that they had been led to give the said written acknowledgment in consequence of pretended fraudulent representations, and further pretended that the said eight hundred bonds were really the property of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, one of the defendants above named.

And the said plaintiffs further allege that more than twenty days have elapsed since the service of the said answer, and that testi-2250 mony has been taken in said action.

And the said plaintiffs further show that they have lately, and since the bringing of their said action, discovered, as the fact is, that the said defendants, Hopkins, Collins and Carpenter, composing the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Company did, after the bringing of said action as aforesaid, and the making of the aforesaid complaint, purchase in the city of New York, a large amount, to wit: two thousand tons and upwards of iron rails or bars for the laying of railroad track, and that they paid for the same, as the plaintiffs are informed and believe, with the proceeds of a part of the four thousand Florida State bonds mentioned in the complaint, and that as the plaintiffs have discovered, with certainty, since the 18th day of August, 1871, of the said four thousand bonds they, the said S. W. Hopkins & Company have sold and disposed of twenty-eight hundred, of which two thousand, at least, were so sold and disposed of by them prior to the bringing of this action, and that they have received for all the bonds so sold not less than one million five hundred thousand dollars.

2251 And the said plaintiffs further show that at the time the said eight hundred bonds were assigned and transferred to the plaintiffs, as alleged in the said original complaint, there was not, nor was there at any time thereafter, any setting apart or designation of said particular eight hundred bonds.

And the said plaintiffs further allege that they have discovered, within a few days past, and the fact is, as they are informed and believe, that the said S. W. Hopkins & Company, at the time of the purchase by them of the said iron rails or bars aforesaid, purchased the same in order to send them to the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and as a fulfillment, in part, of an obligation on their part, under an agreement between them and said last mentioned railroad company respecting the sale of said four thousand bonds, and the disposition of the proceeds thereof, and that soon after such purchase they, the said S. W. Hopkins & Company, made a contract for the shipment of all the said two thousand tons of iron rails or bars to Jacksonville, in the State of Florida, for the said last mentioned railroad com-2252,3 pany, and proceeded to ship, and have already shipped to Jacksonville aforesaid, a large amount of said iron.

And said plaintiffs further show that the agreement mentioned in the complaint, under which the said eight hundred bonds aforesaid were signed and transferred to the plaintiffs, was an agreement to which the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company was a party, and that the same was made for the purpose of satisfying prior obligations of a larger amount on the part of said railroad company to these plaintiffs, and they say that by reason thereof, and of the facts set forth in the original complaint and in this supplemental complaint, these plaintiffs have, as they are advised and believe, a priority over the said last mentioned railroad company, and the right to receive the proceeds of the said four thousand bonds, to the extent of eight hundred thereof, before the said railroad company receive any of such proceeds, but that at all events they have the right to share in the proceeds of the sale of the said bonds, as the same are and have been sold to the extent 2254 of their interest therein, and they say, that as they are informed and believe, the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company has already received from the proceeds of the sales of said four thousand bonds very large sums of money, so that if any accounting were had in respect of the said railroad iron, the said plaintiffs would be found to be entitled to the whole thereof, even without giving them the benefit of said priority.

And the said plaintiffs further allege that the said railroad iron, or all of the same which remains unshipped, is now in possession of the defendants Curtis Woodruff and Jeremiah P. Robinson, who are storekeepers, under the firm of Woodruff & Robinson.

And said plaintiffs further allege that the defendant Aaron Barnett claims to have purchased the said railroad iron from said S. W. Hopkins & Company on or about the eighth day of August, 1871, but they say that the said Barnett is a director of the said last-mentioned railroad company, and has at all times had due notice and knowledge of the rights of the plaintiffs in the premises, and that his claim is fraudulently set 2255 forth by him in collusion with said S. W. Hopkins & Company and with said last-mentioned railroad company, in order to defeat the rights of the plaintiffs and others.

And the said plaintiffs further show that said S. W. Hopkins & Company have in their hands, as plaintiffs are informed and believe, a very large amount of the proceeds of the sales of said four thousand bonds, which belong to these plaintiffs and to other parties interested therein, and that they intend to conceal and fraudulently retain such proceeds to their own use, and that to that end the defendants Sidney W. Hopkins and Robert J. Carpenter are keeping themselves out of the reach of process of law in this State, by absenting themselves therefrom at times, and other times lurking and concealing themselves therein, and that, as plaintiffs believe and are advised, their principal, if not their only means of securing their rights in the premises, is to invoke the equitable interposition of this court in respect to the proceeds of said bonds, in whatever form the same may be found.

And the plaintiffs further say that the said Jacksonville, Pen-2256 sacola and Mobile Railroad Company are a corporate body, created by and existing under the laws of the State of Florida.

Wherefore, the said plaintiffs demand judgment that this complaint be allowed as supplemental to the said original complaint, and that it be adjudged that the whole of the said railroad iron is in equity the property of the said plaintiffs by virtue of their right of priority as hereinbefore mentioned, or if not this relief then that an accounting be had between said last-mentioned railroad company and the plaintiffs in respect to the proceeds of the sales of said bonds, to the end that it be ascertained how much of the proceeds of the same, represented by the said iron, belong to the plaintiffs and how much to the said last mentioned railroad company, and that the said iron be sold and the proceeds thereof be distributed according to the result of such accounting, and that in the meantime any removal or disposition of said iron be prevented by an injunction order, and that a receiver thereof be appointed with the usual powers, and that the plaintiffs have such further or such other relief as may be just, with their costs.

ALGERNON S. SULLIVAN,
Plaintiff's Attorney.

2257 CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss:

Nicholas W. Woodfin, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is a resident of the State of North Carolina, and that he is charged by the plaintiffs in the foregoing entitled action with the duty of attending to the bringing and prosecution of the original action mentioned in the foregoing supplemental complaint and of this supplemental action.

Deponent further says that he has read the foregoing supplemental complaint, and knows the contents thereof, and that the same is true of his own knowledge, except as to the matters therein stated on information and belief, and as to those matters he believes it to be true.

N. W. WOODFIN.

Sworn to before me this 21st day of August, 1871.

GEORGE A. BLACK,
Com'r of Deeds, N. Y. City.

Supreme court, city and county of New York.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company
ag'st
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS AND OTHERS.

CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss:

Nicholas W. Woodfin, being duly sworn, deposes and says, that he is a citizen and resident of North Carolina, and has been by the legislature of that State and by the plaintiffs above named charged with the duty of seeking to recover for said plaintiffs very large sums of money belonging to said plaintiffs which has been wrongfully misappropriated, and that he has been actively engaged for the greater part of the time during a year past in endeavors to recover such moneys, and in the course of such endeavors has attended to the bringing and prosecution of the action mentioned in the supplemental complaint, to which this affidavit is annexed, and he further says that, as was his duty, he has made himself very familiar with the matters stated and set forth 2259 in the original complaint mentioned in said supplemental complaint, as well as those set forth in said supplemental complaint, and that a large part of said matters are within his personal knowledge, and are true to his personal knowledge, and that all the rest of such matters are, as he verily believes, true.

And this deponent further says, that at the time of the bringing of the original action mentioned in said supplemental complaint, the defendant Sidney W. Hopkins was arrested and held to bail by the order of one of the judges of this court in the sum of three hundred thousand dollars, and an order to show cause was granted on the said original complaint and the affidavits of William W. Rollins and this deponent, of which the affidavit of this deponent was the principal and most material one, why the defendants in the said original action should not be restrained from parting with the proceeds of the eight hundred bonds mentioned in said complaints received by them, and with such of said eight hundred bonds as remained undisposed of, with an interim injunction order. That said last mentioned defendant moved to 2260 vacate said order of arrest, and said motion to vacate, as well as the motion for an injunction, have been argued with great fullness before Mr. Justice Cardoza, who has not as yet rendered his decision thereon.

And said deponent further says, that on the argument of said motion the said defendants last mentioned not having then put in their answer, did not deny by their affidavits or otherwise the allegations of the plaintiffs that they had sold the greater part of said eight hundred bonds, and received as the proceeds of such sales the sum at least of four hundred thousand dollars in gold coin, but put their cause upon the pretence that the written acknowledgment mentioned in said original complaint that they held eight hundred bonds as the agents of the plaintiffs, was obtained from them upon certain statements made by this deponent, which statements they alleged were untrue, although they did not presume to charge deponent with any fraud or deceit in the making of them; and upon the further pretence that the said eight hun- 2261 dred bonds were in fact originally the property of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a Florida corporation, and that the transfer and assignment thereof to the plaintiffs was without the authority of said company, but as these pretences would not of themselves be sufficient to defend them, the said defendants, against their written acknowledgment aforesaid, they, said defendants, collusively procured, as deponent has the best information and reasons for believing, a pretended action to be brought against themselves and said plaintiffs by the said Florida corporation, for the pretended purpose of setting up the claim of said Florida corporation to said eight hundred bonds and the proceeds thereof, and of enjoining said defendants from parting with the same.

And deponent further says, that Sidney W. Hopkins, one of said defendants in said original action, was arrested a few days before the 28th day of June, 1871, under the order of arrest aforesaid, and that his affidavit on which he moved to vacate his order set forth the 2262 bringing of said pretended action, and that said last mentioned affidavit and the complaint in said pretended action against himself were both sworn to on the same 28th day of June, and before the same notary public, the said complaint being verified by Aaron Barnett, one of the defendants herein, and the summons in said pretended action was dated the same day, and the attorneys of record for said Florida corporation in said pretended action were the counsel for the said Sidney W. Hopkins and the other defendants in said original action, who prepared the affidavit aforesaid of said Hopkins.

And deponent further says, that in said pretended action notice of motion was given for an injunction restraining the defendants therein, the said Hopkins and his copartners Collins and Carpenter, composing the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Company, from parting with said bonds and their proceeds, and also restraining the plaintiffs in said original action from prosecuting the same against the said S. W. Hopkins 2263 & Company, and such motion was argued at the same time with the other motions hereinbefore mentioned, and that on such argument the same counsel appeared and argued for the said S. W. Hopkins & Company and the said Florida corporation.

And deponent further says, that after the argument of said motions said S. W. Hopkins & Company put in their joint answer to the said original action of the plaintiff, but that in such answer they made no pretense, by way of defence, that the said Florida corporation made the claim and brought the pretended action aforesaid.

And deponent further says, that after the said original action of the plaintiff was at issue, and on or about the 20th of July last, he gained information which led him to believe that the said S. W. Hopkins & Company had purchased the railroad iron mentioned in said supplemental complaint, and that they designed the same for said Florida Railroad Corporation, and they had made such purchase with part of the proceeds of the four thousand bonds mentioned in said supplemental complaint, but such information was not sufficient to enable 2264 him to act thereon. but he says that shortly thereafter the firm of L. P. Bayne & Company, of the city of New York, creditors of the said Florida Corporation, caused the said iron to be attached, as being the property of said corporation. Whereupon said S. W. Hopkins & Company claimed the same, which claim was tried on or about the 7th day of August, 1871, before the sheriff of Kings County and a jury, and the title found in said S. W. Hopkins & Company; that said L. P. Bayne & Company thereupon indemnified the said sheriff, who had executed the attachment, and thereupon Aaron Barnett, one of the defendants herein, who is one of the directors of said Florida Corporation, and the same person who verified the complaint in the pretended action aforesaid, appeared and made another claim in his own name to said property, pretending to have purchased the same, and that upon the trial of the claim last mentioned, before the same sheriff and a jury, the 19th day of August, the said Barnett produced a pretended 2265 receipted invoice of the said iron from said S. W. Hopkins & Company to himself, dated the 17th day of July last, and certain orders for the delivery of said iron to him, dated the 8th day of said August, but he did not pretend that he had taken possession of said iron until after the trial of the claim first aforesaid, nor would he undertake to swear, although pressed upon this point, that said invoice was received by him before said 7th of August, but stated that he did not know when he received it.

Deponent further says, that he has, within a few days last past, learned from one Mr. Gleason, late lieut. governor of Florida, who is one of a committee constituted by said Florida Corporation for the purpose, among other things, of attending to its financial concerns with S. W. Hopkins & Company, that said firm, prior to the month of July last, made out an account and statement of the disposition made by them of said four thousand bonds, and the proceeds thereof, and delivered the same to said corporation, and that it appears by the same that said S. 2266 W. Hopkins & Company had, prior to the third of June, 1870, out of the proceeds of the said four thousand bonds, and said S. W. Hopkins & Company so claim, paid over to or for said Florida Corporation the sum of nine hundred and five thousand one hundred and nineteen 77-100 dollars, without including the sum paid for said railroad iron, and that after the purchase of said railroad iron the said S. W. Hopkins & Company charged the same on the foot of said account or statement to said Florida Corporation, at the sum of $150,000.

And deponent further says that, as he is informed by said Gleason and verily believes, the said account or statement, with the last-mentioned charge thereon, was in the possession of said Barnett prior to the 17th day of July last.

Deponent further says that the testimony of John Collinson has been taken in said original action de bene esse, and that in such testimony he stated that he was the party who had agreed to buy the said 2267 four thousand bonds of said S. W. Hopkins & Company, and that he had paid the said firm on account thereof in full for 2,800 of the same, at the rate of one hundred and thirty-eight pounds sterling for each bond, less a deduction of the amount of three coupons for each bond, each of said coupons being four per cent., and the bonds being each for $1,000 in gold.

Deponent further says that said iron will, as he is informed and believes, be shipped to Florida in a very few days, unless such removal is enjoined by this court. And this deponent further says that, as he verily believes, the said plaintiffs will not be able, by any judgment and execution against the defendants, Hopkins, Collins, and Carpenter, personally to recover the amount of the proceeds of the sale of said Florida bonds which belong to the said plaintiffs, and that the interposition of the equitable powers of this court is absolutely necessary in order to prevent an irreparable injury to the rights of the plaintiffs.

2268 Injunction by order.

Supreme court, city and county of New York.

THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company, plaintiffs,
against
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, FRANK A. COLLINS, ROBERT J. Carpenter, Aaron Barnett, Curtis Woodruff, Jeremiah P. Robinson, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, defendants.

It appearing satisfactorily to me by the affidavit of Nicholas W. Woodfin, and the verified supplemental complaint, that sufficient grounds for an order of injunction exist, I do hereby order that the defendants in the above-entitled action show cause before me at the chambers of the judges of the supreme court, in the city hall, in the city of New York, on the first Thursday of September, 1871, at 10½ o'clock a. m., why an order should not be made restraining the defendants, Aaron 2269 Barnett, Curtis Woodruff, Jeremiah P. Robinson, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and each of them, from selling, removing, or in any manner disposing of or interfering with the railroad iron, or any part thereof, consisting of iron rails, bars, &c., now in the custody of Woodruff & Robinson, storekeepers in Brooklyn, and now or lately held by them on account of or subject to the order of Aaron Barnett, or Barnett & Company, and why a receiver should not be appointed thereof, &c.

And in the meantime, and until the hearing and decision on the motion, I hereby order that the said last above named defendants, and each of them, and their and each of their officers, agents, servants, or clerks do absolutely refrain from selling, removing, or in any manner disposing of or interfering with the said railroad iron, or any part thereof, and from aiding or assisting in any removal of or interference with the same or any part thereof, until the further order of this court; and in 2270 case of disobedience to this order, you will be liable to the punishment therefor prescribed by law.

SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, FRANK H. COLLINS, AND Robert J. Carpenter, impleaded.

The answer of the above-named defendants to the supplemental complaint of the plaintiffs, by Sewell & Pierce, their attorneys, shows:

First. That the defendants herein answer as before they have answered to the complaint in this action, and make their said answer a part of this their supplemental answer, and ask that the same be taken to be a part hereof, with the same force and effect as if the con- 2271 tents thereof were herein repeated verbatim; and they also refer to said answer as to what they admitted and what they denied of the allegations in the complaint.

Second. The defendants deny that after the bringing of this action, which was brought on or about the 21st day of June, 1871, they purchased two thousand tons of iron, as set up in the supplemental complaint, but allege that they purchased the same before the commencement of this action, in the regular course of their business, and that the said iron was the property of these defendants, and say that said iron or a part of it was purchased with the intent that the same should be sold by them to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company; and they deny that after such purchase they made a contract with the said company for the shipment of said iron.

And defendants admit that they have sold 2,800 of the 4,000 bonds mentioned in the complaint, and have received a large amount of 2272 money therefor, to wit, the sum of $997,920, after deducting the commissions and allowances to which they were entitled, which they have duly credited said railroad company in account, and a large part of said sum had been advanced by the defendants before the sale of said bonds.

Third. And defendants show that after crediting said company with the said sum, the said company is indebted to defendants to a large amount, to wit, in the sum of several hundred thousand dollars, including obligations of these defendants for said company.

Fourth. And defendants say that the proceeds of said bonds were paid into the office of these defendants in London, at divers different times, and that during the period of time covered by such payments, divers other large sum of money were paid into their said London office, the proceeds of other and different business, and that all the moneys so received were mingled together, and that remittances were made by the London office to the New York house from time to 2273 time in round amounts, without any reference to a specification of the sources from which the same were derived, and such remittances went into the general funds of the New York house; and said iron, as well as other iron, was paid for, and other payments were made from the said general funds, and the proceeds of the sale of said bonds were not kept separately; wherefore the defendants deny that the iron in the complaint mentioned was purchased with the proceeds or a part of the proceeds of said bonds.

Fifth. And defendants deny that the assignment or transfer of the said 800 bonds to the plaintiffs was made to satisfy prior or other obligations of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company to the plaintiffs, but, as defendants are informed and believe, was unlawfully made for the purpose of satisfying an obligation of Milton S. Littlefield to the plaintiffs, and for which said company were not liable. 2274

Sixth. And defendants deny that they have any of the proceeds of said 4,000 bonds, or of any of them, on their hands, and deny that they intended to conceal or fraudulently retain the same, or any part thereof, to their own use, and deny that Hopkins or Carpenter are keeping themselves absent from the State, or lurking or concealing themselves therein; but, on the contrary hereof, allege that all of said defendants are pursuing the ordinary business of their mercantile establishment, and that the defendant Hopkins has at all times since the commencement of this action been daily in his office in the city of New York, excepting for a short period in the month of August, when his business required his presence in a Western State, and that his absence at that time was only for about ten days.

Wherefore the defendants do pray that the complaint and supplemental complaint may be dismissed with costs.

J. FRED. SCHUTTE ET AL.
vs.
THE FLORIDA CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY et al.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., February 8th, 1871.

Messrs. HOLJE BOISSEVAIN,
Bankers, Amsterdam, Holland:

GENTLEMEN: On December 18th, 1870, Governor Harrison Reed, of Florida, received a telegraphic dispatch from you substantially as follows:

"Being negotiating four million bonds issued by your State, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad beg to know by telegraph from you whether provision made for payment interest, whatever result railroad traffic. Financial position of State really sound and bonds undoubted security."

To this dispatch Governor Reed replied as follows:

"Bonds recently recalled by the company; no provision will therefore be made for interest."

2283 It was hoped that Governor Reed's telegram would have the effect of causing the bonds to be returned, as the railroad companies desired they should be. This has not been done, but on the contrary more bonds than were then out have been sent to Europe for negotiation, though no money I infer has yet been realized. I feel it to be my duty, therefore, to make a statement of facts to you which I hope that you will lay before others who may be interested with you in the negotiations.

When the legislature of Florida enacted the laws under which the bonds your telegram inquired about were issued, it was believed by the two railroad companies hereafter named that the proceeds of the State bonds when sold would be honestly and legitimately applied to the extension through the western portion of this State of the lines of railroad already built from the eastern to the middle portion. That extension was so much desired by the two companies owning the completed railroads that they were willing to mortgage, and did mortgage, their roads to the State, in order to secure the issuing of State bonds upon which to raise money to enable the newly organized company to build said extension. The railroads which so pledged their mortgage bonds to the State were the Florida Central Railroad, sixty miles long, and the Tallahassee Railroad, one hundred and fifty miles long. The former gave its mortgage bonds to the amount of one million dollars; the latter to the amount of three million dollars; and this latter road consolidated its line with that proposed to be built westward from the completed road, and the two companies became one, under the name of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company. But the Florida Central Railroad, commencing at Jacksonville, and running westward sixty miles, was not included in the consolidation. Subsequently, and after three million of the State bonds had been sent to Europe, it was discovered that the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, who had been active in procuring the legislation, and inducing the completed roads to give to the State their bonds in exchange for the State's bonds which were issued to him, had made, even before he got the bonds, secret contracts with some of his creditors, by which the larger portion of the proceeds were to be diverted from the purposes for which the bonds were issued, and were to be applied in payment of individual debts. This produced such dissatisfaction, and caused such investigations by the companies which had mortgaged their roads to the State, as resulted in both of the companies, through their several directories, rescinding the action by which their roads were mortgaged, and recalling the bonds. The million of bonds issued by the State, on the security of a like amount pledged to the State by the Florida Central Railroad, had not then gone into the hands of the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, but were held by a party till certain conditions precedent were performed, before delivery to the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad. That million of bonds then were returned to the State, and the bonds of the company, upon the security of which the others were issued, were withdrawn from deposit with the State, and were in the hands of the party already referred to, to be returned to the company for cancellation, when they were by that party, without the authority or knowledge of the railroad company, or of any 2284 of its officers, and in violation of the company's resolutions of recall and rescission, delivered to an agent of the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad, who by influences best known to himself effected with the governor of the State their re-exchange for the State bonds, which latter were hurriedly and secretly sent out of the State and to Europe before any legal process could be obtained for their detention This redelivery to the governor of Florida of the Florida Central Railroad Company's million of bonds is a gross fraud on that company, and none who are advised of it, and buy or advance money on the State's bonds, for which they were exchanged, will have any legal or moral right to ask that they receive any benefit or advantage from the security so wrongfully obtained.

The same may be said of the three million of State's bonds issued on the pledge of the same amount of bonds of the Tallahassee or Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad. No one who, having notice of that company's rescission of its action and recall of its bonds, advances money on, or buys the State's bonds for which the others were pledged, will have legally, or morally, any locus standi in curia as against that railroad company. The creditors and stockholders of the railroad companies will assert their right, resist the wrongs that have been perpetrated and attempted, and seek, successfully, redress in the judicial tribunals. You have had the above mentioned action of the railroad companies brought to your notice by the telegram from Governor Reed, who sent it after consulting with the said companies, and at their instance, and you have incurred all the legal disqualifications to urge against the railroad companies any claim based on their supposed suretyship for any bonds of the State.

An examination of the law under which the State's bonds were issued discloses that the governor has caused half a million more of bonds to be issued than the law provides for. The law allows the issue of $16,000 per mile upon so much of said roads as may be completed and in running order; only 210 miles were, when the bonds were issued, completed, and only a mile and a half have been completed since, and no more is being completed. This would allow of an issue at the time it was made of only $3,360,000. Add the liberal allowance of ten miles for side tracks, &c., if such unreasonable construction of the law be claimed, and it legalizes only $3,520,000 of the bonds.

To secure the principal and interest of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company's bonds, (but not of the bonds of the Florida Central Railroad,) the law gives the State of Florida a statutory lien, valid as a first-mortgage, on that company's road and property, and authorizes the governor, on failure of the company in any payment of principal or interest, to seize and sell the road at auction, and authorizes the State to purchase and to pay for it with any evidence of indebtedness the State may hold against the road, while every other bidder would, in case of purchase, have to pay cash. This summary process is not applicable to the Florida Central Railroad; but to the other road only. What would be the result in case of failure of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad to pay principal or interest on its bonds? The State, if no resistance, or if unsuccessful resistance 2285 through the courts were had, might seize, sell, and buy, paying for the purchase with the road's obligations, while the State might not, perhaps could not, or would not, pay her own; nor is there any way known to our system of government by which a State can be compelled to pay its obligations. You will thus perceive the character of the securities offered you, and the taints of fraud that affected them from their first issue, and that still do, and will act advisedly. This communication is made in the interests of the stockholders of the companies whose bonds have, by misrepresentation and bad faith, been obtained and exchanged with the State of Florida for the State's bonds, which you have been, and may still be, negotiating for. The stockholders do not intend to submit to the fraud which has been attempted on them. They seek to have the State's bonds brought back, and a re-exchange effected, and it is to that end that this letter is written. Such a course will prevent litigation. Persistence in the wrong will insure it. Attempts may be made to give credit to the bonds by professional and perhaps by judicial opinions from this State, but the facts that I state are incontestable, and I can give you much more and more detailed information concerning the worthlessness of the securities that you are negotiating for, and I will do so if desired. But I have said enough to make discreet men repudiate the securities and abandon negotiations.

I will say further, that since the mortgage of the railroads to the State, 128 miles of the completed road, being all except twenty-two miles on which the State has any statutory lien, have been sold by the United States under a judicial process in their favor, issued from a United States court; thus divesting the company's title, and vesting it in the individual purchaser. That sale of course relieves that much of the road of the lien created in favor of the State of Florida by the mortgage before mentioned. You are at liberty to show this letter to whom you please, and to give it the widest publicity, and will oblige me by acknowledging its receipt. I will presume on a very slight acquaintance to refer you, touching myself, to Hon. H. S. Sanford (late U. S. minister to Belgium), at Brussels.

Respectfully,

E. M. L'ENGLE,

Of Counsel for the Florida Central Railroad Company.

J. FRED. SCHUTTE ET AL.
vs.
THE FLORIDA CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY et al.

Florida State bonds.

TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA, June, 1871.

To Chairman States and Corpor'tions Arrears Committee, 193, 194, 195, Gresham House, London:

SIR: It is understood here that General M. S. Littlefield, the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a corporation existing under the laws of Florida, Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., financial agents and representatives of the corporation, and perhaps others in the same interest, are endeavoring, with a prospect of success, to negotiate a sale of a very large number of bonds of the State of Florida, issued under the provisions of the act of the legislature of this State, entitled "An act to perfect the public works of the State," and subsequent acts amending the act named.

It is only fair that capitalists who have been induced to think favorably of these State bonds as an investment should be informed as to the character of the securities in which they are about to embark their means, and the purpose of this letter is to place you, and through you others concerned, in possession of such facts connected with the history of these bonds, and the law under which they were issued, as it may be to their interest to know.

2287 The Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, and the Tallahassee Railroad Company, were railroad corporations existing under the laws of this State. These corporations having availed themselves of the benefits of the act of the legislature of this State, commonly called the internal improvement act, approved January 6th, 1855, and having failed afterwards to comply with its requirements, by payments of the semi-annual interest and sinking fund due upon the debt contracted on account of the first-mortgage bonds issued by the companies under the provisions of the said act, these road-beds, property, and franchises were, in accordance with the requirements of the said act, taken possession of by the trustees of the internal improvement fund and sold, after due advertisement, to the highest bidder, on the day of , 1869. This sale was, in one essential feature, a fraud.

The law permitted that the trustees sell either for cash or for additional approved security, as they might think of most advantage to the fund and the first-mortgage bondholders, to satisfy whose claim the sale was made. In this case the trustees elected to sell for cash, and so advertised to the world up to the moment of sale. And the sale purported to be a cash sale. In point of fact, however, the purchasers did not pay cash, but only made partial payment by a surrender to the trustees of about $1,000,000 of the first mortgage bonds. The entire first-mortgage debt of the two companies was about $1,473,000, and this payment of $1,000,000 in the bonds left a balance due upon the price bid which was in amount equal to the entire bonded debt, of about $473,000, which amount on payment would have been at once applicable to take up and pay off the balance of bonds outstanding, about $473,000 in amount. The trustees, however, delivered possession of the railroad property to the purchasers upon this partial compliance by them with the terms (cash) of the sale. This indebtedness, which has never been paid except in small part (there being still about $300,000 of first-mortgage bonds outstanding and unsatisfied), has a legal priority, and has been always so recognized by the parties now in possession, through this purchase, as a first lien, anterior to all others now existing, or that may be created upon the property and franchise of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company (formerly, as will appear hereafter, the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies). The parties in possession of the property have constantly promised payment, and doubtless have induced persons abroad to believe that they have already paid off this debt. After the sale of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads, referred to above, the parties in possession, through this incomplete sale, procured the passage by the legislature of several acts for their benefit, and first among them of the "Act to perfect the public works of the State," approved June 24th, 1869. This act consolidated the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, and incorporated the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and authorized aid to be given by the State of Florida to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by the issue to the company of bonds of the State to the amount of $14,000 per mile. The act, however, provided that the State, as a condition precedent to the issue of its bonds, should be made secure by a lien to be taken by the State upon the property and franchise of the corporation for whose benefit this aid 2288 was to be given. This was a condition fixed by the act, and with this provision it passed the legislature; and when, some time after the act had passed, it appeared that by its fraudulent enrollment the provisions securing the State had been omitted, and that a forged law had been filed in the office of the Secretary of State, and officially published as a law of the State, certain citizens of the State, property-holders and tax-payers, filed their bill on the chancery side of the circuit court of Leon County, second judicial circuit of Florida, praying for an order of injunction against Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, and against S. B. Conover, treasurer of the State, and for an order of the court against these officers, to restrain and enjoin them from signing, countersigning, or delivering the bonds authorized by this fraudulent law, and from doing any acts whatever under the pretended act, upon the ground of the forgery and fraud practiced, in omitting from the enrolled bill the clause which required a security to the State in the issue of its bonds by a mortgage upon the railroad property and franchise. You will readily perceive, in view of the fact that the balance of $473,000 first mortgage debt referred to was unpaid, that the purpose in this fraud was to relieve the railroad company of the necessity of paying off its existing incumbrances before getting the benefit of the funds to be raised on the State bonds.

The court acted favorably and at once upon this application, and granted, without hesitation, the injunction prayed for; and so patent was the fraud that no answer was ever made to the bill, and no effort was ever made to dissolve the injunction. So matters rested until the next convening of that great and good body of law-givers—the Florida legislature. This next legislature, which assembled on the   day of   , 1870, passed an act to alter and amend the aforesaid act, which last act validified and made of force the "Act to perfect the public works of the State," which had been enjoined, except as amended and modified by the last law. Under these two acts Messrs. Littlefield and associates, parties in present possession of the railroad property, are now endeavoring to raise money upon State bonds. These acts authorized the aid to be given to the corporation, but required, as a condition precedent to the granting this aid, and the delivery of the State bonds, that the State be made secure by a lien, to be taken in the manner pointed out by the acts, on the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad property and franchise, and of course that corporation could not be in a condition to comply with the requirement and give this lien until incumberances, already existing and resting on the property, should be removed by payment of the outstanding first-mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies.

That the statement as to this liability is correct there is not the least doubt, and in order to show you that it is admitted to be correct, I refer you to the annexed copy of a letter addressed by me to Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida, to whom it was entrusted under the law to see that the State was protected before the delivery of its bonds, and his reply endorsed. In both the letter and the pledge endorsed in reply, the position is taken that the unpaid first-mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, outstanding, constitute a first-lien upon the railroad 2289 property and franchise, and that no issue of the State bonds could or would be made until these lien incumberances, resting upon the property, should be removed by payment and satisfaction of the first-mortgage bonds outstanding, after which the company would acquire the power to mortgage unincumbered property to the State. Notwithstanding these admitted opinions of Governor Reed, this solemn written pledge, and his full knowledge that this first-mortgage bonded indebtedness outstanding against the railroad was unpaid, after quieting the apprehensions of the holders of the unpaid first-mortgage railroad bonds by this pledge, he signed, at a time when he had lulled suspicion, and delivered the State bonds, thus imposing upon the State a security which he knew to be imperfect. Can you suppose that a vast indebtedness, placed upon a people already insolvent under these circumstances, will ever be paid?

The principal security which those who may invest in the bonds of this State will have, must be that security which has been given to the State. The principal security for any investment to be made in railroad securities of this State must be the road-bed and franchise. In the light of the past and present history of this State, you cannot rely either upon its willingness or ability to pay a security of the character of these bonds when all the benefits result to stockholders in the corporation. In this case, the chief security being incumbered by prior mortgages, it is clearly the interest of the purchaser of the State bonds see that such an amount of the money paid as may be necessary be applied to the discharge of this prior indebtedness. The bonds representing this prior incumbrance may be purchased at reasonable rates, but they will not be sacrificed by the holders. In the mean time suit has been instituted, and is now pending in the United States circuit court for the district of Florida, for the purpose of subjecting the railroad property to sale, unless the original first-mortgage debt outstanding be paid up. You may have been advised that the purchaser of the State bonds will have nothing to do with the corporation, and may look entirely to the State; but a very little reflection must show the error into which this view may lead those who may purchase the State bonds. It is true, a bond of this character is a State bond, and imports a State liability; but the law makes no specific provisions by which the holder of the bond can collect either the principal or interest from the State, and in the absence of such a provision any intelligent lawyer will advise you that the bondholder has no remedy in the courts by which principal or interest can be collected by judicial process from the people or out of their property. And even if such provision existed as a part of the law, it could not be enforced in a case where the bonds have been issued by means of a fraud upon that requirement of it which stipulates that the State should have been made secure by a good lien on unincumbered property as a precedent condition.

The sole reliance, then, of a holder of State bonds must be the good faith of the State, and that good faith under all the circumstances connected with the issue of these bonds will not be measured by the letter of the contract, but will be fixed entirely by the value of the security which the corporation has placed in the hands of the State, to indemnify it against loss, and that security should be the road-bed and franchise of the road itself, unsaddled by anterior laws.

I especially direct attention, in connection with this consideration 2290 of the State's security, to the provisions of section 13 of the "Act to perfect the public works of the State," which gives to the railroad company the privilege of paying off and discharging the lien taken by the State, at any time before maturity of the debt, in the State's own paper, now immensely depreciated by reason of the great quantity issued during the past few years beyond its capacity to pay. It is very evident, and ought to be patent to every one who will be at the pains to examine this provision, that it is to the interest of the railroad company to depreciate all the paper of the State—to depreciate the very bonds they are now selling, and the moment the bonds shall be sold, Littl'field and associates will become the enemies of the holders; for their interest will clearly be to buy up the paper of the State—these very bonds will answer as good a purpose as any other, and thus relieve their mortgage to the State, and the result will be that the purchasers will be left looking to the State, when the security of the State is gone. Littlefield to-day can force $500,000 of State bonds upon the market and buy them at 25 cents, and can with them destroy the State security to the extent of a half million. You may rest assured that to that extent the people will think your bonds should be retired also. You must perceive that it would be great folly to make any investment in the State bonds, unless those investing shall secure an application of a sufficient amount of the money paid to a settlement of the incumbrances existing on the railroad property on account of the original first-mortgage bonded debt now outstanding.

But even after this shall have been done, it concerns the interest of capitalists to reflect upon the following facts, additional to those already set forth:

1. The people of Florida have not the ability to pay this debt.

2. The legislature which passed the acts referred to did not, to any extent, represent the tax-payers and property-holders of the State, and the legislature which fixed this indebtedness upon the State was notoriously corrupt, and in the interest of a few railroad speculators, not identified even by citizenship with the people of Florida; and these men manipulated the votes of the legislators by corruption so open and flagrant that there are at this time indictments pending in the circuit court of Leon County against several of the legislators for receiving, and against General Littlefield for paying, bribes to secure the passage of the very acts under the provisions of which these State bonds were issued.

3. The whole series of acts, both in and out of the legislature, including and beginning with the sale of railroads referred to in the first part of this communication, connected with the issue of these State bonds, has been dishonest, flagrantly corrupt, and going solely to aggrandize Littlefield, Hopkins, and a few others, their co-schemers and confederates; and it cannot be matter of surprise that the entire property-holding and tax-paying part of the people of Florida are not only adverse but hostile to the payment of a debt which they know to have been put upon the State by the combined fraud of their governor, their indigent legislators, and a set of sharks and financial free-lances, under the leadership of Milton S. Littlefield, now president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company. The people of this State, while they earnestly desire the success of any railroad enterprise 2291 which is legitimate and conducted with honesty, would greatly regret if foreign capitalists should make so injudicious an investment as a purchase of these State bonds must be. The State bonds, without the road as a security available for the benefit of the bondholders (which now is not the case), amount to nothing. And if there be any truth in a report now current, that certain persons abroad have been already induced to make advances upon the State bonds, they should require such legislation to be had as will enable them to get this security. As a matter of course, they can, by refusing to advance further, force the corporation to make any just contract within its corporate powers, or that the legislature will authorize. If the holders of the State bonds had the simple authority to exchange securities with the State it would be a great advantage to them. It is certainly advisable, at any rate, that they get all the security they can. One hundred and sixty miles of completed road, after being relieved of its existing incumbrances, can certainly be made a good security for the cost of constructing a road of same distance, and this, with a mortgage also upon the newly constructed road, will be safe security. I ask that these suggestions may be considered.

Respectfully,

T. W. BREVARD, JR.,
Counsel for holders of first-mortgage bonds
of P. & G. & T. R. R. Cos.

P. S.—I enclose herewith copies of the acts of the legislature referred to in the above communication, as officially published; also majority report of a committee of the assembly of the legislature of Florida, appointed under resolutions of that body to examine and take evidence concerning the conduct of Harrison Reed, governor, pending proceedings then inaugurated to impeach the governor upon charges of corruption in office, certain portions of which will be of some interest to you in connection with the history of the railroad manipulations to which reference is made in the above.

TALLAHASSEE, February 21, 1870.

His Excellency HARRISON REED,
Governor of Florida:

DEAR SIR: On behalf of parties holding original first-mortgage bonds of the (late) Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, I have been authorized to institute legal proceedings by an application for an injunction to restrain the issue of the State bonds in exchange for first-mortgage bonds upon the railroad property under the provisions of the act of the legislature passed at its late session, entitled "An act to alter and amend an act to perfect the public works of the State," the parties whom I represent apprehending that by such issue of bonds as that proposed by the said law their rights of lien would be imperiled.

I am satisfied, however, that such proceedings will not be necessary if your excellency shall agree with me in the following propositions, viz: (1st) That the original first-mortgage bonds of the 2292 Pensacola and Georgia Railroad and the Tallahassee Railroad Companies, which remain outstanding and unpaid, incumber the said property with a lien prior to all others now existing, or that may be created; and (2d) that there can be properly no issue of first-mortgage bonds upon the said property until the outstanding unpaid first-mortgage bonds of the original issue shall be paid up (at the pro rata valuation fixed by the sale) and cancelled.

I am sure that should your excellency agree with me in these views, no bonds of the State will be signed and delivered to the parties who are the beneficiaries under the said act until after a redemption of the outstanding bonds referred to, in which event the right of the new company to rebond the property cannot be disputed.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

T. W. BREVARD, JR.

(Reply endorsed:)

I concur in the view of Colonel Brevard, and shall issue no bonds under the new law until the lien upon the road is satisfied.

(Signed) HARRISON REED,
Governor.

J. FRED SCHUTTE ET AL.
vs.
THE FLORIDA CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY et al.

Articles of impeachment exhibited by the assembly of the State of Florida, in the name of themselves and of all the people of Florida, against Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, in maintenance and support of their impeachment against him for high crimes and misdemeanors in office, for incompetency and malfeasance, and conduct detrimental to good morals.

ARTICLE I. That said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, at Tallahassee, in the State of Florida, unmindful of the high duties of his office, of his oath of office, and of the requirement of the constitution that he shall see that the laws are faithfully executed, did unlawfully, and in violation of the constitution and laws of the State of Florida, cause to be issued, and did himself sign his official signature as governor to, a large number of State bonds to the amount of five hundred and twenty-eight thousand ($528,000) dollars in excess of the amount of bonds authorized to be issued by the act of the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to alter and amend an act entitled 'An act to perfect the public works of the State, approved June 24, A. D. 1869,' approved January 28, A. D. 1870, with intent, then and there, to violate the said act, whereby the said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, did then and there commit and was guilty of a high crime in office, of incompetency, and malfeasance.

Article II. That in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, at Tallahassee, in the State of Florida, said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, unmindful of the high duties of his office, of his oath of office, and in violation of the constitution of the State of Florida, and contrary to the provisions of an act entitled "An act to alter and amend an act entitled 'An act to perfect the public works 2294 of the State,' approved June 24, A. D. 1869," approved January 28, 1870, did then and there, with intent to violate the constitution of the State and the act aforesaid, and without authority of law, fraudulently conspire to issue State bonds to the amount of one million of dollars ($1,000,000) for the purpose of purchasing the stock of the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, for the use and benefit of persons and parties, and with full knowledge of and consent to said purpose, and in collusion with such persons and parties, for his and their pecuniary benefit, whereby said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, did then and there commit and was guilty of a high crime in office, and of incompetency and malfeasance.

Article III. That said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, unmindful of the high duties of his office, and of his oath of office, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, at Tallahassee, in the State of Florida did cause to be issued and did himself sign his official signature, as governor, to one million dollars of State bonds, for the purpose of purchasing the stock of the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, for the use and benefit of persons and parties, contrary to and in violation of the constitution of the State of Florida, and of the laws of the State of Florida, and especially in violation of an act of the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to alter and amend an act to perfect the public works of the State, approved June 24, A. D. 1869," approved January 28, A. D. 1870, and with intent to violate the laws of the State of Florida, and especially said act, whereby the said Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida, did then and there commit and was guilty of a high crime in office, and of incompetency and malfeasance.

Article IV. That Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, in Tallahassee, in the State of Florida, unmindful of the high duties of his office, and of his oath of office, and in violation of the constitution and laws of the State, and especially of an act entitled "An act to alter and amend," &c., did cause to be issued, and did himself sign his official signature, as governor, to four million dollars of State bonds, for the use and benefit of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, in the State of Florida, having full notice of the fraudulent title of said company to the property of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads, and with intent to violate the constitution and laws of the State of Florida, and especially of the act of the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to alter and amend an act entitled 'An act to perfect the public works of the State,' approved June 24, A. D. 1869," approved January 28, 1870, whereby the said Harrison Reed, governor, &c.

J. FRED. SCHUTTE, JANS PRINS, ADRIANUS Prins, and others, complainants,
against
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company, The Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, The Florida Central Railroad Company, & others, defendants.

The F. C. R. R. Co. objects to the interrogatories filed by the complainants in the above cause to be propounded to John Collinson, of London, England, in behalf of the complainants, and states grounds of objection as follows:

It objects to the second interrogatory because it is irrelevant, immaterial, vague, and uncertain, and seeks to interrogate concerning matters which are res inter alias, seeks hearsay evidence, and is otherwise illegal. Said company especially objects to any statements of witnesses made in any judicial proceedings being filed with his deposition herein.

2296 It objects to third interrogatory on the same grounds.

It objects to the fourth interrogatory on the same grounds.

It objects to the fifth interrogatory on the same grounds.

It objects to the sixth interrogatory on the same grounds.

It objects to the seventh interrogatory on the same grounds.

It objects to the eighth interrogatory on the same grounds.

It objects to the ninth interrogatory on the same grounds.

It objects to the tenth interrogatory on the same grounds.

It objects to the eleventh interrogatory on the same grounds.

Cross-interrogatories to be propounded in behalf of the F. C. R. R. Co. to John Collinson, of London, England, a witness produced on the part of the complainants in the above cause.

1st cross-int'g. If you say in answer to the 9th direct int'g. that you have any knowledge of the matters set forth in the 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, & 11th paragraphs of the copy of the bill of complaint filed with the interrogatories upon which you are examined, take said copy 2297 of said bill of complaint in your hand, and reading said paragraphs thereof, state as to each allegation or proposition of each paragraph whether you have any knowledge, and what knowledge thereof, and if you have any knowledge thereof, how you acquired it. For example, in the 6th paragraph it is stated that "the J., P. & M. Co. obtained from the governor of Florida, Harrison Reed, four thousand bonds, one thousand dollars each." If you say that that statement is correct, state how you know that "the J., P. & M. Co. obtained said bonds; how you know that they were obtained from the governor of Florida;" how you know that the number of bonds obtained by the J., P. & M. Co. and obtained by said company from the governor of Florida was four thousand. If you say that said bonds were issued "in accordance with the laws incorporating the J., P. & M. Co.," state how you know it. Take each of said paragraphs and analize it in the manner above shown, and give the source of your information as to each alligation of which you say you have knowledge.

2d cross-int'g. If you say you purchased or received any of said bonds of the State of Florida, state the several times when you purchased or received them, and from whom you purchased or received them 2298 each time, and the date and place of each purchase, and of each delivery of bonds, and how many bonds you purchased or received each time, and the numbers thereof, and how many bonds were delivered to you at each delivery, and the numbers of the bonds delivered each time and by whom delivered, and the price or other consideration paid for each bond received or purchased by and delivered to you.

3d cross-int'g. If you say that you sold any of said bonds of the State of Florida, state the time, to whom, when and where each sale was made, and the numbers of the bonds sold and delivered each time a sale and delivery was made, and when and to whom the several bonds so sold were delivered, and the prices at which they were sold, and who received the money from the purchasers of the bonds in each instance.

4th cross-int'g. When were the said bonds of the State of Florida first put upon the market at the bourse or stock exchange in Amsterdam, Holland, or elsewhere. When were they first put upon the market, when, where, by whom, to whom, and at what prices were the first sales and deliveries of said bonds or of any of them made; when, where, and delivery of said bonds, or of any of them, made, so far as you know or can ascertain and disclose. State the numbers of the bonds sold and delivered each time.

5th cross int'g. State whether in December, 1870, or about that time, Harrison Reed, the governor of Florida, did not send to one Boissevain or to him and others, in Amsterdam, Holland, a telegraphic dispatch in substance as follows: "Bonds recently recalled by the company; no provision will therefore be made for interest." State whether said telegraphic dispatch was not an answer to a telegraphic dispatch in substance as follows: "Being negotiating four millions dollars of bonds issued by your State to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, beg to know by telegraph from you whether provision will be made for payment of interest whatever the result of railroad traf'c may be; is the financial position of the State really sound, and have the bonds undoubtedly security?" which was sent at about that time to the said Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida, by the said 2300 Boissevain, or by him and others, from Amsterdam, in Holland.
State all that you know about said telegraphic correspondence. State who the persons were who sent the said dispatch to Governor Reed, and to whom he sent the reply; where did they live; what was their occupation; were they or any of them connected in any way with the sale of the said bonds; if so, what connection had they or any of them therewith; what degree of publicity was given to the said telegraphic correspondence; was it made known to the members or directors or other officers of the bourse or stock exchange of Amsterdam, or to any and which of them; was it known to the persons engaged in selling the said bonds, and to which of them; had any of said bonds been sold and delivered at that time.

6th cross-int'g. Read the printed paper attached hereto marked exhibit A, being a copy of a communication dated at Jacksonville, Florida, February 8th, 1871, purporting to have been addressed by E. M. L'Engle to Holji Boissevain, bankers, Amsterdam, Holland, and state when and where you first saw the original or what purported to 2301 be the original or a copy of the said communication and who had it; where, when, and from whom did you first hear of it; where, when, and from whom did you subsequently hear of it as often as you did hear of it. State whether or not the said communication was received by the person or persons to whom it was addressed and whether such person or persons were members or directors or other officers of the bourse or stock exchange of Amsterdam, in Holland; where did he or they live, and what was his or their occupations. State whether such person or persons were connected in any manner with the sale of the bonds referred to in the telegraphic correspondence mentioned in the said communication, and if so, how they were connected therewith. State what degree of publicity was given to the said communication; was it made known to the members or directors or other officers of the bourse or stock exchange of Amsterdam, or to any and which of them; was it known to the persons or any and which of them engaged in selling the said bonds; when, as nearly as you can state, was the said communication received or known in Amsterdam; what action
2302 was taken thereupon. State all you know on the subject.

7th cross int'g. Read the printed paper annexed hereto marked Exhibit B, being a copy of a communication dated at Tallahassee, Florida, June, 1871, purporting to have been addressed by T. W. Brevard, jr., to the chairman of states and corporations arrears committee, 193, 194, 195, Gresham House, London, England, and state when and where you first saw the original, or what purported to be the original or a copy of the said communication, and who had it; where and when and from whom did you first hear of it. State whether or not the said communication was received by the person or persons to whom it was addressed and whether such person or persons were members of the bourse or stock exchange of Amsterdam, in Holland; where did he or they live and what was his or their occupation. State whether such person or persons were connected in any manner, and what manner, with the sale of the bonds issued by the State of Florida in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad. State what degree of publicity 2302½ was given to the said communication; was it known to the members or directors or other officers of the bourse or stock exchange of Amsterdam, or to any and which of them; was it known to the persons or any and which of them engaged in selling the said bonds of the State of Florida; was it known to you; when, as nearly as you can state, was the said communication or a copy of it received or known in Amsterdam or received by or known to the persons or any of them who were selling said bonds of the State of Florida; what action was taken upon it. State all that you know on the subject.

8th. cross-int'g. Read the printed paper annexed hereto marked Ex hibit C, being a copy of the articles numbered one, two, three, and fou of impeachment exhibited by the assembly of the State of Florid against Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, and state when & wher you first saw the said articles of impeachment; state when and wher you first became informed that articles of impeachment had been exhib ited by the assembly of the State of Florida against Harrison Reed governor of Florida, for the causes stated in the said articles or 2303 for any of the said causes; were the said impeachment, and the cause or causes thereof, as set forth in said articles, known to the members or directors or other officers of the bourse or stock exchange of Amsterdam, or to any and which of them, and when did they become known; were they known to you or to the persons, or any and to which of them, engaged in selling the said bonds of the State of Florida issued in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and when did they become so known, as nearly as you can state.

9th cross-int'g. State whether or not any member or members, officer or officers, of the bourse or stock exchange of Amsterdam, in Holland, have ever been expelled, deposed, suspended, required to resign or withdraw therefrom, fined, censured, or otherwise punished or reflected upon by the said bourse or stock exchange, government, guild, or association, for improper practices or conduct, whether of commission or omission, in connection with the negotiation or sale, or putting upon the market, of said bonds, or any of them, of the State of Florida issued in 2304 aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company. If yea, state who such member or members, officer or officers, were; whether he or they were expelled, deposed, suspended, required to resign or withdraw, fined, or censured, or how otherwise punished or reflected upon; what was the improper practice or practices or conduct; state all that you know on the subject.

10th cross-int'g. If, in answer to the 5th direct interrogatory, you say that any organization or association was created by you or by any one else to buy and pay for said bonds, state by what name said organization or association was called or known, if it had a name; state the names, residences, and occupations of the persons who composed said organization or association; state whether it still exists, and if not, how long it existed; state when it was found or created, and all the purposes for which it existed. Did said organization sell said bonds or cause them to be sold? Did it deal in said bonds—buying and selling them? Where, that is to say, in what city or cities & countries, did said organization or association have its home and place or places of business?

J. FRED. SCHUTTE, JAN PRINS, ADRIANUS Prins, and others, complainants,
against
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company, The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, The Florida Central Railroad Company, and others, defendants.

Interrogatories to be propounded to John Collinson, of London, England, a material witness for complainants, who is to be examined under a commission issued in said cause in the city of New York.

Interrogatory first. What is your name and residence; where did you reside in the year 1870, 1871, 1872 and 1873; what was your occupation at such times?

2307 Interrogatory second. Had you during the years before designated in the first interrogatory, any dealings with the firm of S. W. Hopkins and Company? If you say you did, please state what were the dealings so had; relate fully and at large all that was done by and between said S. W. Hopkins and Co. and yourself; whether you purchased any bonds from said firm which were issued by the governor of the State of Florida, to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company. If you have ever made any statements as to the matters herein enquired of in any judicial proceedings, please file in answer to this interrogatory a written or printed copy of such statements and state whether or not you are now ready to repeat, on this examination, the contents of such documents, and say whether the contents thereof are true.

Interrogatory third. At what place or places were the bonds purchased by you from S. W. Hopkins and Co. (if you testify to 2308 the making of any such purchases) put on the market and sold, by whom such transaction was conducted, what representation was made and published in Holland or elsewhere by such persons when they offered and sold said bonds? Relate fully all that was said and done by yourself alone or by said persons to induce purchasers in Holland or elsewhere to purchase or deal in said bonds.

Interrogatory fourth. When you purchased the said bonds from S. W. Hopkins and Co. (if any you did purchase) were there any persons concerned with you in making such purchase? If yea, state their names and residences; what share, if any, they had therein, and when their interest commenced.

Interrogatory fifth. From whom, how, and when did you procure the money to buy and pay for the said bonds if any were bought and payed for by you from S. W. Hopkins and Co.? Did you furnish the whole purchase money or did others; if others, who were such contrib-2309 utors? Answer fully, and state what organization or association was created by you to buy and pay for said bonds.

Interrogatory sixth. If you answer and say that you obtained money from others to pay said S. W. Hopkins & Co. for said bonds, state what representations were made by you to such persons as to the character and validity of said bonds, the security provided for the payment thereof, the length of completed railroad owned by the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, the place at which such railroad commenced on the waters of the Atlantic Ocean; the western terminus and the line of such railroad; and state on what authority you made such representations; from whom you derived your knowledge of such matters, and at what time you acquired it.

Interrogatory seventh. What representations were made to you by S. W. Hopkins & Co. as to the matters stated in the foregoing in-2310 terrogatory if any were made to you by them. When and on what occasion were such representations made?

Interrogatory eighth. Did you, in the years 1870, 1871, 1872, and 1873, sell any of the bonds specified in the second interrogatory, directly or indirectly, to any persons in Holland or elsewhere? If so, state how many you sold, at what price, and relate fully how and by whom such sales were conducted, and what representation' were made by you, or by others by your authority, to the persons who purchased said bonds, if any you sold; relate fully all that was done by you, or by others acting with you, to market said bonds, and all that was represented as to their nature and character, and as to the security provided for their redemption, and the character of such security.

Interrogatory ninth. Read the 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, and 11th paragraphs of the copy of the bill of complaint filed in the suit in 2311 which you are now examined, which copy is herewith exhibited to you; say whether you have any knowledge or information as to the correctness or incorrectness of statements made therein, and state how you acquired your knowledge. Do you you or not know whether the statements so made are true or otherwise? If otherwise, say how otherwise; answer fully all that you know as to the matters stated in such paragraphs of said bill.

Interrogatory tenth. Did you or not receive from Calvin L. Chase, or by his authority, any bonds such as are designated in the second interrogatory? If you say you did, state what were the numbers of said bonds, under what circumstances, and for what purposes you received them, at what time and place did you receive them, how you disposed of them, and if you sold them, say to whom, and when and at what price; say what you did with the purchase-money, whether you 2312 paid the same to any account, and, if any, to what account.

Interrogatory eleventh. Did you or not pay any money for the interest on any of the bonds specified in the second interrogatory? If yea, say at what time, from what fund, and how you paid such interest, on what number of bonds you made such payments, and to whom and through whom the money was paid? If you say you advanced such money, say whether such advance was reimbursed to you, and how and from what source such reimbursement was made.

Interrogatory twelfth. Do you know, or can you set forth any other matter or thing which may be a benefit or advantage to the parties at issue in this cause, or either of them, or that may be material to the subject of this your examination, or the matters in question in this cause? If yea, set forth the same fully and at large in your answer.

Dated this 24th day December, 1878.

2322 In the United States circuit court, northern district of Florida, fifth judicial circuit. In equity.

J. FRED. SCHUTTE, JAN PRINS, ADRIANUS Prins, Henrich Ulrici, Elias Fulds, and others,
against
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company and others.

Interrogatories to be propounded to Sidney W. Hopkins and Frank H. Collins, witnesses to be examined in behalf of the complainants in the above-entitled cause, who reside in the city of New York, State of New York.

Interrogatory first. What is your name, age, and residence?

Interrogatory second. Do you know the parties, complainants 2323 and defendants, or either of them?

Interrogatory third. Were you or not a member of the firm of S. W. Hopkins and Co.? State who were members of said firm, what was its business, and where was it conducted.

Interrogatory fourth. Did or not the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co. become the agents of the defendants, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, at any time? If they did, state what authority they received, and annex to your answer a copy thereof.

Interrogatory fifth. State what induced S. W. Hopkins and Co. to undertake to act as agents of said company to effect the sale of the railroad company; what led your said firm, to believe that such bonds could be sold, either in the United States or in Europe?
2324 bonds specified in the power of attorney given to you by said

Interrogatory six. If you answer the foregoing interrogatory and say you undertook such agency by reason of any representations being made to your firm by any officer of said company, say who was the person and what authority did he produce to your firm authorizing him to act for said company, and annex the original or a copy of such authority to your answer.

Interrogatory seventh. What was represented to you by the officer of the said company who employed you and gave you information, 2325 or made statements to you, as to the locality of the railroad of said company, the number of completed miles, its eastern terminus, and projected route and western terminus? What documents, maps, papers, or laws of the State of Florida, if any, were produced to you by such officer of said company? What reliance did you place on such statements, and how was your firm affected by them or by any documents, maps, and laws of Florida?

Interrogatory eighth. Did or not your firm receive from the governor of Florida any bonds issued to the said company? If you answer yea, please state how and when you received them, and how many.

Interrogatory nine. To whom, where, and when did you sell any 2326 of said bonds, how many did you sell and deliver, and how many did you contract to sell and deliver of said bonds, either in England or elsewhere in Europe?

Interrogatory ten. How did you succeed in procuring a purchaser for said bonds? What did you represent to such purchaser as to the nature and character of the railroad of said company, its eastern and western termini, the number of miles of completed road owned by it, the existing railroad or other connections, and as to its being a local or through route? Relate fully all the representations your firm made to the purchaser of said bonds, and say whether or not such purchaser acted thereon, or was influenced thereby; and if so, how, and why. Answer fully, and state all that passed at the time of the sale of the 2327 bonds, or when they were delivered.

Interrogatory eleven. Did you or not, at the time when you agreed to sell said bonds for said company, know that any portion of the line of completed railroad from Jacksonville to Quincy was owned, or claimed to be owned, by a corporation styled the Florida Central Railroad Company? Had you knowledge or information at such time that the last named corporation claimed to own any portion of said railroad? State fully all that you know as to such matter.

Interrogatory twelve. If the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company's railroad had been stated by its authority to commence at Lake City, and not at Jacksonville, would your firm have 2328 undertaken to sell its bonds? Do you or not believe that under such a condition of the said company's property that your firm could have sold said bonds in Europe or elsewhere? Answer fully, and state on what reasoning and knowledge you base your answer, and state your opinion.

Interrogatory thirteen. Did you advance any money to said company before you sold any of said bonds, or did you accept drafts for any money drawn by said company in advance of said sales, or did you agree to supply said company with iron or other material, and did you make any contracts therefor before selling any of said bonds? State fully and specially what you did in respect to the matters herein enquired 2329 of, and say whether or not you would have made such transactions and entered into such obligations had you had any reason to doubt whether the whole line of completed railroad from Jacksonville to Lake City was owned by the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

Interrogatory fourteen. If you state that you sold bonds received by you as agent of said company to John Collinson, of London, England, state whether or not you knew at the time whether he made such purchase in connection with other persons, their residence and business, and state all that you know as to in what way and how said Collinson dealt with said bonds, and at what place he dealt with them, and through and with what persons? What, if any, representations were made by said Collinson as to said bonds, their validity, 2330 and as to what security for their payment existed, or was by law provided, and what property was by law pledged for the redemption of said bonds? State how you acquired your knowledge of the acts of said Collinson.

Interrogatory fifteen. Did you or either of you, in any way, aid or assist said Collinson to dispose of any of said bonds to any persons in Europe? If you answer in the affirmative, state how you gave such aid or assistance; and whether or not you acted therein as the agents of said company, and why you did so.

Interrogatory sixteen. Did the governor of Florida, who was in office in the years 1870 and 1871, do any official act, or issue any 2331 official paper, which in any way gave credence to the bonds which you received from him as agent of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company? If you answer in the affirmative, state fully what he did, and append to your answer copies of any written or printed papers signed by him, which you received from said governor, and such official papers produced and how they influenced the mind of said John Collinson, or that of others who dealt in said bonds, and how such acts and writings influenced your said firm in selling said bonds.

Interrogatory seventeen. Did your firm make any payments out of the money which you received from the said John Collinson on 2332 sale or delivery of said bonds to any individuals or to any corporation? If you did, state to whom your firm made such payments, and by what authority your firm did so, and the amounts which you paid, and the date of such payments.

Interrogatory eighteen. State all that you know as to the reason why the payment by order of Milton S. Littlefield, as president of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, was made to Nicholas W. Woodfin, as chairman of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company; relate fully all that you know as to such matter, and how you obtained your information.

2333 Interrogatory nineteen. Was Milton S. Littlefield in England in the fall and winter of the years 1870 and 1871 or the spring of the year 1871? If yea, what was his business? Did he or not assist your firm in the efforts made by your firm to sell the said bonds? What did he do in that direction? What representations did he make as to the said bonds as to the railroad of said company, its location, extent, and as to the security provided to pay said bonds? To whom did he make such representations, and at what place or places?

Interrogatory twenty. If you say that your firm paid out of the proceeds of the sale of said bonds any sums of money to Edward Houston, Mariana D. Papy, James D. Westcott, John P. Sanderson, and Edward M. L'Engle, say whether you had any conversation with said persons or either of them, relative to the grounds on which said 2334 persons based their claims to receive such sums of money, and what induced the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company or its president, Milton S. Littlefield, to authorize you to make such payments; relate fully all you know or recollect of such matters, and say out of the sale of which of said bonds your firm made such payments.

Interrogatory twenty-one. Do you know Edward M. L'Engle, of Jacksonville, Florida? Did he visit you at the office of your company in the year 1871? Did he do anything, or in any way take part in any negotiation or arrangement, if any there was, between your firm and John P. Sanderson in respect of or which resulted in the payment by your firm to said Sanderson of any money which you held for account of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company as to which you have been before interrogated? State all that said L'Engle did and said in relation to such matter and as to his acquaintance 2335 with the consideration on which such payment by your firm to said Sanderson was based. Relate fully.

Interrogatory twenty-two. Was Nicholas W. Woodfin in London, England, in the year 1870 or 1871? Did he have any business intercourse with your firm? If yea, what was the nature of such business? Who did he represent? In what official character did he claim to act? What claim, if any, did he make as to the bonds which you held as agent of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company? What did he demand, and in what way was his demand adjusted; on what conditions?

Interrogatory twenty-three. What did said Nicholas W. Woodfin, in his official character, do, if anything he did, in aiding or assisting your firm to sell said bonds held by your firm for the Jacksonville, 2336 Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company? What directions or authority did he give to your firm as to such bonds; and what claim did he make in relation to said bonds at the time he was so in England, or afterwards, as to the monies which you received for the sale of them?

Interrogatory twenty-four. When said Nicholas W. Woodfin was in England engaged in business with your firm and claiming title to said bonds, or afterwards to any sum of money derived from the sale thereof, did he assert to you or any of you, or in any way make known to your firm, that the corporation which he represented, The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, denied the title of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company to the railroad which begins at Jacksonville and runs or was then built to Lake City, or beyond that point in the State of Florida, or 2337 that the corporation which the said N. W. Woodfin represented claimed any right at law or equity to any stock in the said The Florida Central Railroad Company, and that such corporation claimed to own any such part of railroad, or that the said corporation represented by said N. W. Woodfin in any way disputed the legality of the issue by the said governor of Florida of the four million of bonds to the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company? Answer fully all that said N. W. Woodfin, as the representative of said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, did and said as to the matter.

Final interrogatory. Do you know, or can you set forth, any other matter or thing which may be a benefit or an advantage to the parties at issue in this cause, or either of them, or that may be material to the subject of this your examination or the matters in question in 2338 this cause? If yea, set forth the same fully and at large in your answer.

J. FRED SCHUTTE ET AL.
vs.
THE FLORIDA CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY et al.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., February 8th, 1871.

Messrs. HOLJE BOISSEVAIN, Bankers,
Amsterdam, Holland:

GENTLEMEN: On December 18th, 1870, Governor Harrison Reed, of Florida, received a telegraphic dispatch from you, substantially as follows:

"Being negotiating four million bonds issued by your State, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, beg to know by telegraph from you whether provision made for payment interest, whatever result railroad traffic. Financial position of State really sound, and bonds undoubted security?"

To this dispatch Governor Reed replied as follows:

2341 It was hoped that Governor Reed's telegram would have the effect of causing the bonds to be returned, as the railroad companies desired they should be. This has not been done, but on the contrary more bonds than were then out have been sent to Europe for negotiation, though no money I infer has yet been realized. I feel it to be my duty, therefore, to make a statement of facts to you, which I hope that you will lay before others who may be interested with you in the negotiations.

When the legislature of Florida enacted the laws under which the bonds your telegram inquired about were issued, it was believed by the two railroad companies, hereafter named, that the proceeds of the State bonds when sold would be honestly and legitimately applied to the extension through the western portion of this State of the lines of railroad already built from the eastern to the middle portion. That extension was so much desired by the two companies owning the completed railroads that they were willing to mortgage, and did mortgage, their roads to the State, in order to secure the issuing of State bonds upon which to raise money to enable the newly organized company to build said extension. The railroads which so pledged their mortgage bonds to the State were the Florida Central Railroad, sixty miles long, and the Tallahassee Railroad, one hundred and fifty miles long. The former gave its mortgage bonds to the amount of one million dollars; the latter to the amount of three million dollars; and this latter road consolidated its line with that proposed to be built westward from the completed road, and the two companies became one, under the name of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company. But the Florida Central Railroad, commencing at Jacksonville and running westward sixty miles, was not included in the consolidation. Subsequently, and after three million of the State bonds had been sent to Europe, it was discovered that the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, who had been active in procuring the legislation and inducing the completed roads to give to the State their bonds in exchange for the State's bonds which were issued to him, had made, even before he got the bonds, secret contracts with some of his creditors, by which the larger portion of the proceeds were to be diverted from the purposes for which the bonds were issued, and were to be applied in payment of individual debts. This produced such dissatisfaction and caused such investigations by the companies which had mortgaged their roads to the State, as resulted in both of the companies, through their several directories, rescinding the action by which their roads were mortgaged, and recalling the bonds. The million of bonds issued by the State, on the security of a like amount pledged to the State by the Florida Central Railroad, had not then gone into the hands of the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, but were held by a party till certain conditions precedent were performed, before delivery to the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad. That million of bonds then were returned to the State, and the bonds of the company upon the security of which the others were issued were withdrawn from deposit with the State, and were in the hands of the party already referred to, to be returned to the company for cancellation, when they were by that party without the authority or knowledge of the railroad company, or of any 2342 of its officers, and in violation of the company's resolutions of recall and rescission, delivered to an agent of the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, who by influences best known to himself effected with the governor of the State their re-exchange for the State bonds, which latter were hurriedly and secretly sent out of the State and to Europe before any legal process could be obtained for their detention. This redelivery to the governor of Florida of the Florida Central Railroad Company's million of bonds is a gross fraud on that company, and none who are advised of it, and buy or advance money on the State's bonds, for which they were exchanged, will have any legal or moral right to ask that they receive any benefit or advantage from the security so wrongfully obtained.

The same may be said of the three million of State's bonds issued on the pledge of the same amount of bonds of the Tallahassee or Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad. No one who, having notice of that company's rescission of its action and recall of its bonds, advances money on or buys the State's bonds for which the others were pledged will have, legally or morally, any locus standi in curia as against that railroad company. The creditors and stockholders of the railroad companies will assert their right, resist the wrongs that have been perpetrated and attempted, and seek, successfully, redress in the judicial tribunals. You have had the above-mentioned action of the railroad companies brought to your notice by the telegram from Governor Reed, who sent it after consulting with the said companies, and at their instance, and you have incurred all the legal disqualifications to urge against the railroad companies any claim based on their supposed suretyship for any bonds of the State.

An examination of the law under which the State's bonds were issued discloses that the governor has caused half a million more of bonds to be issued than the law provides for. The law allows the issue of $16,000 per mile upon so much of said roads as may be completed and in running order; only 210 miles were, when the bonds were issued, completed, and only a mile and a half have been completed since, and no more is being completed. This would allow of an issue at the time it was made of only $3,360,000. Add the liberal allowance of ten miles for side tracks, &c., if such unreasonable construction of the law be claimed, and it legalizes only $3,520,000 of the bonds.

To secure the principal and interest of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company's bonds (but not of the bonds of the Florida Central Railroad), the law gives the State of Florida a statutory lien, valid as a first mortgage, on that company's road and property, and authorizes the governor, on failure of the company in any payment of principal or interest, to seize and sell the road at auction, and authorizes the State to purchase and to pay for it with any evidence of indebtedness the State may hold against the road, while every other bidder would, in case of purchase, have to pay cash. This summary process is not applicable to the Florida Central Railroad; but to the other road only. What would be the result in case of failure of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad to pay principal or interest on its bonds? The State, if no resistance, or if unsuccessful paying for the purchase with the road's obligations, while the State might not, perhaps could not, or would not, pay her own; nor is there any way known to our system of government by which a State can be compelled to pay its obligations. You will thus perceive the character of the securities offered you, and the taints of fraud that affected them from their first issue, and that still do, and will act advisedly. This communciation is made in the interest of the stockholders of the companies whose bonds have, by misrepresentation and bad faith, been obtained and exchanged with the State of Florida for the State's bonds, which you have been, and may still be, negotiating for. The stockholders do not intend to submit to the fraud which has been attempted on them. They seek to have the State's bonds brought back, and a re-exchange effected, and it is to that end that this letter is written. Such a course will prevent litigation. Persistence in the wrong will insure it. Attempts may be made to give credit to the bonds by professional and perhaps by judicial opinions from this State, but the facts that I state are incontestable, and I can give you much more and more detailed information concerning the worthlessness of the securities that you are negotiating for, and I will do so if desired. But I have said enough to make discreet men repudiate the securities and abandon negotiations.

I will say further, that since the mortgage of the railroads to the State, 128 miles of the completed road, being all except twenty-two miles on which the State has any statutory lien, have been sold by the United States under a judicial process in their favor, issued from a United States court; thus divesting the company's title, and vesting it in the individual purchaser. That sale of course relieves that much of the road of the lien created in favor of the State of Florida by the mortgage before mentioned. You are at liberty to show this letter to whom you please, and to give it the widest publicity, and will oblige me by acknowledging its receipt. I will presume on a very slight acquaintance to refer you, touching myself, to Hon. H. S. Sanford (late U. S. minister to Belgium), at Brussels.

Respectfully,

E. M. L'ENGLE,
Of counsel for the Florida Central Railroad Company.

J. FRED SHUTTE ET AL.
vs.
THE FLORIDA CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY et al.

FLORIDA STATE BONDS.

TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA, June, 1871.

To chairman States and corpor'tions arrears committee, 193, 194, 195, Gresham House, London:

SIR: It is understood here that General M. S. Littlefield, the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a corporation existing under the laws of Florida, Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., financial agents and representatives of the corporation, and perhaps others in the same interest, are endeavoring, with a prospect of success, to negotiate a sale of a very large number of bonds of the State of Florida, issued under the provisions of the act of the legislature of this State, entitled "An act to perfect the public works of the State," and subsequent acts amending the act named.

It is only fair that capitalists who have been induced to think favorably of these State bonds as an investment should be informed as to the character of the securities in which they are about to embark their means, and the purpose of this letter is to place you, and through you others concerned, in possession of such facts connected with the history of these bonds, and the law under which they were issued, as it may be to their interest to know.

2345 The Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company, and the Tallahassee Railroad Company, were railroad corporations existing under the laws of this State. These corporations having availed themselves of the benefits of the act of the legislature of this State, commonly called the internal improvement act, approved January 6th, 1855, and having failed afterwards to comply with its requirements, by payments of the semi-annual interest and sinking fund due upon the debt contracted on account of the first mortgage bonds issued by the companies under the provisions of the said act, these road-beds, property, and franchises were, in accordance with the requirements of the said act, taken possession of by the trustees of the internal improvement fund and sold, after due advertisement, to the highest bidder, on the day of , 1869. This sale was, in one essential feature, a fraud. The law permitted that the trustees sell either for cash or for additional approved security, as they might think of most advantage to the fund and the first mortgage bondholders, to satisfy whose claim the sale was made. In this case the trustees elected to sell for cash, and so advertised to the world up to the moment of sale. And the sale purported to be a cash sale. In point of fact, however, the purchasers did not pay cash, but only made partial payment by a surrender to the trustees of about $1,000,000 of the first mortgage bonds. The entire first-mortgage debt of the two companies was about $1,473,000, and this payment of $1,000,000 in the bonds left a balance due upon the price bid which was in amount equal to the entire bonded debt, of about $473,000, which amount on payment would have been at once applicable to take up and pay off the balance of bonds outstanding, about $473,000 in amount. The trustees, however, delivered possession of the railroad property to the purchasers upon this partial compliance by them with the terms (cash) of the sale. This indebtedness, which has never been paid except in small part (there being still about $300,000 of first mortgage bonds outstanding and unsatisfied), has a legal priority, and has been always so recognized by the parties now in possession, through this purchase, as a first lien, anterior to all others now existing, or that may be created upon the property and franchise of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company (formerly, as will appear hereafter, the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies). The parties in possession of the property have constantly promised payment, and doubtless have induced persons abroad to believe that they have already paid off this debt. After the sale of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads, referred to above, the parties in possession, through this incomplete sale, procured the passage by the legislature of several acts for their benefit, and first among them, of the "Act to perfect the public works of the State," approved June 24th, 1869. This act consolidated the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, and incorporated the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and authorized aid to be given by the State of Florida to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by the issue to the company of bonds of the State to the amount of $14,000 per mile. The act, however, provided that the State, as a condition precedent to the issue of its bonds, should be made secure by a lien to be taken by the State upon the property and franchise of the corporation for whose benefit this aid 2346 was to be given. This was a condition fixed by the act, and with this provision it passed the legislature; and when, some time after the act had passed, it appeared that by its fraudulent enrollment the provisions securing the State had been omitted, and that a forged law had been filed in the office of the secretary of state, and officially published as a law of the State, certain citizens of the State, property-holders and tax payers, filed their bill on the chancery side of the circuit court of Leon County, second judicial circuit of Florida, praying for an order of injunction against Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, and against S. B. Conover, treasurer of the State, and for an order of the court against these officers, to restrain and enjoin them from signing, countersigning, or delivering the bonds authorized by this fraudulent law, and from doing any acts whatever under the pretended act, upon the ground of the forgery and fraud practiced, in omitting from the enrolled bill the clause which required a security to the State, in the issue of its bonds by a mortgage upon the railroad property and franchise.

You will readily perceive, in view of the fact that the balance of $473,000 first-mortgage debt referred to was unpaid, that the purpose in this fraud was to relieve the railroad company of the necessity of paying off its existing incumbrances before getting the benefit of the funds to be raised on the State bonds.

The court acted favorably and at once upon this application, and granted without hesitation the injunction prayed for; and so patent was the fraud that no answer was ever made to the bill, and no effort was ever made to dissolve the injunction. So matters rested until the next convening of that great and good body of law-givers—the Florida legislature. This next legislature, which assembled on the day of , 1870, passed an act to alter and amend the aforesaid act, which last act validified and made of force the "act to perfect the public works of the State," which had been enjoined, except as amended and modified by the last law. Under these two acts Messrs. Littlefield and associates, parties in present possession of the railroad property, are now endeavoring to raise money upon State bonds. These acts authorized the aid to be given to the corporation, but required, as a condition precedent to the granting this aid, and the delivery of the State bonds, that the State be made secure by a lien, to be taken in the manner pointed out by the acts, on the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad property and franchise, and of course that corporation could not be in a condition to comply with the requirement and give this lien until incumberances, already existing and resting on the property, should be removed, by payment of the outstanding first mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies.

That the statement as to this liability is correct there is not the least doubt, and in order to show you that it is admitted to be correct I refer you to the annexed copy of a letter addressed by me to Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida, to whom it was entrusted under the law to see that the State was protected before the delivery of its bonds, and his reply endorsed. In both the letter and the pledge endorsed in reply, the position is taken that the unpaid first-mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, outstanding, constitute a first lien upon the railroad property 2347 and franchise, and that no issue of the State bonds could or would be made until these lien-incumberances resting upon the property should be removed, by payment and satisfaction of the first-mortgage bonds outstanding, after which the company would acquire the power to mortgage unincumbered property to the State. Notwithstanding these admitted opinions of Governor Reed, this solemn, written pledge, and his full knowledge that this first-mortgage bonded indebtedness, outstanding against the railroad, was unpaid, after quieting the apprehensions of the holders of the unpaid first-mortgage railroad bonds by this pledge, he signed, at a time when he had lulled suspicion, and delivered the State bonds, thus imposing upon the State a security which he knew to be imperfect. Can you suppose that a vast indebtedness, placed upon a people already insolvent, under these circumstances, will ever be paid?

The principal security, which those who may invest in the bonds of this State will have, must be that security which has been given to the State. The principal security for any investment to be made in railroad securities of this State must be the road-bed and franchise. In the light of the past and present history of this State, you cannot rely either upon its willingness or ability to pay a security of the character of these bonds when all the benefits result to stockholders in the corporation. In this case, the chief security being incumbered by prior mortgages, it is clearly the interest of the purchaser of the State bonds to see that such an amount of the money paid as may be necessary be applied to the discharge of this prior indebtedness. The bonds representing this prior incumbrance may be purchased at reasonable rates, but they will not be sacrificed by the holders. In the mean time suit has been instituted, and is now pending in the United States circuit court for the district of Florida, for the purpose of subjecting the railroad property to sale, unless the original first-mortgage debt outstanding be paid up. You may have been advised that the purchaser of the State bonds will have nothing to do with the corporation, and may look entirely to the State; but a very little reflection must show the error into which this view may lead those who may purchase the State bonds. It is true a bond of this character is a State bond, and imports a State liability; but the law makes no specific provisions by which the holder of the bond can collect either the principal or interest from the State, and in the absence of such a provision any intelligent lawyer will advise you that the bondholder has no remedy in the courts by which principal or interest can be collected by judicial process from the people or out of their property. And even if such provision existed as a part of the law, it could not be enforced in a case where the bonds have been issued by means of a fraud upon that requirement of it which stipulates that the State should have been made secure by a good lien on unincumbered property as a precedent condition.

The sole reliance, then, of a holder of State bonds must be the good faith of the State, and that good faith under all the circumstances connected with the issue of these bonds will not be measured by the letter of the contract, but will be fixed entirely by the value of the security which the corporation has placed in the hands of the State, to indemnify it against loss, and that security should be the road-bed and franchise of the road itself, unsaddled by anterior laws.

I especially direct attention, in connection with this considera-2348 tion of the State's security, to the provisions of section 13 of the "act to perfect the public works of the State," which gives to the railroad company the privilege of paying off and discharging the lien taken by the State at any time before maturity of the debt, in the State's own paper, now immensely depreciated by reason of the great quantity issued during the past few years beyond its capacity to pay. It is very evident and ought to be patent to every one who will be at the pains to examine this provision, that it is to the interest of the railroad company to depreciate all the paper of the State—to depreciate the very bonds they are now selling, and the moment the bonds shall be sold Littlefield and associates will become the enemies of the holders, for their interest will clearly be to buy up the paper of the State—these very bonds will answer as good a purpose as any other and thus relieve their mortgage to the State, and the result will be that the purchasers will be left looking to the State when the security of the State is gone. Littlefield today can force $500,000 of State bonds upon the market and buy them at 25 cents, and can with them destroy the State security to the extent of a half million. You may rest assured that to that extent the people will think your bonds should be retired also. You must perceive that it would be great folly to make any investment in the State bonds, unless those investing shall secure an application of a sufficient amount of the money paid to a settlement of the incumbrances existing on the railroad property on account of the original first-mortgage bonded debt now outstanding.

But even after this shall have been done, it concerns the interest of capitalists to reflect upon the following facts additional to those already set forth.

1. The people of Florida have not the ability to pay this debt.

2. The legislature which passed the act referred to did not, to any extent, represent the taxpayers and property-holders of the State, and the legislature which fixed this indebtedness upon the State was notoriously corrupt and in the interest of a few railroad speculators, not identified even by citizenship with the people of Florida; and these men manipulated the votes of the legislators by corruption so open and flagrant that there are at this time indictments pending in the circuit court of Leon County against several of the legislators for receiving and against General Littlefield for paying bribes to secure the passage of the very acts under the provisions of which these State bonds were issued.

3. The whole series of acts both in and out of the legislature, including and beginning with the sale of railroads referred to in the first part of this communication, connected with the issue of these State bonds, has been dishonest, flagrantly corrupt, and going solely to aggrandize Littlefield, Hopkins, and a few others, their co-schemers and confederates; and it cannot be matter of surprise that the entire property-holding and taxpaying part of the people of Florida are not only adverse but hostile to the payment of a debt which they know to have been put upon the State by the combined fraud of their governor, their indigent legislators, and a set of sharks and financial free-lances under the leadership of Milton S. Littlefield, now president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company. The people of this State, while they earnestly desire the success of any railroad enterprise 2349 which is legitimate and conducted with honesty, would greatly regret if foreign capitalists should make so injudicious an investment as a purchase of these State bonds must be. The State bonds, without the road as a security available for the benefit of the bondholders (which now is not the case), amount to nothing. And if there be any truth in a report now current that certain persons abroad have been already induced to make advances upon the State bonds, they should require such legislation to be had as will enable them to get this security. As a matter of course they can, by refusing to advance further, force the corporation to make any just contract within its corporate powers or that the legislature will authorize. If the holders of the State bonds had the simple authority to exchange securities with the State it would be a great advantage to them. It is certainly advisable, at any rate, that they get all the security they can. One hundred and sixty miles of completed road, after being relieved of its existing incumbrances, can certainly be made a good security for the cost of constructing a road of same distance, and this, with a mortgage also upon the newly constructed road, will be safe security. I ask that these suggestions may be considered.

Respectfully,

T. W. BREVARD, Jr.,
Counsel for Holders of First Mortgage Bonds
of P. & G. & T. R. R. Cos.

P. S.--I enclose herewith copies of the acts of the legislature referred to in the above communication, as officially published; also majority report of a committee of the assembly of the legislature of Florida, appointed under resolutions of that body to examine and take evidence concerning the conduct of Harrison Reed, governor, pending proceedings then inaugurated to impeach the governor upon charges of corruption in office, certain portions of which will be of some interest to you in connection with the history of the railroad manipulations to which reference is made in the above.

TALLAHASSEE, February 21, 1870.

His Excellency HARRISON REED,
Governor of Florida:

DEAR SIR: On behalf of parties holding original first-mortgage bonds of the (late) Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, I have been authorized to institute legal proceedings by an application for an injunction to restrain the issue of the State bonds in exchange for first-mortgage bonds upon the railroad property under the provisions of the act of the legislature passed at its late session, entitled "An act to alter and amend an act to perfect the public works of the State," the parties whom I represent, apprehending that by such issue of bonds as that proposed by the said law, their rights of lien would be imperiled.

I am satisfied, however, that such proceedings will not be necessary if your excellency shall agree with me in the following proposi-
2350 tions, viz: (1st) That the original first-mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad and the Tallahassee Railroad Companies, which remain outstanding and unpaid, incumber the said property with a lien prior to all others now existing, or that may be created; and (2d) that there can be properly no issue of first-mortgage bonds upon the said property until the outstanding unpaid first-mortgage bonds of the original issue shall be paid up (at the pro rata valuation fixed by the sale) and cancelled.

I am sure that should your excellency agree with me in these views, no bonds of the State will be signed and delivered to the parties who are the beneficiaries under the said act until after a redemption of the outstanding bonds referred to, in which event the right of the new company to rebond the property cannot be disputed.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

T. W. BREVARD, JR.

(Reply endorsed:)

I concur in the view of Colonel Brevard, and shall issue no bonds under the new law until the lien upon the road is satisfied.

(Signed) HARRISON REED,
Governor.

2351 Exhibit C, attached to the cross interrogatories by the Florida Central Railroad Company.

In the U. S. circuit court.

J. FRED SCHUTTE ET AL.
vs.
THE FLORIDA CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY et al.

Articles of impeachment exhibited by the assembly of the State of Florida, in the name of themselves and of all the people of Florida, against Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, in maintenance and support of their impeachment against him for high crimes and misdemeanors in office, for incompetency and malfeasance, and conduct detrimental to good morals:

ARTICLE I. That said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, at Tallahassee, in the State of Florida, unmindful of the high duties of his office, of his oath of office, and of the requirement of the constitution that he shall see that the laws are faithfully executed, did unlawfully and in violation of the constitution and laws of the State of Florida, cause to be issued, and did himself sign his official signature, as governor, to a large number of State bonds to the amount of five hundred and twenty-eight thousand ($528,000) dollars in excess of the amount of bonds authorized to be issued by the act of the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to alter and amend an act entitled 'An act to perfect the public works of the State,' ' approved June 24, A. D. 1869; approved January 28, A. D. 1870, with intent, then and there, to violate the said act, whereby the said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, did, then and there, commit and was guilty of a high crime in office, of incompetency and malfeasance.

ARTICLE II. That in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, at Tallahassee, in the State of Florida, said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, unmindful of the high duties of his office, of his oath of office, and in violation of the constitution of the State of Florida, and contrary to the provisions of an act entitled "An act to alter and amend an act entitled 'An act to perfect the public 2352 works of the State,'" approved June 24, A. D. 1869; approved
January 28, 1870, did, then and there, with intent to violate the constitution of the State and the act aforesaid, and without authority of law, fraudulently conspire to issue State bonds to the amount of one million of dollars ($1,000,000) for the purpose of purchasing the stock of the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, for the use and benefit of persons and parties, and with full knowledge of and consent to said purpose, and in collusion with such persons and parties, for his and their pecuniary benefit, whereby said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, did, then and there, commit and was guilty of a high crime in office, and of incompetency and malfeasance.

ARTICLE III. That said Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, unmindful of the high duties of his office, and of his oath of office, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, at Tallahassee, in the State of Florida, did cause to be issued and did, himself, sign his official signature, as governor, to one million dollars of State bonds, for the purpose of purchasing the stock of the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf Central Railroad Company, for the use and benefit of persons and parties, contrary to and in violation of the constitution of the State of Florida, and of the laws of the State of Florida, and especially in violation of an act of the legislature of the State of Florida, entitled "An act to alter and amend an act to perfect the public works of the State," approved June 24, A. D. 1869; approved January 28, A. D. 1870, and with intent to violate the laws of the State of Florida, and especially said act, whereby the said Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida, did, then and there, commit and was guilty of a high crime in office, and of incompetency and malfeasance.

ARTICLE IV. That Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, at Tallahassee, in the State of Florida, unmindful of the high duties of his office, and of his oath of office, and in violation of the constitution and laws of the State, and especially of an act entitled "An act to alter and amend," &c., did cause to be issued, and did, himself, sign his official signature, as governor, to four million dollars of State bonds, for the use and benefit of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, in the State of Florida, having full notice of the fraudulent title of said company to the property of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads, and with intent to violate the constitution and laws of the State of Florida, and especially of the act of the legislature of the State of Florida entitled "An act to alter and amend an act entitled 'An act to perfect the public works of the State,'" approved June 24, A. D. 1869, approved January 28, 1870, whereby the said Harrison Reed, governor, &c.

J. FRED. SCHUTTE, JAN PRINS, ADRIANUS Prins, and others,
against
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company, the Florida Central Railroad Company, and others.

The Florida Central Railroad Company objects to the interrogatories filed by the complainants in the above cause to be propounded to Sidney W. Hopkins and Frank H. Collins, in behalf of the complainants, and states grounds of objection, as follows:

It objects to the fifth interrogatory, because it is irrelevant and immaterial.

It objects to the sixth interrogatory on the same grounds.

2354 It objects to the seventh interrogatory on the same grounds, and because the matters about which the said interrogatory is propounded are res inter alias actae.

It objects to the ninth interrogatory in so far as it seeks to interrogate concerning contracts for the sale and delivery of bonds, because it is irrelevant and immaterial.

It objects to the 10th interrogatory because it is irrelevant and immaterial, and seeks to interrogate concerning matters which are res inter alias.

It objects to the 11th interrogatory because it is irrelevant and immaterial.

It objects to the 12th interrogatory on the same grounds.

It objects to the 13th interrogatory on the same grounds.

It objects to the 14th interrogatory on the same grounds, and because the matters inquired about, or some of them, are res inter alias, and because the testimony sought is hearsay, and not the best that the case admits of.

It objects to the 15th interrogatory because it is irrelevant and immaterial.

2355 It objects to the 16th interrogatory on the same grounds, and because it inquires about matters which are res inter alias, and because it seeks testimony which is hearsay, and not the best evidence the case admits of.

It objects to the 17th interrogatory because it is irrelevant and immaterial.

It objects to the 18th interrogatory on the same grounds, and because it seeks hearsay evidence, and not the best the case admits of.

It objects to the 19th interrogatory on the same grounds, and because it inquires about matters which are res inter alias.

It objects to the 20th interrogatory because it is irrelevant and immaterial.

It objects to the 21st interrogatory on the same grounds, and because it interrogates concerning matters which are res inter alias, if they have any existence at all.

It objects to the 22nd interrogatory on the same grounds.

2356 It objects to the 23rd interrogatory on the same grounds.

It objects to the 24th interrogatory on the same grounds.

Cross-interrogatories to be propounded by the Florida Central Railroad Company to Sidney W. Hopkins and Frank H. Collins, witnesses produced on the part of the complainants in the above entitled cause.

1st cross-interrogatory. If you say, in response to the 8th interrogatory, that your firm received from the governor of Florida any bonds, state the several times when you received such bonds, giving dates and places of their reception, and how many of such bonds were received each time, and the numbers of the bonds received each time.

2nd cross-interrogatory. If you say, in response to the 9th direct-interrogatory, that you sold any of said bonds, state the time, to 2357 whom, when, and where each sale was made, and the numbers of the bonds sold each time a sale was made, and when, and to whom the several bonds so sold were delivered, and the prices at which they were sold, and who received the money from the purchasers of the bonds in each instance.

3rd cross-interrogatory. State whether, in December, 1870, or about that time, Harrison Reed, the governor of Florida, did not send to one Boissevain, or to him and others, in Amsterdam, Holland, a telegraphic dispatch in substance as follows: "Bonds recently recalled by the company. No provision will therefore be made for interest." State whether said telegraphic dispatch was not an answer to a telegraphic dispatch in substance as follows: "Being negotiating four million dollars
2358 of bonds issued by your State to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, beg to know by telegraph from you whether provision will be made for payment of interest, whatever the result of railroad tra'fic may be. Is the financial possition of the State really sound, and have the bonds undoubted security?" which was sent at or about that time to the said Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida, by the said Boissevain, or by him and others, from Amsterdam, in Holland. State all that you know about said telegraphic correspondence; state who the persons were who sent the said dispatch to Governor Reed, and to whom he sent the reply; where did they live; what was their occupation; were they or any of them members or officers of the bourse or stock exchange of Amsterdam, or connected in any manner with the sale of the said bonds; if so, what connection 2359 had they or any of them therewith; what degree of publicity was given to the said telegraphic correspondence; was it made known to the members or directors or other officers of the bourse or stock exchange of Amsterdam, or to any, and which of them; was it known to the persons engaged in selling the said bonds, and to which of them; had any of said bonds been sold and delivered at that time?

4th cross-interrogatory. State the date and amount of each payment, and to whom made, and by what authority, or for what consideration made, if you say, in response to the 20th direct interrogatory, that you made any such payments as you mentioned in the said 20th interrogatory.

5th cross-interrogatory. Read the printed paper attached hereto marked Exhibit A, being a copy of a communication dated at Jacksonville, Florida, February 8th, 1871, purporting to have been dam, Holland, and state when and where you first saw the original, or what purported to be the original, or a copy of the said communication, and who had it; where, when, and from whom did you first hear of it; where, when, and from whom did you subsequently hear of it, as often as you did hear of it. State whether or not the said communication was received by the person to whom it was addressed, and whether such person or persons were members or directors or other officers of the bourse or stock exchange of Amsterdam, Holland; where did he or they live, and what was his or their occupations; state whether such person or persons were connected in any manner with the sale of the bonds referred to in the telegraphic correspondence mentioned in therewith. State what degree of publicity was given to said communication; was it made known to the members or directors or other officers of the bourse or stock exchange of Amsterdam, or to any, and which, of them; was it known to the persons, or to any, and which of them, engaged in selling the said bonds; was it known to John Collinson, of London, in England; when, as nearly as you can state, was the said communication received or known in Amsterdam? State all you know upon the subject. What action was taken thereupon?

6th cross interrogatory. Read the paper annexed hereto marked Exhibit B, being a copy of a communication dated at Tallahassee, Florida, June, 1871, purporting to have been addressed by T. W. Brevard, jr., to the chairman of the States and Corporations Arrears Committee, 193, 194, 195, Gresham House, London, England, and state where and 2362 when you first saw the original, or what purported to be the original, or a copy, of the said communication, and who had it; where and when and from whom did you first hear of it. State whether or not the said communication was received by the person or persons to whom it was addressed, and whether such persons or persons were members of the bourse or stock exchange at Amsterdam, in Holland; where did he or they live, and what were his or their occupations. State whether such person or persons were connected in any manner, and in what manner, with the sale of the bonds issued by the State of Florida in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad. State what degree of publicity was given to the said communication; was it known to the members or directors or other officer of the bourse or stock exchange of Amsterdam, or to any and of them, engaged in selling the said bonds of the State of Florida; was it known to John Collinson, of London, England. When, as nearly as you can state, was the said communication, or a copy of it, received or known in Amsterdam, or received by or known to the persons, or any of them, who were selling said bonds of the State of Florida; what action was taken upon it. State all that you know on the subject.

7th cross-interrogatory. Read the printed paper annexed hereto, marked Exhibit C, being a copy of articles numbered one, two, three, and four of impeachment exhibited by the assembly of the State of Florida against Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, and state when & where you first saw the said articles of impeachment; state 2364 when and where you first became informed that articles of impeachment had been exhibited by the assembly of the State of Florida against Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, for the causes stated in the said articles, or for any of the said causes; were the said impeachment and the cause or causes thereof, as set forth in said articles or otherwise, known to the members or directors or other officer of the bourse or stock exchange of Amsterdam, or to any and which of them, and when did they become so known; were they known to John Collinson, of London, England, or to the persons, or to any and which of them, engaged in selling the said bonds of the State of Florida issued in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and when did they become so known, as nearly as you can state.

2365 8th cross-interrogatory. State whether or not any member or members, officer or officers, of the bourse or stock exchange of Amsterdam, in Holland, have ever been expelled, deposed, suspended, required to resign or withdraw therefrom, fined, censured, or otherwise punished or reflected upon by the said bourse's or stock exchange's government guild or association for improper practices or conduct, whether of commission or omission, in connection with the negotiation or sale or putting upon the market of said bonds (or any of them) of the State of Florida, issued in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company; if yea, state who such member or members, officer or officers, were; whether he or they were expelled, deposed, suspended, required to resign or withdraw, fined or censured, or how otherwise punished or reflected upon; what was the improper practice or practices or conduct. State all that you know on the subject.

vs.
GEORGE F. DREW, THE FLORIDA CENTRAL R. R. Company, et al.

Answer of T. B. Coddington.

2373 Circuit court of the United States, northern district of Florida, at Jacksonville.

To the judges of the circuit court of the United States for the 5th circuit and northern district of Florida:

The separate answer of Thomas B. Coddington, to the bill of complaint exhibited against him by the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, in which suit George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida, The Florida Central Railroad Company, and others, together with him, the said Coddington, are made parties defendant.

This defendant, saving and reserving unto himself all and all manner of benefit and advantage of exception which can or may be had or taken to the many errors, uncertainties, and other imperfections in the said complainant's bill of complaint contained, and insisting upon the several special matters in this answer set forth, as if he had plead the same, or had demurred to said bill, for answer thereunto, or unto so much and such parts thereof as this defendant is advised is or are material or necessary for him to make answer unto, this defendant, answering, saith:

2374 I. That the bill should be dismissed as to him; because he says that it does not allege that this defendant is a citizen of the State of New York, but avers that he is a citizen of New York, and this defendant alleges that this allegation of citizenship is not sufficient to give the court jurisdiction of this defendant. Wherefore he prays that the bill be dismissed as to this defendant, and subject to the foregoing objection to the jurisdiction of this court, and claiming the benefit thereof as if he had specially demurred to said bill.

This defendant saith: First. That he absolutely denies all, each, and every charge of fraud or of fraudulent intent alleged against him by the complainants, and avers that the whole of the transaction, and each and every act (relative to the bonds which are the subject of this suit), were, so far as they were done by this defendant, or so far as he had any knowledge of them, and so far as this defendant was connected with them, good, honest, fair, legitimate, and lawful acts, legally and morally; and that this defendant's whole connection with these bonds was had for a good and lawful purpose, and as this defendant then believed, for the benefit of the parties in interest; and the result this defendant believed, would eventually be, that the line of railroad would be built, to the great benefit of the people and the State of Florida; this defendant was also informed, and he believed it, and he acted upon that belief, that the State of Florida had by law authorized the governor to exchange State bonds for the bonds of the railroad companies, and that S. W. Hopkins & Co. had sold in England State bonds that were then authorized to be issued, and had agreed to deliver to the purchaser four millions of said State bonds at a given time; and further, that it was essential for the consummation of the contract that the bonds should was supposed, deliver one million of said bonds to this defendant in trust for him, if this defendant would accept the trust, and that the receipt and delivery of this million of bonds held by Houston was the obstacle in the way of realizing the money from the sale of the bonds, and that if this million of bonds could be delivered in time to complete the contract of sale in London, that the whole enterprise would be a success, and the railroad would be speedily constructed westward as designed by the legislative authority.

This defendant supposed that he was undertaking a matter that would be a great public and corporate benefit. This defendant had full faith in these representations, and acted upon them, and was most anxious that this Florida line of railroad should be completed westward through the State of Florida. This defendant had been the good business friend of the Florida railroads; that when the Pensacola & Georgia Railroad Company was building its road, this defendant sold that company (Edward Houston being its president) large quantaties of railroad iron, amounting to more than two hundred thousand dollars, on credit, and took the notes of the company therefor, and when that company failed to pay its notes, he compromised with them, and took the mortgage bonds of the company in payment at sixty cents on the dollar, and years afterwards this defendant's partner sold them at the solicitation of Edward Houston to George W. Swepson, while this defendant was in Europe, at fifty cents on the dollar. After the war this defendant again credited the company, and used all his best endeavors to assist the company and advance its credit, and gave up his coupons (and induced his friends to give up their coupons) past due for alleged preferred stock, to the amount of over sixty thousand dollars, so as to save that railroad from bankruptcy and sale to its stockholders and to the people of Florida. And that this defendant did this because he 2376 had entire faith in the character, honor, and integrity of Edward Houston, its president, and gave these past due coupons, and obtained those of his friends, relying on the representations and statements of Edward Houston, the president of the company, not supposing for one moment that Houston was deceiving this defendant, which afterwards proved to be the case. This defendant, after hearing that the Pensacola & Georgia Railroad had been sold, as the other Florida railroads were, by the trustees of the internal improvement fund, and that new companies were organized, and that Houston and Milton S. Littlefield were the owners of more than two-thirds of the whole line of railroads, from Jacksonville westward, and that an exchange of bonds, of the State, for railroad bonds, had been authorized by law, and that ese State bonds had been contracted to be sold and delivered to parties in London, and that there was no doubt of the success of the new company in being able to speedily build the Florida railroads through to Mobile, Alabama. That the obstacle in the way was the delivery of the bonds in London in time, to the purchasers, according to the contract. And this defendant agreed to assist in taking this million of dollars of State bonds to London for this purpose, believing, as aforesaid, that it was a good and great public and corporate enterprise, and one to which he wished every success. That with this intent and purpose this defendant went to Florida in January, 1871, and then obtained the bonds, and afterwards, delivered them to S. W. Hopkins & Co., in London, in April, 1871, by the positive and peremptory order of Edward Houston, for whose account, and in trust for whom, this defendant received the bonds, and also by the order and direction of Milton S. Littlefield, the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, and also by the order and direction of Harrison Reed, the governor of Florida, all of which will more fully appear in this his answer, hereafter in detail.

2377 II. This defendant says that he has had to pay many thousands of dollars of his own money because he obeyed the orders of the said Houston.

III. This defendant says that he never heard of these complaints, or that such a corporation existed, until long after he had delivered the bonds to Hoppkins & Co., in London. This defendant charges that if these complainants had any charge or complaint against him they ought to have brought it before this time, and not wait for more than six years to bring suit against him, and then instead of suing him at his domicile at the city of New York, bring this suit against him in Florida.

IV. This defendant says that if their bill be true, of which he knows nothing, and if Littlefield and Swepson embezzled the moneys of these complainants prior to the passage of the acts of 1869 and 1870 authorizing the bonds to be issued, as the complainants allege in their bill, that these complainants committed a gross fraud on the State of Florida and its people and on this defendant in not letting the embezzlement be known so as to advise the authorities of Florida and the public and this defendant not to deal with the aforesaid parties. This defendant, so far from believing that these gentlemen were the criminals that the complainants in this their bill, allege them to be, says that George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield were, prior to his receiving these bonds, represented to him to be men of capital and of good character, or this defendant would not have had any connection with 2378 them. That he did not know Swepson at all in any part of this transaction, and has never seen him, and his only knowledge of him was that he had been introduced to defendant's partner by a banker, and, at Houston's solicitation, this defendant's partner had sold Swepson the aforementioned Pensacola and Georgia first-mortgage bonds prior to the sale of that road in 1869, and while this defendant was a resident of London.

That if what these complainants say about these gentlemen in their bill is true (of which this defendant has no knowledge and does not assert), this defendant says, that it was the duty of these complainants to have prevented them from obtaining the passage of the statutes of Florida, of 1869 and 1870, by which they obtained these public securities; that they, the complainants, should have published and declared the acts of embezzlement, now in their bill of complaint alleged, instead of waiting till the securities were issued, and innocent parties, and this defendant, and the public of Florida had dealing with these securities, to their great injury, as this litigation shows.

V. This defendant absolutely denies that he had any knowledge of any of the illegal acts charged by these complainants against Littlefield, Swepson, or Houston, or either of them, relating to the embezzlement or fraudulent use by them, or either of them, of the moneys, securities, or other property of these complainants as in their bill alleged. This defendant says that he did not know that there ever was such a company as these complainants, or such a corporation in existence, and never knew that either Littlefield or Swepson ever were agents or officers, or in any way connected with such corporation, until long after he had delivered said bonds in April, 1871, and then only by hearsay, and in years afterwards by pleadings in certain suits, this one among the number.

2379 VI. This defendant further says that he delivered in London one thousand State bonds, numbered 3001 to 4000, inclusive, on the eighteenth of April, A. D. 1871, to S. W. Hopkins & Co. (as will hereafter more fully appear in this answer), and that he is informed and believes that after this defendant had delivered up the whole thousand bonds, that 800 of these identical bonds, numbered 3201 to 4000, both inclusive, were afterwards, and in the year 1872, in the hands of a receiver of the supreme court of the city and of the State o New York, tied up by order of that court, in two actions then pending, in each of which this complainant, The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, was a party defendant.

And this defendant is informed and states, as will more fully appear by reference to Schedule I of complainant's exhibits, attached to this bill, that these complainants assisted to procure, and did consent to, and did thereby obtain an order on the 6th day of December, 1872, by which John Collinson did receive 800 of these identical bonds, being numbered 3201 to 4000, inclusive, and carried the same to England to sell according to the understanding and agreement between the said North Carolina Railroad Company and the other parties to that suit; and that if Collinson should buy the bonds, the proceeds were to be divided amongst certain parties. And these complainants were, of the proceeds of these identical bonds, to receive the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, according to a consent decree obtained in said court on the day of December, A. D. 1872, which will more fully appear by reference to the consent and stipulation made by complainants, and a copy of this order filed with this answer, and marked Nos. 1 and 2.

This defendant avers the facts to be, that these complainants caused eight hundred (800) of these bonds, after this defendant had de-2380 livered them in London to S. W. Hopkins & Co., to be taken from a receiver of a court in New York, where they then were, in December, 1872, and sent to England for sale. And this defendant says that these complainants are estopped from denying that they aided and assisted and attempted to have these bonds sold long after this defendant had parted with the said bonds; and that it is a gross wrong on this defendant to have such charges brought against him by these complainants relative to these bonds.

VII. This defendant prays that the copies of the stipulations and consents of these complainants, filed herewith, marked Nos. 1 and 2, may be taken as a part of this his answer, and he says that when these orders were obtained he was not a party, and had no knowledge thereof, but subsequently, on hearing thereof, in the year 1877, he applied to said court, and was made a party thereto, and filed his answer in 1877, and in his answer insisted that the lien of this defendant therein admitted by these complainants and the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company had priority and was superior to all other liens for the payment of the debt therein admitted to be due; and this defendant says that the said suit is still pending and undecided in said court in the said City and State of New York.

VIII. This defendant further says, that he has been informed and believes, and so charges, that these complainants, on or about the 10th of April, A. D. 1870, and prior to the amendatory statute of 1870 (by the authority of which these bonds were issued), entered 2381 into a written agreement with the said Milton S. Littlefield and George W. Swepson, by which it was agreed that the said Littlefield should procure bonds of the State of Florida by legislation, substantially as was afterwards done by the passage of the amendatory act of 1870; and that he, Littlefield, should thus obtain bonds of the State of Florida in exchange for railroad bonds; and that the said State of Florida bonds, thus obtained, should be sold and the proceeds applied to the following purposes, to wit: one-half was to be paid to these complainants for the debts due by Littlefield and Swepson to these complainants, and the residue should be retained by the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company. And that under and in accordance with this unlawful and fraudulent contract on the people of Florida, and the minority stockholders of the Florida railroad companies, and this secret agreement, the said Littlefield subsequently caused and procured the passage of the act of 1870, which authorized the issue and exchange of these bonds, all of which was then unknown to this defendant, and was kept secret among the parties to the said agreement. And the defendant says that these complainants, by the said agreement, made the said Littlefield their agent, and that these complainants are now estopped from denying the legality of the issue and exchange of these bonds; and this defendant asks that he may have the benefit of the decision of Mr. Justice Bradley, heretofore made in this case, and the judgment of this court, that for and on account of this agreement these complainants are estopped, as in the said judge's opinion then declared.

IX. This defendant further says, that he is informed and believes that, in accordance with a settlement made between these complainants 2382 and the said M. S. Littlefield, these complainants received of the proceeds of the sale of State of Florida bonds, issued, under the act of 1870, to the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, the sum of fifty thousand dollars at one time, from S. W. Hopkins & Co., the fiscal agents of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company. And this defendant avers that he believes that these complainants are justly chargeable with the injuries that resulted from the alleged improper use of those bonds and their proceeds, and the failure to build the railroad westward; and this defendant says that there can be no doubt that if the stockholders or the people of Florida, or the legislature, had known that when the legislature passed the acts of 1869 and 1870, that the bonds thus authorized to be issued were to be sold, and the proceeds applied to repaying the embezzlement of the moneys and securities of this North Carolina corporation by Littlefield, Swepson, or by any other person, that the legislature would have refused to pass said acts, and, if passed, that no business man would have had anything to do with either the said persons or the bonds. And this defendant charges that the complainants have in their bill shown that, for and on account of their concealment of the alleged acts and defalcations of Littlefield and Swepson (if what these complainants say be true), they have debarred themselves of the relief prayed for in their said bill, and have committed a gross wrong on this defendant and the public, and especially the people of Florida, by concealing the same until long after the legislation was had, and the bonds issued, and dealt with by this defendant and other innocent parties.

X. This defendant further says that the Jacksonville, 2383 Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company is indebted to him in the sum of forty thousand dollars, with interest thereon, which is still due and unpaid, and that this defendant has a lien on 568 of these bonds for the payment of said sum of money; that these complainants and the said railroad company are estopped of record from denying the aforesaid claim and lien of this defendant, because he says that in the said suit in the supreme court of the State of New York, at a special term thereof, held in the city of New York, in said State, on the 18th day of January, A. D. 1873, these complainants and the said railroad company appeared before the Hon. George C. Barrett, justice, then presiding in said court, and then hearing the said suit of John Collinson, plaintiff, against S. W. Hopkins &. Co., the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and others, being defendants; that these complainants and said railroad company, with others, did then and there of record in said suit, among other things, admit, and in said cause did in writing declare that this defendant, "Thomas B. Coddington, had on" the said 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, a claim and "lien, to the amount of forty thousand dollars and" interest from the 29th day of August, 1872, on one "thousand of the said twelve hundred bonds so delivered" to the said John Collinson upon the footing of "the said agreement with him, and the said decree of" the said court of chancery, and such lien of said "Thomas B. Coddington attached and still attaches to" the proceeds, or so much thereof as may be necessary," of the said one thousand bonds, and he is entitled to "be paid out of such proceeds of said sum of forty" thousand dollars United States currency and interest "as aforesaid."

And this defendant says that these complainants are of record forever estopped from denying the lien and claims of this defendant as is above set forth, and on the 13th day of January, 1873, by them 2384 admitted to be a lien on said bonds from the 29th day of August,
A. D. 1872.

XI. This defendant says that on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1871, he gave Edward Houston the written instrument marked Schedule F; that, although by the said instrument it appears that Houston delivered and that this defendant received one thousand Florida Central Railroad Company first-mortgage bonds, payable to the State of Florida, for one thousand dollars each, yet this defendant alleges and says that the following are the actual facts:

That on the 11th day of January Houston, taking a servant with him and accompanied by this defendant, went to the office of Col. Robert H. Gamble, and received from Gamble the one thousand railroad bonds described in Schedule F.

That thereupon Houston and this defendant, and Houston's servant carrying the bonds, went immediately to the governor's office in the capitol, and the said one thousand railroad bonds were then and there given to Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, in the said executive chamber, and the said Governor Reed then delivered therefor one thousand State of Florida bonds of the face value of one thousand dollars each, and numbered from 3001 to 4000, inclusive, which said bonds this defendant understood were issued under the statutes of 1869 and 1870, described in complainant's bill.

That Houston directed his servant to take the package of State bonds and carry them to this defendant's room in the hotel; that Houston and this defendant, together with the said servant then carrying the bonds, went to the hotel, where the State bonds were by Houston left with this defendant.

2385 That this defendant, the next morning, at Houston's request, delivered to Houston the paper marked Schedule F, and the said Littlefield, as president of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, gave his full authority and assent thereto, and signed the same in his official capacity.

And this defendant says that, in the manner aforesaid, he did receive the said one thousand State of Florida bonds, numbered 3001 to 4000, and that the same were received by the authority, assent, and approval of the said president of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and in trust and for account of said Edward Houston.

And this defendant says that the disposition he was to make of the said bonds and their proceeds, if any were received by him, is set out in said Schedule F.

That the governor told this defendant, in Houston's presence, in the executive chamber, at the time of the delivery of the said State bonds, for this defendant not to take the bonds out of the State until the governor had made arrangements for the payment of certain moneys to the State of Florida with the said President Littlefield.

That, in accordance with this direction of the governor as aforesaid, this defendant remained with the bonds in Tallahassee until he received the following written instructions, which are in the words and figures following, to wit:

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE, JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA
AND MOBILE RAILROAD COMPANY,
Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 12, 1871.

T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq.,
Tallahassee, Florida:

MY DEAR SIR: I have the honor to give you the following instructions in relation to the bonds, or the proceeds thereof, which you have received from the governor in exchange for railroad bonds;

2386 1st. The bonds will be delivered to the parties in London, England, who have purchased the four thousand bonds issued in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and collect the pay therefor.

2d. You will pay the following-named parties, viz: Edward Houston, $163,000; M. D. Papy, $16,000; Judge Wescott, $5,000; Gamble, $15,000; Col. J. P. Sanderson, $57,000. I state the amounts not exactly, but about the sums, as you have them exact, upon each party delivering to me, or to my order, all stocks, bonds, coupons, notes, drafts, acceptances, or whatever the said is to pay for; but should any of the parties whose names are mentioned above refuse to receive the said amounts after it had been offered to them, and after Colonel Houston has been paid, then the said amounts shall be paid to me or to my order.

3d. The balance of the money will be placed to the order of his excellency Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, to pay indebtedness to the State.

Truly yours,

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
Pres. J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

P. S.—This letter is so far modified as to conform to the letter or receipt given by me to Edward Houston, and approved by me.

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
Pres. J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq.:

You will please place to my credit, in the National Trust Company of New York City, the amount called for in the above arrangement either by wire or letter, and oblige,

HARRISON REED,
Governor of Florida.

2387 And this defendant having received the above instructions from the said President Littlefield, and the governor of Florida and the said Houstoun being fully advised thereof and assenting thereto, this defendant having first, personally, bade good-bye to all the parties, was making his arrangements to return to New York by the railroad from Tallahassee, and so informed the president of the road; thereupon, President Littlefield directed this defendant to go by the way of Thomasville and Charleston; and the said Littlefield informed this defendant that he (President Littlefield) had provided a carriage, and that for the safety of the bonds, he, Littlefield, would send him by his carriage (accompanied by his secretary) to Thomasville, Georgia, where this defendant could take the rail, and that his secretary, for safety to the bonds, would accompany this defendant as far as Charleston. That, as directed by the said Littlefield, this defendant went in the said carriage to Thomasville, and thence by rail to New York; and that the secretary of the said Littlefield did accompany this defendant as far as Charleston from Tallahassee.

And that after the arrival of this defendant in New York, he proceeded by the first steamer to Europe, and reached the city of London with the bonds as speedily as practicable and without delay.

That this defendant, having thus received the said State bonds on the 11th day of January, A. D. 1871, retained and kept them in London, England, until the (18) eighteenth day of April, A. D. 1871, because he could not get the money for them, when this defendant, having been peremptorily ordered by the said Edward Houston, did, on said eighteenth day of April, A. D. 1871, deliver the said one thousand State bonds, numbered 3001 to 4000, inclusive, to S. W. Hopkins & Co., London, England.

And this defendant says that, as aforesaid, he received said one thousand bonds, Nos. 3001 to 4000, on the 11th of January, A. D. 1871, 2388 and delivered them as ordered on the 18th day of April, A. D. 1871, in Lon-don, to S. W. Hopkins & Co. And this defendant says the orders and directions to him to deliver the said one thousand bonds are as follows:

That he received in London the following message by cable from Edward Houston:

Atlantic cable message. Station from Savannah.

From E. Houston to Coddington, care Hopkins, London.

Deliver bonds to Hopkins. Everybody protected.

And this defendant also received the following from Edward Houston:

SAVANNAH, GA., April 11th, 1871.

T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq., London :

DEAR SIR : I hereby authorize and request you to deliver to Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, the one thousand Florida State bonds, of one thousand dollars each, received by you from the State of Florida, in exchange for a like number and amount of the bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, the same having been delivered to you by me, to be held in trust, as per your receipt, dated January 11, 1871, which I now surrender herewith, I having no further lien on or against either of the above mentioned bonds.

Yours respectfully,

E. HOUSTON.

Also the following :

TALLAHASSEE, FLA., April 6th, 1871.

SIR : I hereby recall my letter of instructions to you, dated January 12, 1871, and also all instructions subsequently given ; and now direct 2389 you to deliver to Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., of 58 Old Broad street, London, the one thousand bonds of one thousand dollars each, to wit, one million dollars of the State of Florida, issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, now held by you, as trustee, whenever Edward Houston, esq., shall authorize and direct you so to do ; imposing upon you the single duty of procuring from Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co. their signature to the written agreement entered into with you, which is intended to fix upon them the responsibility of carrying out my original orders, and relieving you therefrom.

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
Pres. J., P. and M. R. R. Co.

To T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq.

And on the face of this instrument and across the writing was the following :

I hereby approve of and ratify this order.

HARRISON REED,
Governor of Florida.

I do hereby authorize and request T. B. Coddington, esq., to deliver the within mentioned bonds to S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, as I have no further lien against them.

E. HOUSTON.

Which was communicated to me by my firm in New York, prior to the cable from Houston, ordering me to deliver the bonds.

XII. This defendant further says that the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. had also a house in New York as well as in the city of London, and 2390 were the same firm and composed of the said parties ; and that the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. were then the fiscal agents of the State of Florida, and of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company ; and that, as aforesaid, this defendant, as thus directed, did deliver said one thousand bonds, numbered 3001 to 4000, inclusive, to said S. W. Hopkins & Co., in London, and obtained their signature, as in said instructions directed ; that having delivered the said bonds of the 18th of April, as directed by cable from Houston, that afterwards the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. sent a message by cable to their New York house, notifying them of the receipt of the bonds—and thereupon the New York house of S. W. Hopkins & Co. sent the following letter to the partner of this defendant, and also sent Mr. Nichols the original receipt (Schedule F of complainant's bill), which this defendant had given to Houston, as aforesaid, dated April 11th, to deliver the bonds, all of which the defendant was advised of by his said partner, as aforesaid.

That acknowledgment and letter is as follows:

S. W. HOPKINS & CO.,
71 BROADWAY, NEAR WALL STREET,
New York, April 19, 1871.

GEO. L. NICHOLS, Esq.:

DEAR SIR: A cablegram received this morning from our London house, announces that Mr. Coddington has delivered the bonds. Enclosed please find Mr. Coddington's original receipt to Mr. Houston, dated Tallahassee, January 11th, 1871; also Col. Houston's authority for the delivery; please acknowledge receipt of these documents; we should be glad to know if you have anything from Mr. Coddington, confirming our despatch.

Very truly yours,

S. W. HOPKINS & CO.,
Per L. L. SPRING.

2391 XIII. This defendant further says that these bonds were delivered by the order of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and that the exchange of the railroad bonds for the State bonds was made by the authority of the said Florida Central Railroad Company.

And that at a stockholders' meeting of the Florida Central Railroad Company, duly assembled in accordance with law, and after this defendant had received the said State bonds, as above stated, the following resolution was offered at said stockholders' meeting, to wit:

"Resolved, That Edward Houston do place the bonds referred to in the preamble and resolutions of the stockholders, adopted June 20th, 1870, in the hands of S. W. Hopkins & Co., for the purpose mentioned in said resolutions, subject to the same exceptions as therein expressed with respect to the proportion thereof applicable to the stock owned by other parties, and according to the same terms therein mentioned."

And this defendant has been informed and believes that said resolution was passed by a large majority of said capital stock, and was and is of lawful and binding force on said railroad company, and on all and every of its stockholders, and this resolution authorized the exchange and delivery aforesaid.

XIV. This defendant further says that the complainants are estopped from denying the legality of the said exchange of bonds, or of their delivery to said S. W. Hopkins & Co., because he says that, as will appear by an examination of the case in the supreme court of the State of Florida, wherein the Florida Central Railroad Company and 2392 others were appellants, and the State of Florida and others were respondents, and in which case the legality and validity of the issue of the said railroad bonds and the exchange of the State bonds therefor, and the obligation of the said railroad company therefor was involved, the said supreme court of Florida did decide that after this defendant had received the said bonds that the foregoing resolution was adopted at a stockholders' meeting, and the supreme court did further, in said case, declare and decide that the resolution was adopted.

"The bonds here referred to are the bonds now held by the State. So far as the exchange of these bonds by the company is concerned, here is its express authority given for it, and that must be the end of the matter."

This defendant says that the same will be found in the XV volume of Florida Reports, at pages 709 and 710, and that the same is a public record, and published by authority of the State of Florida, to which this defendant begs leave to refer.

And this defendant says, as advised by counsel, that these complainants to this bill have had all their rights adjudicated in the aforesaid case, as to the exchange, issue and delivery of these bonds, and that they are estopped from denying the same, if the complainants are held to be the legal or equitable stockholders of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

This defendant therefore alleges, from the facts as before stated as to his receiving these bonds, and as to his delivering them, that as soon as he did, in accordance with the aforesaid instructions, deliver them to the said S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, there was no further obligation or liability resting upon this defendant, as he obeyed the instructions of all the parties interested, as heretofore shown.

XV. This defendant further says that he never paid any 2392½ moneys to John P. Sanderson, nor to Flagg, nor to M. D. Papy, but that he understood and was informed that they were paid the said sums specified in Schedule F by S. W. Hopkins & Co. And that this defendant never paid any money to Governor Reed, nor to any other person except to Houston and, as hereinafter mentioned, to Judge Wescott.

XVI. That Judge Wescott insisted on selling his stock, and that this defendant gave the said Wescott his draft on T. B. Coddington & Co., of New York, before this defendant left Florida, for the price agreed upon, and that the firm of this defendant paid the said draft, but that this sum which defendant paid Judge Wescott for his stock, $3,845.23, was refunded to defendant's firm by S. W. Hopkins & Co. And this defendant was subsequently informed that Hopkins & Co., by order of M. S. Littlefield, turned over the certificate of Judge Wescott's stock to said Littlefield.

XVII. That this defendant, in New York, on 17th January, 1871, received from S. W. Hopkins & Co., $5,000 for Edward Houston, and this defendant paid out the said $5,000 by Houston's order; and that in 1871 this defendant received for the said Edward Houston from S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, $48,955, which this defendant sent to Earle & Perkins, for the said Houston, and was duly received by the said Houston, making, in all, the sums of $53,955 which this defendant received from S. W. Hopkins & Co., and paid to Edward Houston, prior to this defendant delivering up said one thousand bonds. This defendant turned over and delivered up said one thousand bonds to 2392¾ said S. W. Hopkins & Co., on the said 18th day of April, A. D., 1871. That the aforesaid sums of money were not derived from the proceeds of said bonds, Nos. 3001 to 4000 inclusive.

XVIII. This defendant further says that he received no benefit whatever from the said transaction relating to these bonds; but, on the contrary, that he has had to pay out in cash many thousands of dollars, by reason of his turning over the said bonds to S. W. Hopkins & Co., by order of the said Edward Houston, whose trustee and agent this defendant was, and that the said Houston received the benefit, and this defendant was thereby injured, as will more fully appear.

That Robert H. Gamble brought suit against this defendant in the court of common pleas for the city and county of New York, for the injury resulting to him, Gamble, by this defendant delivering said one thousand bonds to S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, as aforesaid, without this defendant having first paid the said Gamble the moneys as set forth in Schedule F. This defendant employed able and skillful counsellors and attorneys to defend said suit, and did defend the same with all lawful measures. That the suit was tried by the court and a jury, and a verdict was rendered against this defendant in due form of law in favor of the said Gamble, on the 27th day of April, A. D. 1876, for the sum of $21,553.33 and costs, and 250 allowance for counsel fee. That on the 19th of May, A. D. 1876, this defendant settled and fully satisfied the said verdict, upon an agreement between the said Gamble and himself, in full satisfaction, for the sum of $15,750, cash in hand paid by this defendant of this defendant's own moneys; and that this defendant has had to expend of his own moneys the further sum of about three thousand dollars.

2393 XIX. That Houston and Littlefield were the owners of about two-thirds of the capital stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and that Littlefield was also the owner of about two thirds of the stock of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company.

XX. This defendant further says that in this whole transaction relating to these one thousand State of Florida bonds, No. 3001 to 4000, inclusive, this defendant was acting as the agent and trustee of Edward Houston, and not of any other party, State, corporation or individual. And that Edward Houston procured an order from the stockholders of the Florida Central Railroad Company, in due and legal form, directing him, Houston, to deliver said State bonds, No. 3001 to 4000, inclusive, to S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, and that the delivery of said State bonds by this defendant to the said S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, was in accordance with the aforesaid resolution, this said defendant then acting as the agent of the said Houston, and delivering said State bonds by Houston's express direction, as aforesaid.

XXI. This defendant denies that the complainants were or are authorized by their charter to acquire or own any stock in any railroad company in the State of Florida, or to acquire any capital stock of any corporation, or any other property in the State of Florida.

2394 XXII. And this defendant having now fully answered, prays to be hence dismissed, with his costs in this behalf most wrongfully sustained.

D. P. HOLLAND,
Of counsel.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Southern District of New York, ss:

Before me, John A. Shields, commisioner of the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of New York, personally appeared Thomas B. Coddington, one of the defendants in the above suit, who, being duly sworn on oath, says that the facts stated as of his own knowledge in the above answer are true, and those stated on information he believes to be true.

T. B. CODDINGTON.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 18th day of Oct., A. D. 1877.

Commissioner of the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of New York.

2395 In the United States circuit court, northern district of Florida, fifth judicial circuit. In equity.

J. FRED. SCHUTTE, JAN PRINS, ADRIANUS Prins, and others,
against
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company and others.

To the solicitors for the defendants:

Please take notice that we have this day filed in the office of the clerk of said court interrogatories to be exhibited and propounded to a certain witness, whose name is in said interrogatories stated, a copy of which are hereby annexed, to be examined by commission to be issued in the above stated cause to take deposition of said witness. After the expiration of ten days from the date of this service, we will apply to the said circuit court, if in session, and if not in session to the clerk 2396 thereof, for the issuance of such commission, and we will nominate as the person to be appointed to execute the said commission, John A. Shields, in the post-office building of New York City, in the State of New York, of all of which please take notice.

2397 In the United States circuit court, northern district of Florida, fifth judicial circuit. In equity.

J. FRED. SCHUTTE, JAN PRINS, ADRIANUS PRINS, Heinrich Ulrici, Elias Fuld, and others,
against
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company and others.

Interrogatories to be propounded to Thomas B. Coddington, a witness to be examined on behalf of the complainant in the above entitled caus' who reside, in the city of New York and State of New York.

Interrogatory one. What is your name, age, occupation and residence?

Interrogatory second. Do you know the parties, plaintiffs or defendants, or either of them?

2398 Interrogatory third. Have you at any time had in your possession bonds issued by the governor of the State of Florida to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company? If yea, state fully at large how you came possessed of said bonds, and what you did with them, for what purpose they were placed in your possession, and what undertaking you gave to any one on receiving said bonds, and please append a sworn copy thereof to your answer to this interrogatory.

Interrogatory fourth. Did you or not make and swear to and caused to be filed an answer to a bill in equity filed by the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company in the circuit court of the United States for the northern district of Florida against George F. Drew, governor of Florida; yourself, and others.

2399 Interrogatory fifth. If you say you filed such answer, please examine the printed paper hereto annexed marked Exhibit A, and state whether or not the same is a true and correct copy of such answer so sworn to and filed by you; and also say whether you are now willing to testify in respect to the said bonds and your dealings therewith and the acts of others as the said answer sets forth and states, and if you are now ready and willing to depose on this examination in like manner as was done by you in said answer.

Interrogatory sixth. If you say that the said answer contains a full, true, and complete statement of all your acts and dealings with said bonds and of the acts of others so far as came to your knowledge, please so state in your answer to this interrogatory and make such 2400 answer, in equity, a reply to the question now again herein repeated. Relate fully all that you did with respect to the bonds mentioned in the third interrogatory, and what was done by others in connection with yourself in respect to such bonds.

Interrogatory seventh. Were you in London, England, in the winter of 1870 and 1871, and in that of December, 1872–'73 and spring of the latter year? Were you informed of any sales of any of said bonds in London, England, or elsewhere in 1872 or 1873, and especially answer as to any sale of any of the bonds of which you once had possession, to whom and by whom any were sold, and say how you acquired your information?

Interrogatory eighth. Do you or not know and can you state 2401 anything as to the sale in London, England, or elsewhere of any of the first three thousand bonds issued by the governor of Florida to the said Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company? If you say you have any such knowledge or information, please state what you know, and how and at what time you acquired your information.

Interrogatory ninth. Did you or not present to S. W. Hopkins and Company, in London, England, a draft drawn by the said Jacksonville Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company by its president, Milton S. Littlefield, in favor of Harrison Reed, governor, for the sum of two hundred and twenty-three thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars? If you say you did, please state whether the said S. W. Hopkins and Company accepted or refused to accept said draft, and whether they paid it and what became of such draft.

2402 Interrogatory tenth. Have you or not authorized Daniel P. Holland or any other solicitor to make application to the United States circuit court for the northern district of Florida to admit you to become a party defendant in the suit in which you are now examined as a witness; have you been admitted as a defendant therein?

Final interrogatory. Do you know or can you set forth any other matter or thing which may be a benefit or advantage to the parties at issue in this cause, or either of them, or that may be material to the subject of this your examination or the matters in question in this cause? If yea, set forth the same fully and at large in you answer.

J. FRED. SCHUTTE, JAN PRINS, ADRIANUS Prins, et al.,
vs.
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina R. R. Company et als.

Cross-interrogatories to be propounded to Thomas B. Coddington, a witness proposed to be examined on behalf of the complainants in the above entitled cause, and a resident of the city of New York, such cross-interrogatories to be propounded in behalf of the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida, defendants in the above action; objections to interrogatories also.

First. (1) Defendants object to the (5th) fifth and (6th) sixth interrogatories, because the same are leading and suggest to the witness and furnish him through or by means of the copy of the answer filed 2404 by him in the case of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, with the answer desired of him or called for by the complainants.

Subject to the above objection, witness will please state precisely what parts of the answers made to the said 5th and 6th direct interrogatories are made of his own knowledge, and what parts are derived from information conveyed to him by others.

Second. (2) If you have answered the eighth direct interrogatory affirmatively, please state precisely what parts of your answer are made upon your own knowledge and what parts upon information derived from others.

Third. (3) These defendants object to the ninth direct interrogatory, because it is irrelevant and immaterial.

2406 In the circuit court of the United States, fifth judicial circuit, northern district of Florida. In equity.

J. FRED. SCHUTTE, JAN PRINS, ADRIANUS
Prins, and others, complainants,
against
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company, The Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, The Florida Central Railroad Company, and others, defendants.

Interrogatories to be propounded to John Collinson, of London, England, a material witness for complainants, who is to be examined under a commission issued in said cause in the city of New York.

Interrogatory first. What is your name and residence? Where did you reside in the years 1870, 1871, 1872, and 1873? What was your occupation at such times?

2407 Interrogatory second. Had you during the years before designated in the first interrogatory, any dealings with the firm of S. W. Hopkins and Company? If you say you did, please state what were the dealings so had. Relate fully, and at large, all that was done by and between said S. W. Hopkins and yourself. Whether you purchased any bonds from said firm, which were issued by the governor of the State of Florida to the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company. If you have ever made any statement as to the matters herein enquired of in any judicial proceedings, please file in answer to this interrogatory a written or printed copy of such statement, and state whether or not you are now ready to repeat in this examination the contents of such document, and say whether the contents thereof are true.

2408 Interrogatory third. At what place or places were the bonds purchased by you from S. W. Hopkins & Co. (if you testify to the making of any such purchases) put on the market and sold, by whom such transaction was conducted; what representation was made and published in Holland or elsewhere by such persons; where they offered and sold said bonds; relate fully all that was said and done by yourself alone or by said persons to induce purchasers in Holland or elsewhere to purchase or deal in said bonds.

Interrogatory fourth. When you purchased the said bonds from S. W.

Hopkins & Co. (if any you did purchase), were there any persons concerned with you in making such purchase? if yea, state their 2409 names and residences; what share, if any, they had therein and when their interest commenced?

Interrogatory fifth. From whom, how, and where did you procure the money to buy or pay for the said bonds, if any were bought and paid for by you, from S. W. Hopkins & Co.? Did you furnish the whole purchase-money, or did others? If others, who were such contributors? Answer fully and state what organization or association was created by you to buy and pay for said bonds.

Interrogatory sixth. If you answer and say that you obtained money from others to pay said S. W. Hopkins & Co. for said bonds, state what representations were made by you to such persons as to the character and validity of said bonds, the security provided for the payment thereof, the length of completed railroad owned by the Jackson-2410 ville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, the place at which such railroad commenced, on the waters of the Atlantic Ocean, the then western terminus and the line of such railroad, and state on what authority you made such representations, from whom you derived your knowledge of such matters, and at what time you acquired it.

Interrogatory seventh. What representations were made to you by S. W. Hopkins & Co., as to the matters stated in the foregoing interrogatory? If any were made to you by them, when and on what occasion were such representations made?

Interrogatory eighth. Did you in the years 1870, 1871, 1872 and 1873, sell any of the bonds specified in the second interrogatory, directly or indirectly, to any persons in Holland or elsewhere? If so, state 2411 how many you sold, at what price, and relate fully how, and by whom, such sales were conducted, and what representations were made by you or by others by your authority to the persons who purchased said bonds, if any you sold; relate fully all that was done by you or by others acting with you to market said bonds, and all that was represented as to their nature and character, and as to the security provided for their redemption and the character of such security.

Interrogatory ninth. Read the 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th paragraphs of the copy of the bill of complaint filed in the suit in which you are now examined, which copy is herewith exhibited to you. Say whether you have any knowledge or information as to the correctness or incorrectness of statements made therein, and state how you 2412 acquired your knowledge. Do you or not know whether the statements so made are true or otherwise? If otherwise, say how otherwise. Answer fully all that you know as to the matters stated in such paragraphs of said bill.

Interrogatory tenth. Did you or not receive from Calvin L. Chase, or by his authority, any bonds such as are designated in the second interrogatory? If you say you did, state what were the numbers of said bonds, under what circumstances, and for what purpose, you received them; at what time and place did you receive them, how you disposed of them; and if you sold them, say to whom, and where, and at what price; say what you did with the purchase money, whether you paid the same to any account, and, if any, to what account.

2413 Interrogatory eleventh. Did you or not pay any money for interest on any of the bonds specified in the 2nd interrogatory? If yea, say at what time, from what fund, and how you paid such interest; on what number of bonds you made such payment, and to whom, and through whom, the money was paid. If you say you advanced such money, say whether such advance was reimbursed to you, and how, and from what source such reimbursement was made.

Interrogatory twelfth & final. Do you know, or can you set forth any other matter or thing which may be a benefit or advantage to the parties at issue in this cause, or either of them, or that may be material to the subject of this your examination, or the matters in question 2414 in this cause? If yea, set forth the same fully and at large in your answer.

J. Franket, Johannes Willem Donk, Vander Stoop & Berg, who are aliens and subjects of the King of the Netherlands, bring this their bill of complaint in their own behalf, and in behalf of such other persons, having like claims, who may come in and be made parties plaintiffs herein and contribute to the expenses thereof,

against

The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, a corporation created by and existing under the laws of said State, and a citizen thereof, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, the Florida Central Railroad Company, corporations created by and existing under the laws of the State of Florida, and citizens thereof, Edward Lewis, Patrick Houstoun, Robert H. Gamble, Charles E. Dyke, sr., Edward M. L'Engle, Robert Walker, Clayton A. Cowgill, George W. Betton, directors in said last mentioned corporation, and who are citizens of the State of Florida; James M. Baker, George R. Foster, W. J. Lawton, Milton S. Littlefield, N. K. Sawyer, J. C. L'Engle, Edward M. L'Engle, Charles B. Fenwick, who are citizens of the State of Florida, and Joseph B. Stewart, who is a citizen of the State of New 2416 York, claiming to be directors in said
Florida Central Railroad Company;

Francis Vose, who is a citizen of the State of New York, M. K. Jessup & Co., who are citizens of the same State; Chandler H. Smith, S. A. Smith, sr., Smith Simkins, B. C. Lewis, D. Griffith Ambler, W. J. Hines, trustee; Mrs. A. F. Finlayson, James G. Gibbes, who are citizens of the State of Florida; Edward C. Anderson, James Hunter, E. Waitzfeller, John M. Guerard, John C. Falligant, Lewis F. Nicoll, George Robertson, J. A. Hunnicutt, who are citizens of the State of Georgia; The People's Bank, a corporation created by and existing under the laws of the State of South Carolina, and a citizen of said State; William McBurney, Winthrop B. Williams, who are citizens of the State of South Carolina; George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida; Walter Gwynn, treasurer of the State of Florida; Hugh A. Corley, commissioner of lands and immigration of the State of Florida; George P. Raney, attorney-general; Walter Gwynn, treasurer; Columbus Drew, comptroller; George F. Drew, governor; which officers are trustees of the internal improvement fund and herein sued as such; Milton S. Littlefield, in his own right; Robert J. Washington, who is a citizen of the State of Virginia.

And thereupon your orators complain and say:

I. That on the 20th of March, 1869, the trustees of the internal improvement fund, acting under the powers conferred upon them by "An act of the general assembly of the State of Florida entitled 'An act to provide for and encourage a liberal system of internal improvement in this State,'" approved January 6th, 1855, took possession of and sold at public auction the railroads and property which belonged to and were used by the Pensacola and Georgia, and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, which railroads extended from Lake City to Quincy, with a branch at Monticello, and from Tallahassee to St. Mark's. Said sale was made because of non-compliance with the third section of said law.

2417 II. That said sale was fairly conducted and made in strict compliance with the provisions of said law; that the aggregate amounts for which said roads were sold was the sum of one million four hundred and fifteen thousand dollars, which sum exceeded the total amount of the principal of all the bonds then outstanding, which were issued by said corporations under the said law.

III. That F. Dibble and associates purchased said roads at said sale, and paid the purchase money, and the said trustees made deeds under their seals, by which they conveyed said property to said purchasers, reciting therein the payment of the purchase moneys, which deeds they delivered to said Dibble, and immediately placed him in possession of said railroads and property.

IV. That complainants have been informed within a short period that part of said purchase money was accepted by said trustees in said bonds issued by the said corporations, which they immediately cancelled, and the balance was placed by said trustees in the hands of Geo. W. Swepson, as agent of said trustees, with directions to purchase and deliver to them for cancellation the outstanding of said bonds of said companies, which were entitled to payment out of said fund; that said Swepson was a man in good credit, reputed to be worth at least a half million of dollars, and had that amount in Florida; that the said trustees acted in the premises within the scope of their authority and in good faith, and to carry into execution the powers with which they were vested by law.

V. That said Dibble and associates afterward became incorporated by an act of the legislature of Florida, under the name and style of Tallahassee Railroad Company, for the purpose of operating the said railroads to which they had so acquired title. Afterwards the said Tallahassee Railroad Company, and said Dibble and associates, conveyed the said railroads to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, of which Geo. W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield owned nearly the entire stock.

2418 VI. That in the year 1870, the last named company, which will hereafter be spoken of as the J., P. & M. Co., obtained from the governor of Florida, Harrison Reed, four thousand bonds of one thousand dollars each, which were issued by said governor in accordance with the laws incorporating said J., P. & M. Co., and which bonds purported to obligate the State of Florida to pay to the bearer thereof one thousand dollars on each bond, with interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, a copy of one of which bonds is hereto annexed, marked A, and prayed to be referred to.

VII. The said J., P. & M. Co. delivered to the governor of said State, in exchange for said four thousand bonds, which he received from him, a like amount of bonds, three thousand of which were executed by the said J., P. & M. Co., and one thousand by the Florida Central Railroad Company. Said bonds were for the sum of one thousand dollars each, bearing interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, payable to the State of Florida. Copies of each description of said bonds are filed herewith, marked B and C, and prayed to be referred to. The execution and delivery of said bonds was done by said companies in order to comply with the terms of the laws incorporating the said J., P. & M. Co.

VIII. That when the said bonds were executed by the Florida Central Company, Milton S. Littlefield owned a large majority of its stock, and he had contracted to buy from Edward Houstoun, J. P. Sanderson, and others, stock owned by them, which, added to his own, constituted all the shares of said company, except about four hundred. The whole number was 5,500. That such purchases were made by said Littlefield for the purpose of making a consolidation of the Florida Central with the J., P. & M. Co., which object was known to the parties from whom Littlefield purchased said stock, and they sold to aid therein; that the one thousand bonds issued as bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and delivered to the governor, were caused to be executed and delivered by the joint action of said Houstoun and said other stockholders, in order to enable the said J., P. & M. Co. to obtain from the governor the Florida State bonds (so-called), and with the understanding and agreement 2419 that said bonds should be sold, and said Littlefield should make payment for the stock purchased from said Houstoun and said other stockholders out of the proceeds, which he in fact did, with the exception of the stock which he purchased from said Gamble, for which he paid in part only; that the holders of some shares of stock in said Florida Central Company, other than those before mentioned, although they had notice of the acts and intentions of said Littlefield.

Houstoun, and said other stockholders in the foregoing paragraph set forth, took no steps to prevent the execution thereof, and remained inactive and acquiescent until long after the sale which was made of the Florida State bonds (so called), as is hereinafter set forth; that the said Littlefield, and the others who were connected with him in the management of the J., P. & M. Co., immediately after the issuance of the Florida State bonds (so called), took possession of and operated the line of railroads which formerly belonged to the Florida Central, which lies between Jacksonville and Lake City, and treated it as constituting, with the roads formerly belonging to the Pensacola & Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Company, and which had become the property of the J., P. & M. Co., in the manner before stated, as the line of railroads of the said J., P. & M. Co., and took and disposed of the earnings of the whole. In the year 1871 said J., P. & M. Co. conveyed the whole of said roads, by deed, to trustees to pay debts due by the J., P. & M. Co., in which deed the line of railroad from Jacksonville to Lake City was treated and conveyed as the property of the J., P. & M. Co. The said trustees took possession of and operated the said road conveyed to them for a considerable space of time, and without any interference on the part of any bona fide stockholders of the said Florida Central Company.

IX. That the said J., P. & M. Co. sent the bonds which they obtained from the governor of Florida to England, and sold nearly all through an agent in the city of London. Such sale was made to a banker in said city, at the price of about one hundred and thirty-eight pounds sterling per bond. The said buyer afterwards resold the said bonds through bankers in the city of Amsterdam, Holland, by whom they were offered 2420 for sale to the public in said city and in other parts of the Netherlands, and which said bonds were dealt in on the stock exchange of Amsterdam as other public securities were, in full reliance by all purchasers upon the representations which were made in respect to such bonds, which are hereinafter set forth and stated; that said bonds bore a good price so long as the interest was paid thereon, bringing at one time as high as eighty-one per cent. gold in United States coin.

X. The said J., P. & M. Co., through its agents in London, represented to the public in England, Holland, Germany, and France, that the said bonds were veritable and lawful obligations of the State of Florida; that the interest thereon would be punctually paid by said State; that there was provided by law of said State as a security for the payment of said bonds a lien on the whole line of railroad from Jacksonville west; which line was represented to be owned by the J., P. & M. Co. alone. That the banker by whom they were purchased in London repeated the same representation to the bankers in Amsterdam, and they to the public in the Netherlands, and to complainants, as well as to others who purchased, sold, and dealt in said bonds.

XI. That complainants are the owners of a large number of the said bonds issued by Governor Harrison Reed to the said J., P. & M. Co., and sold by its agents as before set forth, which bonds are numbered between number one and number three thousand two hundred; the numbers belonging to each of complainants are stated in affidavits made by them before the American consul in Amsterdam, which affidavits are filed herewith and are prayed to be referred to as a part of this bill. Complainants are ready to produce said bonds when required, and will be able to produce them upon their arrival in the United States, they being on the way from Amsterdam to New York, to which latter place they have been sent by complainants to Adolphe Engler, as agent of complainants, entrusted by them to deal with said bonds as may be determined to be for the interest of complainants by their agent, Charles D. Willard, and their counsel. That interest from the 1st day of 2421 January, 1873, is due and unpaid on said bonds, and they have applied to the governor of the State of Florida to enter upon and seize and take possession of the line of railroads and property thereto pertaining, before described as belonging to the said J., P. & M. Co., including an extension of said railroad, which has been constructed by the said company, from Quincy to the Apalachicola River since the year 1870; and complainants say they have a right to have said railroads seized and sold for the payment of the principal and interest of the bonds held by them; and in case they should desire to become purchasers at said sale they should be permitted to make payment with their said bonds as far as they may be sufficient therefor.

That interest was paid on said bonds after they were sold up to January 1st, 1873, semi-annually, by a trust company in the city of New York, which was appointed by the governor of Florida as the fiscal agent of the State to pay such interest; that the said governor gave notice to the holders of such bonds of such appointment; that it was represented to the persons who dealt in said bonds, including complainants, that the money for the payment of such interest was provided by the State; that owing to such an occurrence and such information, the belief that such bonds were lawfully issued by the governor of Florida was greatly strengthened, and full faith was also given to all that had been represented by said J., P. & M. Co. as to the extent of its own line of railroads.

XII. Complainants are informed that defendants, Francis Vose, M. K. Jessup & Co., Chandler H. Smith, S. A. Smith, sr., Smith Simpkins, B. C. Lewis, D. Griffith Ambler, W. J. Hines, trustee, Mrs. A. F. Finlayson, James G. Gibbs, Edward C. Anderson, James Hunter, E. Waitzfeller, John M. Guerard, John C. Falligant, Louis F. Nicoll, George Robertson, The People's Bank, William McBurney and Winthrop B. Williams, together with other persons whose names and citizenship are to complainants unknown, allege that they are the holders of the outstanding and unpaid bonds which were issued by the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies under the provision of the 3d section of the internal improvement act of 1855, and that there is a subsisting lien on the railroads which were sold by said trustees
2422 to F. Dibble and associates, for the payment of said bonds, and said defendants at times assert that the original lien and power of sale given by the act aforesaid is still in force; and other times they assert that the said F. Dibble and associates did not pay to said trustees the full amount of said purchase money, and that there remains due on such account the sum of $472,065, and interest. And that said trustees, as vendors, have in equity a lien on said railroad and property for such sum of money, and they have demanded of said trustees that they proceed to enforce such lien irrespective of the paramount lien which complainants herein assert to exist for payment of their bonds. All of which pretenses and claims, made by the holders of said Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee bonds, complainants allege to be without support, in fact, and they are advised that they are not well founded in law. Complainants insist that the holders of said bonds are bound by the acts of said trustees; that such acts were done in the exercise of powers conferred upon them by the law of 1855, and that even if they acted in bad faith and corruptly when they executed and delivered the said deed of said property to said F. Dibble, and entrusted said Swepson with said money and accepted his obligation to purchase for them said outstanding bonds, complainants, as bona fide purchasers, as they allege themselves to be, without actual notice of any wrong or fraud on the part of said trustees or of said Dibble and associates, or of said Swepson, and claiming as they do under the title created by the contract made between the said Dibble and associates and the J., P. & M. Co., and the subsequent contract and trust created by the acts of the legislature which incorporated the said J., P. & M. Co., are not affected thereby, nor liable to be postponed to any vendor's lien in favor of said trustees, such as is asserted to exist by said P. & G. and Talla. bondholders; that the complainants' right to subject said railroad to payment of their bonds arises out of conveyances of the legal title made by the purchasers from the said trustees and those to whom they conveyed, and that there is no privity of contract between complainants and the said trustees. Complainants claim under the legal title, and therefore have a higher and better equity to payment out of said railroad and property than any which can be set up by the holders of said 2423 unpaid P. & G. and Talla. bonds, and complainants insist that the P. & G. and Talla. bondholders have failed to cause the said trustees to sue the said Swepson to recover the amount due by him, and for which said trustees hold his written obligation, and complainants insist that until such proceeding has been taken and has proved to be ineffectual, and until it appears that said trustees have not lost their remedy against said Swepson by reason of any laches on their part, the said bondholders who assert that they are entitled to a lien on said railroad superior to the equities which are by complainants stated herein to exist in their favor, should be enjoined from maintaining or asserting any such lien.

Complainants insist that no such claim as is attempted to be set up by said bondholders should be entertained in a court of equity, because of the time which has elapsed since the happening of the events and the doing of the acts by said trustees and said Dibble and associates and said Swepson, upon which the said bondholders rely to sustain their claim, all of which transactions took place in the year 1869, and as to which the persons by whom the outstanding bonds of the P. & G. and Talla. Co's were owned at the time had full notice, and that said Vose and many of said defendants, having like securities, have purchased within a short time for purposes of speculation and litigation, with full notice. That the persons who held said bonds in March, 1869, had notice of the transactions herein stated in relation to said railroads, which were done by said Dibble and associates, and also of the passage of the laws disposing of and transferring the said railroads, the creation of said Tallahassee and of said J., P. & M. Co's, and the authority given by law to the latter company to create a lien on said railroads and under which lien it is that complainants seek payment of their bonds. That as such persons had such knowledge and information and did not take any proceedings, such as they might have taken, to prevent the J., P. & M. Co. from doing what they were authorized to do by their charter, they, the said holders of P. & G. and Talla. bonds, have no right now to object to any of the acts that were done by said corporation under such authority of law, but that they are estopped to deny the legal consequences which arise out of such acts. Complainants
never constituted a lien on the roads owned by said companies for the sum of money other than the principal of such bonds; that the interest thereof was secured by the land trust fund created by the act of 1855, and complainants are informed, and therefore allege, that said fund is ample security for such interest, and they insist that the holders of said bonds, whatever claim they may have, should be required to exhaust such fund before resorting to a security such as the railroad, which is not common to them and to complainants. Complainants are advised that the said bondholders had the right to have the sinking fund, which was provided by the act of 1855, collected and invested in the manner specified in said act, and in case of any loss of any part thereof by the acts of trustees, that they had a remedy against them and also a right to have the loss made good to them out of the proceeds of the sale of the land conveyed to the trustees by the State, and complainants insist that said bondholders should be restricted to such sinking fund and to such remedies for the collection and restoration thereof as are herein stated to exist and open to be pursued by them.

XIII. That the defendants, the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, Milton S. Littlefield, James M. Baker, Charles B. Fenwick, Edward M. L'Engle, falsely pretending that they were bona fide holders of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, and claiming that they were legally authorized to elect a president and directors of said company, held an illegal meeting and chose Edward M. L'Engle president, and James M. Baker, W. J. Lawton, Milton S. Littlefield, N. K. Sawyer, J. C. L'Engle, Joseph B. Stewart, Charles B. Fenwick, and George R. Foster, directors, none of whom were stockholders in said corporation; and they appointed Charles B. Fenwick secretary, and George R. Foster treasurer thereof; that immediately after they issued a large number of certificates of stock, represented to be stock of Florida Central Railroad Company, in favor of themselves and sundry other persons who have combined with them to defraud the State and the public at large, and especially to vex, harrass, and 2425 injure complainants; that they have formed a plan and are about to make and issue bonds in the name of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and to execute a mortgage of the railroad and property which was formerly owned by said corporation, and intend sharing such bonds among themselves with the intention to dispose of them for money; that said George W. Swepson has some interest in said scheme, and is to receive a large number of said bonds.

That said defendants Littlefield, L'Engles, Sawyer, Stewart, Baker, Lawton and others pretend that they formed such organization and held such election under a judgment rendered by the judge of the fourth judicial circuit court of the State of Florida. Complainants are informed, and so allege, that the judgment of said court was procured by fraud. That the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, an insolvent corporation, acting by one Jos. B. Stewart, filed a petition for mandamus in said court, and by collusion with Milton S. Littlefield and said last named defendants, and others to complainants unknown, alleged said North Carolina corporation to be a stockholder in said Florida Central Railroad Company; and that said Littlefield and others were made defendants in such mandamus proceeding, and who owned no stock in said Florida Central Railroad Company, and they made no resistance to the prayer of the petition, but falsely answered that they were such stockholders; that no persons who were bona fide stockholders in said Florida Central Railroad Company were parties to such proceedings; that the persons who participated were not holders of bona fide certificates of shares of stock in said corporation, as will fully appear by the entries on the transfer book and stock ledger of said company up to the tenth day of April, 1872. And complainants insist that said judgment of said State court should be adjudged and held to be void because of the fraud in procuring the same. And the said defendants Milton S. Littlefield, Joseph B. Stewart, N. K. Sawyer, James M. Baker, W. J. Lawton, J. C. L'Engle, Edward M. L'Engle, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company should be enjoined from asserting themselves to be stockholders in or officers of said company, and that they be ordered to refrain from issuing any of the bonds, and 2426 from the execution of the mortgage before alleged to be in course of preparation, and if any such papers have been executed that they should be directed to deliver them to an officer of this court to be designated herein; that the said defendants should be also required to deliver to said officer any seal in their possession which has been used by them or by any one under their authority as the seal of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

XIV. That the governor of the State of Florida has seized the whole line of railroad, and the property thereto pertaining, which was formerly owned by the Florida Central Railroad Company, as well as that from Lake City to the Apalachicola River, with the branches to Monticello and St. Mark's, and has advertised the same for sale; but he has described in the advertisement the railroad from Jacksonville to Lake City as the property of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and has stated that said road is seized and that he will sell the same for default made by said company on bonds delivered by it to the governor of the State. Complainants are satisfied that the now governor of the State deems such proceedings proper; but complainants are advised that so far as they are concerned they have the right to demand that the said railroad between Jacksonville and Lake City should be seized by the governor and sold as forming with the railrood west of Lake City an entire line and as the property of said J., P. & M. Co.

XV. That the governor of Florida declares in the advertisement made by him, in which he gives notice of the intended sale of the railroad from Lake City to Quincy and the branch to Monticello, and that from Tallahassee to St. Marks, that such sale will be made subject to a prior lien thereon for unpaid purchase money claimed to be due by the holders of the said bonds issued by the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, and which they claim are secured as is hereinbefore set forth. Complainants insist that the governor has erred in declaring that such lien exists, and that it was his duty to make sale of said railroads and property clear of all lien or claim of any kind, and as being bound solely to pay the said bonds which complainants 2427 own and which they seek in this proceeding to obtain payment of, and that the governor should be instructed by this honorable court so to proceed in the exercise of the power of sale vested in him by the acts which incorporated the J., P. & M. Co. Complainants are satisfied that the governor is ready and willing so to do when directed by the decree of this honorable court.

XVI. That the complainants, being averse to litigation and fearing that if driven to assert what they are advised are their full rights in a court of equity they would be subjected to great cost and delay, and being informed that said railroads and property thereto pertaining were greatly dilapidated and in bad condition to carry freight and passengers, and that no means of placing said property in proper condition by suitable construction and repair existed, sought, by making concessions to the persons by whom the said bonds issued by the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies are owned, to have a speedy sale of said last mentioned railroads, and to that end they authorized an agent to act for them in the United Stttes and to join in a plan, a copy of which is hereto annexed, marked D. And that a majority of the holders of said bonds have assented to said plan of settlement, but the said defendant, Francis Vose, combined with a minority of said bondholders and took such legal proceedings as prevents such compromise settlement from being carried into execution. Complainants are willing to consent that a decree be made and entered in this cause, making provision for the sale of the said railroads and property upon the basis in said plan contained, provided that the said trustees of the internal improvement fund, and the holders of the said bonds issued by the said Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, agree that such decree be made.

XVII. Complainants are informed that some time in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-five, the persons who held a majority of the shares of the stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company at the time when said transactions took place, whereby the railroad from Jacksonville to Lake City became consolidated with that owned by said J., P. & 2428 M. Co., and by which means such railroad became pledged for the payment of complainants' bonds, met in Tallahassee and elected certain persons, viz, said Edward Lewis, B. Williams, (now deceased), Patrick Houstoun, R. H. Gamble, C. E. Dyke, sr., E. M. L'Engle, R. Walker, C. A. Cowgill, and G. W. Betton, as directors of the said Florida Central Railroad Company; that such persons took upon themselves such offices and acted therein; that no president of said corporation was attempted to be elected, but that Robert Walker was authorized to act in lieu of such president. Complainants are advised that it is not material to them whether said corporation was dissolved by the proceedings which are hereinbefore set forth as to the consolidation of said railroads, and they do not, therefore, ask in this their bill that such dissolution be declared to have taken place, unless the same be necessary to enable the said complainants to obtain payment of their bonds; and complainants allege that if such Florida Central Railroad Company is still in existence as a corporation, that the persons before mentioned are the only persons who can, by law, represent said company, because, as complainants are informed, there has been no meeting of the persons who held said stock in said company since that last before stated.

XVIII. That said persons acting in said capacities were parties in a certain suit commenced in the State circuit court, and finally determined in the supreme court of the State, wherein the State of Florida and trustees of the internal improvement fund were complainants in the first court, in which suit questions of law and fact were presented for adjudication and which were determined by said supreme court, touching the liability of the line of railroad and property between Jacksonville and Lake City for the payment of the bonds delivered by the governor of the State to the J., P. & M. Co., before mentioned, and as to whether the said Florida Central Railroad Company was or not, by the acts done by his stockholders and directors, estopped from denying such liability as against the claim which complainants have hereinbefore alleged in respect to such line of railroad for payment of said bonds.

The said supreme court, by its judgment rendered in said cause, 2429 determined such questions of law and fact in favor of the claim so made by complainants, and they are advised and insist that they are entitled to rely upon, and they do herein claim and rely upon, said judgment of said supreme court as a conclusive judgment in their favor as to such matters, and as binding on the Florida Central Railroad Company, if there be such corporation, and upon all persons who claim to be owners of stock therein.

XIX. That Daniel P. Holland, who was likewise a defendant in the said case in the State circuit court, prosecuted an appeal to the Supreme Court from a judgment rendered by said circuit court in said cause, adverse to said Holland, which appeal was finally heard and determined by the said Supreme Court; that among other questions of law and fact therein made and decided, the said supreme court by its judgment determined that the acts incorporating the said J., P. & M. Co., the issuance of said bonds by Governor Reed to it, the sale thereof by said company to the complainants and others, created a trust in fovor of the bona fide holders of said bonds; that a lien on the railroad and property for the payment of said bonds existed, and that a power of sale by acts of incorporation conferred on the governor of the State must be executed by him for the purpose and in the manner in said acts specified; and complainants are advised and insist that they are entitled to, and do plead, and rely on such judgment in support of the claim which they herein allege to exist as to such lien, to the existence of such trusts, and as to their right to have the line of railroad, which formerly belonged to the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Company, sold by the governor in the manner and for the purposes which they have hereinbefore alleged in respect thereof. And complainants produce herewith the judgments of the said supreme court in said several cases, and pray leave to refer thereto as a part of their bill of complaint.

XX. That the said J., P. & M. Co. was a party to said suit, so brought by the State and the trustees aforesaid, and that they appear therein, and answered the complaints filed in said suit, and admitted the issuance of said bonds by the governor of the State, and did 2430 not deny its liability to pay said bonds, nor that there was a lien existing thereof, such as was determined to exist by said supreme court; said answer was sworn to by said Milton S. Littlefield, as the president of said company; that complainant produces herewith a true copy of said answer and prays leave to refer thereto when necessary.

XXI. Complainants have procured the whole of said line of railroad, its workshops, depots, and rolling stock, to be examined by a competent and skillful railroad engineer, who reports that the said property is not fit for the safe transportation of passengers and freight, and cannot be profitably operated therefor; that the iron rails are badly worn, the cross ties decayed; that the rolling stock is insufficient and old, and inadequate; that it will cost a large sum to put such property in proper condition, more than the net earnings of said railroad will furnish, and that if said road is put in good working order a large increase of such net earnings may be reasonably expected. Complainants are assured that money and material to put such road and property in good working order can be obtained, provided that such means when advanced by any persons can be secured to be paid out of the money arising from the sale of said road, and the same made a lien as costs in this cause by an order of this honorable court directing the doing of such work, and authorizing the procurement of the necessary material and money therefor. Complainants are advised that the governor of the State has not the power to make any contract for such purposes, and that in consequence he cannot procure the necessary material and money; and complainants submit to this honorable court whether or not the governor of the State should be invested by an order made in this cause with the powers of a receiver to this court, and with authority and power to obtain money and purchase material for the purposes before stated, and provision made in said order providing for the needful security for payment of the liabilities to be incurred in such behalf. Complainants are informed that there is now in the hands of the treasurer of the State of Florida a sum of money amounting to about thirty thousand dollars, paid to him by Robert Walker, receiver, by order and direction of the Supreme Court of the United States, made in the cause decided 2431 in said court, in which E. C. Anderson et al. were defendants and the State of Florida plaintiff; such money is the balance of the earnings of the line of road from Lake City west, which came to the hands of said receiver, and which money the said court directed should be held by the said treasurer subject to the order of a court of competent jurisdiction; and complainants are advised that said sum of money is a proper fund to be applied to the repair of said railroad and property, and they insist that they have the right to have the same so applied by order of this court.

XXII. Complainants are informed, and upon such information allege and state, that the defendant, the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, united with said Littlefield, said Swepson, and said S. W. Hopkins & Co. in procuring the governor, Harrison Reed, to issue and deliver to said J., P. & M. Co. the said State bonds (so called) and in all the acts and representations done and made by said J., P. & M. Co., its officers and agents, and in the sale which said S. W. Hopkins & Co. made of said bonds, and that said North Carolina corporation received a portion of the proceeds of such sale, and contracted with said Swepson and said Litfield and with authorized agents of said J., P. & M. Co. for the payment to said North Carolina corporation, by the parties to said contract, of the sum of six hundred thousand dollars and upwards, such payment to be made out of the money to be received by said S. W. Hopkins & Co. from the sale of said bonds, to enforce which payment said North Carolina corporation brought suit, in a court of the State of New York, against said Hopkins & Co. and said J., P. & M. Co. Complainants are informed that said North Carolina corporation now alleges that the bonds held by complainants and others, which said corporation in part contributed to induce the present holders thereof, or those from whom they purchased, to take and pay for, as the bonds of the State of Florida, are not legal and valid obligations, and that the holders thereof are not entitled to the payment of the same in the manner and from the source which complainants herein assert themselves to be entitled to, and are seeking to obtain in this their bill of complaint, all of which pretences set up 2432 by said North Carolina corporation are made by them in bad faith, and in violation of equity and against good conscience; the said corporation is, and should be, by the decree of this court, declared to be estopped from making the same by reason of the acts done by it in respect to the sale of said bonds, which are hereinbefore set forth, and that said corporation ought to be enjoined from making any interference with complainants' proceedings to subject said railroad and property to payment of their bonds, or from instituting any suit at law or equity against complainants or against the governor of the State for such purpose.

XXIII. That defendant, Edward M. L'Engle, has illegally possessed himself of the shares of stock which were sold by John P. Sanderson to Milton S. Littlefield; that payment therefor was made from funds received by S. W. Hopkins & Co. from the London banker to whom they sold said Florida State bonds (so called), which fact was well known to said Sanderson and to said L'Engle, who were, at time of such transaction, and afterwards, the attorneys of said Littlefield and of said railroad corporations which he controlled. Said Sanderson was also an officer of said Florida Central Railroad Company, and assisted said Littlefield in the transactions before stated, which resulted in the consolidation of said railroads, and the issuance and sale of said bonds. Said L'Engle has, since the said Florida State bonds (so called) were sold, purchased from certain persons who formerly held stock in said Florida Central Railroad Company, their rights as such, whatever they may be; that he has, by use of such means, brought several suits in the State courts against sundry persons concerning the property which formerly belonged to said Florida Central Railroad Company, which suits he has dismissed after causing great damage and loss to said property thereby; and complainants are informed and believe that said L'Engle intends to institute further suits, founded on the title he has so acquired, or claims to have, with a view to compel complainants to pay him a large sum of money to buy their peace, and to hinder them from obtaining the relief herein sought.

2433 XXIV. The said L'Engle has instituted a suit in this court in the name of Robert J. Washington, in which it is sought to obtain a decree declaring said Washington to be the lawful owner of all the shares of stock which said Littlefield purchased from said Swepson, said Houstoun and others. The title set up in said suit is derived from said L'Engle and one J. H. Miller, and is based solely on notes given to said L'Engle by said Littlefield without valid consideration, on the pretence of a payment by Littlefield to L'Engle for services pretended to have been rendered by said L'Engle to said Littlefield and the said Florida Central and Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Companies. Complainants are informed and believe that said Robert J. Washington has no real interest in the subject-matter of said suit, and that his name is being used by said L'Engle in fraud of the jurisdiction of this court, the said L'Engle making use of the name of said Washington because he, being a citizen of Florida, is disqualified to sue in the courts of the United States.

XXV. Complainants are informed and believe that said defendant, Milton S. Littlefield, made some agreement with said George W. Swepson to perform the obligations which the latter undertook with said trustees to do, viz, to purchase said unpaid Pensacola & Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies' bonds; that said Littlefield did, in fact, purchase of said Edward Houstoun one hundred and three of said bonds in performance of such contract, which bonds are now deposited in the registry of this court to the credit of a cause therein pending, in which Edward C. Anderson et al. are plaintiffs and the J., P. & M. Co. et al. are defendants; that said bonds are claimed by divers persons under some contract with said Littlefield, which persons had full knowledge that said bonds were paid for out of the money for which the bonds issued by Governor Reed to the said J., P. & M. Co. were sold, as before set forth; said one hundred and three bonds have never been in the actual possession of said Littlefield. Complainants are advised that they should be delivered to said trustees of the internal improvement fund, and they should take such proceedings as may be necessary to procure the same to be done.

2434 XXVI. That of the capital stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, which consisted of five thousand five hundred shares, four thousand three hundred and seventy were held by Edward Houstoun at the time of his decease, which took place about two years since, as appears from the stock ledger of the Florida Central Railroad Company; that certificates of such stock were issued to said Houstoun by said company, which certificates are now in the hands of a receiver appointed by the superior court of Chatham County, in the State of Georgia, in a cause therein pending between the executors of said Houstoun and sundry other persons, in which suit the title to said stock is involved, and the right thereto sought to have determined. That said Milton S. Littlefield has made a conveyance to the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, by which he pretends to convey to said corporation a legal title to said stock, which title he falsely pretends he held at the date of such conveyance, and which false pretense was well known to the officers of said corporation, who took from him such invalid conveyance; that the same was made and accepted to aid the said corporation to sustain the before-mentioned claim of such corporation of interest in said railroad and property, and complainants insist that said corporation ought not to be allowed to make any claim under such conveyance, nor to derive any benefit or advantages therefrom.

In consideration of the premises, complainants pray that writs of subpœna may be issued out of this honorable court, directed to said defendants severally, viz:

The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, the Florida Central Railroad Company, Edward Lewis, Patrick Houstoun, Robert H. Gamble, Charles E. Dyke, sr., Edward M. L'Engle, Robert Walker, Clayton A. Cowgill, George W. Betton, James M. Baker, George R. Foster, W. J. Lawton, Milton S. Littlefield, N. K. Sawyer, J. C. L'Engle, Edward M. L'Engle, Charles B. Fenwick, Joseph B. Stewart, Francis Vose, M. K. Jessup & Co., Chandler H. Smith, S. A. 2435 Smith, sr., Smith Simkins, B. C. Lewis, D. Griffith Ambler, W. J. Hines, trustee, Mrs. A. F. Finlayson, James G. Gibbs, Edward C. Anderson, James Hunter, E. Waitzfeller, John M. Guerard, John C. Falligant, Lewis F. Nicoll, George Robertson, J. A. Hunnicutt, The People's Bank, William McBurney, Winthrop B. Williams, George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida; Walter Gwynn, treasurer of the State of Florida; Hugh A. Corley, commissioner of lands and immigration; George P. Raney, attorney-general; Walter Gwynn, treasurer; Columbus Drew, comptroller; George F. Drew, governor, as trustees of the internal improvement fund, and Robert J. Washington, commanding them to be and appear before this honorable court on a day certain to be named therein, to answer the allegations of this bill.

1. And may it please your honors to decree that complainants are entitled to be taken and held as bona-fide holders of the bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

2. That the entire line of railroad from Jacksonville to the Apalachicola River, with the branches to Monticello and St. Marks, and all property, real and personal, thereto pertaining, may be decreed to be subect to a lien for the payment of complainants' bonds superior to the claims of any and all persons whatever, and especially said defendants.

3. That it may be declared by the decree of this court that the sale of the said bonds by the said Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, issued by Harrison Reed, governor, to said company, and the representations made by said company and its agents to the purchasers thereof, and the actings and doings of the officers and stockholders of said company, and of the said Florida Central Railroad Company, herein stated and alleged, created a trust in favor of complainants, and entitles them to have the whole of said line of railroad made subject to the payment of complainants' said bonds and that such entire line of railroad be proceeded against for such purpose, and treated as belonging to the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company; and that the stockholders of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and such corporation, be declared to be bound by the representations which were made by the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad 2436 Company to the purchasers of said bonds before alleged herein to have been made; that the line of railroad from Jacksonville west constituted one entire line of road, was the property of said last-named corporation; and that the same was subject to a lien for the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds by the provisions of the acts incorporating said last named corporation.

4. May it please your honors to decree that complainants are entitled to the benefit of the provisions of the said acts of incorporation which created a lien on said railroad and property for payment of the bonds held by complainants; and that they are entitled to demand that the governor of Florida execute the power of sale vested in him by said acts, and that he be decreed to proceed therein in the manner and for the purposes which complainants have herein stated should be done.

5. That the defendants, the trustees of the internal improvement fund, and those who hold the Pensacola & Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad bonds, be decreed to have no longer any lien of any kind upon that portion of the said line of railroad which lies between Lake City and Quincy, with the branch to Monticello and the road from Tallahassee to St. Marks; and that complainants have a superior equity as to such property for payment of their bonds over and above the vendor's lien claimed by said trustees and said last mentioned bondholders to exist in their favor.

6. That the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company be decreed not to have any other right, title, or claim in respect of the line of railroad from Jacksonville to Lake City than that which the said Florida Central Railroad Company and its stockholders shall be decreed to possess, and to be subject in like manner to the right of complainants to have said portion of said line of railroad sold for payment of complainants' bonds.

7. That the pretended organization of said board of directors, claimed to have been made under the authority of said judgment of Duval circuit court, in the suit instituted by said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, be declared fraudulent and void; that the said judgments be declared to be void because of the fraud committed by the parties thereto; and that the said defend-2437 ants, claiming to be president, directors, and officers of said
Florida Central Railroad Company be declared to have no lawful title to such offices; that said defendants, Robert Walker, Robert H. Gamble, and the other defendants who were chosen directors of said Florida Central Railroad Company, as herein alleged by complainants, be declared to be the only proper representative of said Florida Central Railroad Company, or entitled as such to appear in this suit or otherwise act in respect of the interests of the stockholders of such company.

8. That defendants, Edward M. L'Engle and Robert J. Washington, be declared not to have any valid title to any stock in said Florida Central Railroad Company, and that as to any such stock which may have been acquired by said L'Engle that he be decreed to hold the same subject to the claim herein alleged to exist in favor of complainants, and that he be held to have acquired the same with full notice of all the rights which are herein asserted by complainants.

9. That the bonds issued by the said defendants, E. M. L'Engle, as president, and said Foster, Fenwick, Stewart, Sawyer, and others, as directors of said Florida Central Railroad Company, be decreed to be null and void.

And may it please your honors to grant unto your orators writs of injunction, to be directed to said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, said Florida Central Railroad Company, and its stockholders, to said Edward M. L'Engie, said Robert J. Washington, enjoining them from instituting any proceedings at law or in equity in relation to said line of railroad from Jacksonville to Lake City and its property, and from seeking to interfere with the possession thereof acquired by the said George F. Drew, governor, or from intermeddling therewith.

May it please your honors to make an order herein constituting and appointing George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida, receiver of this court, with special power and authority to make purchases of railroad iron, material and equipments suitable for use of said railroad, and to put said line of railroad in suitable condition for the carriage of freight and passengers, and to preserve the same from dilapidation and destruction, for such purpose to apply the net earnings 2438 of said railroad thereto, and, if necessary, to make purchases on credit, to be reimbursed and paid by order of this court, and to constitute a charge on said property in like manner as the costs of the cause are by law provided; and that the said governor, as such special receiver, be authorized to demand and receive from said defendant, Walter Gwynn, treasurer, the said sum of money herein stated to be in his hands, under said order of said Supreme Court of the United States; and that the said treasurer deliver such money to said governor, which money the said George F. Drew, governor, as such special receiver, be directed to use for the repair and preservation of said line of railroad; and that such fund be regarded in the hands of said receiver as a separate and distinct fund, to be disposed of by the decree of this court to be made herein, and subject to all proper claims, if any there be, against the same; and that the said George F. Drew, as such special receiver, be directed to render to this court an account of his actings under this order at such specified times as may be prescribed therein.

And may it please your honors to grant unto your orators such other and further relief in the premises as the nature of the case may require, and as may be agreeable to equity and good conscience.

W. G. M. DAVIS,
Solicitor for Complainants.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Northern District of Florida:

Charles D. Willard, sworn, says that he is the authorized agent and attorney of each and every of the complainants in the foregoing bill mentioned; that he has received from them, and each of them, power in writing properly authenticated, giving him authority to institute this suit, and to act for them generally in the prosecution of the rights which said complainants in said bill have set up; that he has for a long time been in correspondence with Jacobus Wertheim, a counsellor at law, residing at Amsterdam, in Holland, and who is employed, as deponent is informed and believes, by complainants to advise them 2439 in respect to their rights as such bondholders; that the correspondence between deponent and said Wertheim was wholly upon such subject, and deponent was thereby informed as to the circumstances under which said bonds were purchased by complainants, and that they held the same.

Deponent further says that he has read the proceedings, or the greater part of them, which were instituted by divers plaintiffs in the courts of the United States, and those of the State of Florida, as well as in the suits instituted in New York by the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company; that he has seen and read proceedings of the stockholders and directors of the Florida Central Railroad Company, the sworn statements of S. W. Hopkins & Co., of Edward Houstoun, and has generally received information as to the matters in said bill set forth from various persons, attorneys as well as others, who were familiar with such matters, and that from such means of knowledge he is able to swear and does depose that the facts in the foregoing bill of complaint set forth he believes to be true; that as to the ownership by complainants of the bonds in the bill mentioned, deponent says he believes that they are owned and held by said complainants, and that they purchased the same in good faith, believing them to be what they purported on their face to be; and such belief, deponent says, he asserts by reason of the statements made by said complainants, sworn to by them in Amsterdam, before the American consul, transmitted to deponent as such agent.

Deponent further says that the bonds of said complainants will shortly be received in the United States, and will be produced in this cause, of which fact deponent has been informed by a telegraphic dispatch, sent by the Bank of Amsterdam to Mr. Adolphe Engler, of New York.

CHARLES D. WILLARD.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 23d day of May, A. D. 1877.

SCHEDULE B.

No. 501.] UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. [$1,000.

STATE OF [Florida coat of arms] FLORIDA.

Bond of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

Cut of train of cars.] [Cut of steamship

Know all men by these presents that the Florida Central Railroad Company acknowledges itself indebted to the State of Florida in the sum of one thousand dollars, for value received, which sum the said Florida Central Railroad Company promises and agrees to pay to the State of Florida on the first day of January, A. D. nineteen hundred, in the city of New York, with interest thereon at the rate of eight per centum per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of July and January in each year, on the presentation and delivery of the proper coupons hereto attached.

This bond is one of a series of like tenor, limited to sixteen thousand dollars per mile, issued in accordance with an act of the legislature of the State of Florida, approved January 28th, eighteen hundred and seventy, entitled "An act to alter and amend an act entitled an act to perfect the public works of the State," approved June 24th, eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, and given in exchange for bonds issued by the State of Florida to aid the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company to complete, equip, and maintain its road for an equal amount, in accordance with said act.

In witness whereof, the said company has caused this bond to be signed and attested in its behalf by its president, and its common seal affixed at its office in this first day of January, in the year 1870.

SCHEDULE D.

Memorandum-plan.

Bijlage A.

For the reorganization of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and the Florida Central Railroad Company of Florida, to be agreed upon by and between Frank R. Sherwin, agent of the owners and holders of the bonds of the State of Florida, issued in aid of said railroad companies, of the first part, and the owners and holders of the first mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies of said State, issued under the provisions of the act of January 6th, 1855, generally known as the "internal improvement act," represented by Henry R. Jackson, of Savannah, in the State of Georgia, and Charles H. Simonton, of Charleston, in the State of South Carolina, of the second part.

The object to be sought in said reorganization shall be the formation, under the general incorporation laws of said State, of a new company, under the name and style of "The Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company," for the purpose of purchasing the present lines of constructed railroads between Jacksonville and Chattahoochee, and Tallahassee and St. Mark's, with branch at Monticello Junction, together with all their rolling stock, depots, machine shops, and all their other property, and of completing the said line of road to Mobile, in the State of Alabama.

2443 To this end it is agreed between the said parties that the line of completed railway, to wit, the roads extending from Lake City to Chattahoochee, and from Tallahassee to St. Mark's, known as the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and the road extending from Jacksonville to Lake City, known as the Florida Central Railroad, together with all their depots, rolling stock, machine shops, and all their other saleable proper'y, shall be sold at public outcry, in accordance with law, so soon as the following antecedent arrangements, numbered "first" and "second," shall have been completed:

First. The said the parties to this agreement shall, within 30 days, select three persons, who shall act as trustees in discharge of the trusts hereinafter set out; any vacancy in their number occurring by death or otherwise to be filled by the surviving trustees.

Second. The said bonds and coupons of the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies held by the said parties of the second part, and the said bonds and coupons of the State of Florida issued in aid of the said the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and the said the Florida Central Railroad Company shall be placed in the hands or under the control of the said trustees so selected for the purpose of said trust, within thirty days from the date of the acceptance of their appointment.

The said the governor shall offer at public sale, according to law, said line of railroads, together with all their depots, rolling stock, machine shops, and all their other property, or such portions of it as may be legally saleable; and at the said sale the said trustees shall bid for the said property so to be exposed for sale to the extent, if necessary, of the par value of the said bonds and past due coupons of the State of Florida so placed under their control, the aggregate amount in dollars and cents, of which said bonds and past due coupons shall be treated and received as cash at said sale by the said governor, and if such bid be the highest made at such sale or sales the said line of railroad, together with all of its property as hereinbefore detailed. shall be struck off to the said trustees so bidding, and upon the delivery to the said the governor of the said bonds and past due coupons last mentioned he shall immediately cause the said trustees so bidding to be placed in the actual possession of all said railroad property, and full title shall be made to said trustees by the governor, the same to be held by them subject to the following conditions, namely: In trust to be conveyed by them to the said "Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company," after the following arrangements and conditions shall have been perfected and complied with:

First. Such title to the line of railroad now known as the Florida 2444 Central, extending from Jacksonville to Lake City, and such title to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad which extends from Lake City to the Chattahoochee River and from Tallahassee to St. Mark's; and such right of franchise to continue the construction of said line of railway westward to the city of Mobile as may not be perfected in the said selected trustees by the said sale, as hereinbefore provided, shall be perfected in the said the Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company through the action and agency of the said party of the first part, and shall be so perfected as not to leave any lien or incumbrance upon said last mentioned title or property which shall be superior to the special mortgage lien to be created as hereinafter provided; the provisions of this clause numbered first to be practically carried out by the said party of the first part within six (6) months from the date of this agreement.

Second. Title having been so perfected in the said The Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company, that company shall execute an obligation in writing to the said the selected trustees, stipulating that immediately after conveyance made to it, the said railroad property, so to be purchased, as aforesaid, by them (the said selected trustees), the said The Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company shall cause the entire line of constructed railroads heretofore named to be bonded at the rate of not more than twelve thousand dollars ($12,000) per mile, which bonds shall be due forty years from date, bearing interest at the rate of five (5) per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually either in New York

City or Amsterdam, Holland, at the option of the holders, principal and interest payable in gold, which bonds shall be a first-mortgage lien upon said line of railroad, its depots, machine shops, rolling stock, and all of its other property.

That distinct provision shall be made in said mortgage for the issue, in the first place, of a series of said bonds equal in amount only to the par value of said surrendered bonds and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, in the event that the said lines of road formerly known as the Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroads should be bid off by the said selected trustees at a sum below or not exceeding the aggregate amount of said last mentioned bonds and past due coupons; but should the said last mentioned roads be so bid off at a sum equal to or exceeding the aggregate amount of principal of said bonds and past due coupons and interest on said coupons, then the first series of bonds to cover the full amount of said last mentioned aggregate and this first and distinct series of bonds so issued shall constitute a prior lien upon the said line of railroad and its said property, to secure the payment of the interest and principal of the same when due; and the 2445 first said series of bonds, when so issued, shall be delivered to the owners of the said surrendered bonds and coupons of the said Pensacola and Georgia and Tallahassee Railroad Companies, whereupon the said last mentioned bonds and coupons shall be held by said trustees in trust, to be delivered to the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida for cancellation, so soon as all of the same class of bonds now outstanding shall have been surrendered to the said selected trustees, whether in exchange for the said new first mortgage bonds or otherwise.

That provision shall also be made in said mortgage that in case of default for one year by said new company in payment of interest on any of the bonds, foreclosure of said mortgage may be made for the entire amount of indebtedness secured by it, both principal and interest, and the said road and all of its property may be sold, and the proceeds derived from such sale shall be first applied to the payment of the said first series of bonds, principal and interest, and the surplus, if any, shall be applied toward the payment of the remaining or second series of said bonds.

That provision shall also be made in said mortgage for the creation, at the expiration of three years from the organization of said company, of a sinking fund of one per cent. per annum in gold, payable semi-annually, upon its said bonded debt, which said sinking fund shall be semi-annually applied, as paid, to the redemption at par of the said bonds of said company, the numbers of which shall be selected by lot, and the said first series of said bonds of said company, issued as aforesaid, shall have priority of payment out of said sinking fund.

A draft of said contemplated bonds and mortgage, to be approved by the selected trustees, shall be appended as an exhibit to the said written obligation, and also a copy of the proposed charter of the said Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company, showing powers in the said new corporation to issue such bonds and to execute such mortgage.

It shall be further stipulated in said written obligation that a sufficient number of the second series of said bonds shall be set apart and used for the purpose of placing said line of constructed railroad in first-class order and repair as to road-bed, rolling stock, and otherwise; and that said new railroad company shall be managed by a board of directors, consisting of not more than seven nor less than five members, who shall be named by the owners or holders of said State bonds, but who shall be acceptable to said selected trustees; and that in case of vacancy in said board of directors or officers of said company, by death, resignation, or otherwise, notice of any intended new appointment shall be given to the said selected trustees; and a protest in writing, signed by the 2446 owners representing a majority of the said first series of bonds of said company shall operate to prevent the appointment to fill said vacancy; this provision to continue in operation for the period of six years from the organization of the said new company.

It is also further stipulated and agreed that all funds necessary to meet the costs and expenditures incurred in such sale or sales, and in perfecting said titles thereafter, shall be supplied by the said party of the first part.

In witness whereof we, the said parties to this agreement, have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals interchangeably this 12th day of January, A. D. 1877, at Savannah, Georgia.

Hunnicutt, who are citizens of the State of Georgia; The People's Bank, a corporation created by and existing under the laws of the State of South Carolina, and a citizen of said State; William McBurney, Winthrop B. Williams, who are citizens of the State of South Carolina; George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida; Walter Gwynn, treasurer of the State of Florida; Hugh A. Corley, commissioner of lands and immigration of the State of Florida; George P. Raney, attorney-general; Walter Gwynn, treasurer; Columbus Drew, comptroller; George F. Drew, governor, which officers are trustees of the internal improvement fund, and herein sued as such; Milton S. Littlefield, in his own right; Robert J. Washington, who is a citizen of the State of Virginia.

To the honorable the judges of the circuit court of the United States, in equity, sitting in and for said circuit and district:

The supplemental bill of complaint of J. Fred. Schutte, Jan Prins, Adrianus Prins, Heinrich Ulrici, Elias Fuld, J. Borzo, H. Van Booven, Dr. Nicholas Jacob den Tex, H. J. Brunnekruff, J. H. Grem, Willenmier Van Tyer Van Taer, C. Both, L. L. Wertheim, Wysman de Voogt, T. P. Roelopz, Jan Tichelaar, jr., Jacobus Wertheim, P. Van Reysen, Mey de Benedithy Beer, Gerard A. Heinekin, T. Colom, Charles Gosewinckel, Boon Hartsink Van Tyen, N. J. Franket, Johannes Willem Donk, Vander Stoop & Berg, who are aliens and subjects of the King of the Netherlands, humbly shows that heretofore they filed their bill of complaint in this court against certain parties, namely: James M. Baker, George R. Foster, W. J. Lawton, Milton S. Littlefield, N. K. Sawyer, J. 2449 C. L'Engle, Edward M. L'Engle, Charles B. Fenwick, who are citizens of the State of Florida, and Joseph B. Stewart, who is a citizen of the State of New York, praying, amongst other things, for the sale of a certain railroad and other property in the said bill, particularly described, for certain decrees declaratory of the rights of complainants in respect to such property, and against claims and pretenses of rights therein and thereto, on the part of said defendants, and praying for orders of injunction against said defendants in said original bill described.

That said defendants have, since the filing of complainant's said bill, combined with one Aristides Doggett, and met together in the city of Jacksonville on the 28th day of May of the present year, and when so met pretended that they constituted a majority of the stockholders of the said Florida Central Railroad Company; that such meeting was a lawful assemblage of such stockholders for election of directors of said corporation; that the place of meeting was the legal place of business thereof; and thereupon said defendants and said Doggett held a pretended election and elected said defendants, James M. Baker, George R. Foster, W. J. Lawton, Milton S. Littlefield, N. K. Sawyer, J. C. L'Engle, Edward M. L'Engle, Charles B. Fenwick, who are citizens of the State of Florida, and Joseph B. Stewart, who is a citizen of the State of New York, as directors of the said Florida Central Railroad Company, who now claim that they are lawfully chosen and have the right to fill said offices by reason of such proceedings, all of which said pretenses, complainant alleges, are false, and that said proceedings were concocted, planned, and carried on by said defendants and said Doggett to defeat complainants and deprive them of the relief which they seek and ask for in their original bill, and to avoid the special decree which they pray therein against said defendants in respect to the offices of directors in said corporation, which they are in said bill charged to have assumed by use of fraudulent and illegal acts; that said Aristides Doggett has no shares of stock in the said Florida Central Railroad Company, but that he falsely pretended that he was entitled to vote as the owner of four thousand seven hundred of such shares, and was by such combination and confederation with 2450 said last-named defendants admitted and induced to vote as owner of such shares.

Complainants allege that no call for such meeting of the stockholders of said corporation was made and published in the manner provided by its charter and by-laws; that the principal place of business of such corporation and place where the meetings of its stockholders were heretofore had was, by a vote of such body passed in 1865, fixed at Tallahassee, and that it never was changed by them. Complainants allege that since the last mentioned illegal voting for directors was done by said defendants, Lawton, Littlefield, and their said confederates, they have sought and are still seeking to get said railroad from Jacksonville to Lake City and property thereto pertaining into their possession, and that they threaten to take proceedings in the State court to compel Joseph H. Durkee, who now has such property in his possession, to deliver it to them; that said defendants hope, if they succeed in such effort, to be able to sell said bonds which they have issued or are about to issue in the name of said corporation, as in the said original bill alleged they had done or were about to do.

To the end, therefore, that the said James M. Baker, Geo. R. Foster, W. J. Lawton, Melton S. Littlefield, N. K. Sawyer, J. C. L'Engle, Edward M. L'Engle, Charles B. Fenwick, who are citizens of the State of Florida, and Joseph B. Stewart, who is a citizen of the State of New York, may answer this supplemental bill. and that complainants may have such relief against them as is prayed in their original bill of complaint.

May it please your honor to grant unto complainants the writ of subpœna to be directed to said defendants commanding them to appear in this honorable court, on a day to be therein named, to answer this supplemental bill and to stand to, abide by, and perform such order and decree as your honor may see fit to make in the premises.

W. G. M. DAVIS,
Solicitor for Complainants.

2451 United States of America, northern district of Florida. In equity.

W. G. M. Davis, being duly sworn, says he is the solicitor of the complainants in the foregoing supplemental bill and the said original bills; that he drew said bills; that he knows the facts in said supplemental bill, relative to the meeting of said defendants and said Doggett and the holding of the election for directors, to be truly stated in said bill; that he derived his information from a published statement by defendant, N. K. Sawyer, annexed to this affidavit, as well as from persons to whom said defendant, Lawton, stated such transaction; that he knows that said Aristides Doggett is not the owner of any stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, from the sworn statements of defendant, Joseph B. Stewart, from reading documents filed by defendant, Edward M. L'Engle, with the bill of Robert J. Washington, in this court, from the affidavit of defendant, Milton S. Littlefield, and from an examination of the transfer book and stock ledger of said Florida Central Railroad Company, made by affidavit within a few days; that from such sources of information, affiant says he believes that said Aristides Doggett has no legal title to any shares of the stock of said Florida Central Railroad Company; affiant says he has been informed by John A. Henderson, the attorney of Joseph H. Durkee, that said W. J. Lawton requested him to inform him, said Lawton, whether said Durkee would deliver said railroad and property to him and his codefendants, as directors of said Florida Central Railroad Company on demand, or whether said Durkee would require them to compel such delivery by proceeding in the State circuit court for Duval County; affiant, on such information, says that he believes the statement in said supplemental bill of the intentions of said defendants, Lawton and his said confederates, as to the possession of said railroad and their purposes generally, are true.

2452 Affiant further says, that he has read the answer which was filed by the said Florida Central Railroad Company in Duval circuit court, in the case of the State of Florida et als. against said corporations and others, and that from the statements in said answer as to the principal office and place of holding meetings of said corporation, he believes that the allegations in relation thereto, which are in said supplemental bill contained, are true.

Sworn to before me, Philip Walter, clerk United States circuit court, at Jacksonville, this 30th day of May, 1877.

2454 In the circuit court of the United States, northern district of Florida.

J. FRED SCHUTTE ET AL.
vs.
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company.

The defendant excepts to the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth, twentieth, twenty-first, twenty-second and twenty-fourth direct interrogatory addressed to the witness Frank H. Collins and Sidney W. Hopkins, because—

I. The said interrogatories are leading, illegal, and incompetent.

II. That the said interrogatories ask for the conclusions and opinions of the witnesses and others, instead of facts.

III. That the said interrogatories ask for hearsay evidence, and not for facts known to the witness.

2455 IV. That said interrogatories do not call for the best, but for secondary evidence.

And the exceptions so taken are not waived by reason of the cross-interrogatories propounded to the witness, but on the contrary are hereby reserved, and will be insisted upon on the trial of this cause.

Cross-interrogatory 1st. Was not your firm of S. W. Hopkins and Company the agents of the State of Florida, as well as of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, in the years 1870 and 1871? and, if yea, state when such agency commenced.

Cross-interrogatory 2d. If you say you were employed to sell any bonds issued by the State of Florida to said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, state the exact date of such 2456 employment; and was such employment written or verbal?

Cross-interrogatory 3d. If you say your said firm of S. W. Hopkins and Company received any bonds from the State of Florida, issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, state the amount you agreed to receive from said State, and the actual amount you did receive and dispose of.

Cross-interrogatory 4th. If you say you were shown any maps or copies of laws, were they in any respect different to the maps to be found in the bookstores for sale, or any other laws than such as could be found in the statute books of Florida by any one who chose to examine?

2457 Cross-interrogatory 5th. Did you or not dispose of said Florida State bonds, if any you did sell, to John Collinson in London, and to G. M. Boissevain, A. J. Milders, Joseph Zadoks and others interested in this suit in Amsterdam and Rotterdam, in the Netherlands, who united with your firm in dealing in said bonds?

Cross-interrogatory 6th. Before you sold any of said bonds were they not denounced as being fraudulent and illegal in their issue, and was it not also alleged that the statute under which they were issued was unconstitutional and void, and that said bonds would never be paid by the people of Florida; and were not these charges of illegality published, and the publications copied in various public journals and newspapers throughout the United States, England, and Holland, 2458 where said bonds were offered for sale? State fully all the knowledge and information you have on the subject.

Cross-interrogatory 7th. In consequence of such charges of illegality and fraud in the issue of said bonds being so published, did you not fail to sell said bonds in the markets of New York and London, and in order to dispose of said bonds at any price, did or not the firm of S. W. Hopkins and Co. take said bonds to account, as the nominal purchaser thereof, at the reduced price of less than fifty (50) per cent. of their par value, or say about $500 for $1,000, less commissions? And did not your firm make an agreement to this effect with M. S. Littlefield on the part of said company about the month of June and November, 1870?

2459 Cross-interrogatory 8th. After making such agreement, if you say you did make such a one, authoriseing you to take said bonds to account, at say half their par value or thereabouts, or say £100 sterling per bond, did you or not transfer them to said Collinson, Boissevain, Milders, Zadoks, Stoop and others, as a syndicate formed for that purpose, at the rate of about $190 advance on said bonds, or say at about $690 per bond?

Cross-interrogatory 9th. Do you not know that in consequence of the repeated charges of fraud and illegality and unconstitutionality in the issue of said bonds, that your firm was not able to make any positive sale of them at all, but on the contrary that the best you could do was to sell to the syndicate, composed of said Collinson and others, and in his name, an option to take the said bonds from time to time at 2460 a limited price; and were not said bonds held at the risk of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company until such option was exercised; and did not said option extend through a period of one year? and if said contract was in writing, produce a copy thereof as part of your answer.

Cross-interrogatory 10th. Do you not know that in consequence of said charges of fraud and illegality, that said Collinson on the part of himself and associates sought the opinion of eminent counsel, and among others the Hon. J. P. Benjamin, Queen's counsel, as to the question of the constitutionality of said Florida State bonds; and did not said Benjamin give it as his opinion that said bonds were unconstitutional and void; and after the giving of said opinions, did not said Collinson insist upon the executing of a modified contract for himself 2461 and associates, which was executed between your firm and said Collinson on the 28th day of December, 1870, a copy of which said modified agreement is appended hereto as a part of this question, marked Appendix A.

Cross-interrogatory 11th. Was it not a condition of this said modified agreement (Appendix A) between your firm and said Collinson and associates, that your firm should procure from the highest courts of Florida a judicial opinion to the effect that said bonds were not unconstitutional, but were valid and legal securities; and in pursuance of such agreement, did you not send one Charles H. Collins from Europe to Florida, whose mission was to procure such an opinion; and was not such advice procured and given to the governor of Florida by the judge of the supreme court of said State, as was regarded as comply-2462 ing with the terms of said modified agreement for disposal of said bonds to and by your firm and said Collinson and his associates? Please state fully all that was said or done by the several parties in reference to said modified agreement, which is not expressed therein. State fully all that occurred.

Cross-interrogatory 12th. Do you not know that in consequence of the publication of fraud and illegality in the issue of said bonds, that it was necessary, and that your firm and said Collinson and associates agreed that a large portion of the nominal price at which said bonds were disposed of should be and was set apart as a fund to pay the accruing interest upon and to float said bonds in the market while they were being manipulated, and by your firm and said Collinson and associates; and do you not know that a sum of nearly $400,000 of the 2463 price for which said bonds were disposed of was used and applied to floating said bonds on the market? Please state fully all that occurred in this behalf.

Cross-interrogatory 13th. Was not the first sale or delivery of said bonds to said Collinson and associates in London and in Holland made on or about the 19th day of November, 1870, and was not the last sale, transfer, and delivery under said agreements to said parties made on or about the 19th day of July, 1871; and do you not know that there never was any of said bonds over or above those numbered from number 1 to number 2800 received and delivered by your said firm to said Collinson and associates in Holland or elsewhere, under said agreements of 14th November and 28th December, 1870, and please 2464 append and make part of your answer, if you have it, a copy of the account of such transfer and delivery of said bonds to said

Collinson, with the date of each delivery.

Cross-interrogatory 14th. Was not all the information, statements, and publications about the fraudulent, illegal, and unconstitutional character of said bonds equally accessible to all parties dealing in the same? And had your firm any information not given to and accessible to all other parties dealing in the said bonds either in England or Holland? If you can do so please produce and make part of your answer to this question all printed or published statements in reference to the illegality of said bonds, in either the English or Dutch language, with what you believe to be correct translations, if you have or can produce such.

2465 Cross-interrogatory 15th. Do you not know that said bonds were first offered in New York and London, where they failed because of the said charges of illegality preferred against them? And were they not offered on the market in England and Holland upon a printed prospectus, a copy of which is made part of this question, marked Appendix B, which was printed in both the English and Dutch languages? And if you say there was any other printed or published prospectus used in the putting of said bonds on the market, please produce the same as part of your answer.

Cross-interrogatory 16th. Was not the said printed 2466 London and the said Boissevain, Milders, Zadoks, Stoop, and others co-operating with him in the placing of said bonds on the market in Holland; or, if not, please state who, if you know, did prepare and publish said prospectus so addressed to the public for the sale of said bonds.

Cross-interrogatory 17th. If you say, in answer to the 16th direct interrogatory, that the governor of Florida rendered you any aid in the selling of said bonds, please state why it was necessary that you should have the assistance of the governor to make said sale. Was it not because, and only because, of the charges of fraud and illegality so published to the public as to render his (the governor's) official assurances necessary to aid in giving the said bonds any character in the market, even for speculative purposes? If there was any other reason or notice for seeking the governor's aid in the sale of said bonds, please state what it was.

2467 Cross-interrogatory 18th. Do you not know that all the Florida State bonds numbered above 2,800—that is, 1,200 of said bonds numbered up to and including 4,000—were brought to England by Thomas B. Coddington, as the agent of the State of Florida, and one Edward Houstoun, some time between the 11th day of January and the 18th day of April, 1871?

Cross-interrogatory 19th. Were not the said bonds, receipted for to said Houston as held for his use and the use of the State of Florida, charged with the payment of the sum of $163,000, with interest, besides the further sum of $5,000 to said Houstoun, and the sum of $57,500 to J. P. Sanderson, and $16,000 to M. D. Papy, and $15,000 to R. H. Gamble, and F. H. Flagg $4,000, and J. D. Westcott $3,800, and Thomas B.
2468 Coddington $45,000, and the State of Florida $227,500, besides $40,000 to T. W. Brevard, making in all about $573,800 to be paid from the proceeds of said bonds, and to which purpose they were dedicated by the governor of Florida and said Houstoun, from whom the said Florida bonds were received by said Coddington, as shown by his receipt made part of this question, marked Appendix C.

Cross-interrogatory 20th. Was there not 224 of the State bonds delivered to said Coddington of the number above 3,000 to 4,000, inclusive, cancelled and returned to the State, leaving but 776 outstanding; and at 50 cents on the dollar, or $500 to the $1,000 bond, could these proceeds amount to more than $388,000, or, to add the 200 bonds numbered from 2,800 to 3,000, could the whole, at 50 per cent., or $500 per bond, produce more than $488,000, and would or could this amount pay 2469 the amount to which they were dedicated by over $90,000? And do you not know that said 1,200 bonds numbered above 2,800 were not issued or sent to you for the benefit of either the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, or the Florida Central Railroad, but were issued and sent to you by the State of Florida and said Houstoun precharged with and set apart to pay the private debts and obligations to the State of Florida, and the other parties named, to the amount of over $570,000 as aforesaid?

Cross-interrogatory 21st. Were any of the bonds, numbered above 2,800, sold by your firm; and if not, state what disposition was made of the same, and especially the 1,000 bonds numbered from 3,000 to 4,000. Were not 224 cancelled and 206 taken by John Collinson in pledge to raise money to pay the interest due January 1st, 1873, on the re-2470 mainder of the bonds, and 568 deposited in bank by order of court, and 2 being lost, making the 1,000 bonds?

Cross-interrogatory 22d. Do you not know that at the time said bonds numbered from 3000 to 4000 were delivered by the governor of Florida and said Houstoun to said Coddington, who brought them to your firm as agent and trustee for the State of Florida and said Houston, that said bonds were then the subject of a suit in the circuit court of Leon County, Florida, on the part of J. D. Westcott and F. H. Flagg, on the ground that the said bond issue was illegal and fraudulent; and have not said bonds continued to be in litigation in the courts in Florida, New York, and London from the time mentioned to the present?

2471 Cross-interrogatory 23d. Did or not your firm ever at any time receive any money or proceeds of any kind from the sale, use, or appropriation of any of said bonds numbered above 2800; and if you say you did not, then please state out of what fund or from what source you derived the money you paid, if any you did pay, said Houstoun, Papy, and others, as provided in the receipt of said Coddington, Appendix C. And did you or not pay said several sums of money to said Houstoun out of moneys received from the complainants in this suit?

Cross-interrogatory 24th. If in answer to the 22d, 23d, and 24th direct interrogatories you state that N. W. Woodfin was in London in 1870, or at any other time, having any business with the firm of Hopkins & Company in reference to said bonds, then state if he was not there as the representative of a commission constituted by the 2472 legislature of the State of North Carolina to seek the recovery of upwards of a million dollars ($1,000,000) of the money belonging to the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company which had been misapplied by its agents and fiduciaries. And did not said Woodfin devote his attention to that subject and no other; and did said Woodfin do or perform or offer to do or perform any act whatsoever which concerned said bonds, except to try to collect said debt and offer his approval of such measures as would produce that result?

Cross-interrogatory 25th. Subsequent to said Woodfin's visit to England, if you say he did visit England, did he or not cause suit to be brought against your firm in New York to enforce the payment to him of the proceeds of said Florida State bonds; and if you say such a suit was brought, how was it decided, and upon what grounds? State fully all that transpired in this respect.

2473 Cross-interrogatory 26th. Was not the said John Collinson with whom your firm made the agreements of 14th November and 28th December, 1870, in reference to the placing said bonds on the market, also interested with the parties in Holland who were engaged in placing said bonds on the market; and was he not a party in interest in both England and Holland? State fully your knowledge and information on this subject.

JOSEPH B. STEWART,
Solicitor for Defendant.

2474 A.

Memorandum of agreement made the 28th day of December, 1870, between Messrs. S. W. Hopkins and Company, of 58 Old Broad street, London, of the one part, and John Collinson, of 9 Victoria Chambers, London, of the other part.

Since the agreement between the same parties dated the 14th day of November, 1870, was signed, a question has been raised by Mr. Collinson, whether the issue of the bonds, which are the subject of such agreement, is not invalid, as being unconstitutional. Messrs. S. W. Hopkins and Company, although not admitting that there can be any doubt as to the validity of such bonds, have nevertheless agreed with Mr. Collinson as follows: It is therefore agreed between the parties that Mr. Collinson, in lieu of paying the Messrs. Hopkins and Company, against delivery on application of such bonds, the sum of one hundred and thirty-eight pounds one shilling and ten pence, shall pay to them one hundred and twenty-four pounds five shillings and ten pence, and that the 2475 difference, videlicit thirteen pounds sixteen shillings, shall, at the risk of Messrs. Hopkins and Company, be paid to the joint account of Frank Howard Collins and John Collinson, with Messrs. Drake, Klienmuth and Cohen, bankers, of Fenchurch street, London. Messrs. Hopkins and Company engage forthwith to take steps for obtaining and to produce to Mr. Collinson, duly certified by the proper off'ers of the State, the decision of the supreme court of the State of Florida upon the question so as aforesaid raised by Mr. Collinson.

In the event of the decision of such supreme court being in favor of the validity of the bonds, the amount in the hands of Messrs. Drake, Klienmuth and Cohen shall, upon the production to Mr. Collinson, his executors, or administrators, of the official copy of such decision, duly certified as aforesaid, belong and be paid to Messrs. Hopkins and Company.

In the event of the decision being adverse to the validity of the bonds, such amount as aforesaid shall belong and be paid to the said John Collinson, his executors or administrators, as representing the bondholders.

2476 In either case, such interest as Messrs. Drake & Co. may allow shall be paid to Messrs. Hopkins & Co.

In other respects the agreement of the 14th day of November, 1870, shall remain in full force, and nothing herein contained shall prejudice the claims of Mr. Collinson or any bondholder against the State of Florida or the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, as witness the hands of the parties hereto, the day and year first above written.

JOHN COLLINSON.

DEFINITIVE PROSPECTUS.

1870.

FLORIDA STATE LOAN.

Issue of 4,000,000 dollars authorized by act of the legislature, dated 28th of January, 1870. In bonds to bearer of 1,000 dollars each, bearing interest at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum. Principal and interest payable in gold, free from all United States taxes.

Payments will be made at the Florida State agency in the city of New York, of the principal at par on January 1st, 1900, and the interest on January 1st and July 1st, in each year.

The bonds, with accrued interest since 1st July (being £6 18*s.* 2*d.*), are offered at the price of £183 per $1,000, making the interest equal to nearly 9½ per cent. per annum.

Payment on application £10 per 1,000 dollar bond, and the remainder on allotment. Should no allotment be made, the application money will be returned in full.

Messrs. are authorized to receive subscriptions for the Florida State bonds to the amount of $4,000,000.

The State of Florida pledges its credit for the above, guaranteeing payment in gold of both principal and interest.

The governor of Florida (Harrison Reed) makes the following statements:

That the real property therein, taken at its present minimum value, is $50,000,000, on which a tax of ½ of one per cent. is annually levied, being $250,000.

That an addition of $30,000 to $50,000 is receivable from specific taxes on polls, specific licenses, etc.

2478 That there are four hundred miles of railroad and a thousand miles of telegraph line in operation; oyster-beds and fisheries along a thousand miles of the coast, equal to the best in the world; foreign corporations doing business in the State, insurance companies, steamship companies, etc., all of which pay no taxes, and from which large tributes can, if necessary, be levied.

As further security for her debt, the State of Florida possesses already 11,000,000 acres of public lands, and will receive, when the government surveys are completed, over 5,000,000 acres additional.

The money to be now raised is solely to be devoted to railroad purposes, and will be paid on completion of every twenty miles, at the rate of $16,000 per mile; the State being secured by first mortgage liens conditional upon the payment by the company of principal and interest.

The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railway, to aid in constructing which the money will be applied, is a line 450 miles in length, of which 250 miles are completed, fully equipped and given over to traffic. The full paid capital stock is $6,550,000, and the present earnings on the finished portion of the road show a net return of over $380,000 per annum.

This railway company has mortgaged to the State its entire property including all real estate, road bed, iron, equipments, and all franchises, as additional security for the prompt payment of principal and interest of these bonds.

The total debt of the State of Florida is $1,011,756, held by the United States Government, and within the State itself.

All the original documents connected with this loan have been submitted to Messrs. Ashurst, Morris & Co., solicitors, of 6, Old Jewry, London, who have stated that they are fully satisfied that they are in perfect order and that the bonds are properly issued.

Subscription lists will be simultaneously opened in London, Frankfort, Amsterdam, and Rotterdam, and prospectuses and forms of application can be obtained in London, of Messrs. .

(Indorsed:) Prospectus of Florida State loan for $4,000,000 dollars.

2480 C.

TALLAHASSEE, FLA., January 11, 1871.

Received from Edward Houstoun, esq., in trust and for his account, one thousand Florida Central Railroad Company first mortgage bonds, payable to the State of Florida, for one thousand dollars each, with which I hereby undertake to arrange with General M. S. Littlefield, and other parties interested, and collect from him or them the amount which it is admitted is due to said Houstoun, viz: One hundred and sixty-three thousand and twenty-six, seventy one-hundredth dollars, with interest thereon at seven per cent. from the time M. S. Littlefield's draft on S. W. Hopkins & Co. for said amount fell due, and in addition thereto the sum of five thousand dollars for costs and expenses incurred by said Houstoun in suits brought by parties against said Houstoun in relation to these bonds or other bonds and the stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company; it being understood that all proceedings at law or otherwise are to be discontinued, or if that be impossible, he is to be indemnified by responsible parties against all damages or costs arising out of said proceedings; it being further understood that said Houstoun shall, when paid, transfer and assign to said Littlefield all the stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, or other securities which he holds or which were given him as collateral security to secure the above amounts due to said Houstoun.

And it is further understood and agreed that said Coddington is to collect the further sums of money and pay to said Houstoun for account of the parties named below, which it is understood are a lien subsequent and inferior to said Houstoun's lien on these bonds, viz:

M. D. Papy, esq., the sum of sixteen thousand dollars.

Colonel R. H. Gamble, the sum of fifteen thousand dollars; who is to surrender to said Littlefield three hundred shares of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, and seventeen hundred dollars in the bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company and the Tallahassee Railroad Company, at par.

J. P. Sanderson, esq., the sum of fifty-seven thousand five hundred and sixty dollars, and said J. P. Sanderson is to surrender to said Littelfield seventy shares of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, and comply with his agreements with said Littlefield, for which a part of said sum is in consideration.

J. H. Flagg, esq., the sum of four thousand dollars; for which he is to surrender the Central Railroad Company stock and the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad bonds which he holds to said Littlefield.

And also to pay for seventy shares of stock now or lately held by J. D. Westcott, jr., esq., the sum of thirty-eight hundred and forty-five thirty-three one-hundredth dollars, when said stock is to be delivered to said Littlefield.

This arrangement is based on the assumption that the money will be paid from the proceeds of bonds negotiated by S. W. Hopkins & Co., of New York; the remainder of said proceeds is to be disposed of as directed by the parties interested.

(Signed) T. B. CODDINGTON.

I approve and assent to the same:

Cross-interrogatories on the part of the defendant to the interrogatories to be propounded to the complainants' witnesses, Frank H. Collins and Sidney W. Hopkins.

2482 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Northern District of Florida:

I, Philip Walter, clerk of the United States circuit court, in and for the said district, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the original cross-interrogatories and exhibits thereto attached, on file in my office.

Witness my hand and the seal of said circuit court at Jacksonville, in the said district, this 3rd day of March, A. D. 1879.

[SEAL OF CIRCUIT COURT.] PHILIP WALTER, Clerk.

2483 To JOHN A. SHIELDS, Esq.,
U. S. Commissioner, Post-Office Building, New York:

SIR: A commission was heretofore sent to you from this office with interrogatories annexed, entitled, in the cause of J. Fred Schutte et al. vs. the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Compan et al., authorizing you to take the deposition of Frank H. Collins and Sidney W. Hopkins and of Thomas B. Coddington, witnesses on the part of the complainants. Cross-interrogatories on the part of the defendant the Western Division of the Western N. C. R. R. Co., were not sent to you, but leave to file and forward such cross-interrogatories was afterwards granted by the court, and the same are herewith enclosed to you. You are therefore instructed to address to each of said witnesses the cross-interrogatories, certified copies of which from the 2484 original on file in this office are hereto attached, and return the same to this office with the direct interrogatories and depositions of the witnesses duly certified.

Respectfully,

PHILIP WALTER, Clerk.

2485 Circuit court of the United States for the northern district of Florida.

J. FRED SCHUTTE ET AL.
vs.
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company et al.

Cross-interrogatories and exceptions to interrogatories to be propounded to Thomas B. Coddington:

First cross-interrogatory. If in answer to the third direct interrogatory you say you had in your possession bonds issued by the governor of the State of Florida to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, then please state whether said bonds were not numbered from 3001 to 4000 inclusive; and whether you did not receive said bonds on the 11th or 12th day of January, 1871, at Tallahassee, Florida, from one Edward Houston; and whether you did not receive 2286 said bonds from said Houston, and receipt to him therefor as his agent and trustee. And at the time you received said bonds did you not agree to apply the same, or the proceeds thereof, to the payment of the following debts and obligations: 1st, a debt to said Houston of $163,000, with interest; 2d, a debt to J. P. Sanderson for $57,500, with interest; 3d, a debt to M. D. Papy for $16,000; 4th, a debt to R. H. Gamble of $15,000; 5th, a debt to James D. Westcott for about $5,000; 6th. a debt to F. H. Flagg of about $5,000; 7th, a debt to yourself of about $45,000; 8th, a debt to the State of Florida of about $223,750? And were you not constituted agent of the State of Florida to take charge of said bonds and convey them to New York City and London, and to apply the proceeds thereof in the manner above inquired about, and did you not convey and deliver said bonds, as such agent and trustee. and according to such instructions?

The defendant excepts to the fourth direct interrogatory as immaterial and irrelevant.

2487 The defendant excepts to the fifth direct interrogatory—

(a.) Because the same is incomplete as the Exhibit A, made part thereof, is not annexed.

(b.) Because it is immaterial and irrelevant.

(c.) Because it calls for a mental condition of the witness—calls for no fact pertinant to this cause, and is incompetent.

The defendant excepts to the sixth direct interrrogatory—

(a.) Because it is immaterial and irrelevant.

(b.) Because it is leading.

(c.) Because it requests the witness to make his answer to a bill in equity in another cause without regard for its materiality.

(d.) Because it inquires about matters not embraced in the pleadings.

The defendant exceps to the seventh direct interrogatory, because it is irrelevant, incompetent, and calls for the hearsay statements of others.

2488 Second cross-interrogatory. If in answer to the eighth direct interrogatory you say that you did have knowledge of the sale of any of the first three thousand (3,000) bonds issued by the governor of Florida to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company inquired of, then please state whether said sale was not made by Milton S. Littlefield as president of said company to S. W. Hopkins & Co. at the rate of fifty per cent. (50 %) of their par value, or, say, one hundred pounds (£100) sterling, for each one thousand ($1,000) dollar State bond? And state whether said Hopkins & Co. did not resell, nominally, said bonds to John Collinson for about one hundred and thirty-eight (£138) pounds sterling per bond. And whether the first of said sales was not made on the 19th day of November, 1870, and the last of said sales July 21st, 1871. And state if a large portion of the gross amount of said sales, that is to say, £67,566 sterling or $337,830 was not deducted 2489 to pay interest on the bonds so sold, and to float the same in the market. And state if said sales were not merely formal, and that in reality no bonds were purchased from said company by either said Hopkins & Co. or said Collinson, except for speculative purposes, and delivered only as the same were placed in the market. And state whether you do not know of your own knowledge, that none of said bonds numbered above 2,800 were sold and delivered in the market. And were they not also at, or below the reduced price above named?

Third cross-interrogatory. If in answer to the ninth direct interrogatory you say you did present to S. W. Hopkins & Co. a draft drawn by the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company in favor of the governor of Florida for the sum of $223,750, then please state if said money was not to be paid to the State of Florida out of the proceeds of the said bonds of said State numbered from 3001 to 4000, inclusive, which you received from or as the agent and trustee of said Houston on the 11th day of January, 1871. 2490

The defendant excepts to the tenth direct interrogatory as immaterial, irrelevant, and incompetent; and for the further reason that the record alone can show who are the parties to the suit.

Fourth cross-interrogatory. If in your answer to any of the preceding interrogatories you state that said Florida State bonds were sold at or about the reduced price of 50 per cent. of their par value, then please state whether said low rate of sale was not caused by the said bonds being declared fraudulent and illegal in their issue and use, and that the same was in violation of the constitution of the State of Florida? And state whether articles were not published and circulated in the journals of the United States and Europe, charging such to be the fact. And were not such charges of fraud and illegality a matter of common notoriety? 2491

Fifth cross interrogatory. If you say you received said bonds numbered from 3001 to 4000, inclusive, as the agent and trustee of said Houston and the State of Florida, were they or not, at the time you received them, the subject of litigation in suits brought by James D. Westcott and F. H. Flagg, charging the same to be illegal and fraudulent? And did you not have to agree to pay or cause to be paid a sum of money to get rid of said suits in order to possess yourself of said bonds? And was not said money paid or caused to be paid by you then or subsequently?

Sixth cross-interrogatory. At the time you received said State bonds inquired of, if any you did receive, did you or not leave Tallahassee, Florida, by the usual mode of transportation by rail, or adopt any other mode of travel? And if by any other mode, please state what mode it was, and the reason, if any, assigned therefor. 2492

Sol. for Western Division of the Western N. C. R. R. Co.

(Indorsed:) U. S. circuit court, northern dist. of Fla. J. Fred. Schutte et al. vs. The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company et al. Cross-interrogatories to be propounded to the witness Thomas B. Coddington. Jos. B. Stewart, sol. for def't, 35 Broadway, N. Y. City.

2493 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Northern District of Florida:

I, Philip Walter, clerk of the United States circuit court in and for said northern district of Florida, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the original cross-interrogatories on file in my office.

Witness my hand and the seal of the said circuit court, at Jacksonville, in said district, this 5th day of March, A. D. 1879.

[SEAL OF CIRCUIT COURT.] PHILIP WALTER, Clerk.

2494 In the circuit court of the United States, fifth judicial circuit, northern district of Florida. In equity.

J. FRED. SCHUTTE, JAN PRINS, ADRIANUS Prins, and others, complainants,
against
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN North Carolina Railroad Company, The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, the Florida Central Railroad Company, and others, defendants.

Interrogatories to be propounded to Adolph Engler, merchant doing business at 160 Pearl street, in the city of New York, a material witness for complainants, who is to be examined in the city of New York under a commission to be issued in said cause:

Interrogatory first. What is your name and residence?

2495 Interrogatory second. Have you read a copy of the bill of complaint filed in the suit in which you are now examined as a witness; are you not acquainted with the complainants, or defendants, or either of them?

Interrogatory third. Have you received from complainants any written authority to act for them in respect to the bonds in said bill of complaint mentioned? If you say you have, please annex a copy of such authority to your answer to this interrogatory.

Interrogatory fourth. Have you acquired any pecuniary interest in said bonds or any right or title to them by virtue of any transfer made to you by the said complainants, or either of them, of any of said bonds?

2496 Interrogatory fifth. Have you been before examined as a witness in any suit pending in any court in the State of Florida? If so, in what suit you were so examined, and say whether or not you testified on such examination that you held any bonds, and if any, what bonds, as trustee for complainants and others. If you did so testify, answer and say in what sence you used the word trustee, and what meaning you intended in the use of such word, whether you intended to say that you held such a title or had acquired such an interest in said bonds as that which in law or equity vested you with the sole power to sue for and collect the money which said bonds authorized the owners thereof to demand and sue for the recovery of.

2497 Interrogatory sixth. Of what country are you a native; what is and has been your profession? Are you acquainted or not with the meaning of legal technical words or phrases such as are used in the jurisprudence of the United States?

Interrogatory seventh. Have you in your possession any of the bonds mentioned in said bill of complaint? If yea, say how many you have and who are the legal and equitable owners of said bonds; that is to whom do they belong, whose property are they, for what purpose are they delivered to you; on what terms and conditions are you empowered to deliver them to any one? Have you any other interest, title or right in or to said bonds?

Interrogatory eighth. Look at the paper entitled "Memorandum Plan," hereto annexed; say to what does such paper refer, and what reference the same has to your authority touching said bonds; say whether, in case the plan stated in said paper becomes impossible 2498 of execution from any cause, your authority, control of, or right to possession of said bonds will be effected, and, if effected, how and why?

Interrogatory ninth. When did you first hear of the institution of the suit above stated? Whether you in any way aided in the conduct of said suit, and whether you claimed or do now claim to be entitled to be a party of complainant in said suit?

Interrogatory tenth. Do you know or can you set forth any other matter or thing which may be a benefit or advantage to the parties at issue in this cause or either of them, or that may be material to the subject of this your examination or the matters in question 2499 in this cause? If yea, set forth the same fully and at large in your answer.

J. FRED. SCHUTTE ET AL.
vs.
THE WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WESTERN
North Carolina Railroad Company et al.

Cross-interrogatories on the part of the defendant to the direct interrogatories, to be propounded to Adolph Engler.

First cross-interrogatory. If you say you have received from complainants their written authority to act for them, mentioned in the third direct interrogatory, then please state if they are not the same authorities to act which you communicated by letters and telegrams, at the request of one Charles D. Willard, to one Thomas D. Carter, at Asheville, North Carolina; and state if you did not send and transmit all the letters and telegrams above mentioned to the governor of 2502 Florida and said Carter at the request of said Willard, and did not said Willard dictate the terms of said telegrams and letters?

Second cross-interrogatory. Are you not to receive a commission as trustee from the complainants, or from Charles D. Willard, for your trouble in the matter of said trust; and state fully and distinctly, to the best of your knowledge and information, who is to pay, and who does pay, the fees, expenses, and charges of the prosecution of this suit on the part of the complainants, and under what contract, agreement and arrangement, or stipulation, and with and between whom made? State whether or not you are authorized to incur any expense or charge against the complainants herein. Do you not know, of your own knowledge, that Charles D. Willard and his associates are bound to pay all costs and expenses of the prosecution of this suit? Have you, or 2503 not, received letters or telegrams of instruction from any of the complainants called the "Dutch bondholders," in relation to said bonds of the management of this suit, or any such letters, telegrams, or other writings or documents in relation to the same, from Charles D. Willard, W. G. M. Davis, Henry R. Jackson, and Charles H. Simonton, or any such documents in relation to your trusteeship for said "Dutch bondholders," or touching your connection with this suit? If you answer yea, please produce each and all of such papers, and make the same, or copies thereof, part of your answer to this cross-interrogatory.

Third cross-interrogatory. If in answer to the fifth direct interrogatory you say you have been examined as a witness in any suit pending in the State of Florida concerning the bonds involved in this suit, then please state if you were not examined as a witness in the two suits in equity prosecuted by the defendant herein, styled the Western Division 2504 of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company; and did you not give a deposition in said suits, and did you not therein state what you knew and believed to be true, and state and mean to state just what the language implies and imports; and did you not notify Charles D. Willard and the other counsel for said Dutch bondholders that you were subpœnaed as a witness for the complainant in said suits, and did not said Willard and his associates advise you to disobey said subpœna; and did you not thereafter consult your own counsel on the subject, and not the latter advise you to obey said subpœna, and in fact attend you on your examination thereunder; and if you state that said Willard and his associates did advise you to disobey said subpœna, if such advice was by letter or telegram please make the same or copies thereof part of your answer to this cross-interrogatory. State whether or not you were, as trustee for said Dutch bondholders, made a 2505 party defendant in said suits under an order of service made by the honorable circuit court of the United States for the northern district of Florida, on or about the 22d day of May, 1877, and did you show said order of service to said Willard, and did he not advise you to pay no attention to said order of service, saying that he would attend to it and retain the same in his possession; and were you not advised by said Willard's associate, W. G. M. Davis, not to enter an appearance in said suits in which you gave your depositions which you are asked to explain in the direct interrogatories under this commission; and since giving said deposition have you not been advised by said Willard and other counsel for said Dutch bondholders what language you should have used; and have you not been advised by said counsel verbally and by letter what answer to give to said fifth direct interrogatory on this examination; and have you not been furnished with a copy 2506 of the direct interrogatories propounded to you upon this examination by said Willard or other counsel, with directions or advice as to what answers you were desired to make thereto. If you answer that you were furnished with such copy and instructions or advice, please produce the same and make them part of your answer to this cross-interrogatory, with the name or names of the party or parties so instructing and advising you?

This defendant excepts to the sixth direct interrogatory as irrelevant, illegal, and incompetent.

Fourth cross-interrogatory. Are you not acquainted with the English language, and do you not read, speak, and write the same, and was not the language used by you in said former deposition understood and intended by you as then given; and were you not attended by 2507 counsel on said examination; and did you not critically and carefully revise the language you then used before it was taken down by the examiner and afterwards?

Fifth cross-interrogatory. If in answer to the seventh direct interrogatory you say you still hold any of the bonds involved in this suit, then please state if they are not the same bonds which you testified about in your former examination, and do you hold the same by the same authority and for the same purpose or trust for the complainants, as stated in your former examination. Please produce the power of attorney or authority executed and delivered to you by the complainant, J. Fred. Schutte, and make the same or a copy thereof a part of your answer to this cross-interrogatory. Are you not required by said power of attorney to deliver said bonds in exchange for bonds to be executed by a com-2507½ pany to be formed and styled the Jacksonville and Mobile Railroad Company; are you authorized to deliver said bonds held by you in any other manner or for any other purpose? and, if you answer yea, please produce your authority therefor, and make the same or a copy thereof a part of your answer to this cross-interrogatory.

This defendant excepts to the eighth direct interrogatory because—

1st. The same is incomplete, in that the exhibits named therein are not annexed.

2d. The witness is asked to construe a paper not annexed, which if before him he could not do, such being the exclusive duty of the court.

3d. The witness is asked to state what effect will follow a contingency which has not transpired.

4th. The witness is asked to state conclusions, not facts.

2508 This defendant excepts to ninth direct interrogatory because—

1st. It is immaterial and irrelevant.

2d. The question calls for a conclusion of law and not for fact; and this after the question of law has been previously determined by the court in its order making him a party.

JOS. B. STEWART,
Solicitor for the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company.

2509 (Indorsed:) U. S. circuit court, northern dist. of Florida. J. Fred. Schutte et al. vs. The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company et al. Cross-interrogatories to direct interrogatories to be propounded to Adolph Engler, a witness on the part of the complainants.

2510 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Northern District of Florida:

I, Philip Walter, clerk of the United States circuit court in and for the said district, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the original cross-interrogatories on file in my office.

Witness my hand and the seal of said court at Jacksonville, in said district, this 4th day of March, A. D. 1879.

[SEAL OF CIRCUIT COURT.] PHILIP WALTER, Clerk.

2511 Deposition of John Collinson, a witness produced and sworn and examined the 7th day of February, A. D. 1879, at my office, in the post-office building in the city of New York, under and by virtue of a commission issued out of the circuit court of the United States for the northern district of Florida in a certain cause therein depending and at issue, wherein J. Fred. Schutte, Jan Prins, Adrianus Prins, and others are complainants, and The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, The Florida Central Railroad Company, and others, are defendants.

JOHN COLLINSON, of London, England, aged 39 years of age, being duly and publicly sworn on the part of the complainants, doth depose and say as follows:

First. To the first interrogatory he saith: John Collinson; residence, London, England; I resided in London, England, during the 2512 years 1870, 1871, 1872, & 1873. I was a merchant during those years.

Second. To the second interrogatory he saith: During the years 1870, 1871, 1872, and 1873, or some of those years, I had dealings with the said firm, and purchased from them some of the bonds mentioned in the interrogatory. I had no dealing with S. W. Hopkins individually until after I had purchased the said bonds. Said dealings were confined to endeavors on my part to induce his firm to adhere to the agreement which they had entered into at the time of the sale of the bonds. I am not able to state from memory more particularly what occurred between said Hopkins and myself, as all papers and documents relating thereto are in England. I have made statements in judicial proceedings in connection with the said bonds, but I have no copy, either written or printed, in this country of said statements; what statements I made are true.

2513 In answer to the third interrogatory he saith: The bonds were purchased by me of S. W. Hopkins and Co., in London, England. They were put on the Dutch market and sold there, as I have been informed. I am also informed that such transaction was conducted by Messrs. Boissevain and Milders & Maingay, of Holland, who purchased the bonds from me for such purpose; that is, to put them on the market and sell them. Nothing was done by me to induce persons in Holland to purchase said bonds from Boissevain, Milders & Maingay, and I have no knowledge of what was said by said persons to induce such purchase.

To the fourth interrogatory he saith: So far as I can remember, the only person who was interested with me in the purchase was Alexander Mendel, of Brussels, since dead. I cannot state from memory what share he had therein or when his interest commenced.

2514 To the fifth interrogatory he saith: The purchase money was found in certain proportions by the said Boissevain, Milders & Maingay, Mendel, and myself. There was no organization or association created by me to buy and pay for said bonds.

To the sixth interrogatory he saith: No other representations were supplied by me to any of such persons, except copies of the various documents in connection with the matter received by me from said Hopkins & Co., and I cannot remember the contents of such documents nor at what time I acquired them.

In answer to the seventh interrogatory he saith: My answer to this interrogatory is the same as the answer to the sixth interrogatory.

To the eighth interrogatory he saith: I have already stated that I sold certain of the bonds to persons in Holland, but I am unable to state anything more particularly than I have already done 2515 respecting the transactions without reference to my books and papers, which are in England.

To the ninth interrogatory he saith: I have read the paragraphs of the copy of the bill referred to in the interrogatory, but I am unable to say whether the statements therein contained are correct or incorrect without reference to my books and documents, which are in England; it is impossible for me to make any statements on these matters from memory alone.

To the tenth interrogatory he saith: To the best of my recollection I did not receive any bonds from Calvin L. Chase, and I do not remember whether I received any bonds by his authority; I have no recollection of the numbers of any bonds so delivered to me, if they ever were so delivered, nor can I answer from memory any of the other questions contained in said interrogatory 2516 To the eleventh interrogatory he saith: To the best of my knowledge and belief, I did pay money for interest on some of the bonds specified in the second interrogatory; I cannot from memory and without reference to my books and papers in England answer any of the other questions contained in the eleventh interrogatory.

To the twelfth interrogatory he saith: I am unable from memory to set forth any other matters or things which would appear to me to be of benefit or advantage to the parties in this cause.

JOHN COLLINSON.

Examination taken, reduced to writing, and the witness subscribed and sworn to before me this 1st day of Feb'ry, A. D. 1879.

JOHN A. SHIELDS,
Commissioner.

2517 Deposition of Thomas B. Coddington, a witness produced and sworn and examined the 18th day of Feb'uary, A. D. 1879, at my office in the post-office building, in the city of New York, under and by virtue of a commission issued out of the circuit court of the United States for the northern district of Florida, in a certain cause therein depending and at issue, wherein J. Fred. Schulte, Jan Prins, Adrianus Prins, and others are complainants, and The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company and others are defendants.

THOMAS B. CODDINGTON, of New York City, aged 64 years of age, being duly and publicly sworn on the part of the complainants, doth depose and say as follows:

First. To the first interrogatory he saith: Thomas B. Coddington; age, 64 years; occupation, merchant; and reside at 42 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Second. To the second interrogatory he saith: Yes; I have 2518 heard of them in connection with this and like litigations in these Florida railroad suits.

Third. To the third interrogatory he saith: I have received and delivered the thousand bonds, numbered from 3001 to 4000, inclusive, as stated in the copy of my answer which I now hand to the commissioner, and which is a copy of my original answer filed in the U. S. circuit court in that case (answer marked by the commissioner Coddington No. 1, J. A. S., com'r). The particulars as to the receipt and delivery of these bonds are stated on pages 11 to 18, inclusive, paragraphs 11 to 13, inclusive. I hand to the commissioner a sworn copy of the paper given by me to Colonel Houston at that time (paper marked by the commissioner Coddington No. 2, J. A. S., com'r), as stated on the pages and paragraphs before mentioned.

Fourth. To the fourth interrogatory he saith: Yes; the answer that I handed to the commissioner a copy of in answer to interroga- 2519 tory three is the answer.

Fifth. To the fifth interrogatory he saith: I have examined Exhibit A, and it is not an exact copy. It differs in the title-page and in the printing. They substitute italics which is not in the original, and omit italics that are in the original. I am willing and do testify as stated in the answer. I claimed to have a lien on these thousand bonds for forty thousand dollars and interest. When, in January, 1872, I was informed that 800 of these bonds had been sent to New York from London, and that the remainder were held in London, I caused a notice to be served on the holders of the remaining bonds (about two hundred) of my lien, and forbidding them from parting with the bonds. About this time I learned that John Collinson had commenced suit in London against Collins and others (Collins being a partner of Hopkins & Co.) to compel them to deliver, under a contract previously made, these 1,000 bonds above mentioned, with 200 more of like bonds of a 2520 previous issue, and that the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company had intervened, assenting to and requiring Collinson to take the bonds he had contracted for with Hopkins & Co., and that after a negotiation by these parties a consent decree was made by which Collinson was to have all the bonds placed in his hands, with the option to buy them, except 224 that were to be cancelled. My notice to the holders of the 200 bonds prevented the carrying out of this arrangement. The railroad company admitted my claim of $40,000 and interest from 29th of August, 1872, and my lien on the bonds, and for this and the further consideration that I would withdraw my notice, the company promised to pay my claim and interest in cash, or, failing to do so, the company would cause 192 of said bonds to be delivered to me, authorizing me to sell the same to satisfy my said debt. This agreement was in writing and signed by the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by their attorney in 2521 fact, C. L. Chase, and at the time of its execution C. L. Chase,

L. P. Bayne, and W. G. M. Davis guaranteed in writing the faithful execution of this agreement. Copies of this agreement and guarantee and particulars of the foregoing will be found in the printed copies which I now hand to the commissioner and append as part of my evidence (and the same is marked by the commissioner Coddington No. 3, J. A. S., com.). Subsequently I learned that John Collinson had obtained in Dec., 1872, from the supreme court in New York the said 800 bonds, Nos. 3201 to 4000, inclusive, which were obtained by a consent, a copy of which is contained on pages 23 to 27, inclusive, of my said answer, which I have handed to the commissioner and made a part of my answer to this interrogatory. And on the 18th of January, 1873, the said railroad company and other parties in that court of record admitted my said debt and lien on the 1,000 bonds herein referred to, which were delivered to Collinson, that is, 200 in London and 800 in New York; which consent, admission, and order of the court 2522 thereon will be found copied at pages 28 to 32, inclusive, of my said answer. After this, 224 of these 1,000 bonds were cancelled, which left 776. Of these, 568 were placed in the Bank of England by order of the English court of chancery on motion of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company. Of this 568 bonds, I received in June, 1878, by order of the said court in chancery in England (the company contesting), 192 of said bonds, which 192 bonds I still have in my possession. The remaining 376 bonds are still in the Bank of England, held by order of court to the credit of the cause of Coddington vs. The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company. The remainder of these 1,000 bonds, I have heard from L. P. Bayne, and perhaps from other parties, that John Collinson had taken against the coupons due in January, 1873, on the other bonds of a previous issue.

Sixth. To the sixth interrogatory he saith: My said answer, down to the period to which it refers to, contains a full, true, and complete 2523 statement of my acts and dealings with said bonds, and the acts of others so far as came to my knowledge. I do again make such answer in equity a reply to the question now repeated. To the last part of this interrogatory I say that my previous answer, to the fifth interrogatory, is a full statement of what was done by myself and others in respect to these bonds so far as I know or heard.

Seventh. To the seventh interrogatory he saith: I was in London in 1871 and I have stated in my previous answers all I know about the bonds.

Eighth. To the eighth interrogatory he saith: I understood from the legal proceedings of Collinson before referred to, that of the first issue 2,800 bonds had been taken from Hopkins & Co. and paid for by Collinson, but I have no personal knowledge of their disposition.
2524 Of the remaining 200 bonds I understood that Collinson obtained them from the company through Chase, their attorney in fact, and paid for them, but I have no personal knowledge of it, the particulars being stated in the English bill of chancery (Coddington No. 3) and the answer of the company, which I now hand to the commissioner. (Answer marked by the commissioner, Coddington No. 3½, J. A. S., com.)

Ninth. To the ninth interrogatory he saith: No; I never heard of any such draft.

Tenth. To the tenth interrogatory he saith: No; I have never authorized Daniel P. Holland or any one else to have me made a defendant in this suit, but I did authorize the said Holland, as my solicitor and counsel, to file a petition for me in said court, and a petition was filed by me and my said counsel praying that the court would grant the 2525 prayers which are to be found on page 30, paragraph 31, of the petition filed in the case, a copy of which petition & prayer I now hand to the commissioner (petition marked by the commissioner Coddington No. 4, J. A. S., com.) and which I make part of my answer to this interrogatory.

Final. To the final interrogatory he saith: My answers and the documents I have handed the commissioner contains everything relating to these bonds as far as I know or have heard.

First. To the first cross-interrogatory he saith: My answers to direct interrogatories 5 and 6 indicate what is made from my own knowledge and what I derived from others.

Second. To the second cross-interrogatory he saith: My answer to the eighth direct interrogatory states the source of my information. I had no personal knowledge of the transaction.

2526 First. To the first additional cross-interrogatory he saith: I have already answered the first part of this interrogatory in my answer to the ninth direct interrogatory.

The witness here asks the commissioner to adjourn this examination till to-morrow morning at 11 o'c'k a. m., so as to enable him to examine his papers for the purpose of looking them over with a view to answer this interrogatory relative to the injunction.

Examination adjourned, at the request of the witness Coddington, to Wednesday, March 19th, 1879, at 11 o'c'k a. m.

WEDNESDAY, March 19th, 1879.

The witness THOMAS B. CODDINGTON, continuing his answer to the first additional cross-interrogatory saith: I have already stated what bonds I understood were sold and what were not sold. I have refer'ed to my papers and I hold in my hand a certified copy of an injunc-2527 tion order in the case of T. B. Coddington vs. The Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, being an order on motion for injunction made the 26th day of April, 1873, in the high court of justice, chancery division, in which the court doth order as follows: "This court doth order that an injunction be awarded to restrain the defendant, John Collinson, until the hearing of this cause or the further order of this court from delivering to or to the order of the defendant, the railway company, or to any other person or persons, the bonds in the plaintiff's bill mentioned remaining in his hands without delivering 192 of the said bonds to the plaintiff"; which is the only injunction I know anything about.

To the cross-interrogatories propounded by Jos. B. Stewart, solicitor for the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, the witness, answering, says:

2528 First. To the first cross-interrogatory he saith: In my answer to the third direct interrogatory I have stated fully and particularly as to my receiving and disposing of the bonds by delivering the same to Hopkins & Co., for whose account and the authority by which I acted. The receipt I gave to Houston, a copy of which I have handed to the commissioner, and which is marked Coddington No. 2, and the letter of M. S. Littlefield, pres. of the J., P. & M. R. R. Co., and the letter of Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, contained on pages 13 & 14 of Coddington No. 1, which is my answer in the suit before mentioned, will show what I was told to do with the money, if I received it, which I did not.

Second. To the second cross-interrogatory he saith: I have already stated fully and particularly all I know or have heard in relation to the disposition of these bonds. In regard to the price and terms of 2529 the sales I was told by W. G. M. Davis the particulars of the transactions, very much as stated in the interrogatory, as near as I can remember, but I know nothing of it of my own knowledge, except as I have before stated in my answers to the direct interrogatories.

Third. To the third cross-interrogatory he saith: I have already answered in my answer to the ninth direct interrogatory that I never heard of any such draft.

Fourth. To the fourth cross-interrogatory he saith: I know nothing about the newspaper publications referred to. I was told in London, by Hopkins & Co., that there was a delay in consum'ating the contract between Hopkins & Collinson until an expression from the supreme 2530 court of Florida could be obtained sustaining the legality of the issue of these bonds, and that after the opinion of the said supreme court had been given the sale under the contract went on.

Fifth. To the fifth cross-interrogatory he saith: When in Florida in January, 1871, I was informed by Colonel Houston that Judge Westcott and Colonel Gamble had obtained an injunction against his sending the bonds from Florida, they, Wescott and Gamble, being stockholders in the Florida Central Railroad Company. Subsequently Westcott agreed to give his consent to the bonds being sent away if he could be paid for his stock in cash $3,845.33, and Gamble agreed to give his consent on my promise to Houston to take the bonds to London, and if I received the money to pay it over to Houston for the parties who alleged to have claims that were a lien on these bonds, amongst which Gamble claimed fifteen thousand dollars. The particu-2531 lars are stated in Exhibit Coddington No. 2, furnished by me to the commissioner. The nature of the suit or proceedings I know nothing about. I paid Westcott, as stated in paragraph 16, page 20, of my answer marked Coddington No. 1, and I subsequently had to pay Gamble, as stated on pages 20 & 21, paragraph 18, of Exhibit Coddington
No. 1, and which I here reiterate.

Sixth. To the sixth cross-interrogatory he saith: After I had received the the bonds, and instructions from Littlefield, president of the road, and of Reed, governor of Florida, the said Houston being fully advised and assenting thereto, I left Tallahassee, as stated on page 14, folios 40 & 41, of Exhibit Coddington No. 1, and which I here reiterate.

T. B. CODDINGTON.

Examination taken, reduced to writing, and by the witness subscribed apd and sworn to this 19th day of March, 1879, before

JOHN A. SHIELDS,
Commissioner.

2532 Answer of Thomas B. Coddington.

U. S. circuit court, northern district of Florida. In equity.

vs.
GEORGE F. DREW, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE of Florida, the Florida Central Railroad Company, and others.

D. P. Holland, solicitor, and of counsel.

At the execution of a commission for the examination of witnesses, wherein J. Fred Schutte, Jan Prins, Adrianus Prins, and others are complainants and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company and others are defendants, this paper writing was produced and shown to Thos. B. Coddington, and by him deposed unto at the time of his examination before John A. Shields, commis.

2533 Circuit court of the United States, northern district of Florida, at Jacksonville.

To the judges of the circuit court of the United States for the 5th circuit and northern district of Florida:

The separate answer of Thomas B. Coddington to the bill of complaint exhibited against him by the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, in which suit George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida, the Florida Central Railroad Company, and others, together with him, the said Coddington, are made parties defendant.

This defendant, saving and reserving unto himself all and all manner of benefit and advantage of exception which can or may be had or taken to the many errors, uncertainties, and other imperfections in the said complainants' bill of complaint contained; and insisting upon the several special matters in this answer set forth, as if he had plead the same, or had demurred to said bill, for answer thereunto or unto so much and such parts thereof as this defendant is advised is or are material or necessary for him to make answer unto, this defendant answering saith:

2534 I. That the bill should be dismissed as to him, because he says that it does not allege that this defendant is a citizen of the State of New York, but avers that he is a citizen of New York, and this defendant alleges that this allegation of citizenship is not sufficient to give the court jurisdiction of this defendant. Wherefore he prays that the bill be dismissed as to this defendant; and subject to the foregoing objection to the jurisdiction of this court and claiming the benefit thereof as if he had specially demurred to said bill,

This defendant saith:

First. That he absolutely denies all, each and every charge of fraud or of fraudulent intent alleged against him by the complainants, and avers that the whole of the transaction, and each and every act (relative to the bonds which are the subject of this suit), were, so far as they were done by this defendant, or so far as he had any knowledge of them, and so far as this defendant was connected with them, good, honest, fair, legitimate and lawful acts, legally and morally; and that this defendant's whole connection with these bonds were had for a good and lawful purpose, and, as this defendant then believed, for the benefit of the parties in interest; and the result, this defendant believed, would eventually be, that the line of railroad would be built, to the great benefit of the people and the State of Florida; this defendant was also informed, and he believed it, and he acted upon that belief, that the State of Florida had by law authorized the governor to exchange State bonds for the bonds of the railroad companies, and that S. W. Hopkins & Co. had sold in England State bonds that were then authorized to be issued, and had agreed to deliver to the purchaser four millions of said State bonds at a given time; and further, that it was essential for the consummation of the contract that the bonds should be delivered as stipulated, and that Edward Houstoun would, it was supposed, 2535, 2536 deliver one million of said bonds to this defendant, in trust for him, if this defendant would accept the trust, and that the receipt and delivery of this million of bonds held by Houstoun was the obstacle in the way of realizing the money from the sale of the bonds, and that if this million of bonds could be delivered in time to complete the contract of sale in London, that the whole enterprise would be a success and the railroad would be speedily constructed westward as designed by the legislative authority.

This defendant supposed that he was undertaking a matter that would be a great public and corporate benefit. This defendant had full faith in these representations, and acted upon them, and was most anxious that this Florida line of railroad should be completed westward through the State of Florida. This defendant had been the good business friend of the Florida railroads; that when the Pensacola & Georgia Railroad Company was building its road this defendant sold that company (Edward Houstoun being its president) large quantities of railroad iron, amounting to more than two hundred thousand dollars, on credit, and took the notes of the company therefor, and when that company failed to pay its notes he compromised with them and took the mortgage bonds of the company in payment at sixty cents on the dollar, and years afterwards this defendant's partner sold them at the solicitation of Edward Houstoun to George W. Swepson, while this defendant was in Europe, at fifty cents on the dollar. After the war this defendant again credited the company, and used all his best endeavors to assist the company and advance its credit, and gave up his coupons (and induced his friends to give up their coupons), past due, for alleged preferred stock, to the amount of over sixty thousand dollars, so as to save that railroad from bankruptcy and sale to its stockholders and to the people of Florida. And that this defendant did this because he had entire faith in the character, honor, and integrity of Edward Houstoun, its president, and gave these past due coupons, and obtained those of his friends, relying on the representations and statements of Ed-2537 ward Houstoun, the president for the company, not supposing for one moment that Houstoun was deceiving this defendant, which afterwards proved to be the case. This defendant afterwards heard that the Pensacola & Georgia Railroad had been sold, as the other Florida railroads were, by the trustees of the internal improvement fund, and that new companies were organized, and that Houstoun and Milton S. Littlefield were the owners of more than two-thirds of the whole line of railroad from Jacksonville westward, and that an exchange of bonds by the State for railroad bonds had been authorized by law, and that these State bonds had been contracted to be sold and delivered to parties in London, and that there was no doubt of the success of the new company in being able to speedily build the Florida railroads through to Mobile, Alabama. That the obstacle in the way was the delivery of the bonds in London in time, to the purchasers, according to the contract. And this defendant agreed to assist in taking this million of dollars of State bonds to London for this purpose, believing, as aforesaid, that it was a good and great public and corporate enterprise, and one to which he wished every success. That with this intent and purpose this defendant went to Florida, in January, 1871, and then obtained the bonds, and afterwards delivered them to S. W. Hopkins & Co. in London, in April, 1871, by the positive and peremptory order of Edward Houstoun, for whose account, and in trust for whom, this defendant received the bonds; and also by the order and direction of Milton S. Littlefield, the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and also by the order and direction of Harrison Reed, the governor of Florida; all of which will more fully appear in this, his answer, hereafter in detail.

II. This defendant says that he has had to pay many thousands of dollars of his own money because he obeyed the order of the said Houstoun.

2538 III. This defendant says that he never heard of these complainants, or that such a corporation existed until long after he had delivered the bonds to Hopkins & Co., in London. This defendant charges that if these complainants had any charge or complaint against him, they ought to have brought it before this time, and not wait for more than six years to bring suit against him; and then, instead of suing him at his domicil in the city of New York, bring this suit against him in Florida.

IV. This defendant says that if their bill be true, of which he knows nothing, and if Littlefield and Swepson embezzled the moneys of these complainants prior to the passage of the acts of 1869 and 1870, authorizing the bonds to be issued, as the complainants allege in their bill, that these complainants committed a gross fraud on the State of Florida and its people, and on this defendant, in not letting the embezzlement be known, so as to advise the authorities of Florida and the public and this defendant not to deal with the aforesaid parties. This defendant, so far from believing that these gentlemen were the criminals that the complainants in this their bill allege them to be, says that George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield were, prior to his receiving these bonds, represented to him to be men of capital and of good character, or this defendant would not have had any connection with them; that he did not know Swepson at all in any part of this transaction, and has never seen him, and his only knowledge of him was that he had been introduced to defendant's partner by a banker, and at Houstoun's solicitation this defendant's partner had sold Swepson the aforementioned Pensacola and Georgia first mortgage bonds prior to the sale of that road in 1869, and while this defendant was a resident of London.

That if what these complainants say about these gentlemen in their bill is true (of which this defendant has no knowledge and does not assert), this defendant says that it was the duty of these complainants to have prevented them from obtaining the passage of the 2539 statutes of Florida, of 1869 and 1870, by which they obtained these public securities; that they the complainants should have published and declared the acts of embezzlement now in their bill of complaint alleged, instead of waiting till the securities were issued, and innocent parties and this defendant, and the public of Florida, had dealings with these securities, to their great injury, as this litigation shows,

V. This defendant absolutely denies that he had any knowledge of any of the illegal acts charged by these complainants against Littlefield, Swepson, or Houstoun, or either of them, relating to the embezzlement or fraudulent use by them, or either of them, of the moneys, securities, or other property of these complainants, as in their bill alleged. This defendant says that he did not know that there ever was such a company as these complainants, or such a corporation in existence, and never knew that either Littlefield or Swepson ever were agents or officers, or in any way connected with such corporation until long after he had delivered said bonds in April, 1871, and then only by hearsay, and in years afterwards, by pleadings in certain suits, this one among the number.

VI. This defendant further says that he delivered in London one thousand State bonds numbered 3,001 to 4,000, inclusive, on the eighteenth of April, A. D. 1871, to S. W. Hopkins & Co. (as will hereafter more fully appear in his answer), and that he is informed and believes that after this defendant had delivered up the whole thousand bonds, that 800 of these identical bonds, numbered 3,201 to 4,000, both inclusive, were afterwards, and in the year 1872, in the hands of a receiver of the 2540 supreme court of the city and of the State of New York, tied up by order of that court in two actions then pending, in each of which this complainant, the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, was a party defendant.

And this defendant is informed and states, as will more fully appear by reference to Schedule I of complainants' exhibits, attached to this bill, that these complainants assisted to procure, and did consent to, and did thereby obtain an order, on the 6th day of December, 1872, by which John Collinson did receive 800 of these identical bonds, being numbered 3,201 to 4,000, inclusive, and carried the same to England to sell, according to the understanding and agreement between the said North Carolina Railroad Company and the other parties to that suit; and that if Collinson should buy the bonds, the proceeds were to be divided amongst certain parties. And these complainants were, of the proceeds of these identical bonds, to receive the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, according to a consent decree obtained in said court on the   day of December, A. D. 1872, which will more fully appear by reference to the consent and stipulation made by complainants, and a copy of this order filed with this answer, and marked Nos. 1 and 2. This defendant avers the facts to be, that these complainants caused eight hundred (800) of these bonds, after this defendant had delivered them in London to S. W. Hopkins & Co., to be taken from a receiver of a court in New York, where they then were, in December, 1872, and sent to England for sale. And this defendant says that these complainants are estopped from denying that they aided and assisted, and attempted to have these bonds sold long after this defendant had parted with the said bonds, and that it is a gross wrong on this defendant to have such charges brought against him by these complainants relative to these bonds.

VII. This defendant prays that the copies of the stipulations 2541 and consents of these complainants, filed herewith, marked No.
1 and 2, may be taken as a part of this his answer, and he says that when these orders were obtained he was not a party, and had no knowledge thereof; but subsequently, on hearing thereof, in the year 1877, he applied to said court, and was made a party thereto, and filed his answer in 1877, and in his answer insisted that the lien of this defendant therein admitted by these complainants and the Jacksonville,

Pensacola, and Mobile Railroad Company had priority and was superior to all other liens for the payment of the debt therein admitted to be due; and this defendant says that the said suit is still pending and undecided in the said court in the said city and State of New York.

VIII. This defendant further says, that he has been informed and believes, and so charges, that these complainants, on or about the 10th of April, A. D. 1870, and prior to the amendatory statute of 1870 (by the authority of which these bonds were issued), entered into a written agreement with the said Milton S. Littlefield and George W. Swepson, by which it was agreed that the said Littlefield should procure bonds of the State of Florida by legislation, substantially, as was afterwards done by the passage of the amendatory act of 1870; and that he, Littlefield, should thus obtain bonds of the State of Florida in exchange for railroad bonds; and that the said State of Florida bonds thus obtained should be sold, and the proceeds applied to the following purposes, to wit, one-half was to be paid to these complainants for the debts due by Littlefield and Swepson to these comptainants, and the residue should be retained by the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company. And that under and in accordance with this unlawful and fraudulent contract on the people of Florida, and the minority stockholders of the Florida Railroad Companies, and this secret agreement, the said Littlefield subsequently caused and procured the passage of the act of 1870, which authorized the issue and exchange of these bonds, 2542 all of which was then unknown to this defendant, and was kept secret among the parties to the said agreement. And defendant says, that these complainants, by the said agreement, made the said Littlefield their agent, and that these complainants are now estopped from denying the legality of the issue and exchange of these bonds; and this defendant asks that he may have the benefit of the decision of Mr. Justice Bradley, heretofore made in this case, and the judgment of this court, that for and on the account of this agreement these complainants are estopped, as in the said judge's opinion then declared.

IX. This defendant further says that he is informed and believes that in accordance with a settlement made between these complainants and the said M. S. Littlefield, the complainants received of the proceeds of the sale of State of Florida bonds, issued under the act of 1870, to the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, the sum of fifty thousand dollars, at one time, from S. W. Hopkins & Co., the fiscal agents of the said J., P. & M. R. R. Co. And this defendant avers that he believes that these complainants are justly chargeable with the injuries that resulted from the alleged improper use of those bonds and their proceeds, and the failure to build the railroad westward, and this defendant says that there can be no doubt that if the stockholders or the people of Florida, or the legislature, had known that when the legislature passed the acts of 1869 and 1870 that the bonds thus authorized to be issued were to be sold, and the proceeds applied to repaying the embezzlement of the moneys and securities of this North Carolina corporation by Littlefield, Swepson, or by any other person, that the legislature would have refused to pass said acts, and if passed, that no business man would have had anything to do with either the said persons or the bonds. And this defendant charges that the complainants have in their bill shown that for and on account of their concealment 2543 of the alleged acts and defalcations of Littlefield and Swepson (if what these complainants say be true), they have debarred themselves of the relief prayed for in their said bill, and have committed a gross wrong on this defendant, and the public, and especially the people of Florida, by concealing the same until long after the legislation was had, and the bonds issued, and dealt with by this defendant and other innocent parties.

X. This defendant further says that the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company is indebted to him in the sum of forty thousand dollars, with interest thereon, which is still due and unpaid, and that this defendant has a lien on 568 of these bonds for the payment of said sum of money. That these complainants and the said railroad company are estopped of record from denying the aforesaid claim and lien of this defendant, because, he says, that in the said suit in the supreme court of the State of New York, at a special term thereof, held in the city of New York, in said State, on the 18th day of January, A. D. 1873, these complainants and the said railroad company appeared before the Hon. George C. Barrett, justice, then presiding in said court, and then hearing the said suit of John Collinson, plaintiff, against S. W. Hopkins & Co., The Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and others, being defendants; that these complainants and said railroad company, with others, did then and there, of record in said suit, among other things admit, and in said cause did in writing declare that this defendant, "Thomas B. Coddington, had, on the said 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, a claim and lien, to the amount of forty thousand dollars, and interest from the 29th day of August, 1872, on one thousand of the said twelve hundred bonds so delivered to the said John Collinson upon the footing of the said agreement with him, and the said decree of 2544, 2545 the said court of chancery, and such lien of said Thomas B. Coddington attached and still attaches to the proceeds or so much thereof as may be necessary, of the said one thousand bonds, and he is entitled to be paid out of such proceeds of said sum of forty thousand dollars United States currency and interest as aforesaid."

And this defendant says that these complainants are of record forever estopped from denying the lien and claim of this defendant, as is above set forth, and on the 13th day of January, 1873, by them admitted to be a lien on said bonds from the 29th day of August, A. D. 1872.

XI. This defendant says, that on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1871, he gave Edward Houstoun the written instrument, marked Schedule F. That although by the said instrument it appears that Houstoun delivered and that this defendant received one thousand Florida Central Railroad Company first mortgage bonds, payable to the State of Florida, for one thousand dollars each, yet this defendant alleges and says that the following are the actual facts:

That on the 11th day of January, Houstoun, taking a servant with him and accompanied by this defendant, went to the office of Col. Robert H. Gamble, and received from Gamble the one thousand railroad bonds described in Schedule F.

That thereupon Houstoun, and this defendant, and Houstoun's servant carrying the bonds, went immediately to the governor's office in the capitol, and the said one thousand railroad bonds were then and there given to Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, in the said executive chamber, and the said Governor Reed then delivered therefor one thousand State of Florida bonds of the face value of one thousand dollars each, and numbered from 3,001 to 4,000 inclusive, which said 2546 bonds this defendant understood were issued under the statutes of 1869 and 1870, described in complainants' bill.

That Houstoun directed his servant to take the package of State bonds and carry them to this defendant's room in the hotel; that Houstoun and this defendant, together with the said servant then carrying the bonds went to the hotel, where the State bonds were by Houstoun left with this defendant.

That this defendant the next morning, at Houstoun's request, delivered to Houstoun the paper marked Schedule F, and the said Littlefield, as president of the said J., P. & M. R. R. Co., gave his full authority and assent thereto, and signed the same in his official capacity.

And this defendant says, that in the manner aforesaid he did receive the said one thousand State of Florida bonds, numbered 3001 to 4000, and that the same were received by the authority, assent, and approval of the said president of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and in trust and for account of said Edward Houstoun.

And this defendant says, that the disposition he was to make of the said bonds and their proceeds, if any were received by him, is set out in said Schedule F.

That the governor told this defendant, in Houstoun's presence, in the executive chamber, at the time of the delivery of the said State bonds, for this defendant not to take the bonds out of the State until the governor had made arrangements for the payments of certain moneys to the State of Florida with the said president Littlefield.

That, in accordance with this direction of the governor as aforesaid, this defendant remained with the bonds in Tallahassee until he received the following written instructions, which are in the words and figures following, to wit:

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE,
JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE RAILROAD CO.,
Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 12th, 1871.

T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq.,
Tallahassee, Florida :

MY DEAR SIR: I have the honor to give you the following instructions in relation to the bonds, or the proceeds thereof, which you have received from the governor in exchange for railroad bonds.

1st. The bonds will be delivered to the parties in London, England, who have purchased the four thousand bonds issued in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and collect the pay therefor.

2d. You will pay the following named parties, viz: Edward Houstoun, $163,000; M. D. Papy, $16,000; Judge Wescott, $5,000; Gamble, $15,000; Col. J. P. Sanderson, $57,000. I state the amounts not exactly, but about the sums, as you have them exact, upon each party delivering to me, or to my order, all stock, bonds, coupons, notes, drafts, acceptances, or whatever the said is to pay for; but should any of the parties whose names are mentioned above refuse to receive the said amounts after it had been offered to them, and after Col. Houstoun has been paid, then the said amounts shall be paid to me or to my order.

3d. The balance of the money will be placed to the order of his excellency, Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, to pay indebtedness to the State.

Truly yours,

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
Pres. J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

P. S.—This letter is so far modified as to conform to the letter or receipt given by me to Edward Houston and approved by me.

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
Pres. J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq.:

You will please place to my credit in the National Trust Company, of New York City, the amount called for in the above arrangement, either by wire or letter, and oblige, 2548

HARRISON REED,
Governor of Florida.

And this defendant, having received the above instructions from the said President Littlefield, and the governor of Florida and the said Houstoun being fully advised thereof and assenting thereto, this defendant having first personally bade good bye to all the parties, was making his arrangements to return to New York by the railroad from Tallahassee, and so informed the president of the road; thereupon President Littlefield directed this defendant to go by the way of Thomasville and Charleston; and the said Littlefield informed this defendant that he (President Littlefield) had provided a carriage, and that for the safety of the bonds, he, Littlefield, would send him by his carriage (accompanied by his secretary) to Thomasville, Georgia, where this defendant could take the rail, and that his secretary, for safety to the bonds, would accompany this defendant as far as Charleston. That, as directed by the said Littlefield, this defendant went in the said carriage to Thomasville, and thence by rail to New York, and that the secretary of the said Littlefield did accompany this defendant as far as Charleston, from Tallahassee. And that after the arrival of this defendant in New York, he proceeded by the first steamer to Europe, and reached the city of London with the bonds as speedily as practicable and without delay.

That this defendant, having thus received the said State bonds on the 11th day of January, A. D. 1871, retained and kept them in London, England, until the (18th) eighteenth day of April, A. D. 1871, because he could not get the money for them, when this defendant, having been peremptorily ordered by the said Edward Houstoun, did on said eighteenth day of April, A. D. 1871, deliver the said one thousand State bonds, numbered 3001 to 4000 inclusive, to S. W. Hopkins & Co., London, England.

2549 And this defendant says that as aforesaid he received said one thousand bonds No. 3001 to 4000 on the 11th of January, A. D. 1871, and delivered them as ordered on the 18th day of April, A. D. 1871, in London, to S. W. Hopkins & Co. And this defendant says the orders and directions to him to deliver the said 1,000 bonds are as follows:

That he received in London the following message by cable, from Edward Houstoun:

Atlantic cable message, station from Savannah.

From E. Houston to Coddington, care Hopkins, London.

Deliver bonds to Hopkins. Everybody protected.

And this defendant also received the following from Edward Houstoun:

SAVANNAH, GA., April 11*th*, 1871.

T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq.,
London:

DEAR SIR: I hereby authorize and request you to deliver to Messrs.

S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, the one thousand Florida State bonds, of one thousand dollars each, received by you from the State of Florida, in exchange for a like number and amount of the bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, the same having been delivered to you by me, to be held in trust, as per your receipt, dated January 11, 1871, which I now surrender herewith, I having no further lien on or against either of the above-mentioned bonds.

Yours, respectfully,

E. HOUSTOUN.

2549½ Also, the following:

TALLAHASSEE, FLA., April 6th, 1871.

SIR: I hereby recall my letter of instructions to you, dated January 12, 1871, and also all instructions subsequently given, and now direct you to deliver to Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., of 58 Old Broad street, London, the one thousand bonds of one thousand dollars each, to wit, one million dollars of the State of Florida, issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, now held by you, as trustee, whenever Edward Houstoun, esq., shall authorize and direct you so to do, imposing upon you the single duty of procuring from Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., their signature to the written agreement entered into with you, which is intended to fix upon them the responsibility of carrying out my original order and relieving you therefrom.

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
Pres. J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

To T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq.

And on the face of this instrument and across the writing was the following:

I hereby approve of and ratify this order.

HARRISON REED,
Governor of Florida.

I do hereby authorize and request T. B. Coddington, esq., to deliver the within mentioned bonds to S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, as I have no further lien against them.

E. HOUSTOUN.

Which was communicated to me by my firm in New York, prior to the cable from Houstoun ordering me to deliver the bonds.

2550 XII. This defendant further says that the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. had also a house in New York, as well as in the city of London, and were the same firm and composed of the said parties; and that the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. were then the fiscal agents of the State of Florida, and of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company; and that, as aforesaid, this defendant as thus directed did deliver said one thousand bonds, number 3001 to 4000, inclusive, to said S. W. Hopkins & Co. in London, and obtained their signature, as in said instructions directed; that having delivered the said bonds on the 18th of April, as directed by cable from Houstoun, that afterwards the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. sent a message by cable to their New York house, notifying them of the receipt of the bonds, and thereupon the New York house of S. W. Hopkins & Co. sent the following letter to the partner of this defendant, and also sent Mr. Nichols the original receipt (Schedule F of complainants' bill) which this defendant had given to Houstoun as aforesaid; and also Houstoun's written authority, dated 11th April, to deliver the bonds; all of which the defendant was advised of by his said partner as aforesaid.

That acknowledgement and letter is as follows:

S. W. HOPKINS & CO.,
71 BROADWAY, NEAR WALL STREET,
New York, April 19th, 1871.

GEO. L. NICHOLS, esq.:

DEAR SIR: A cablegram received this morning from our London house announces that Mr. Coddington has delivered the bonds. Enclosed please find Mr. Coddington's original receipt to Mr. Houstoun, dated Tallahassee, January 11th, 1871; also Col. Houstoun's authority for the delivery. Please acknowledge receipt of these documents. We should be glad to know if you have anything from Mr. Coddington confirming our despatch.

Very truly yours,

S. W. HOPKINS & CO.,
P'r L. L. SPRING.

2551 XIII. This defendant further says that these bonds were delivered by the order of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and that the exchange of the railroad bonds for the said State bonds was made by the authority of the said Florida Central Railroad Company.

And that at a stockholders' meeting of the Florida Central Railroad Company, duly assembled in accordance with law, and after this defendant had received the said State bonds, as above stated, the following resolution was offered at said stockholders' meeting, to wit:

"Resolved, That Edward Houstoun do place the bonds referred to in the preamble and resolutions of the stockholders, adopted June 20th, 1870, in the hands of S. W. Hopkins & Co., for the purpose mentioned in said resolutions, subject to the same exceptions as therein expressed with respect to the proportion thereof applicable to the stock owned by other parties, and according to the same terms therein mentioned."

And this defendant has been informed and believes that said resolution was passed by a large majority of said capital stock, and was and is of lawful and binding force on said railroad company and on and all and every of its stockholders, and this resolution authorized the exchange and delivery aforesaid.

XIV. This defendant further says that the complainants are estopped from denying the legality of the said exchange of bonds, or of their delivery, to said S. W. Hopkins & Co., because he says that, as will appear by an examination of the case in the supreme court of the State of Florida, wherein the Florida Central Railroad Company and others were appellants, and the State of Florida and others were respondents, and in which case the legality and validity of the issue of the said railroad bonds and the exchange of the State bonds therefor, and the obligation of the said railroad company therefor was involved, the said supreme court of Florida did decide that after this defendant had 2552 received the said bonds that the foregoing resolution was adopted at a stockholders' meeting, and the supreme court did further in said case declare and decide that "The resolution was adopted. The bonds here referred to are the bonds now held by the State. So far as the exchange of these bonds by the company is concerned, here is its express authority given for it, and that must be the end of the matter.'

This defendant says that the same will be found in the XV volume of Florida Reports, at pages 709 and 710, and that the same is a public record, and published by authority of the State of Florida, to which this defandant begs leave leave to refer.

And this defendant says, as advised by counsel, that these complainants to this bill have had all their rights adjudicated in the aforesaid case, as to the exchange, issue, and delivery of these bonds, and that they are estopped from denying the same, if the complainants are held to be the legal or equitable stockholders of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

This defendant therefore alleges, from the facts as before stated as to his receiving these bonds, and as to his delivering them, that as soon as he did, in accordance with the aforesaid instructions, deliver them to said S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, there was no further obligation or liability resting upon this defendant, as he obeyed the instructions of all the parties interested, as heretofore shown.

XV. This defendant further says that he never paid any moneys to John P. Sanderson, nor to Flagg, nor to M. D. Papy, but that he understood and was informed that they were paid the said sums specified in Schedule F, by S. W. Hopkins & Co.; and that this defendant never paid any money to Governor Reed, nor to any other person except to Houstoun, and, as hereinafter mentioned, to Judge Wescott.

2553 XVI. That Judge Wescott insisted on selling his stock, and that this defendant gave the said Westcott his draft on T. B. Coddington & Co., of New York, before this defendant left Florida, for the price agreed upon, and that the firm of this defendant paid the said draft, but that this sum which defendant paid Judge Wescott for his stock, $3,845.23, was refunded to defendant's firm by S. W. Hopkins & Co. And this defendant was subsequently informed that Hopkins & Co., by order of M. S. Littlefield, turned over the certificate of Judge Wescott's stock to said Littlefield.

XVII. That this defendant, in New York, on the 17th January, 1871, received from S. W. Hopkins & Co. $5,000 for Edward Houstoun, and this defendant paid out the said $5,000 by Houstoun's order; and that in 1871 this defendant received for the said Edward Houstoun from S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, $48,955, which this defendant sent to Earle & Perkins for the said Houstoun, and was duly received by the said Houstoun, making in all the the sums of $53,955, which this defendant received from S. W. Hopkins & Co., and paid to Edward Houstoun, prior to this defendant delivering up said one thousand bonds. This defendant turned over and delivered the entire said one thousand bonds to said S. W. Hopkins & Co., on the said 18th April, A. D. 1871. That the aforesaid sums of money were not derived from the proceeds of said bonds Nos. 3001 to 4000, inclusive.

XVIII. This defendant further says, that he received no benefit whatever from the said transaction relating to these bonds; but on the contrary, that he has had to pay out in cash many thousands of dollars, by reason of his turning over the said bonds to S. W. Hopkins & 2553½ Co., by order of the said Edward Houstoun, whose trustee and agent this defendant was; and that the said Houstoun received the benefit, and this defendant was thereby injured, as will more fully appear.

That Robert H. Gamble brought suit against this defendant in the court of common pleas for the city and county of New York, for the injury resulting to him, Gamble, by this defendant delivering said one thousand bonds to S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, as aforesaid, without this defendant having first paid the said Gamble the moneys as set forth in Schedule F. This defendant employed able and skillful counsellors and attorneys to defend said suit, and did defend the same with all lawful measures. That the suit was tried by the court and a jury, and a verdict was rendered against this defendant in due form of law in favor of the said Gamble on the 27th day of April, A. D. 1876, for the sum of $21,553.33 and costs, and $250 allowance for counsel fee. That on the 19th of May, A. D. 1876, this defendant settled and fully satisfied the said verdict, upon an agreement between the said Gamble and himself, in full satisfaction, for the sum of $15,750, cash in hand paid by this defendant out of this defendant's own moneys; and that this defendant has had to expend of his own moneys the further sum of about three thousand dollars.

XIX. That Houstoun and Littlefield were the owners of about two-thirds of the capital stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and that Littlefield was also the owner of about two-thirds of the stock of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company.

XX. This defendant further says, that in this whole transaction relating to these one thousand State of Florida bonds, No. 3001 to 4000 inclusive, this defendant was acting as the agent and trustee of Edward Houston, and not of any other party, state, corporation, or 2554 individual. And that Edward Houston procured an order from the stockholders of the Florida Central Railroad Company, in due and legal form, directing him, Houstoun, to deliver said State bonds Number 3001 to 4000, inclusive, to S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, and that the delivery of said State bonds by this defendant to the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. of London, was in accordance with the aforesaid resolution, this said defendant then acting as the agent of the said Houstoun, and delivering said State bonds by Houstoun's express direction, as aforesaid.

XXI. This defendant denies that the complainants were or are authorized by their charter to acquire or own any stock in any railroad company in the State of Florida, or to acquire any capital stock of any corporation, or any other property in the State of of Florida.

XXII. And this defendant having now fully answered, prays to be hence dismissed, with his costs in this behalf most wrongfully sustained.

Of Counsel.

Collins, forming firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., John Collinson, George J. Haven, receiver (leave of the court having been obtained to sue said receiver), defendants.

2557 An application having been made on the part of the plaintiff in the first above entitled action, upon an order to show cause, made herein, and bearing date the fourteenth day of November instant, for leave to file a supplemental complaint, and for an order directing the receiver in this action to deliver the bonds in said supplemental complaint mentioned, now in the hands of the said receiver, to the plaintiff, upon the footing of the agreement set forth in said complaint.

And an application having been made in the said first above entitled action on the part of the plaintiff in the second above entitled action, upon a petition accompanied by an order to show cause, made the twenty-first day of November, 1872, for an order requiring the plaintiff in the first above entitled action, and the receiver not to part with the possession of the said bonds until the determination of the second above entitled action.

Now, on reading and filing the said orders to show cause respectively, and the affidavits and papers thereto annexed, and on reading and filing consent to the entry of this order, signed by the attorneys for all the parties who have appeared in the first above entitled action, and by the attorneys for the plaintiff in said second above entitled action, it is now ordered:

First. That the plaintiff have leave, and leave is hereby given him, to file and serve the supplemental complaint, of which a copy is annexed to the said order, to show cause of November 14th, 1872.

Second. It is further ordered that George J. Haven, the receiver in the first above entitled action, forthwith deliver or cause to be delivered to the said plaintiff the eight hundred bonds of the State of Florida, issued in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, now in his hands, to be dealt with by the said plaintiff upon the footing of the agreement between Converse L. Chase, of the first part, the said Converse L. Chase and Francis H. Flagg, of the second part, and John Collinson, of the third part, dated the twenty-ninth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and seventy two, and the 2558 decree of the court of chancery, Great Britain, made in the suit of Collinson vs. Collins and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company vs. Collinson, copies of which agreement and decree are set out in said supplemental complaint, the plaintiff's option to purchase said bonds under said decree to be extended to the month after the date of actual shipment; this modification of the provisions of said decree or the receipt by said plaintiff of said bonds under this order in no way or manner to affect the rights or obligations of either of the parties to said agreement and decree thereunder, or to operate as a waiver of any default thereunder (this order as to the receiver to take effect upon the payment to him of one thousand dollars on account of his fees as such receiver, and also the legal fees of the New York Guaranty and Indemnity Company, the depositories of the said receiver in respect of said bonds for the custody thereof, the amount of the said receiver's compensation to be adjusted hereafter); and that said plaintiff, after the cancellation of the bonds to be cancelled under said agreement and decree, and the deduction of the amounts which under the said agreement and decree the said Collinson is authorized to make, including provision for future interest on the bonds of the issue to which said eight hundred bonds belong, as provided for in said agreement and decree, deposit the surplus moneys resulting from the sale of said bonds in the National Trust Company, in the city of New York, to be used and disposed of subject to the further order of this court, to be made in the said first above entitled actions, upon notice to the attorneys for all the parties who have appeared therein, and to the plaintiff in the said second above entitled action, and that the said proceeds so deposited stand in the place of the bonds themselves, subject to the same rights and liens, if any, on the part of either or any of the parties to either of said actions now existing as against said bonds.

2560 EXHIBIT NO. 2.

At a special term of the supreme court of New York, held at the court-house in the city and county of New York, on the 18th day of January, 1873.

Present, Hon. George C. Barrett, justice.

JOHN COLLINSON, PLAINTIFF,
ag'st
SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, ROBERT J. CARPENTER, and Frank H. Collins, composing the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, Samuel D. Babcock, Joseph Stuart, D. G. Ambler, Francis H. Flagg, Converse L. Chase, and Lawrence P. Bayne, defendants.

Whereas an order was duly entered on the 6th day of December, 1872, in the above-entitled action, by consent of all parties who appeared therein, to which order reference is hereby made;

And whereas, in and by the said order, it was provided that John

Collinson, plaintiff, shall deposit the surplus moneys resulting from the sale of the bonds mentioned in the said order in the National Trust Company, in the city of New York, to be held and disposed of subject to the further order of this court, to be made in this action, on notice to the attorneys for all the parties who appeared there-2561 in, and John L. Requa, in the action secondly mentioned in the said order, and the said proceeds so deposited stand in place of the said bonds themselves, subject to the same rights and liens, if any, on the part of either or any of the parties in either of said actions now existing against said bonds;

And whereas, by another order duly entered in this action on the 27th day of December, 1872, it was further ordered that the said order, bearing date the 6th day of December, 1872, directing a delivery to the plaintiff, by the receiver of the bonds therein mentioned, be, and the same was thereby, modified by substituting the New York State Loan and Trust Company as the depository of the surplus proceeds of the bonds to be sold, in place of the National Trust Company in the city of New York, mentioned in said order.

And whereas it is admitted by the parties who consent to the entry of this order that I, and by a certain agreement bearing date the 17th day of June, 1872, between the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company of the first part, L. P. Bayne & Co. and L. P. Bayne of the second part, Sidney W. Hopkins and others of the third part, Francis H. Flagg and Converse L. Chase, trustees, &c., of the fourth part, and Henry J. Rogers of the fifth part, it was among other things agreed that the claim of the said Lawrence P. Bayne against the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company was thereby admitted and adjusted at the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars and interest, and that the said Lawrence P. Bayne had and shall have a lien upon the twelve hundred eight per cent. Florida bonds mentioned in the pleadings in this action, for the amount of his said claim of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and interest from the said seventeenth day of June, 1872;

And whereas it is in like manner admitted by the said parties that there is now due and owing to the said Lawrence P. Bayne, on his said claim, and on his said lien on the said bonds, the sum of ninety-2562 six thousand six hundred and fifty dollars, paper currency of the United States, with interest thereon from the said 29th day of August, 1872;

And whereas it is in like manner admitted by the said parties that Thomas B. Coddington had on the said 29th day of August, 1872, a claim and lien to the amount of forty thousand dollars, and interest from the 29th day of August, 1872, on one thousand of the said twelve hundred bonds so delivered to the said John Collinson, upon the footing of the said agreement with him, and the said decree of the said court of chancery, and such lien of said Thomas B. Coddington attached and still attaches to the proceeds, or so much thereof as may be necessary, of the said one thousand bonds, and he is entitled to be paid out of such proceeds said sum of forty thousand dollars United States currency, and interest as aforesaid.

And whereas it is in like manner admitted by the said parties that by the said trust deed or indenture, duly made in the State of Florida, between the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company of the first part, and Francis H. Flagg, D. G. Ambler and Converse L. Chase of the second part, and bearing date the second day of October, 1871, the said parties thereto of the first part transferred and assigned to the said parties thereto of the second part, among other things, the proceeds of all the said eight per cent. Florida bonds, and to be applied as provided for in the said indenture or trust deed, as will more fully appear by reference to the same.

And whereas it is in like manner admitted by the said parties that the said Chase and the said Flagg alone accepted the trust reposed in them under and in virtue of said indenture or trust deed, and the other trustee therein named, D. G. Ambler, disclaimed and declined to accept the said trust, and the same devolved on the said Flagg and the said Chase, and whereas the said Francis H. Flagg recently died, leaving the said Converse L. Chase sole surviving trustee, under and in 2563 virtue of the said indenture or trust deed, and he and the said
Flagg, during the lifetime of the said Flagg, were entitled, and the said Chase ever since the death of the said Flagg has been entitled as such trustee, to all the proceeds of said twelve hundred bonds, subject, nevertheless, to the aforesaid lien of the said Lawrence P. Bayne, for the said balance due him as aforesaid, and subject to the said lien of the said Thomas B. Coddington as aforesaid.

And whereas, by an order or decree heretofore entered in this action on the 27th day of December, 1872, it was ordered, adjudged, and decreed as between all the parties who consented to the entry of said decree, that two hundred thousand dollars be paid to the defendants the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Co., out of the first proceeds of said bonds, to be paid to the said trust company after first providing for the payment of the balance of the receiver's fees in this action, adjusted at the sum of nine thousand dollars:

Now, therefore, in consideration of the premises, and on the consent and stipulation of Horace Barnard, esq., attorney for the defendants, the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, and Converse L. Chase, surviving trustee as aforesaid, and of Algernon S. Sullivan, esq., attorney for the defendants, the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and for the defendant, Lawrence P. Bayne, it is ordered as between all of the said parties consenting and stipitulating as aforesaid that the said Thomas B. Coddington had, and still has, a lien on the proceeds of the said one thousand bonds for the said sum of forty thousand dollars paper currency of the United States, with interest as aforesaid, subject nevertheless to the payment of the balance of said receiver's fees, adjusted as aforesaid, and also subject to the payment in the first place of the said sum of two hundred thousand dollars to the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company. And it is further ordered that as between all of the said parties consenting and stipitulating as aforesaid that the said Lawrence P. Bayne had, and still has, a lien on the 2564 said twelve hundred bonds and proceeds, to the amount of the said balance of ninety-six thousand six hundred and fifty dollars, and interest as aforesaid, subject nevertheless to the payment of the said balance of the said receiver's fees, adjusted as aforesaid, and to the payment as hereinbefore mentioned to the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and it is further ordered that as between all the said parties consenting and stipulating as aforesaid the said Converse L. Chase as such surviving trustee is the owner of and entitled to receive all of the residue of the said proceeds. And it is further ordered that this order is made without prejudice to the rights of any party to this action who has not expressly consented in writing to the entry thereof, and also without prejudice to the rights of John L. Requa, the plaintiff in the action secondly mentioned in the order of the 6th of December above referred to.

(Endorsed:) Filed Jan'y 18, 1873.

2565 CODDINGTON No. 2.—John A. Shields, com'r. Thomas B. Coddington, March 18th, 1879.

TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA, January 11th, 1871.

Received from Edward Houston, esq., in trust and for his account, one thousand Florida Central Railroad Company first-mortgage bonds, payable to the State of Florida, for one thousand dollars each, with which I hereby undertake to arrange with Gen'l M. S. Littlefield and other parties interested, and collect from him or them the amount which it is admitted is now due to said Houston, viz. one hundred and sixty-three thousand twenty-six $\frac{70}{100}$ dollars, with interest thereon at seven per cent. from the time M. S. Littlefield's draft on S. W. Hopkins & Co. for said amount fell due, and in addition thereto the sum of five thousand dollars for costs and expenses incurred by said Houston in 2566 suits brought by parties against said Houston in relation to those bonds or other bonds, and the stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, it being understood that all proceedings at law or otherwise are to be discontinued; or if that be impossible, he is to be indemnified by responsible parties against all damages or costs arising out of said proceedings, it being further understood that said Houston shall, when paid, transfer and assign to said Littlefield the stock in the Florida Central R. R. Co., or other securities which he holds, or which were given him as collateral security to secure the above amounts due to said Houston.

And it is further understood and agreed that said Coddington is to collect the further sums of money, and pay to said Houston, for account of the parties named below, which it is understood are a lien sub-2567 sequent and inferior to said Houston's lien on these bonds viz,
M. D. Papy, esq., the sum of sixteen thousand dollars; Col. R. H. Gamble, the sum of fifteen thousand dollars, who is to surrender to said Littlefield three hundred shares of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, and seventeen hundred dollars in the bonds of the P. & G. R. R. Co. & the Tallahassee R. R. C., at par; J. P. Sanderson, esq., the sum of fifty-seven thousand five hundred and sixty dollars; and said J. P. Sanderson is to surrender to said Littlefield seventy shares of stock in Florida Central R. R. Co., and comply with his agreements with said Littlefield, for which a part of said sum is in consideration; F. H. Flagg, esq., the sum of four thousand dollars, for which he is to surrender the Central Railroad Co. stock and the Pensacola and Georgia R. R. bonds which he holds to said Littlefield, and also to pay for seventy shares of stock now or lately held by J. D. Wescott, 2568 jr., esq., the sum of thirty-eight hundred and forty-five $\frac{33}{100}$ dollars, when said stock is to be delivered to said Littlefield. This arrangement is based on the assumption that the money will be paid from the proceeds of bonds negotiated by S. W. Hopkins & Co., of New York.

The remainder of said proceeds is to be disposed of as directed by the parties interested.

(Signed) T. B. CODDINGTON.

I approve and assent to the same.

Circuit court of the United States, northern district of Florida, at Tallahassee. In equit.

To the judges of the circuit court of the United States for the fifth circuit and northern district of Florida, sitting in equity:

Thomas Butler Coddington, merchant, a citizen of the State of New York, residing at No. 42 Fifth avenue, in the city of New York, humbly petitioning, shows unto your honors:

I. That there is now pending in this court certain suits in equity, the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company being plaintiff in two of said suits, and J. Fred Schutte and other holders of certain State of Florida bonds being the plaintiffs in the third suit, said suits being against the Florida Central Railroad Company and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and others; that these last-named corporations are created by virtue of the laws of the State of Florida; that the Florida Central Railroad Company owns, and is now operating, the railroad from Jacksonville to Lake City, and that this court has, in one of the above mentioned suits, appointed 2571 a receiver upon the bill of complaint filed in this court by one J. Fred Schutte on behalf of himself and other holders of like bonds issued under an act of the State of Florida entitled "An act to perfect the public works of the State," approved June 29th, 1869, and the act amendatory thereof, passed in 1870; and that these last-named plaintiffs claim to be bona-fide holders of certain State of Florida bonds, dated January 1st, 1870, issued under said acts and numbered between 1 and 4,000.

II. That of these State bonds 3,000 were received from the State of Florida for 3,000 bonds of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and 1,000 State bonds, numbered 3001 to 4000, inclusive, were given in exchange, under the act of 1870, to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company for a like number of bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company.

That Schutte and others, the plaintiffs in the said suit in equity in this court, claim to hold certain bonds of both classes or issues, and that they seek to have the railroads and property of both these Florida railroad companies sold by decree of this court, to satisfy the amount due on said bonds for the past due interest and coupons of the 2572 bonds held by them; that the receiver of this court is now in the possession of all the property of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and of its railroad from Lake City west ward, and collecting revenues, tolls, and incomes of said last-mentioned company by the order of this court.

III. That the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company is insolvent and totally unable to pay its debts.

IV. That the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company is indebted to and owes your petitioner the sum of forty thousand dollars, with interest at the rate of seven per centum per annum from the 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, until paid, and that no part of said sums of money has been paid.

V. That on the said 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, the said last-mentioned company entered into the following agreement with your petitioner, to wit:

An agreement made this 29th day of August, 1872, between the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by their duly constituted attorney, Converse L. Chase, of the one part, and 2573 Thomas Butler Coddington, of 9 Kensington Park Gardens, in the county of Middlesex, merchant, of the other part.

Whereas the said Thomas Butler Coddington claims from the company $25,00 and accrued interest thereon, on his own behalf, and also $15,000 and accrued interest thereon due to Colonel R. H. Gamble, and whereas the said claims, amounting to $40,000 with accrued interest, are alleged to be secured inter alia by some of the 210 Florida State bonds now in the hands of Mr. Cobb and Mr. Newman;

And whereas the said railroad company have been negotiating with Mr. Collinson, of London, with respect to 1,200 bonds, including the said 210 bonds;

And whereas the said Mr. Cobb and Mr. Newman having had notice on Mr. Coddington's behalf not to part with the said bonds, have refused to do so until such notice has been withdrawn, whereby the said negotiation between the said railroad and the said Mr. Collinson has been stopped;

And whereas it is to the interest of the said railroad that the said negotiation should proceed, and the said Thomas Butler Coddington, at the request of the said railroad, through their attorney, the said Converse L. Chase, has agreed to and has accordingly withdrawn such notice, upon the signing of this agreement;

2574 And whereas, in order to settle the said differences, and for the consideration aforesaid, the said company and the said Thomas Butler Coddington have agreed to execute this agreement, the parties mutually agree as follows:

1. The said railroad company shall authorize and direct the National Trust Company of New York (who have been appointed the fiscal agents of the sail railroad company), by their agents in London, to pay to the said Thomas Butler Coddington the sum of $40,000, United States currency, with interest thereon from this date at 7 per cent. per annum, the payment out of the first monies to be paid to such agents by Mr. Collinson, in pursuance of a decree of court made in two suits of Collinson vs. Collins and Jacksonville Railroad Company v. Collinson, after paying the sum of £31,800 in the said decree mentioned, or such sum not exceeding $40,000 and interest as may so be in their hands, or in default of sufficient monies coming to the hands of the said trust company, to deliver to the said Thomas Butler Coddington the first 192 bonds and coupons attached of the said State which shall come into the hands of the National Trust Company in pursuance of the said decree.

2575 2. That the said railroad company shall forthwith procure the recognition and acceptance by the said National Trust Company and also by their agents in London of the said direction in the first clause mentioned.

3. That the said Thomas Butler Coddinton shall have full power to sell the said 192 bonds in order to pay himself the said $40,000 and interest without further consent from the said railroad company, he, the said Thomas Butler Coddington, accounting to the company for any surplus beyond such principal and interest and the expenses attendant upon such sale.

4. On payment, as aforesaid, the said Thomas Butler Coddington shall deliver to the said company coupons of bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company amounting to $24,465.

JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE RAILROAD,
By C. S. CHASE, Attorney in Fact.
T. B. CODDINGTON,
A. P. BOWER, His Attorney.

VI. That said railroad company, on the same day, gave to your petitioner the order following:

To the National Trust Company of New York:

2576 Out of the first moneys paid after this date by Mr. Collinson, of London, to you as the fiscal agents of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, after setting apart the sum of £31,800, you are hereby requested and irrevocably directed to pay to Mr. Thomas Butler Coddington, or his order, the sum of $40,000, United States currency, together with the interest thereon at 7 per cent. per annum till payment of such sum not exceeding $40,000 and interest as may be in your hands; failing payment of the said full amount of the said $40,000 and interest, you are hereby requested and irrevocably directed to deliver to Mr. Thomas Butler Coddington, or his order, the first 192 bonds of the State of Florida, with coupons attached, which shall be delivered to you by the said Mr. Collinson.

Dated this 29th August, 1872.

VII. That the said railroad company failed to pay said money and never paid any part thereof, and also wholly failed to perform the said agreement. And thereupon your petitioner brought suit in chancery in London, in England, against the said company and John Collinson, as defendants, and filed his bill of complaint in said English court for specific performance of said agreement.

That the said company and the said John Collinson severally appeared and answered said bill, and that subsequently your petitioner filed a replication, and rejoinder of issue was served on the solicitors of the defendant's company, and that the said suit in chancery in London is still pending and undetermined.

2577 That the following proceedings were had in said court in chancery in London:

The bill of complaint, marked Exhibit No. 1, was filed 26th April, 1873.

The answer of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company was filed 19 May, 1874, marked Exhibit No. 2.

The answer of John Collinson was filed 29th July, 1873, marked Exhibit No. 3.

That T. B. Coddington made and filed the affidavit on the 26th April, 1873, marked Exhibit No. 4.

That Arthur Perry Bower, solicitor, made and filed, on the 26th April, 1873, the affidavit marked Exhibit No. 5.

That on the 26th April, 1873, the court made the order of injunction, marked Exhibit No. 6.

That on the 3d of June, 1873, the court made an order, among other things, requiring the said John Collinson to make affidavit as to the number of said State of Florida bonds in his hands or control. This order is marked Exhibit No. 7.

That on the 19th June, 1873, John Collinson made affidavit that he held 568 bonds, numbered respectively 3201 to 3768 inclusive. This affidavit is marked Exhibit No. 8.

That upon the application of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, the court made an order on the 28th June, 1873, directing that John Collinson deposit in a box to be endorsed "In chancery. Coddington v. The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mo-2578 bile Railroad Company, 1873, C. 102, securities, the 568 Florida State bonds, dated respect*fully* 3201 to 3768 inclusive, now in his possession or power, together with all coupons thereto attached, and deposit such box in court to the credit of this cause," etc. That the order from which this extract is given is filed herewith, marked Exhibit No. 9.

That John Collinson obeyed said order and brought the said bonds in court, and subsequently the court, by its officer, had the said box and the said 568 bonds deposited to the credit of the cause in the Bank of England for the better security thereof.

That on the 10th day of June, 1874, as will appear by Exhibit No. 10, an order was made by consent dismissing the said John Collinson as a defendant. And the cause thereafter continued with the said railroad company as the sole defendant before the court.

That subsequently replication was filed, and that the said cause is still pending before said court and the said 568 bonds are still in the Bank of England subject to such future order, direction, or decree that the court may see fit to make in the cause.

VIII. That your petitioner did not press this suit to final de-2579 cree because of the litigation that ensued in the American courts relative to the State bonds issued to this company. and because its affairs were in such an embarrassed condition that to force the said cause to final decree or sale of the bonds would have resulted to the great injury of both the company and the value of the said securities; and that the case remained in abeyance on the bill and answer as aforesaid until the month of December, 1877, when the legal proceedings hereinafter set forth took place in England in the cause before Vice-Chancellor Hall.

IX. That your petitioner having seen the published order made by his honor Mr. Justice Bradley, in the said suit of Schutte and others, by which all the property of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company was placed in the hands of a receiver of this court, and that the plaintiff Schutte and others, holders of some of the bonds of like class as the aforesaid 568 bonds, were seeking to sell the Florida Central Railroad for the interest due on the bonds held by them, and that the court had urged the speedy final hearing of the cause; and this petitioner seeing that unless he immediately took the most speedy measures that the said 568 bonds and his security for his debt 2580 aforesaid and the debt itself would be lost, by a final decree as prayed in the Schutte cause, your petitioner on the 27th of last October, sent his American counsel, D. P. Holland, to London to confer with his English solicitors and counsel, and take such steps in the said English suit as would cause the bonds to be sold for the benefit of all the parties in interest and for the protection of the said securities.

X. That on the 15th of November, 1877, a motion was made on behalf of your petitioner in the high court of justice, chancery division, in London, before vice-chancellor Hall in the said suit, "that the said 192" bonds and coupons may be forthwith sold or that such other order may be made as to the court shall secure just, or that such other order may be made as the plaintiff on the admission of facts in the pleadings may be entitled to."

The railroad company appeared by counsel and contested the motion.

This motion was supported by the affidavits of A. P. Bower and D. P. Holland, a copy of which together with a copy of the short-hand notes of all that took place on this motion on the 15th November, before the court, and of what was said by counsel on both sides, and by the 2581 vice-chancellor, being hereto annexed, marked Exhibits No. 11 & 12.

Vice-Chancellor Hall having adjourned the hearing of the motion to the 29th of November, the motion came on for hearing on that day, when an affidavit of A. Scott Lawson and Frank Remington Sherwin therein was filed in opposition. And the court made the direction given in the short-hand notes and again adjourned the hearing of the motion to the 14th of December.

A copy of these affidavits and of the short-hand notes, setting forth all that took place or the hearing of the said 29th of November, 1877, is hereto annexed, marked Exhibits No. 13 and 14.

And so that your honors may know what the solicitors of your petitioner proposed should be the statement as to the sale of the bonds, if such sale was ordered by the chancellor, we hereto annex as Exhibit No. 15 a draft of the proposals for sale made by them before the chief clerk as authorized by the vice-chancellor, but, as it will appear, these proposals were never read to the chancellor on account of what subsequently took place in court on the 15th of December. That after these proposals for sale had been drafted, it was deemed by the solicitors 2582 advisable for this American counsel, Mr. Holland, to return immediately to the United States to take the necessary steps to intervene in the case of Schutte, as is set forth in the short-hand notes as fell from Vice-Chancellor Hall on the 15th of November. That, accordingly, his American counsel left by steamer for New York on the 9th of December, when, as it appears, on the following 14th inst. an affidavit was filed by A. Scott Lawson, copy thereof being hereto annexed, marked Exhibit No. 16, and in the absence of this petition, and of his American counsel, which this petitioner has since answered and by his affidavit shown to be false in many particulars.

That, on the hearing of the motion on the 15th of December, the vice-chancellor, Hall, refused the motion, and in substance decided that under the practice of the English court the motion prayed for could not be made, but that the disposition of these bonds must abide the final hearing of the cause.

A copy of the short-hand notes showing the proceedings that took place before the vice-chancellor on the 15th of December, 1877, is hereto annexed, marked Exhibit No. 16. Your petitioner has annexed these several exhibits from No. 1 to No. 16, inclusive, so that your, honors 2583 may be fully advised of the condition of the 568 bonds and of what took place in the English court of chancery in relation thereto, and states that he has received the information and papers from his solicitors in said cause, and states the facts as received from his said solicitors and believes this information to be true, and he craves leave of reference to the several exhibits for the purposes of this petition.

XI. That he has instructed his solicitors to take an appeal from the said decision of the vice-chancellor, made as aforesaid on the 15th of December, 1877, and that he believes that the appeal from said order has been taken, and is still undecided.

XII. Your petitioner shows to your honors that these 568 bonds or a portion of 1,000 bonds, Nos. 3001 to 4000, inclusive, issued by the State of Florida, dated January 1st, 1870, and received in exchange for 1,000 Florida Central Railroad Company's bonds in accordance with said acts of 1869 and 1870. That the petitioner carried these bonds to England, and that he delivered these 1,000 State of Florida bonds, Nos. 3001 to 4000, inclusive, to S. W. Hopkins & Co., of 58 Old Broad street, 2584 London, on the 18th day of April, A. D. 1871, by the special and peremptory order of Edward Houstoun, and by the written direction of the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and by the written approval of the governor of the State of Florida.

XIII. That your petition' is informed and believes that after he had delivered the whole said 1,000 State bonds to S. W. Hopkins & Co., the following disposition was made of the said 1,000 bonds, numbered 3001 to 4000, inclusive.

Eight hundred of these bonds were brought afterwards to New York and deposited in the supreme court of New York, by S. W. Hopkins & Co., and by that court these 800 bonds, being of the numbers 3201 to 4000, inclusive, were placed in the hands of George G. Haven, a receiver appointed by that court in certain suits therein pending in which the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company was plaintiff, and S. W. Hopkins & Co. and others were defendants. That John Collinson, on the 6th day of December, 1872, receiver these 800 bonds, numbered 3201 to 4000, inclusive, from the received 2585 George G. Haven, by order of the supreme court of New York, a copy of said order and receipt is filed as Schedule I, as an exhibit on pages 16 and 17, of the printed bill of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company v. George F. Drew, governor, the Florida Central Railroad Company and other defendants, now pending in this court, to which your petitioner craves leave of reference for the purposes of this petition.

That of the 800 bonds thus received by Collinson from the said receiver 224 were returned to the State and cancelled, being 224 bonds, numbered 3777 to 4000, inclusive, as appears by the certificate of Harrison Reed, governor, set forth as an Exhibit Schedule J. "A," on page 18 of said bill of said North Carolina Railroad Company, to which he craves leave of reference for the purposes of this petition. Thus leaving these 800 bonds, after deducting the 224 bonds that were cancelled, 576 bonds, and of these 576 bonds John Collinson deposited in the English chancery court 568 bonds now kept by order of that court in the Bank of England, and numbered 3201 to 3768, inclusive, leaving 8 bonds of the numbers 3769, 3770, 3771, 3772, 3773, 3774, 3775, 3776, of the bonds 2586 thus received by John Collinson, from the receiver of the New York court, on the 6th of December, 1872, outstanding; which, together with the other 200 bonds, numbered 3001 to 3200, inclusive, make the whole amount of 1,000 bonds.

Thus to recapitulate—

200 bonds, numbered 3001 to 3200, inclusive.
8 bonds, numbered 3769 to 3776, inclusive.
208 bonds taken by John Collinson, under option, as agreed to in London in August, 1872 (see consent, decree, Exhibit No. 1, pages 3 to 6).
224 bonds, numbered 3777 to 4000, inclusive, were returned to the State and cancelled.
568 bonds, numbered 3201 to 3568, inclusive, are in the Bank of England by order of the chancellor.

Total, 1,000.

So that if the plaintiff Schutte and others held any of this class of bonds, they must be of the numbers 3001 and 3200, and of those 8 bonds numbered 3769 to 3776, inclusive.

XIV. Your petitioner alleges and charges that he had a lien, superior of all others, on these 1,000 bonds, for the sum of forty thousand dollars, and interest from the 29th day of August, A. D. 1872.

2587 That, as will appear by the agreement dated 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, he was given a specific lien on 192 of said bonds. And that upon the terms contained, and promises and consideration in said agreement set forth, your petitioner consented that 224 of the said 1,000 bonds should be returned to the State and cancelled, and that the Florida Central Railroad Company be to that extent relieved, to wit, two hundred and twenty-four thousand dollars, with interest from the 1st of January, A. D. 1870, the said Florida Central Railroad Company was benefited by this petitioner by the agreement of the 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, by which the said 192 bonds were specially pledged to your petitioner.

And your petitioner avers and charges that the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company did, at said date, to wit, 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, specially pledge the said 192 bond' to this petitioner, to secure said debt of $40,000 and interest, as in said agreement set forth, and for the considerations therein expressed, and that at this date, to wit, the said 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, they, the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, were the lawful owners of said 192 bonds, and had then and there full power and authority to sell or pledge the said 192 bonds to your petitioner.

2588 XV. That the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company did, on the 18th day of January, A. D. 1873, of record in writing, admit and declare in and to the supreme court of the State of New York, in the suit of John Collinson, then and there pending against S. W. Hopkins & Co., both of the aforesaid railroad companies and others. That your petitioner had a lien to the amount of $40,000 and interest from the 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, on one thousand of said bonds, which had been previously delivered to John Collinson, and that the lien attached to said 1,000 bonds on the 29th day of August, 1872, and that it still attached, and that this petitioner was entitled to be paid said sum of money out of the proceeds of sale of the said 1,000 bonds, all of which will more fully appear by a reference to a copy of the said orders of December 6th, 1872, and January 18th, 1873, filed herewith, marked Exhibit No. 18, to which leave of reference is craved for the purposes of the petition.

XVI. Your petitioner further shows that at this time, 1873, he was no party to any or either of the said actions in the supreme 2589 court of New York, and had no knowledge of any of the proceedings therein, but that, during the year 1877, this petitioner, hearing of the same, obtained a copy of said orders above referred to, and thereupon, by leave of the court first had, your petitioner was made a party to the actions in which the order of January 18th, 1873, was made; and that he subsequently filed his answer, denying that any person plaintiff, or any or either of the defendants, or any or either of the parties to those actions, had a lien on said 1,000 bonds superior to your petitioner, but claimed and insisted that this petitioner had a lien on the aid 1,000 bonds for the sum of $40,000 and interest, from the 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, superior to all others.

Your petitioner shows that the said action, in which this answer is filed in said supreme court of New York, is still pending and undecided.

XVII. Your petitioner further shows that, as it will appear from the records of this court, that subsequent to 1873, and some time in 1877, the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company brought suit in equity in this court against George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida, 2590 and the Florida Central Railroad Company, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and this petitioner and others, therein in said suits, claim to be the real owners of the majority of the stock of both the said Florida railroad Companys, and deny in their bills of complaint in this court the validity of the said 1,000 bonds, and are seeking to relieve the Florida Central Railroad of all liability therefor, and the said North Carolina Railroad Company in this court have and do take the position, that so far from their being entitled to have these 1,000 bonds sold to satisty a debt and lien for $200,000 due them by the Florida Central Railroad Company, as they allege in the supreme court of New York, that they are the real owners of both Florida railroads, and that the bonds are void, and that the Florida Central Railroad Company is not liable for any or either of said bonds. Wherefore, your petitioner claims that the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company can not now in this court be heard, or claim to have a lien on said 1,000 bond', or any part thereof, superior to the lien of this petitioner by them add-2591 mitted of record in the said proceedings of the 18th of January, A. D. 1873, and set forth in the order of said date in Exhibit No. 18.

XVIII. Your petitioner alleges and charges, as advised by counsel, that John Collinson received these 800 bonds in January, 1873, under the order and direction of the supreme court of New York, with notice of the lien thereon of this petitioner, and that all other persons who took or bought any of said 800 bonds, took them with like notice and subject to the lien of this petitioner; that John Collinson, as to these 800 bonds was acting under the orders of the supreme court of New York, and that all parties who dealt with these bonds took them with the notice of the suits pending in the State of New York and of the lien of this petitioner thereon for the sum of $40,000, with interest from the 29th day of August, A. D. 1872.

XIX. That at this time, to wit, the 18th day of January, A. D. 1873, when the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company in writing, admitted in and thereby informed the 2592 supreme court of the State of New York that this petitioner had a lien on said 1,000 bonds, they, the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, had the legal and lawful right and power to sell or pledge said 1,000 bonds, 800 of which were then in the hands of John Collinson, under the order of the said supreme court of New York, to be disposed of by that court in its said order directed. And that each and both of said railroad companies are estopped from denying either that the debt or lien of the petitioner on the said 1,000 bonds from the said 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, for the sum of $40,000, and interest at the rate of seven per cent. from that date until paid.

XX. Your petitioner herein shows to your honors that the following are the facts as to receipt and delivery of these 1,000 bonds by your petitioner, from the time when he received them in Florida up to the time when he delivered the same 1,000 bonds to S. W. Hopkins & Co at 58 Old Broad street, London, in April, 1871: That on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1871, he gave Edward Houstoun the written instrument, marked Schedule F, in the bill of the North Carolina Rail-2593 road Company, and that by the said instrument it appears that Houstoun delivered, and that this petitioner received, 1,000 Florida Central Railroad Company first mortgage bonds, payable to the State of Florida for $1,000 each, yet your petitioner says that the following are the actual facts:

That on the 11th day of January, Houstoun, taking a servant with him and accompanied by the petitioner, went to the office of Col. Robert H. Gamble, and received from Gamble the 1,000 railroad bonds described in Schedule F. That thereupon Houstoun and this petitioner, and Houstoun's servant carrying the bonds, went immediately to the governor's office in the capitol, and the said one thousand railroad bonds were then and there given to Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, in the said executive chamber, and the said Governor Reed then delivered therefor 1,000 State of Florida bonds of the face value of $1,000 each, and numbered from 3001 to 4000, inclusive, which said bonds this petitioner understood were issued under the statutes of 1869 and 1870, described in complainants' bill.

2594, 2595 That said Houstoun directed his servant to take the package of State bonds and carry them to the petitioner's room in the hotel; that Houstoun and this petitioner, together with the said servant then carrying the bonds, went to the hotel where the State bonds were, by Houstoun left with the petitioner.

That this petitioner the next morning, at Houstoun's request, delivered to Houstoun the paper marked Schedule F, and the said Littlefield, as president of the said J., P. & M. R. R. Co. gave his full authority and assent thereto and signed the same in his official capacity. And that in the manner aforesaid, he did receive the said one thousand State of Florida bonds, numbered 3001 to 4000, and that the same were received by the authority, assent, and approval of the said othe' said president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and in trust and for account of said Edward Houstoun.

That the disposition he was to make of the said bonds and their proceeds, if any were received by him, is set out in said Schedule F.

2596 That the governor told the petitioner, in Houstoun's presence, in the executive chamber, at the time of the delivery of the said State bond, for the petitioner not to take the bonds out of the State until the governor had made arrangements for the payment of certain moneys to the State of Florida with the said President Littlefield.

That, in accordance with this direction of the governor, as aforesaid, the petitioner remained with the bonds in Tallahassee until he received the following written instruction, swhich are in the words and figures following, to wit:

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE,
JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA & MOBILE RAILROAD CO.,
Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 12th, 1871.

T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq.,
Tallahassee, Florida:

MY DEAR SIR: I have the honor to give you the following instructions in relation to the bonds, or the proceeds thereof, which you have received from the governor in exchange for railroad bonds.

1st. The bonds will be delivered to the parties in London, England, who have purchased the four thousand bonds issued in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and collect and pay therefor.

2597 2d. You will pay the following named parties, viz: Edward Houstoun, $163,000; M. D. Papy, $16,000; Judge Wescott, $5,000; Gamble, $15,000; Col. J. P. Sanderson, $57,000. I state the amounts not exactly, but about the sums, as you have them exact, upon each party delivering to me or to my order all stock bonds, coupons, notes, drafts, acceptances, or whatever the said is to pay for; but should any of the parties whose names are mentioned above refuse to receive the said amounts after it it has been offered to them, and after Col. Houstoun has been paid, then the said amounts shall be paid to me or to my order.

3d. The balance of the money will be placed to the order of His Excellency Harrison Reed, governor of Florida, to pay indebtedness to the State.

Truly yours,

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
Pres. J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

P. S.—This letter is so far modified as to conform to the letter or receipt given by me to Edward Houstoun and approved by me.

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
Pres. J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq.:

You will please place to my credit in the National Trust Company of New York City the amount called for in the above arrangement, either by wire or letter, and oblige,

HARRISON REED,
Governor of Florida.

2598 Your petitioner having received the above instructions from the said President Littlefield and the governor of Florida, and the said Houstoun being fully advised thereof and assenting thereto, the petitioner having first personally bade goodbye to all the parties, was making his arrangements to return to New York by the railroad from Tallahassee, and so informed the president of the road, thereupon President Littlefield directed this petitioner to go by the way of Thomasville and Charleston; and the said Littlefield informed the petitioner that he (President Littlefield) had provided a carriage, and that for the safety of the bonds he, Littlefield, would send him by his carriage (accompanied by his secretary) to Thomasville, Georgia, where this petitioner could take the rail, and that his secretary, for the safety of the bonds, would accompany the petitioner as far as Charleston. That, as directed by the said Littlefield, this petitioner went in the said carriage to Thomasville, and thence by rail to New York, and that the secretary of the said Littlefield did accompany him as far as Charleston from Tallahassee. And that after the arrival of this petitioner in New

That this petitioner, having thus received the said State bonds on the 11th day of January, A. D. 1871, retained and kept them in London, England, until the (18th) eighteenth day of April, A. D. 1871, because he could not get the money for them, when this defendant, having been peremptorily ordered by the said Edward Houstoun, did on said eighteenth day of April, A. D. 1871, deliver the said one thousand State bonds, numbered 3001 to 4000, inclusive, to S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, England.

XXI. Your petitioner says that, as aforesaid, he received said one thousand bonds, No. 3001 to 4000, on the 11th of January, A. D. 1871, and delivered them as ordered on the 18th day of April, A. D. 1871, in London, to S. W. Hopkins & Co.; that the order and directions to him to deliver the said 1,000 bonds are as follows:

That he received in London the following message by cable from Edward Houstoun:

[Atlantic cable message. Station from Savannah. From E. Houstoun to Coddington, care Hopkins, London.]

2600 Deliver bonds to Hopkins; everybody protected.

And the defendant also received the following from Edward Houstoun:

SAVANNAH, GA., April 11th, 1871.

T. B. CODDINGTON, London:

DEAR SIR: I hereby authorize and request you to deliver to Messrs.

S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, the one thousand Florida State bonds of one thousand dollars each received by you from the State of Florida in exchange for a like number and amount of the bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company, the same having been delivered to you by me, to be held in trust as per your receipt dated January 11th, 1871, which I now surrender herewith. I have no further lien on or against either of the above mentioned bonds.

Yours, respectfully,

E. HOUSTOUN.

Also the following:

TALLAHASSEE, FLA., April 6th, 1871.

SIR: I hereby recall my letter of instruction to you, dated January 12th, 1871, and also all the instructions subsequently given, and now direct you to deliver to Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., of 58 Old 2601 Broad street, London, the one thousand bonds of one thousand dollars each, to wit*t*, one million dollars of the State of Florida, issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, now held by you as trustee, whenever Edward Houstou, esq., shall authorize and direct you to do so; imposing upon you the single duty of procuring from Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co. their signature to the written agreement entered into with you, which is intended to fix upon them the responsibility of carrying out my original order and relieving you therefrom.

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
Pres. J., P. and M. R. R. Co.

To T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq.

And on the face of this instruction and across the writing was the following:

I hereby approve of and ratify this order.

HARRISON REED,
Governor of Florida.

I do hereby authorize and request T. B. Coddington, esq., to deliver the within-mentioned bonds to S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, as I have no further lien against them.

E. HOUSTOUN.

2602 That the contents of these documents were communicated by cable to your petitioner by the firm of your petitioner, to whom these papers were sent in the city of New York, and that he received by cable as aforesaid information of their contents and authority before he received the cable message of E. Houstoun, ordering him to deliver the bonds.

That the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. had also a house in New York as well as in the city of London, and were the same firm and composed of the said parties, and that the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. were then the fiscal agents of the State of Florida and of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company; and that as aforesaid, as thus directed, he did deliver said one thousand bonds, numbered 3001 to 4000, inclusive, to said S. W. Hopkins & Co., in London, and obtained their signature as in said instructions directed; that having delivered the said bonds on the 18th of April, as directed by cable from Houston, that afterwards the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. sent a message by cable to their New York house, notifying them of the receipt of the bonds, and thereupon the New York house of S. W. Hopkins & Co. sent the following letter to the partner of the petitioner, and also sent his said partner the original receipt (Schedule F of the North Carolina bill) which this defendant had given to Houstoun as aforesaid, and also Houstoun's written authority, dated 11th April, to deliver the bonds, all of which the petitioner was advised of by his said partner, as aforesaid.

2603 That acknowledgment and letter is as follows:

[S. W. Hopkins & Co., 71 Broadway, near Wall street.]

NEW YORK, April 19*th*, 1871.

GEO. L. NICHOLS, Esq.:

DEAR SIR: A cablegram received this morning from our London house announces that Mr. Coddington has delivered the bonds. Enclosed please find Mr. Coddington's original receipt to Mr. Houstoun, dated Tallahassee, January 11th, 1871; also Col. Houstoun's authority for the delivery. Please acknowledge the receipt of these documents. We should be glad to know if you have anything from Mr. Coddington confirming our dispatch.

Very truly yours,

S. W. HOPKINS & CO.,
P'r L. L. SPRING.

XXII. Your petitioner further says that these bonds were delivered by the order of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and that the exchange of the railroad bonds for the said State bond' was made by the authority of the said Florida Central Railroad Company; and that at a stockholders' meeting of the Florida Central Railroad Company, duly assembled in accordance with law, and after this petitioner had 2604 received the said State bonds as above stated, the following resolution was offered at said stockholders' meeting, to wit:

"Resolved, That Edward Houstoun do place the bonds referred to in the preamble and resolution of the stockholders, adopted June 20th, 1870, in the hands of S. W. Hopkins & Co., for the purpose mentioned in said resolutions, subject to the same exceptions as therein expressed with respect to the proportion thereof applicable to the stock owned by other parties, and according to the same terms therein mentioned."

And this petitioner has been informed and believes that said resolution was passed by a large majority of said capital stock, and was and is of lawful and binding force on said railroad company, and on all and every of its stockholders, and this resolution authorized the exchange and delivery aforesaid.

Your petitioner alleges that the Florida Central Railroad Company, the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, who, in the aforesaid suit now pending in this court, claim to be the real owners of the majority of the stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and 2605 each and every stockholder of the Florida Central Railroad Company and the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and each and every of its stockholders' are estopped from denying the legality of the said exchange of bonds or their delivery to said S. W. Hopkins & Co., because he says that as will appear by an examination of the case in the supreme court of the State of Florida, wherein the Florida Central Railroad Company and others were appellants, and the State of Florida and others were respondents, and in which case the legality and validity of the issue of the said railroad bonds, and the exchange of the State bonds therefore, and the obligation of the said railroad company therefor was involved, the said supreme court of Florida did decide that after this petitioner had received the said bonds that the foregoing resolution was adopted at a stockholders' meeting, and the supreme court did further in said case declare and decide that "the resolution was adopted. The bonds here referred to are the bonds now held by the State. So far as the exchange of these bonds by the company is concerned, here is its express authority given for it, and that must be the end of the matter."

2606 This petitioner says that the same will be found in the XV volume of Florida Reports, at pages 709 and 710, and that the same is a public record, and published by authority of the State of Florida, to which he begs leave to refer for the purposes of this petition. Your petitioner says as advised by counsel that the said railroad companies, their stockholders, and all other persons, parties to that suit, and their privies, have had all their rights adjudicated in the aforesaid case, as to the exchange, issue, and delivery of these bonds, and and that they are estopped from denying the same.

This petitioner therefore alleges from the facts as before stated as to his receiving these bonds, and as to his delivering them, that as soon as he did, in accordance with the aforesaid instructions delivered them to said S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, there was no further obligation or liability resting upon this defendant, as he obeyed the instructions of all the parties interested as heretofore shown.

XXIII. Your petitioner says that he was not a party to this suit in the supreme court of Florida, and that he had no knowledge of any such suit in the State of Florida.

2607 That after the same was published his attention was called to it, and he then, for the first time, by reading the printed report of the case in the said volume XV, Florida Reports, to his great surprise and indignation read what the parties to that suit agreed and admitted that this petitioner if called upon would testify to in said case, and more especially what is found on pages 720, 721, and 722 of said volume, which purports to be in substance what was agreed upon by the parties to that suit that the defendant The Florida Railroad Company could prove by T. B. Coddington; your petitioner says that it is false, and that your petitioner never could nor would he have testified to any such thing as in said volume found, but that the real and true occurrences and things relating to the exchange, receipt and delivery of these bonds, so far as known to your petitioner, are as stated in this petition, and have been heretofore stated in the answer of your petitioner heretofore filed in the suit of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company vs. George F. Drew, governor of the State of Florida, The Florida Central Railroad Company, T. B. Coddington, and others, now pending in this court.

2608 That these admissions and statements in that suit were made by the parties therein without the knowledge of the petitioner, and for their own purposes, and, as herein shown, are false so far as they contradict the facts in this petition heretofore stated.

XXIV. Your petitioner further shows that Houstoun and Littlefield were the owners of about two-thirds of the capital stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and that Littlefield was also the owner of about two-thirds of the stock of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company. And that Edward Houstoun procured and order from the stockholders of the Florida Central Railroad Company in due and legal form directing him, Houstoun, to deliver said State bonds, Nos. 3001 to 4000, inclusive, to S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, and that the delivery of said State bonds by this petitioner to the said S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, was in accordance with the aforesaid resolution, this said petitioner then acting as the agent of the said Houstoun, and delivering said State bonds by Houstoun's express direction as aforesaid.

2609 XXV. That Robert V, Gamble brought suit against this petitioner in the court of common pleas of the city and county of New York for the injury resulting to him, Gamble, by this petitioner delivering said one thousand bonds to S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, as aforesaid, without his having first paid the the said Gamble the moneys as set forth in Schedule F. Your petitioner employed able and skilful counsellors and attorneys to defend said suit, and did defend the same with all lawful measures. That the suit was tried by the court and a jury and a verdict was rendered against this petitioner in due form of law in favor of the said Gamble on the 27th day of April, A. D. 1876, for the sum of $21,553.33 and $250 allowance for counsel fee. That on the 19th of May, A. D. 1876, this petitioner settled and fully satisfied the said verdict upon an agreement between the said Gamble and himself in full satisfaction for the sum of $15,750 cash in hand paid by this petitioner out of his, petitioner's, own moneys, and that this petitioner has had to expend of his own moneys the further sum of about three thousand dollars.

XXVI. Petitioner further alleges that the agreement of the 29th of August, A. D. 1872, is and was founded upon a good and lawful 2610 consideration as therein expressed, and that the debt and claim of your petitioner is therein admitted to be there due and owing and that this debt and claim is also admitted to have been due and occurring and unpaid, and that your petitioner had a lien on the 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, on the whole of said one thousand State bonds, numbered 3,001 to 4,000, inclusive, and upon their proceeds until paid, and this by admission of record as aforesaid in the supreme court of New York on the 18th day of January, A. D. 1873.

That the said John Collinson took the said 1,000 bonds with knowledge of the lien of this defendant thereon, and that all parties now holding any of said bonds of said 208 remaining as aforesaid and numbered 3001 to 3200, inclusive and numbers 3760, 3770, 3771, 3772, 3773, 3774, 3775, and 3776 took them with knowledge of the lien of the petitioner, and received these bonds, numbered as aforesaid, long after the said 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, and that John Collinson did not part with any of the aforesaid bonds until after the said 18th day of January, A. D. 1873.

XXVII. Your petitioner alleges that it would be unjust and inequitable to cause the said Florida Central Railroad Company's prop-2611 erty to be sold by the decree of this court without first ordering the parties in interest to pay your petitioner the debt due him, to wit, the said sum of forty thousand dollars, and interest from the said 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, and the costs that he has incurred in England in defending and protecting these securities.

XXVIII Your petitioner further shows that the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, in January, A. D. 1871, promised and agreed to pay to your petitioner the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, or two and one-half per centum on one million of the bonds of the State of Florida by him received as aforesaid, as compensation for his services connected therewith.

And your petitioner claims that he had a lien on the said one million of State bonds so received as aforesaid, on the eleventh day of January, A. D. 1871, for the sum of twenty-five dollars and interest until paid. That the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by its president, M. S. Littlefield, in furtherance of said agreement, gave an order on Messers. S. W. Hopkins & Co., of London, the fiscal agents of said railroad company, to pay your petitioner the said twenty-2612 five thousand dollars. This order is dated February 1st, 1871, and is in the words and figures following, to wit:

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE,
JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE RAILROAD CO.,
Tallahassee, Fla., Feb. 1st, 1871.

Messrs. S. W. HOPKINS & CO., London:

GENTLEMEN: For the risk and responsibility assumed by T. B. Coddington in taking charge of and carrying to Europe one million of the bonds of the State of Florida, issued in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Co. (which bonds were delivered to him by Edward Houstoun for transmission to Europe), and for disbursing the proceeds of the sale of the same, you are hereby authorized and directed to pay the said T. B. Coddington as compensation for the services so performed, out of the funds of the sale of said bonds, a commission of two and one-half ($2\frac{1}{2}$) per cent. on the par value of said bonds; provided, T. B. Coddington surrenders to you for my account all its past due coupons held by him of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Co., amounting to about the sum of $24,465.

Truly yours,
(Signed) M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
President J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

2613 I hereby acknowledge were received against the proceeds of the within named bonds, fifteen thousand dollars, Jan. 15th.
(Signed) M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
President J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

Your petitioner alleges that the aforesaid order was sent to said S. W. Hopkins & Co., and was not paid. And your petitioner further says that when, in the April following, to wit, in April, A. D. 1871, that he delivered the said one million of bonds to the said S. W. Hopkins & Co., in London, as directed as aforesaid, that he did not surrender or relinquish his lien as aforesaid on said bonds, and that this will appear by reference to the agreement of the 29th of August, A. D. 1872, where the agreement says, "And wheras the said claim, amounting to $40,000, with accrued interest, are alleged to be secured inter alia by some of the 210 Florida State bonds, &c."; and as it will further appear by the admission of record aforesaid by the said railroad company, made in the supreme court of New York, wherein the said company admitted a lien of your petitioner for the said sums of money as existing on the whole of the said one thousand bonds. Wherefore your petitioner claims and insists that he had and has a lien for the said sums of money 2614 on the said one thousand State bonds, Nos. 3001 to 4000, from the said 11th day of January, A. D. 1871, and that all parties dealing with the aforesaid bonds had notice either actual or constructive of his said lien.

XXIX. Your petitioner avers that he is now ready, and has always been ready, to deliver up the said coupons in said agreement mentioned to the said company upon being paid his said debt and interest, and his cost expenses, as is in said agreement contained, and now states to the court his readiness so to do upon being paid such sums of money within such reasonable time as this court may direct.

Your petitioner shows unto your honors that he is the true and sole owner of the said coupons in the said agreement mentioned, and that the said coupons and each and every of them were and have ever since continued to be the property of this petitioner, from a date previous to the creation of this corporation, and previous to the year 1869.

XXX. Your petitioner further says that the acts and doings of the said Milton S. Littlefield, president of said J., P. & M. R. R. Co.; relative to these bonds, were done by the direction and authority of 2615 said company; and that he is informed and believes the following resolutions were adopted at a stockholders' meeting of said company, duly assembled according to law on the 24th day of January, A D. 1871, and are as follows:

At a meeting of the stockholders of the J., P. & M. R. R. Co., held at Tallahassee on the 24th day of January, 1871, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the preamble and the several resolutions adopted at a meeting of the directors convened at the call of the vice-president, Col. J. P. Sanderson, on the 10th day of December, A. D. 1870, be, and they are hereby, rescinded, revoked, and repealed, and the directors are required to carry this into effect by resolution.

Resolved further, That the acts and doings, contracts and negotiations made by Milton S. Littlefield, president, relative to the sale of the bonds of the State of Florida issued to this company and delivered to the president under the charter of the company and the acts of the legislature of Florida for the purpose of aiding and assisting this company in fulfilling the objects of its charter, and perfecting the public works of the State, be and they are hereby approved, ratified, and confirmed, 2616 and every officer of this company is hereby required to furnish the president of this company every aid to complete the sale of the bonds issued by the State of Florida to this company and to complete the road into Mobile as soon as possible.

Resolved further, That the stockholders at this meeting, representing forty-two thousand and forty-three (42,043) shares of stock, do hereby declare that they have full confidence in their president, M. S. Littlefield, and the directors are requested to pass such resolutions as will carry into effect this expression of confidence, and notify those in interest and other parties in this country and abroad that the company sustain their president in his negotiations relative to the sale of the bonds of the State of Florida issued to aid this company.

Resolved further, That the governor of this State be respectfully requested to aid and assist the president of this company in negotiating the bonds of the State now in his possession.

Resolved further, That the directors of this company be instructed to take steps to build the road to the "Spanish Hole" at the earliest practicable moment.

I certify the foregoing to be true extracts from the minutes of the stockholders of this company.

[SEAL.] (Signed) F. H. FLAGG, Secretary.

2617 XXXI. Your petitioner therefore prays that the premises considered, your honors will order and direct:

I. That your petitioner shall be paid the said sum of forty thousand dollars, with interest from the 29th day of August, A. D. 1872, at the rate of seven per centum per annum, and that your petitioner has a lien on said one thousand bonds from said date until the said sums are paid.

II. That the sale of the Florida Central Railroad Company shall not take place until your petitioner shall have realized the securities as pledged to him in said agreement of 29th of August, A. D. 1872, or until the said sums of money are paid, together with his costs and expenses in the English court in chancery.

III. That this petitioner shall have such order as to your honors shall seem meet and just, the premises considered.

And your petitioner will ever pray.

2620 1873. C., No. 102.—Filed 26th April, 1873.

In chancery.

Lord Chancellor.
Vice-Chancellor Wickens.

BETWEEN THOMAS BUTLER CODDINGTON, plaintiff,
and
THE JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE Railroad Company and John Collinson, defendants.

Bill of complaint.

To the right honorable Roundell Baron Selborne of Selborne, in the county of Southampton, lord high chancellor of Great Britain.

Humbly complaining, sheweth unto his lordship Thomas Butler

Coddington, of No. 9 Kensington Park Gardens, in the county of Middlesex, merchant, the above named plaintiff, as follows:

1. The defendants, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad 2621 Company (hereinafter called the railroad company), are a company duly incorporated and regulated by certain acts of the legislature of the State of Florida, one of the United States of America, for the purpose of constructing and working a railway in that State, and by virtue of the laws of the said State they became entitled to receive, in order to aid them in effecting such purpose, and they did receive, from the governor of said State, 4,000 bonds of the said State, dated 1st January, 1870, each bond being for $1,000, American currency, payable in gold, and bearing interest payable half-yearly at the rate of eight per centum per annum.

2. A firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., of New York and London, who were at that time the financial agents of the railroad company, entered into several agreements with the defendant, John Collinson, who is a banker, contractor, and civil engineer, resident in England, under which agreements the said defendant claimed to be entitled to purchase 2622 the said 4,000 bonds on the terms thereby fixed, and 2,800 of the said bonds were accordingly delivered to the said defendant by the said firm, but the said firm refused to deliver to him any more of the said bonds on those terms, and thereupon the said defendant, on 23rd August, 1871, commenced the suit hereinafter referred to as Collinson v. Collins, by filing a bill of complaint in this honorable court against Frank Howard Collins, who was then one of the partners in the said firm.

3. The said bill was for specific performance of the said agreements, including the delivery to the defendant John Collinson of the remaining 1,200 of the said 4,000 bonds, and the railroad company, the remaining partners in the said firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., and certain other persons and another company were added as defendants to it by amendment.

4. On 25th May, 1872, the railroad company commenced the suit hereinafter referred to as the Jacksonville Company v. Collinson, by filing a bill of complaint in this honorable court against the defendant 2623 John Collinson and all the other parties to the suit of Collinson v. Collins and certain other persons as well, and by that bill the railroad company admitted the validity of some but repudiated others of the agreements between the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. and the defendant John Collinson, charged the said defendant with delay and collusion with the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. in the prosecution of the said suit of Collinson v. Collins, and prayed among other things that the defendant John Collinson might be decreed to complete his purchase of the said 4,000 bonds, and to pay the balance of the purchase-money thereof to them, the railroad company, or to certain trustees for them.

5. By this said bill the railroad company stated, as the facts were, that 210 of the said 1,200 (residue of the said 4,000) bonds had by arrangement between the said Frank Howard Collins and the defendant John Collinson been deposited and then were in the London and 2624 County Bank, in the city of London, in the joint names of their respective solicitors; such solicitors, though not named in the said bill, were in fact Mr. Newman, of the firm of Newman, Dale & Stretton, on behalf of the said Frank Howard Collins or S. W. Hopkins & Co., and Mr. Cobb, of the firm of Janson, Cobb & Pearson, on behalf of the defendant John Collinson.

6. The present plaintiff claimed to be interested in the said 210 bonds, and gave a notice with relation thereto to the said Mr. Cobb and Mr.

Newman. The said claim arose out of an agreement which, prior to the bringing of the said 4,000 bonds to England, had been made by the plaintiff with the railroad company, certain other parties interested in the said bonds, and the said S. W. Hopkins & Co., under which agreement the plaintiff rendered certain services, and became entitled to certain remuneration, to which it is not necessary more particularly to refer.

7. The various parties to the said suits of Collinson v. Collins 2625 and Jacksonville Company v. Collinson entered into negotiations for the settlement of their differences, which, on account of the notice given as aforesaid by the present plaintiff, they were unable to bring to any practical conclusion without his concurrence. In fact, before the rising of the court before the long vacation of 1872, a decree by consent had been pronounced by the vice-chancellor, Wickens, but it had not been drawn up, and the parties, finding that without the plaintiff's concurrence they would not be able to act on it, applied to the plaintiff, and for the first time informed him of it, and his sanction having been obtained on the terms hereinafter appearing, the minutes of the said decree were finally settled, as follows:

In chancery.

Vice-Chancellor Wickens.

COLLINSON
v.
COLLINS.

JACKSONVILLE, &C., COMPANY
v.
COLLINSON.

Upon hearing counsel for all parties except the defendants F. H Kleinwort, Edward Cohen, L.   , Lewis Spring, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company 2626 (against whom respectively the bills in both suits have been dismissed), and upon reading a power of attorney, under the seal of the plaintiff company, in favor of the defendant Converse L. Chase, enabling him to compromise suits on behalf of the company, and an affidavit of the said Converse L. Chase verifying the same, and upon reading an affidavit of the said Converse L. Chase that the National Trust Company of New York have been duly appointed and have accepted the office of fiscal agents of the State of Florida and of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, and it being alleged by counsel that the company, by the said Converse L. Chase, as their attorney, and the plaintiff, John Collinson, and the defendants, Collins, Hopkins, and Carpenter, have agreed to compromise all litigations and questions between them, or any of them, and to determine all existing contracts between them or any of them, relating to any of the bonds hereinafter mentioned, on the terms embodied in this order, it is, by consent of counsel for all parties, ordered that 224 of the 1,200 2627 Florida State bonds in the pleadings mentioned be delivered to the National Trust Company of New York, and to be by them delivered up to the State of Florida to be cancelled against the delivery by the said State to the said National Trust Company of New York of 224 bonds of the said railroad company to be also cancelled, the same having been overissued by them, in respect of a deficiency in the length of the line constructed by the company; and it being alleged that two others of the said bonds have been lost, it is, by consent as aforesaid, ordered that the remaining 974 of the said 1,200 bonds be dealt with as follows; that is to say, 166 of such 974 bonds be sold and delivered to the said John Collinson at the rate of £120 and accrued interest per bond, and the remaining 808 of such 974 bonds be deposited as hereinafter mentioned; and the defendant Converse L. Chase, by his counsel, consenting to receive the purchase money for such 166 bonds and apply the same, as hereinafter directed, on behalf of the said company, 2628 and also of himself and the defendant Francis H. Flagg, as the trustees of the indenture of the 2nd of October, 1871, in the pleadings mentioned, it is, by consent as aforesaid, ordered that on such payment being made as hereinafter mentioned by the said John Collinson to the said Converse L. Chase, Thomas Pix Cobb, and George Gunnell Newman, do deliver the 210 bonds, part of such 1,200 bonds, which 210 bonds are deposited in their joint names, as in the pleadings mentioned, to the said John Collinson, to be held by him on the terms hereinafter mentioned.

And it is by consent, as aforesaid, ordered that the defendant Converse L. Chase, upon such payment being made to him by the said John Collinson as hereinafter mentioned, do deliver to the said John Collinson 166 bonds so purchased by him and 22 bonds, making with such 210 bonds 232 of such bonds, to be held by the said John Collinson on the terms hereinafter mentioned, and that on such payment being made the said defendant, Converse L. Chase, do remit to the said John 2629 Collinson, to be held on the terms hereinafter mentioned, the remaining 576 of such 1,200 bonds, by the first mail leaving New York on or after the 1st October, 1872.

And it is ordered that on such delivery to him of such 166 and 232 bonds as aforesaid, the said John Collinson do pay the amount of the purchase for such 166 bonds, at the rate aforesaid, to the said defendant, Converse L. Chase, to be applied by him in accordance with such of the trusts of the indenture of the 2nd of October, 1871, in the pleadings mentioned as are applicable thereto.

And it is by consent, as aforesaid, ordered that the said Converse L. Chase do apply the same accordingly.

And it is by consent, as aforesaid, ordered that the said John Collinson do, out of the said 232 bonds to be deposited with him as aforesaid, retain 40 bonds for his own use in satisfaction of the losses sustained by him by breach of the contracts entered into with him by the defendants Collins and Hopkins & Co. on behalf of the company, in relation to the said bonds, or any of them.

2630 And it is by consent, as aforesaid, ordered that the said John Collinson do retain the remaining 192 of such 232 bonds, and also the said 576 bonds (being the balance of the 800 bonds in America after the delivery of the said 224 bonds) when so delivered to him as aforesaid, subject to an option to him, the said John Collinson, to purchase the same or any part thereof at any time within 7 months from the date of this order at the price of £130 and accrued interest per bond, such price to be paid (subject to the retention thereout by the said John Collinson of any sums of money which he may pay for costs, charges, and expenses to any defendants in the suit of Collinson v. Collins, and to any defendants in any proceedings instituted in America by the said John Collinson in respect of the said bonds, or any of them) to the agents in London of the National Trust Company against their receipts for the same as fiscal agents of the company, and to be applied by them in manner following:

2631 The first monies coming to their hands up to £31,800 shall be specially set apart as a fund for and applied by them in payment of the January coupons on all the said bonds already negotiated or which shall hereafter be negotiated in accordance with the foregoing provisions, such interest being for the purpose calculated on 3,974 bonds at the exchange of 108 and a commission of 1% thereon, and any balance over and above the said sum of £31,800 shall be applied by the said National Trust Company as such fiscal agents for the purposes of the railroad company. And it is by consent, as aforesaid, ordered that they do pay and apply the same accordingly, the said Converse L. Chase, by his counsel, undertaking that the said National Trust Company shall be legally and fully confirmed in their appointment as fiscal agents of the said company and also of the State of Florida.

And it is by consent, as aforesaid, ordered that the said John 2632 Collinson do, at the expiration of such period of 7 months, deliver the 192 and 576 bonds, or such of them, if any, as he shall not so purchase to the said agents of the National Trust Company as such fiscal agents of the company and for and on behalf of the said company. And it is by consent, as aforesaid, ordered that all bonds hereinbefore ordered to be delivered be delivered, with all coupons subsequent to those due July, 1872, attached thereto.

And it is by consent as aforesaid ordered that the bill in the first mentioned suit be dismissed without costs as against all the remaining defendants thereto other than Kleinwort and Cohen, but it is ordered that what the plaintiff, John Collinson, shall pay on account of the cost of Kleinwort and Cohen be refunded to him by the company. And it is by consent as aforesaid ordered that the bill in the secondly mentioned suit be dismissed without costs as against the remaining defendants except as against Kleinwort and Cohen, and with costs as against them.

2633 And it is by consent as aforesaid ordered that the company do forthwith dismiss their suit now pending in New York, without costs, and that the said John Collinson do also dismiss his suit now pending in New York, the said Converse L. Chase undertaking that the several defendants in the same suit shall consent to such dismissal without claiming costs against the said John Collinson. And it is ordered that the said company do indemnify the said John Collinson against any costs, either of himself or of any person or company, of his suit in New York which he may have to pay.

8. At the foot of the said minutes an agreement was written in the following words:

"We severally agree that a decree in the terms of the above minutes shall as soon as practicable be drawn up and entered, and meanwhile that we will severally be bound as if the decree had been actually drawn up and entered."

2634 And to the said minutes and agreement the following signatures and date were appended:

29TH AUGUST, 1872.

9. The present plaintiff concurred in the arrangement embodied in the said minutes on the faith and in consideration of the agreement and documents set forth in the three following paragraphs hereof, which were respectfully entered into and signed between and by the parties between and by whom they respectively purport to have been 2635 entered and signed and were exchanged on the same date with the signature of the said minutes.

10. An agreement made this 29th day of August, 1872, between the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by their duly constituted attorney, Converse L. Chase, of the one part, and Thomas Butler Coddington, of 9 Kensingston Park Gardens, in the county of Middlesex, merchant, of the other part.

Whereas the said Thomas Butler Coddington claims from the company $25,000, and accrued interest thereon on his own behalf, and also $15,000 and accrued interest thereon due to Colonel R. H. Gamble; and whereas the said claims, amounting to $40,000, with accrued interest, are alleged to be secured inter alia by some of the 210 Florida State bonds now in the hands of Mr. Cobb and Mr. Newman;

And whereas the said railroad company have been negotiating with Mr. Collinson, of London, with respect to 1,200 bonds, including the 210 bonds; and whereas the said Mr. Cobb and Mr. Newman, 2636 having had notice on Mr. Coddington's behalf not to part with the said bonds, have refused to do so until such notice has been withdrawn, whereby the said negotiation between the said railroad and the said Mr. Collinson has been stopped.

And whereas it is to the interest of the said railroad that the said negotiation should proceed, and the said Thomas Butler Coddington at the request of the said railroad, through their attorney, the said Converse L. Chase, has agreed to and has accordingly withdrawn such notice upon the signing of this agreement;

And whereas in order to settle the said differences and for the consideration aforesaid, the said company and the said Thomas Butler Coddington have agreed to execute this agreement; the parties mutually agree as follows:

1. The said railroad company shall authorize and direct the National Trust Company of New York (who have been appointed the fiscal agents of the said railroad company), by their agent in London to pay to the said Thomas Butler Coddington the sum of $40,000 United States 2637 currency, with interest thereon from this date at 7 per cent. per annum, till payment out of the first monies to be paid to such agents by Mr. Collinson in pursuance of a decree of court made in two suits of Collinson v. Collins, and Jacksonville Railroad Company v. Collinson, after paying the sum of £31,800 in the said decree mentioned or such sum not exceeding $40,000 and interest as may so be in their hands, or in default of sufficient monies coming to the hands of the said Trust Company, to deliver to the said Thomas Butler Coddington the first 192 bonds and coupons attached of the said State which shall come into the hands of the National Trust Company in pursuance of the said decree.

2. That the said railroad company shall forthwith procure the recognition and acceptance by the said National Trust Company, and also by their agents in London, of the said direction in the first clause mentioned.

3. That the said Thomas Butler Coddington shall have full power to sell the said 192 bonds in order to pay himself the said 2638 $40,000 and interest, without further consent from the said railroad company, he, the said Thomas Butler Coddington, accounting to the company for any surplus beyond such principal and interest and the expenses attendant upon such sale.

4. On payment as aforesaid the said Thomas Butler Coddington shall deliver to the said company coupons of bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company amounting to $24,465.

JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE RAILROAD,
By C. L. CHASE,
Att'y in fact.
T. B. CODDINGTON,
A. P. BOWER, His Atty.

11. On the same date the railroad company gave to the present plaintiff the order following:

To the National Trust Company of New York:

Out of the first monies paid after this date by Mr. Collinson, of London, to you as the fiscal agents of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, after setting apart the sum of £31,800, 2639 you are hereby requested and irrevocably directed to pay to Mr. Thomas Butler Coddington or his order the sum of $40,000, United States currency, together with interest thereon at 7 per cent. per annum till payment, or such sum not exceeding $40,000 and interest as may so be in your hands.

Failing payment of the said full amount of the said $40,000 and interest, you are hereby requested and irrevocably directed to deliver to Mr. Thomas Butler Coddington or his order the first 192 bonds of the State of Florida, with coupons attached, which shall be delivered to you by the said Mr. Collinson.

Dated this 29th August, 1872.

THE JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE RAILROAD COMPANY.
By C. L. CHASE,
Duly authorized by power of attorney.

12. On the the same date the following letter of guarantee was signed by the persons respectively thereby appearing and delivered to the present plaintiff:

2640 29 AUGUST, 1872.

T. B. CODDINGTON, Esq're:

DEAR SIR: You have this day, at our request and for our interest, withdrawn a certain notice given on your behalf to Mr. Cobb and Mr. Newman as to 210 bonds of the State of Florida.

In consideration of such withdrawal we hereby jointly and severally undertake and agree that one or other of the following things shall be done by the 29th day of March, 1873:

1. That $40.000 United States currency with interest thereon at 7 per centum per annum from this date till payment shall be paid to you as to $25,000 and the interest for your own use, and as to $15,000 and the interest thereon for the use of Colonel Gamble, your friend.

Or, 2. That 192 bonds (bearing some of the numbers 3001 to 4000) of the State of Florida (part of the 1,200 bonds in the suit of Collinson v. Collins mentioned) shall be handed to you as security for such $40,000.

2641 It is understood that if the said amount be paid within three months from this date you shall relinquish all interest on the $40,000.

Yours, truly,

C. L. CHASE.
L. T. BAYNE.
W. G. M. DAVIS.

I, the said T. B. Coddington, assent to the above.

T. B. CODDINGTON.
A. P. BOWER.

13. The agreement and documents on the faith and in consideration of which the present plaintiff agreed to concur in the settlement of the said suits of Collinson v. Collins and Jacksonville Company v. Collinson having been thus completed, the present plaintiff, by his solicitors, Messieurs Bower and Cotton, wrote and delivered to the solicitors of the said S. W. Hopkins & Co., and of the defendant, John Collinson, the following letter withdrawing the notice which had been given as aforesaid with relation to the said 210 bonds:

Florida bonds.

46 CHANCERY LANE,
29 August, 1872.

2642 DEAR SIRS: The draft having been prepared of the proposed minutes of decree in the suits of Collinson v. Collins and Jacksonville, &c., Company v. Collinson, by the terms of which decree the proceeds of certain bonds, or the bonds themselves, are to be paid or handed to the fiscal agents of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and Mr. Collinson and his solicitors, General Davis and his solicitor, Mr. Collins and his solicitor, Messrs. Hopkins and Carpenter, by Mr. Chase, their attorney, and Mr. Chase having signed a memorandum at the foot of such draft engaging that a decree in the terms of such minutes shall be drawn up as soon as practicable, we hereby, on the faith of such engagement and on behalf of our client, Mr. Coddington, withdraw the notice given to Mr. Cobb and Mr. Newman by our letter of the 3rd July, 1872, respectively, addressed to Messrs. Janson, Cobb and Pearson, and Messrs. Newman, Dale and Stretton, and also all other notices, if any, given by us or any 2643 person on behalf of Mr. Coddington to Messrs. Janson, Cobb and Pearson or to Messrs. Newman, Dale & Stretton or to Mr. Collinson or to any other person or persons or company in relation to the Florida State 8 per cent bonds mentioned in the suit of Collinson v. Collins, 1871, C. No. 178, or any of them, or any matter relating thereto, and Mr. Cobb, Mr. Newman, and Mr. Collinson shall be at liberty to deal with such bonds, or any of them, as if no such notice or notices had been given.

Yours, truly,

BOWER AND COTTON.

To Messrs. JANSON, COBB & PEARSON, Solicitors.
To Messrs. NEWMAN, DALE & STRETTON, Solicitors.

14. A decree in the terms of the said minutes was then drawn up and dated 18th September, 1872.

15. Early in the present year it appeared by an advertisement in the New York Herald that the New York State Loan and Trust Company had been appointed by the railroad company as their fis- 6244 scal agents instead of the said National Trust Company of New York, and as soon as they became aware of this the plaintiff's said solicitors wrote to the said solicitors of the defendant, John Collinson, reminding them that no alteration must be made in the form of the said decree without notice to them the plaintiff's said solicitors, and on the same date, namely, 13th February, 1873, the plaintiff's said solicitors transmitted to the said New York State Loan and Trust Company copies of the agreement and order respectively set forth in the 10th and 11th paragraphs hereof, and of the said decree of 18th September, 1872, with a letter, in which they said: "You will of course take notice of Mr. Coddington's rights and act accordingly." But the said New York State Loan and Trust Company have not in any way replied to the said letter.

16th. On the 14th February, 1873, the plaintiff's said solicitors 2645 attended the solicitors of the defendant, John Collinson, whose clerk assured them that no alterations had been made in the said decree, and that none would be made without notice to them.

17th. On the 27th February, 1873, the said solicitors of the defendant, John Collinson, wrote to the plaintiff's said solicitors desiring their consent to certain alterations which appeared by an enclosed memorandum (and one of which was the substitution of the said New York State Loan and Trust Company in the place of the said National Trust Company of New York) being made in the said decree.

18. In reply to the said letter the plaintiff's said solicitors wrote and sent to the said solicitors of the defendant, John Collinson, a letter of the date and in the words following:

Florida bonds.

46 CHANCERY LANE, W. C.,
5th March, 1873.

2646 DEAR SIRS: We have seen our client. He holds guarantees from 3rd parties and he cannot consent to any alteration of the decree. You will not have failed to notice that the order for payment given to our client is on the National Trust Company, who have not been appointed the fiscal agents of the railroad, and that, therefore, even if disposed and able to consent we should be compelled to make it a condition that the actual fiscal agents (the New York State Loan and Trust Company) accept the order as a first charge (other than any charge made by the decree) on the first monies and bonds which come to their hands as such fiscal agents.

But would it not be better to get rid of our client (only about £8,000) and get the company to authorize Mr. Collinson to retain that sum to reimburse himself that amount as well as the money which you want for dividends, and which is referred to in the mem. of which you sent us a copy.

Yours truly,

BOWER & COTTON.

Messrs. JANSON, COBB & PEARSON.

2647 19. Some further letters afterwards passed between the said solicitors, but without any assent being given on the part of the plaintiff to any alterations being made in the said decree or in the other arrangements concluded as aforesaid on 29th August, 1872, and while the matter remained in this situation the plaintiff's said solicitors received from the solicitors of the defendant, John Collinson, a letter of the date and in the words following:

Florida bonds.

41 FINSBURY CIRCUS, E. C.,
19*th April*, 1873.

DEAR SIRS: Mr. Collinson having determined not to avail himself of the option (which is reserved to him by the terms of the decree of the 18th September last) of purchasing the unappropriated bonds remaining in his hands, we hereby give you notice that on Saturday next, the 26th instant, he will hand the same to Messrs. Jaffray & Co., of Saint 2648 Mildred's Court, Poultry, the London agents of the New York State Loan and Trust Company, who are the present fiscal agents.

We think it necessary to give you this intimation, having regard to the notices served by you on behalf of Mr. Coddington, and must leave you to take such course as you may think necessary under the circumstances.

Yours faithf'y,

JANSON, COBB & PEARSON.

Messrs. BOWER & COTTON,
46 Chancery Lane.

20. Mr. Bower, a member of the said firm of Bower & Cotton, who attends personally to this matter, was absent from London when the last-mentioned letter was delivered, but, immediately on seeing the same after his return, he wrote and sent a reply thereto of the date and in the words following:

Florida bonds.

46 CHANCERY LANE, W. C., 24 April, 1873.

DEAR SIRS: Our Mr. Bower has just returned from the north, 2349 and we must ask you to extend the time for taking any action.

We do not want to rush into law, but we must file a bill to restrain the handing over of the bonds to the company's agent. This would be clearly wrong after you have notice of the agreement with the company.

We feel sure, however, you will extend the time, say another week, and meantime we could meet and discuss the matter, with or without prejudice, as you please.

Yours faith'y,

BOWER & COTTON.

Messrs. JANSON, COBB & PEARSON.

21. Notwithstanding the said letter, the defendant, John Collinson, still threatens and intends to hand over the said bonds, as mentioned in his said solicitor's letter of 19th April, 1873; but if the said defendant should carry such threat and intention into execution, the plaintiff will lose the security provided for him by the said arrangements of 29th August, 1872.

2650 22. The plaintiff has been informed that an order has been served by the railroad company on the said New York State Loan and Trust Company in similar terms to those of the said order on the said National Trust Company of New York, set forth in the 11th paragraph hereof, but such information is unaccompanied by any evidence of the acceptance of such order by the said New York State Loan and Trust Company, or by any evidence that other orders for payment or delivery out of the moneys or bonds to be received by that company on behalf of the railroad company have not been previously served on or notified to the said New York Sate Loan and Trust Company.

Prayer.

The plaintiff prays as follows:

1. That the agreement between the railroad company and the plaintiff, dated 29th August, 1872, and set forth in the 10th paragraph 2651 hereof, may be specifically performed by the railroad company either literally or with no variation, which shall not give the plaintiff a first charge on the moneys and bonds mentioned in the first clause of the said agreement (subject only in the case of money to the sum of £31,800) for the sum of $40,000 and interest, or for 192 bonds, as the case may be, as mentioned in the same clause, the plaintiff hereby submitting to perform the said agreement so far as the same remains on his part to be performed.
2. That the defendant, John Collinson, may be restrained from delivering to or to the order of the railroad company or to any other person or persons the said bonds remaining in his hands without delivering 192 of the said bonds to the plaintiff.
3. That the defendants, or one of them, may pay the costs of this suit.

2652 4. That the plaintiff may have such further or other relief as the nature of the case may require.

J. WESTLAKE.

The names of the defendants to this bill of complaint are the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and John Collinson.

NOTE.—This bill is filed by Messrs. Bower and Cotton of No. 46 Chancery Lane, in the county of Middlesex, solicitors for the abovenamed plaintiff.

2653 (Endorsed as follows:)

At the execution of a commission of witnesses, wherein J. Fred Schutte, Jan Prins, Adrianeus Prins and others are complainants, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company and others are defendants, this paper writing was produced by and shown to Thomas B. Coddington, and by him deposed unto at the time of his examination before 2654 (Endorsed:) 1873. C. No. 102. Filed 26th April, 1873. In chancery. Lord-Chancellor. Vice-Chancellor Wickens. Coddington v. The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and another. Bill of complaint. Fos. 92. Mr. Westlake, 2, C.

Victoria R. To the within named defendants, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company and John Collinson, greeting:

We command you, and every of you, that within eight days after service hereof on you (exclusive of the day of such service) you cause an appearance to be entered for you in our high court of chancery to the within bill of complaint of the within named Thomas Butler Coddington, and that you observe what our said court shall direct.

Witness ourself at Westminster the twenty-sixth day of April, 2655 in the thirty-sixth year of our reign.

NOTE.—If you, the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company fail to comply with the above directions the plaintiff may enter an appearance for you, and you will be liable to have your lands, tenements, goods, and chattels distrained upon, and other proceedings against you, and have a decree made against you in your absence; and if you, the said John Collinson, fail to comply with the above directions the plaintiff may enter an appearance for you and you will be liable to be arrested and imprisoned and to have a decree made against you in your absence.

Appearances are to be entered at the record and writ clerk's office, Chancery Lane, London.

BETWEEN THOMAS BUTLER CODDINGTON, plaintiff,
and
THE JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE Railroad Company and John Collinson, defendants.

The answer of the defendants, The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, to the bill of complaint of the above-named plaintiff.

In answer to the bill, we, the said company, say as follows:

1. We, the defendants, The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company (in the plaintiff's bill called the railroad company), are a company duly incorporated and regulated by certain acts of the legislature of the State of Florida, one of the United States of America, 2657 for the purpose of constructing and working a certain railway in that State, and we, by virtue of the laws of the said State, became entitled to receive, in order to aid us in effecting such purpose, and we, or our agents, by our order, accordingly did receive, from the governor or proper authority of that State 4,000 bonds of the said State dated 1st January, 1870, and each bond was for $1,000, American currency, and payable in gold, and bearing interest payable half yearly at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum.

2. A firm of S. W. Hopkins and Company, of New York and London, who were at that time our financial agents, entered into several agreements with the defendant, John Collinson, who is a banker, contractor, and civil engineer, resident in England, and the said defendant, John Collinson, under such agreements, claimed (as appears by a bill filed by him in this court on the 23d of August, 1871, and several times amended, and to which we claim to refer), to be entitled to purchase the said 4,000 bonds on the terms thereby fixed, and 2,800 of the said bonds were accordingly delivered to the said defendant by the said firm; but 2658 the said firm refused to deliver to him any more of the said bonds on those terms, and he thereupon, on the said 23d August, 1871, commenced his aforesaid suit (in the bill in this suit referred to as "Collinson v. Collins"), and such suit was between such parties, and as we believe for such purposes as in the second and third paragraphs of the plaintiff's bill in this suit stated, but, for certainty, we crave to refer to the pleadings and proceedings in that suit now remaining of record in this suit.

3. On the 25th of May, 1872, we commenced the suit (in the bill in this suit referred to as "The Jacksonville Company v. Collinson"), and such suit was between such parties and for such purposes as in the 4th paragraph of the bill in this suit stated, so far as the said purposes are therein stated; but we crave to refer to the bill in our said suit now remaining of record in this suit.

4. We, by our bill in our said suit, stated as the facts were that 210 of the 1,200 (residue of the said 4,000) bonds had, by arrangements between Frank Howard Collins, in the said bill named, and the 2659 defendant John Collinson, been deposited and then were in the London and County Bank in the city of London, in the joint names of their respective solicitors, who, though not named in our said bill, were Mr. George Gunnell Newman, of the firm of Newman, Dole and Stretton, on behalf of the said Frank Howard Collins, or S. W. Hopkins and Company and Mr. Thomas Pix Cobb, of the firm of Janson, Cobb and Pearson, on behalf of the defendant John Collinson.

5. The present plaintiff claimed to be interested in the said 210 bonds, and gave a notice with relation thereto to the said Mr. Cobb and Mr. Newman. The validity of the said claim, as we are advised, is not material in this suit, and we neither admit nor deny it. The said claim arose out of an agreement which, prior to the bringing of the said 4,000 bonds to England, had, as the plaintiff alleged, been made between such parties and of or to such purport and effect as in the 6th paragraph of the plaintiff's bill in this suit stated, and the plaintiff had, as he alleged, rendered certain services and become entitled to certain remuneration under the said agreement.

2660 6. The various parties to the said suits of Collinson v. Collins and Jacksonville Company v. Collinson entered into negotiations for the settlement of their differences, which on account of the said notice given by the present plaintiff, they were unable to bring to any practical conclusion so far as regarded the said 210 bonds without his concurrence. Before the rising of this court before the long vacation of 1872, a decree by consent had been pronounced by the vice-chancellor, Wickens, but had not been drawn up, and the parties finding that without the now plaintiff's concurrence they would not be able to act on the said decree applied to the plaintiff, and as we believe for the first time informed him of it, and the minutes of the said decree upon the present plaintiff's sanction having been obtained on terms in his bill appearing, were finally settled, and were in such words and figures as in the 7th paragraph of the now plaintiff's bill set forth.

7. We believe that there was written at the foot of the said 2661 minutes an agreement in such words as in the 8th paragraph of the now plaintiff's bill in that behalf set forth, and that there were appended to the said minutes and agreement such several signatures and date as in the 8th paragraph of the now plaintiff's bill are in that behalf set forth.

8. We believe that the present plaintiff concurred in the arrangement embodied in the said minutes on the faith and in consideration of the agreement and documents set forth in the 10th, 11th, and 12th paragraphs of his said bill, and that the same are respectively of such dates in such words and figures, and of or to such purport and effect, as in the said 10th, 11th, and 12th paragraphs in that behalf respectively set forth. And we believe that the same were respectively entered into and signed between and by the parties between and by whom they respectively purport to have been entered into and signed, and we believed that the same were exchanged and that the letter of guarantee in the 12th paragraph of the said bill set forth was delivered to the plaintiff on the same date with the signature of the said minutes.

2662 9. We believe that the present plaintiff by his solicitors, Messieurs Bower and Cotton, in his bill named upon the agreements and documents on the faith and in consideration of which the present plaintiff agreed to concur in the settlement of the said suits of Collinson v. Collins and Jacksonville Company v. Collinson, having been completed as in the plaintiff's bill and hereinbefore mentioned, wrote and delivered to the solicitors of the said S. W. Hopkins and Company, and of the defendant John Collinson, a letter of such date and as we believe in such words and figures as in the 13th paragraph of the now plaintiff's bill is in that behalf set forth.

10. A decree in the terms of the said minutes was then drawn up and was dated 18th September, 1872.

11. It appeared early in the year 1873 by an advertisement in the "New York Herald" and it is the fact that the New York State Loan and Trust Company had been appointed by us as our fiscal agents instead of the National Trust Company of New York, in the plaintiff's bill named.

2663 We were obliged to make the said substitution because the latter company declined to act as our agents as they had previously agreed to do. We are unable to say whether the now plaintiff's solicitors did or not, as soon as they became aware of the said substituted appointment, write to the said solicitors of the defendant John Collinson a letter of or to such purport and effect as in the 15th paragraph of the plaintiff's bill is in that behalf stated or any other letter, or did or not and on the same day, namely, 13th February, 1873, or in fact transmit to the said New York State Loan and Trust Company copies of the agreement and order respectively set forth in the 10th and 11th paragraphs of the now plaintiff's bill or of the said decree of the 18th September, 1872, or whether or not with a letter of or to such purport and effect as in the said 15th paragraph of the said bill is in that behalf stated so far as the same is therein stated, and for certainty we crave to refer to any such letters when produced. We are unable to say whether the said New York State Loan and Trust Company have or not in any way replied to the said letter.

2664 12. We are unable to say whether the plaintiffs' said solicitors did or not, on the 14th of February, 1873, or at any time, attend the solicitors of the defendant John Collinson, or whether the clerk of the latter solicitors assured them that no alterations had been made in the said decree, or that none would be made without notice to them, or what was said upon any such occasion.

13. We are unable to say whether the said solicitors of the defendant John Collinson did or not, on the 27th February, 1873, or at any time, write to the plaintiff's said solicitors a letter of or to such purport and effect as in the 17th paragraph of the plaintiff's bill is in that behalf stated, or any other letter of or to the like, or to any other or what purport or effect, or how otherwise, or whether there was or not enclosed in such last mentioned letter a memorandum of or to the purport or effect in the said 17th paragraph of the plaintiff's bill in that behalf stated, or of or to the like, or any other or what purport or effect, or how otherwise.

2665 14. We are unable to say whether the plaintiff's said solicitors did or not, or whether or not, in reply to the last-mentioned letter, write or send to the said solicitors of the defendant John Collinson a letter of such date, or in such words and figures, or of or to such purport or effect as in the 18th paragraph of the plaintiff's bill is in that behalf set forth, or any other letter of any other or what date, or in any other or what words or figures, or of or to any other or what purport or effect, or how otherwise.

15. We are unable to say whether some further letters did or not afterwards pass between the said solicitors, or whether or not, without any assent being given on the part of the plaintiff to any alterations being made in the said decree, or whether or not in the other arrangements concluded, as in the plaintiff's bill mentioned, on 29th August, 1872, or how otherwise, or whether the plaintiff's said solicitors did or not, or whether or not, while the matters remained in this situation, or how otherwise, receive from the solicitors of the defendant John Collinson a letter of such date, or in such words and figures, or of or bill is in that behalf set forth, or any other letter of any other date, or in any other words and figures, or of or to any other purport or effect, or how otherwise.

16. We are unable to say whether Mr. Bower, in the plaintiff's bill named, who, we believe, is a member of the said firm of Bower and Cotton, and attends personally to the said matter, was or not absent from London when the last-mentioned letter was delivered, or how otherwise, or whether he did or not immediately after his return, or, in fact, write or send a letter in reply thereto of such date, or in such words and figures, or of or to such purport or effect, as in the 20th paragraph of the plaintiff's bill is in that behalf set forth, or any other letter of any other date, in any other words and figures, or of or to any other purport or effect, or how otherwise.

17. We are unable to say whether the defendant, John Collinson, did or not, or whether or not, notwithstanding the said letter, threatened, or whether or not intend to hand over the said bonds as 2667 mentioned in his solicitor's letter of 19th April, 1873, in the bill mentioned, or how otherwise. We are unable to set forth the particulars of the bonds mentioned or referred to in such letter, or to give in particular the dates or consecutive or distinctive numbers of such bonds further or otherwise than they appear in the affidavit of John Collinson filed on the 19th day of June, 1873, and now of record in this court, and in the order made on the 28th day of June, 1873, for the deposit of the said bonds in this court, to which affidavit and order respectively we claim to refer.

18. We say that in consequence of the said National Trust Company withdrawing their previous consent to act as fiscal agents, in reliance on which they had been named in the said decree in that character, we were compelled to appoint, and did appoint, the said New York State Loan and Trust Company to fill that character, and we thereupon gave them an order in favor of the plaintiff to the same effect as that which we had previously given to the said National Trust Company, as recited in the 11th paragraph of the said bill, and we have never 2668 consented to any alteration of the said decree, or taken any other step to deprive the plaintiff of the benefit of that order or of the said decree, or done anything to give occasion for this suit, but we have been and are ready to consent to any alterations properly consequent on the said change of our fiscal agents, and we applied for and obtained the order which has been made to bring the said bonds into court in this suit hereinbefore referred to, and the bonds in such affidavit and order mentioned have been brought into court pursuant to the said order, and are now in court, and we submit that our costs of this suit ought to be properly paid or provided by the plaintiff.

{SEAL OF THE JACKSONVILLE,
PENSACOLA AND MOBILE RAILROAD COMPANY.}

W. H. G. BAGSHAWE.

The seal of the defendants, The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, was affixed hereto by order this 23rd day of March, 1874, in the presence of—

2669 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
State of Florida, County of Duval:

I, J. W. Swain, a notary public duly commissioned and qualified by the State of Florida, in and for the county of Duval, in said State, and authorized and empowered as such to attest the acts done by individuals and corporate bodies in said county, and to certify the same to be used as evidence in any other State or country, do hereby certify that the seal attached to the foregoing answer in chancery is the seal of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, and that the same was affixed to said answer by the proper officer of said corporation, at its office in the city of Jacksonville, in my presence, and that I was requested to make this attestation of said act.

In testimony whereof I have hereto set my hand and affixed my seal of office. Done at Jacksonville, in said State and county, this 23d day of March, A. D. 1874.

J. W. SWAIN,
Notary Public, County of Duval, State of Florida, U. S. A.

2672 Deposition of Frank H. Collins, a witness produced and sworn and examined the 26th day of April, A. D. 1879, at my office in the post-office building in the city of New York, under and by virtue of a commission issued out of the circuit court of the United States of America, for the fifth circuit, and northern district of Florida, in a certain cause therein depending and at issue, wherein J. Fred Schutte, Jan Prins, Adrianus Prins, and others are complainants, and The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company and others are defendants.

FRANK H. COLLINS, of New Hartford, Connecticut, aged 32 years of age, being duly and publicly sworn on the part of the complainants, doth depose and say as follows:

First. To the first interrogatory he saith: Frank H. Collins; 2673 age, 32 years; resid., New Hartford, Connecticut.

Second. To the second interrogatory he saith: I do not know the parties complainant, but I do know the parties defendants.

Third. To the third interrogatory he saith: I was formerly a member of the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co.; it was composed of Sidney W. Hopkins, who resided in the city of New York, and Robert J. Carpenter and myself, who resided in the city of London, England; its business was the negotiating of securities for railway companies and others, and the dealing in railway iron and other articles at 71 Broadway, in the city of New York and 58 Old Broad street in the city of London, England, my position being that of the head of the London firm.

2674 Fourth. To the fourth interrogatory he saith: The firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co. became the agents of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company for the purposes named in the contract or agreement entered into between said company and said firm on the 13th day of April, 1870; and subsequent thereto, in pursuance of the provisions of said agreement, the said company authorized the governor of the State of Florida to deliver to said firm all of the bonds of the State of Florida authorized to be issued in aid of said company. I have no copy of said agreement and cannot therefore annex the same to my answer.

Fifth. To the fifth interrogatory he saith: S. W. Hopkins and Company were induced to act as agent of said company to sell said bonds, because they believed said bonds to be good security, that they 2675 would have no difficulty in selling them, being as they were bonds of a State whom they believed held first mortgage bonds of said company for an amount equal to the amount issued by the State of Florida in exchange therefor, and that the purchaser of said bonds would really hold a double security: First, the State of Florida, and secondly the railroad itself, two hundred and fifty miles in length, built and in operation from Jacksonville to Quincey, with branches at Monticello and Tallahassee. Said bonds bore a high rate of interest, namely, eight per cent. per annum, payable in gold, and it was represented to the said firm by the president of said company that the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company owned the line of railroad I have just named, and that under the act of the legislature of the State of Florida the said railway company were to deliver to the said 2676 State first mortgage bonds of said railroad company to the extent of sixteen thousand dollars per mile, before the said State should deliver a like amount of its State bonds as security for the bonds of the State so to be issued to said company.

Sixth. To the sixth interrogatory he saith: Such representations were made to said firm by the president of said company, Milton S. Littlefield. He produced properly verified resolutions of the board of directors of said company authorizing him to act for and represent said company in dealing with said bonds. I have no copy of said authority and therefore cannot annex the same to my answer.

Seventh. To the seventh interrogatory he saith: It was repre-2677 sented to the said firm at and for their appointment of agents of said company by its president, that there were no prior liens upon any part of said line of railroad from Jacksonville to Quincey, with the branches at Monticello and Tallahassee. Each of said bonds has on its back an endorsement signed by the then governor of the State of Florida setting forth that there had been deposited by said company with the State of Florida first mortgage bonds of said company to the extent of sixteen thousand dollars per mile of completed road. The locality and line of railroad from Jacksonville westward, consisting of two hundred and fifty miles, was learned from statements made to said firm by the president of said company. From the then existing terminus at Quincey the said line of railroad was to be built to the city of Mobile in 2678 the State of Alabama, and the bonds issued to said company by said State were to be sold, and a sufficient amount of the proceeds used in the completion of the line of railroad of said company to said city of Mobile, an authenticated copy of the act of the legislature authorizing the issuing of said bonds; a map of the line of said railroad already constructed, and proposed to be constructed, and statements of the governor of the then State of Florida and of the president or other officers of said railway company, that said line of railroad was unencumbered by any prior lien, were delivered to said firm by the president of said company at or before the appointment of said firm as agent of said company. All of which statements and representations were relied upon by said firm and were repeated in Europe. I certainly believed that the enterprise was a good and sound one, and would commend 2679 itself to the public. The most perfect reliance was placed upon the representations made to said firm that the line of railroad was two hundred and fifty miles in length from Jacksonville to Quincey, with branches at Monticello and Tallahassee, and that no part of said railroad was encumbered by any prior lien. That first mortgage bonds had been executed upon said line of railroad and delivered in accordance with the act of the legislature of the State of Florida to the proper officer of said State as security for the payment of said bonds of the State of Florida and for a like amount, in order to aid in completing said line of railroad to the city of Mobile, thus perfecting as I then believed a great public work in the State of Florida, as well as a leading trunk line of railroad in the south which would be a valuable property abundantly able to pay the interest on its bonds.

2680 Eighth. To the eighth interrogatory he saith: Our firm received in all four thousand of the bonds of the State of Florida of the denomination of one thousand dollars, each bearing interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum due thirty years from date and issued under an act of the legislature of said State in aid of said company, three thousand of which I think were delivered to our firm by the then governor of the State or by the agent or agents of said railway company and one thousand of which were delivered to our firm by Thomas B. Coddington.

Ninth. To the ninth interrogatory he saith: Our firm sold two thousand eight hundred of said bonds direct to John Collinson, of London, England, under and in accordance with certain contracts entered 2681 into between said Collinson and our firm. That in pursuance of said contracts our firm delivered said bonds to said Collinson at various periods, commencing November 19th, 1870. The twenty-eight hundred has so sold and delivered to the said Collinson were the only bonds sold by our firm, though all had contracted to sell and deliver the entire issue of four thousand bonds.

Tenth. To the tenth interrogatory he saith: Our firm repeated the representations made to us by said company and by the then governor of the State of Florida, among which were the representations that the buyer of said bonds would have a double security, namely, the State of Florida and two hundred and fifty miles of completed railroad. That the State held the first-mortgage bonds upon completed railroad at the rate of sixteen thousand dollars per mile as further security for the hold-2682 ers of said bonds for the State of Florida. That the eastern terminus of said railroad was at Jacksonville, 'at its western terminus was at Quincey, and that the bond' issued by said State were for the purpose of completing said line of railroad through to the city of Mobile, in the State of Alabama. All of which representations were repeatedly made to our firm by the president of said company, and were by our firm repeated to the said Collinson, to whom we sold said bonds. Our firm repeated said statements, believing them at the time to be true; and the said Collinson evidently accepted them as correct and bought said bonds. About the latter part of December, 1870, just as our firm had commenced to deliver a few of said bonds to said Collinson, doubts were suggested as to the legality of the issue of said bonds, in consequence of which our firm delivered no more of the said bonds till 2683 we ascertained whether such doubts were or were not well founded.

One of our firm went at once to Tallahassee, in the State of Florida, and called the attention of said company as well as the then governor of said State to the subject, and the governor at once called upon the justices of the supreme court of the State, as he had a right to do under the constitution of the State, for their construction of the act of the legislature authorizing the issue of said bonds; and he obtained their separate opinions as to the constitutionality or legality of the same. All of the justices composing said supreme court gave it as their opinion that the bonds were legally and constitutionally issued for the purpose named in the act referred to. The result*ed* was promptly cabled to our firm in London on or about the 16th of February, 1871, and the governor, clerk of the supreme court, and the attorney-general, each and all 2684 cabled the same purport to our firm in London on the same date.

Our firm in London also received a certified copy of the opinion of each of the justices of the said court, which cable dispatches and certified copies were shown to and, I believe, delivered to said Collinson immediately after their receipt in London; whereupon the said Collinson appeared to be perfectly satisfied as to the legality of the said bonds, and at once recommenced to take more of said bonds, and continued to take said bonds until two thousand eight hundred had been taken and paid for by him.

Eleventh. To the eleventh interrogatory he saith: At the time our firm agreed to accept and did accept the agency from said company to sell said bonds we had never heard that there was such corporation in existence as the Florida Central Railroad Company, or that any 2685 part of the of the line of railroad from Jacksonville to Quincy was claimed by such a company.

Twelfth. To the twelfth interrogatory he saith: Had it been represented to our firm at the time of our appointment as agent to sell said bonds that the said railway commenced at Lake City east and terminated west at Quincy, we certainly would not have attempted the negotiation or accepted the appointment of agent to sell said bonds; as a great through trunk line the railroad had a value, compared with which a short and unimportant line would not for a moment be considered.

Thirteenth. To the thirteenth interrogatory he saith: Our firm thought so highly of the character of said bonds that we did not hesitate to make a large advance to the said company, predicated solely upon a reimbursement from the proceeds of said bonds when sold. Our firm 2686 certainly would not have made any advances whatever to said company had we even had a suspicion that said company did not own a line of completed railroad from Jacksonville westward two hundred and fifty miles in length, as I have already stated was represented to us.

Fourteenth. To the fourteenth interrogatory he saith: Our firm sold the twenty-eight hundred of said bonds directly to the said Collinson, and received payment for them from him at the time of each delivery of said bonds. If he had any associates associated with him in such purchase I did not then nor do I now know who such associates were. He bought the bonds of our firm avowedly to resell, evidently believing them to be as represented by the State authorities and the said railway company. I am aware that said Collinson resold said bonds 2687 in Holland at about the time he purchased them from our firm, and I have not a doubt but that he repeated the representations that were made by our firm to him by documentary evidence and otherwise.

Fifteenth. To the fifteenth interrogatory he saith: Our firm had no interest in the resale of said bonds by said Collinson, but frequently, from time to time during the period of his taking said bonds from us, we answered questions and furnished him such data, official and otherwise, as we could obtain from said company and from officials in Florida, which information and data he informed our firm he wanted for the purpose of sending to Holland, where he was reselling said bonds. Our firm gave him all the information we could get from said company, under its corporate seal, and also from the State of Florida, for the purpose of aiding him in making a resale of said bonds in Hol- 2688 land, which representations I understood he transmitted to Holland, to the parties there to whom he had made a resale of said bonds.

Sixteenth. To the sixteenth interrogatory he saith: The governor of the State of Florida had appointed our firm to act as agent, for the purpose of paying the interest coupons on said bonds, and gave our firm various other documents and letters confirmatory to my mind of the validity of said bonds, all of which we gave to the said Collinson, and which I suppose he transmitted to the parties in Holland to whom he had resold said bonds; such documents evidently had the effect of convincing the said Collinson, as well as our firm, of the validity of said bonds and of the high character and soundness of them as a security.

2689 Seventeenth. To the seventeenth interrogatory he saith: Our firm paid out large sum' of the money received from said Collinson in payment of said bonds, under the orders and directions of the president of said company to various parties at various periods, the details of which payments are clearly set forth in the account rendered by our firm to said company.

Eighteenth. To the eighteenth interrogatory he saith: Our firm was notified in the month of August, 1870, by the president of said company that an agreement had been entered into between said company and N. W. Woodfin, W. W. Rollins, and others, representing the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, George W. Swepson, and others, under date of April, 1870, at the city of Washington, D. C., in respect to certain of the said bonds of the State of 2690 Florida. Our firm was again notified in writing on the 16th of November, 1870, by the said company, through its president, of another agreement, entered into on the tenth day of the same month, in London, England, between said company and said Woodfin, on behalf of the said North Carolina Railroad Company.

Nineteenth. To the nineteenth interrogatory he saith: Said Woodfin was in London in the fall and winter of 1870 & 1871. He was there in relation to the negotiation of the said bonds, and assisted our firm so far as he was able so to do in getting us information and making representations with respect to the said company and said bonds, the line of railroad, &c. He never denied to our firm while there the previous information and representations made to our firm by said company and said authorities of the State of Florida; nor that the bonds were issued upon a completed line of railroad two hundred and fifty miles 2691 in length, owned by said company, from Jacksonville to Quincy, with branches at Monticello and Tallahassee, and that the security for the payment of the interest and the principal of said bonds was the State of Florida and the two hundred and fifty miles of railroad.

Twentieth. To the twentieth interrogatory he saith: Our firm paid money by order and direction of said company to E. Houston, M. D. P. Papy, J. D. Wescott, J. P. Sanderson, and others.

Twenty-first. To the twenty-first interrogatory he saith: I did not personally know Edward M. L'Engle. I understood he was the law partner of Sanderson, under the firm-name of Sanderson and L'Engle, and I suppose the payments made to Sanderson were made for legal services. L'Engle never visited our offices, to my knowledge, and 2692 I do not remember any negotiation on his part as spoken of.

Twenty-second. To the twenty-second interrogatory he saith: When the said Woodfin was in London, in 1870 & 1871, he represented to our firm as acting for the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company. He claimed to be entitled to a large amount of said bonds, or proceeds thereof, because of the agreement between himself and associates, and said company, and said Littlefield, of which I have before spoken. Our firm had been directed by the president of said company to hold eight hundred of said bonds, or of the proceeds thereof, subject to the order and control of said Woodfin.

Twenty-third. To the twenty-third interrogatory he saith: The said Woodfin authorized our firm in writing to sell said eight hundred 2693 bonds, and to account to him for the proceeds thereof, and he personally did all in his power to aid the firm in effecting the sale of said bonds.

Twenty-fourth. To the twenty-fourth interrogatory he saith: The said Woodfin never, to my knowledge, denied that the title of said company to the line of railroad from Jacksonville westward to Quincy, or any part of it. I never heard him set up any claim of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company to any part of the said line of railway. I never heard Woodfin, or any officer or person connected with the said North Carolina Railroad Company, deny the validity of said bonds or deny that they were a lien upon the entire line of railway from Jacksonville to Quincy, including the branches before mentioned. On the contrary, the said Woodfin assisted our firm, 2694 so far as he could, in our efforts to effect the sale of said bonds upon the representations I have previously stated, that said bonds were double security. The said Woodfin did not deny to our firm the representations and endorsements contained on said bonds over the signature of the Governor of Florida, herein before referred to. In the various litigations in London, New York, and elsewhere, after our firm had sold the twenty-eight hundred bonds, between our firm and said company—the Western Division Company—and others, which lasted for a long time. I am not aware that the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company ever denied the ownership of the entire railroad westward from Jacksonville to Quincy, including the branches, or that the said bonds were not a lien on all of said railroad. Nor am I aware that the Florida Central Railway 2695 Company ever intervened, or set up any claim, or filed any protest in any of the suits hereinbefore referred to against the claim of the entire line of railroad by said company, or denied the right of said company to deal with all of said four thousand bonds.

Final. To the final interrogatory he saith: I cannot think of anything more touching this case.

To the cross-interrogatories propounded to the Florida Central Railroad Company the witness, answering, says:

First. To the first cross-interrogatory he saith: Our firm received in all, directly and indirectly, from the governor of the State of Florida and the railway company, four thousand of the bonds of the said State. I cannot say definitely when they were received, because I was the 2696 resident partner of our firm in London at the time said bonds were received.

Second. To the second cross-interrogatory he saith: Our firm sold twenty-eight hundred of said bonds, and delivered the same to John Collinson, of London, England, at various periods during the years 1870 & 1871, at the price of one hundred & thirty-eight pounds one shilling and ten pence sterling per each bond, and payment was made direct to our firm in London by the purchaser.

Third. To the third cross-interrogatory he saith: My impression is that such a despatch as is referred to in this interrogatory was sent to Amsterdam by the governor of Florida, and it is my impression that said despatch was sent by the governor in reply to the second despatch referred to in this interrogatory, but I do not remember by 2697 whom it was sent or to whom the reply was addressed. My impression is that it was one of the parties in Amsterdam connected with the market there. I think the party was a member of the bourse in Holland. I cannot say what publicity was given to the telegraphic correspondence, or whether it was made known to any officer or member of the bourse. I cannot say whether any of said bond or bonds had been sold before said telegraphic correspondence took place. I do remember that some such correspondence was carried on during the negotiation of the said bonds, but at what time I am unable in the absence of data to state.

Fourth. To the fourth cross-interrogatory he saith: I cannot state the date or amount of payments to the parties mentioned in my 2698 answer to the 20th direct interrogatory; all these payments were made by our firm in New York while I was residing in London, England. It is my impression these payments were made by authority given in writing by the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

Fifth. To the fifth cross-interrogatory he saith: It is my impression that such a communication as is referred to was sent to Hoji Boisevain, banker, of Amsterdam, a copy of which was delivered or shown to me by Collinson or by some other person in some way connected with the negotiation, and my impression is that I sent the communication to our firm in New York; my impression that I was informed that parties were members of the bourse doing business in Amsterdam and connected with placing the bonds on the market. I cannot recall what pub- 2699 licity was given to the communication or whether it was made known to any of the officers of the bourse. I have already stated that I am of the opinion it was known to the parties who were engaged in placing the bonds on the market in Holland. I think the communication came to me from John Collinson; if so, it was known to him. It is quite impossible for me at this remote day to fix the period when it was known in Amsterdam. I cannot now remember what action was taken thereupon.

Sixth. To the sixth cross-interrogatory he saith: I have a slight remembrance of such a communication as is referred to in this interrogatory, but I cannot recal anything further. I am utterly unable to make any further answer to any of the questions propounded in this interrogatory. It is my impression the sale of said bonds had been suspended about the time the said communication was seen by me and liti- 2700 gations had been commenced in New York. I cannot recal' any other circumstances connected with the receipt of such communication.

Seventh. To the seventh cross-interrogatory he saith: I do not remember anything more about the impeachment or attempted impeachment of Harrison Reed than that such a thing was impending at one time in Florida, but I cannot recal' any circumstances connected therewith.

Eighth. To the eighth cross-interrogatory he saith: I am utterly unable to answer any part of this interrogatory.

To the cross-interrogatories propounded by the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida the witness, answering, says:

Fifth. To the fifth cross-interrogatory he says: From my gene- 2701 ral knowledge, recollection, and remembrance of the transactions and the impressions that I had at the time of the negotiations.

To the additional cross-interrogatory propounded by the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida the witness, answering, says:

First. To the first additional cross-interrogatory he says: I was the resident partner in England, and therefore cannot give the amounts, dates, and details asked in this interrogatory.

To the cross-interrogatories propounded by Jos. B. Stewart, esq., solicitor for the defendant, the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, the witness, answering says:

2702 First. To the first cross-interrogatory he saith: Our firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co. were the agents of the State of Florida as well as of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company in the years 1870 and 1871. Such agency commenced on the 6th of May, 1870, on which day we were appointed by the governor as such agents, but only for the purpose of paying the interest coupons in the bonds issued by the State of Florida to said railroad company.

Second. To the second cross-interrogatory he saith: We were employed to sell all the bonds of the State of Florida issued and to be issued by the said State to the railroad company. The appointment was dated the 13th day of April, 1870, and was in writing.

2703 Third. To the third cross-interrogatory he saith: Our firm received from the State or from the said railroad company or on account of the said railroad two thousand nine hundred and sixty of said bonds, and subsequently forty of said bonds from a party to whom the railroad company had caused the same to be delivered; also one thousand of said bonds from Thomas B. Coddington, making in all four thousand of said bonds which our firm received in pursuance of a contract entered into with the said railroad company during April, 1870, by the provisions of which we were to receive all the bonds issued and to be issued by the State of Florida to said railroad company; we sold two thousand eight hundred of said bonds in all.

2704 Fourth. To the fourth cross-interrogatory he saith: Any maps or copies of laws that were shown to us were not to my knowledge in any respect different to maps to be found on sale or to any other laws than such as could be found in the statute books of Florida.

Fifth. To the fifth cross-interrogatory he saith: We disposed of the twenty-eight hundred of said bonds to John Collinson, and not to any person or corporation in Holland or in any other country.

2705 Sixth. To the sixth cross-interrogatory he saith: Before or at the time we were selling said bonds I believe a question arose as to their legality, and it is my impression that it was alleged that the statute under which they were issued was unconstitutional, and I believe these charges were published, and the publications copied in some public journals in the United States, but I do not remember that any such charges were ever published in England and Holland. I did not credit the statements made and circulated with respect to the validity of the issue, because our lawyers had examined all the laws under which they had been issued, and they advised our firm that the bonds were legally issued and constitutional, and therefore a good and valid security. I cannot state more definitely as to the publications with respect to the character of the bonds.

2706 Seventh. To the seventh cross-interrogatory he saith: In consequence of such charges of illegality in the issue of said bonds being so circulated, we were embarrassed in our efforts to sell said bonds, and it was agreed between our firm and M. S. Littlefield, who was at that time in London, and who was the president and agent authorized to represent the said railroad company in its dealings with our firm, that we should sell the issue of four thousand of said bonds to said Collinson, at one hundred and thirty-eight pounds one shilling and ten pence sterling for each bond, and that our firm should account to the said railroad company for them when we received payment for the same at the price of one hundred pounds sterling for each of said bonds, less five per cent., and that the said thirty-eight pounds one shilling and ten pence sterling on each of said bonds should belong to and be the property of our firm to indemnify us for such extraordinary expenses of such negotiations as we might find it necessary as we might find it neccesary to incur by reason of the attacks that were being continually made upon the character of said bonds. In pursuance of said agreement between said Littlefield and our firm a letter, dated Nov. 14, 1870, was addressed to our firm by said Littlefield, and replied to by letter dated November 28, 1870.

2707 Eighth. To the eighth cross-interrogatory he saith: After making said agreement we entered into a contract with, and in pursuance of the same we sold and delivered to John Collinson, of London, twenty-eight hundred in all of said bonds, at the price of one hundred and thirty-eight pounds one shilling and ten pence sterling for each bond, and said contract with said Collinson having been previous to execution shown by me to said Littlefield, who approved the same.

Ninth. To the ninth cross-interrogatory he saith: We were not able to make any positive sale of the whole issue at one time, but an agreement was entered into between John Collinson and our firm, which was in the form of options, for the whole four thousand of said bonds, conditional upon his taking and paying for certain amounts from time to time at the price agreed on. We had no dealings with any syn-2708 dicate. Said bonds were undoubtedly held in the meantime at the risk of the said railroad company. I believe said options extended through one year. I have not in my possession a copy of said agreements, and cannot therefore annex them to my answer.

Tenth. To the tenth cross-interrogatory he saith: It is my impression that the opinion of eminent counsel in England was obtained as to the constitutionality of the said Florida State bonds, and it is my impression that J. P. Benjamin, Queen's counsel, gave an adverse opinion as to the validity of said bonds, while De Tracey Gould, an eminent counsel in London, maintained that the bonds were constitutional. After said opinions were given said Collinson insisted upon and obtained from our firm a modified contract or agreement, which was executed on the 28th December, 1870, of which a copy annexed to the cross-interrogatories, and marked A, I believe to be correct.

2709 Eleventh. To the eleventh cross-interrogatory he saith: It was a condition of said modified agreement referred to in my previous answer, that our firm should procure from the highest court in Florida an opinion respecting the validity and constitutionality of the issue of said bonds, and, in pursuance of the condition, Charles H. Collins came from London to America to confer with the New York firm, with reference to procuring the opinion of the supreme court of the State of Florida on the question involved. The governor of the State of Florida obtained from each of the judges of the supreme court a favorable opinion with respect to the validity or constitutionality of the issue of said four thousand of said bonds by the State of Florida. Such opinions were regarded, I believe, by John Collinson as settling the question of the validity of the whole issue of such bonds, and 2710 said Collinson continued thereafter to take and pay for the bonds under his agreement with our firm.

Twelfth. To the twelfth -interrogatory he saith: It was understood between our firm and said Collinson that a certain amount of the proceeds from the sale of said bonds should be set aside and appropriated to pay a certain number of the interest-coupons to mature thereafter. I believe the whole amount to be set apart and applied was about three hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Thirteenth. To the thirteenth cross-interrogatory he saith: The first delivery of bonds to said Collinson was made on the 19th day of November, 1870, and the last delivery to Collinson of said bonds was made in London on or about the 21st day of July, 1871. No bonds over and above those numbered from one to 2800 were delivered by our 2711 firm to said Collinson under said agreements of November 14 and December 28th, 1870. I cannot annex a copy of the account of such transfers and deliveries of bonds to said Collinson, because I have none.

Fourteenth. To the fourteenth cross interrogatory he saith: I suppose all the information was accessible to everybody; our firm had no information that was not accessible to everybody. I cannot now put my hands on any of the printed or published statements, as the time when they were circulated is so remote.

Fifteenth. To the fifteenth cross-interrogatory he saith: I believe that the bonds were offered in New York to others. I believe they were also offered in London, which attempts failed until we had come to an agreement hereinbefore referred to with M. S. Littlefield, 2712 wherein we agreed to account to the railroad company, at the price already named. After the contract between our firm and said Collinson was made, the bonds were offered to the public in Holland by printed prospectus in the Dutch language. Whether the copy annexed, marked B, is or is not a correct translation, I am unable to say. I cannot say whether there was any other prospectus used in putting the bonds on the market.

Sixteenth. To the sixteenth cross-interrogatory he saith: I do not know where the prospectus was printed.

Seventeenth. To the seventeenth cross-interrogatory he saith: The governor materially aided in the sale of said bonds by procuring the opinions of the justices of the supreme court, which enabled the promoters to dispose of the said bonds.

2713 Eighteenth. To the eighteenth cross interrogatory he saith: Some time during the month of January, 1871, one thousand bonds, numbered from three to four thousand, inclusive, were brought to England and delivered to our firm by Thos. P. Coddington, as the agent or trustee of various parties, among which were the State of Florida, E. Houston, and the railroad company, from whom we had instructions respecting the disposition of the proceeds.

Nineteenth. To the nineteenth cross-interrogatory he saith: The thousand bonds brought to London by said Coddington were charged with the payments and to the persons named in the 19th cross-interrogatories, from the proceeds of the sale thereof. I believe the whole of the thousand bonds were received by the said Coddington from the governor of the State of Florida, and that a receipt was given to 2714 said Houston by said Coddington for them, a copy of which, annexed to the cross-interrogatories and marked C, is, I believe, correct.

Twentieth. To the twentieth cross-interrogatory he saith: I believe the 224 out of the thousand bonds, numbered from 3,001 to 4,000, inclusive, originally delivered to said Coddington, were delivered to the authorities of the State of Florida and cancelled; it is my impression that they were surrendered by the railway company, but I am not certain; but of the proceeds of the remaining 776 bonds it is my impression there would not be enough money to pay the sums so charged against the thousand bonds. It is my impression that the thousand bonds delivered to our firm by said Coddington were by us received, subject to some of the charges and conditions that were imposed upon said Coddington by his receipt given to said Houston. I cannot answer more completely 2715 the questions of this inter'ogatory, as I do not remember.

Twenty-first. To the twenty first cross-inter'ogatory he saith: None of the bonds numbered above 2800 were sold by our firm; my impression is that the remaining 200 bonds to complete the three thousand, numbered from one to three thousand, were by our firm delivered up to the authorized agent or agents of the company, and that 224 of the thousand bonds, numbered from three thousand and one to four thousand, were surrendered to and cancelled by the State of Florida, and it is my impression that about 568 of the said bonds were tied up in England in the chancery court; that two bonds were lost; and it is my impression that the remainder passed into the hands of said Collinson under some agreement made with him by the agent of the company to advance sufficient money to pay one or more of the interest coupons of 2716, 2717 the 2800 bonds previously delivered to him by our firm at the time we were acting as agents, and under the before-mentioned contracts.

Twenty-second. To the twenty-second cross-interrogatory he saith: It is my impression that there was some litigation, but I do not remember.

Twenty-third. To the twenty-third cross-interrogatory he saith: Our firm never at any time received any money or proceeds of any kind from the sale, use or appropriations of the bonds mentioned above 2800. The money paid to the persons mentioned in the interrogatory, if paid, was paid by the firm in New York, and I do not remember.

Twenty-fourth. To the twenty-fourth cross-interrogatory he saith: When N. W. Woodfin was in London in 1870, it is my im- 2718 pression he represented a commission constituted by the State of North Carolina with reference to the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company; he claimed a large amount of the Florida State bonds or the proceeds thereof, and whatever he could do to further the negotiations of the bonds in order that he might be able to collect the large amount that he claimed was due the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, he did.

Twenty-fifth. To the twenty-fifth cross interrogatory he saith: It is my impression that the said Woodfin, on his return to this country, brought a suit against our firm to recover from our firm the proceeds of 800 of said bonds, which he claimed was sold in Europe. It is my impression the suit was subsequently discontinued by consent of both parties to the action.

Twenty-sixth. To the twenty-sixth cross-interrogatory he saith: I do not know who John Collinson was interested with, if with anybody, in Holland or elsewhere.

FRANK H. COLLINS.

Examination taken, reduced to writing, and by the witness subscribed and sworn to this 26th day of April, A. D. 1879, before

JOHN A. SHIELDS,
Commissioner.

2719 Deposition of Sidney W. Hopkins, a witness produced and sworn and examined the first day of May, A. D. 1879, at my office, in the post-office building in the city of New York, under and by virtue of a commission issued out of the circuit court of the United States of America for the fifth circuit and northern district of Florida, in a certain cause therein depending and at issue, wherein J. Fred. Schutte, Jan Prins, Adrianus Prins, and others are complainants, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company and others are defendants.

SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, of New York City, aged 42 years of age, being duly and publicly sworn, on the part of the complainants, doth depose and say as follows:

First. To the first interrogatory he saith: My name is Sidney 2720 Wright Hopkins, age' 42 years old, and I reside in the city of New York.

Second. To the second interrogatory he saith: I do not know the parties complainants, but I do know most, if not all, the parties defendants.

Third. To the third interrogatory: I was the senior member of the late firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co. It was composed of Sidney W. Hopkins, who resided in the city of New York, and Frank H. Collins and Robert J. Carpenter, the latter since deceased, who resided in the city of London, England. Its business was the negotiation of securities for railway companies and others, and the dealing in iron and steel rails, and other articles, with an office at 71 Broadway, in the city of New York, and another office at 58 Old Broad street, in the city of London, England.

2721 Fourth. To the fourth interrogatory he saith: The firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co. became the agents of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company for the purposes named in the contract or agreement entered into between said company and said firm on the 13th day of April, 1870, a copy of which contract or agreement appears in the pamphlet (page 20) annexed hereto and made a part of my answer, marked Ex. A, S. W. H., J. A. S., Com'r. Subsequent thereto, that is to say, on the 4th day of May, 1870, in pursuance of said contract or agreement, the said company executed a power of attorney to our firm, a copy of which I annex hereto and make a part of my answer, marked Exhibit B, S. W. H., J. A. S., Com'r, and on the 6th day of May, 1870, the said company, in writing, authorized the governor of the State of Florida to deliver to said firm all the bonds 2722 of the State of Florida authorized to be issued in aid of said company, a copy of which authority given to the governor I annex hereto and make a part of my answer, and the same is marked Ex. C, S. W. H., J. A. S., Com'r.

Fifth. To the fifth interrogatory he saith: The firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co. were induced to act as agents of said company to sell said bonds because they believed said bonds were a good security; that they would have no difficulty in selling them; that they were bonds of a State whom we believed held first mortgage bonds of the said company for an amount equal to the amount issued by the State of Florida in exchange therefor; and that the purchasers of said bonds would really hold a double security, namely, the State of Florida, and also the railroad itself, which we were informed was then built and in operation from Jacksonville to Quincy, with branches at Monticello and Talla-2723 hassee, two hundred and fifty miles in length; said bonds bore a high rate of interest, namely, (8) eight per cent. per annum payable in gold, and it was represented to our firm by the president of said company that the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company owned the line of railroad of I have just named, and that under the act of the legislature of the State of Florida the said company were obliged to deliver to the said State first mortgage bonds of the said railroad company to the extent of $16,000 per mile before the authorities of the State could or would deliver a like amount of its State bonds as security for the bonds of the State, so to be issued to said company.

Sixth. To the sixth interrogatory he saith: Such representations were made to our firm by the president of said company, General Mil-2724 ton S. Littlefield. He produced and delivered to our firm properly verified resolutions of the board of directors, and I believe also of the stockholders of said company, authorizing him to act for and represent said company in dealing with said bonds. I cannot, at the moment, find copies of said resolutions, and therefore cannot annex the same to my answer at this time; but I have them somewhere, and will endeavor to find and produce them if required before the final hearing in this action.

Seventh. To the seventh interrogatory he saith: It was represented to our firm at and before their appointment as agents of said company by its president, that there were no prior liens upon any part of said line of railroad from Jacksonville to Quincy, with the branches at Monticello and Tallahassee. That each of said bonds had on its back 2725 an endorsement signed by the then governor of Florida, setting forth that there had been deposited by said company with the State of Florida first-mortgage bonds of said company, at the extent of 16,000 dollars per mile of completed road. That the locality and line of railroad from Jacksonville westward consisted of two hundred and fifty miles; that from the then existing terminus at Quincy the said line of railroad was to be built to the city of Mobile, in the State of Alabama, and that the bonds issued to the said company by said State were to be sold, and a sufficient amount of the proceeds thereof were to be used in the completion of the line of railroad of said company to said city of Mobile. An authenticated copy of the act of the legislature authorizing the issue of said bonds, a map of the line of said railroad already constructed and proposed to be constructed, and statements of the then governor of the State of Florida and of the president and other 2726 officers of said company, that said line of railroad was unencumbered by any prior lien, were delivered to our firm by the president of said company, at or before the appointment of our firm as agents of said company, all of which statements and representations were relied upon and believed by our firm, and were repeated in Europe. I personally believed that the enterprise was a good and sound one, and would commend itself to the investing public. The most perfect reliance was placed on the representations made to our firm that the line of railroad was two hundred & fifty miles in length, extending from Jacksonville to Quincy, with branches at Monticello and Tallahassee, and that no part of said railroad was encumbered by any prior lien.

That first-mortgage bonds had been executed upon said line of 2727 railroad, and delivered in accordance with the provisions of the several acts of the legislature of the State of Florida to the proper officers of said State as security for the payment of said bonds of the State of Florida, and for a like amount, in order to aid in completing said line of railroad to the city of Mobile, thus perfecting, as I then believed, a great public work in the State of Florida, as well as creating a leading trunk line of railroad in the South, which would be a valuable property, abundantly able to pay the interest on its bonds.

Eighth. To the eighth interrogatory he saith: Our firm received in all 4,000 of the bonds of the State of Florida, of the denomination of 1,000 dollars each, bearing interest at the rate of eight per ct. per 2728 annum, maturing, and payable thirty years from their date, and issued under an act of the legislature of said State, and the several acts supplemental thereto, or amendatory thereof, in aid of said company, three thousand of which bonds were delivered to our firm by the then governor of the State, or by the agent or agents of said company, and one thousand of which bonds were delivered to our firm by Thomas B. Coddington. A copy of said bonds is hereto annexed and made a part of my answer; and the same is marked Ex. D, S, W. H., J. A. S., com'r.

Ninth. To the ninth interrogatory he saith: Our firm sold and delivered 2,800 of said bonds direct to John Collinson, of London, England, under and in accordance with certain contracts, six in number, dated respectively Nov. 14 & Dec. 28, 1870, and Mar. 23rd, May 26, & June 14, 1871, entered into between said Collinson and our firm. A copy 2729 of each of which contracts are annexed hereto and made a part of my answer, and the same are marked respectively Ex. E, F, G, H, J, K, S. W. H., J. A. S., com'r. That in pursuance of said contracts, our firm delivered said bonds to said Collinson at various periods, commencing Nov. 19, 1870, and ending July 21st, 1871. The 2,800 bonds so sold and delivered to said Collinson were the only bonds sold by our firm, though we had contracted to sell and deliver the entire issue of said bonds to said Collinson.

Tenth. To the tenth interrogatory he saith: Our firm repeated the representations made to us by said company and by the then governor of the State of Florida, among which were the representation that the buyers of said bonds would have a double security, viz, the State 2730 of Florida and two hundred and fifty miles of completed railroad that the State held first mortgage bonds upon, completed railroad at the rate of 16,000 doll's per mile, as further security for the holders of said bonds of the State of Florida. That the eastern terminus of said railroad was at Jacksonville, and that its western terminus was at Quincy, and that the bonds issued by said State were for the purpose of providing means to complete said line of railroad through to the city of Mobile in the State of Alabama, all of which representations, as I have said before, were repeatedly made to our firm by the president of said company, and were by our firm repeated to the said Collinson, to whom we sold said bonds; our firm repeated said statements believing them at the time to be true, and the said Collinson evidently accepted them as correct when he first agreed to purchase 2731 said bonds about the last part of Dec., 1870. Just as our firm had commenced to deliver a few of said bonds to said Collinson a question was raised by him as to the legality or constitutionality of the issue of said bonds, in consequence of which our firm delivered no more of said bonds till he ascertained whether there was any foundation for such question. I went at once to Tallahassee, in the State of Florida, and called the attention of said company, as well as of the then governor of said State, to the subject, and the then governor at once called upon the justices of the supreme court of the State, as he had a right to do under the constitution of the State, for their construction of the several acts of the legislature authorizing the issue of said bonds, and he subsequently obtained their seperate opinions as to the constitutionality or legality of the same; each of the justices composing said 2732 supreme court wrote and delivered to the governor an opinion, in which it was held that the legislature of the State had the right to authorize the issue of State bonds for the purposes named in the several acts referred to. The substance of the opinions of the judges was cabled to our firm in London on or about the 16th of February, 1871, and the then governor, clerk of the supreme court, and attorney-general each and all cabled the same purport to our firm in London on the same date, and our firm in London notified said Collinson of said opinions under the date of February, 1871, by letter, a copy of which and a copy of which cabled dispatches is hereto annexed and made a part of my answer, and the same is marked Ex. L, S. W. H., J. A. S., com'r. Our firm in London also received a certified copy of the opinions of 2733 each of the justices of said court, which cabled despatches and certified copies were shown to and, I believe, a copy of each were delivered to said Collinson immediately after their receipt in London, whereupon the said Collinson appeared to be perfectly satisfied as to the validity and constitutionality of said bonds, and at once recommenced to take more of said bonds, and continued to take said bonds until 2,800 in all had been taken and paid for by him.

Eleventh. To the eleventh inter'ogatory he saith: At the time our firm agreed to accept and did accept the agency from said company to sell said bonds, we were informed and believed that the entire line of railroad from Jacksonville to Quincy, with the branches at Monticello and Tallahassee, belonged to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

2734 Twelfth. To the twelfth inter'ogatory he saith: Had it been represented to our firm at the time of our appointment as agents to sell said bonds that the said railroad commenced at Lake City east and terminated west at Quincy, we certainly would not have attempted the negotiation or accepted the appointment as agents to sell the said bonds. As a great through trunk line, the railroad had, in our judgment, a value compared with which a short and unimportant line would not for a moment be considered by us.

The examination is here adjourned by the commissioner till May the 2d, 1879, at 9 o'cl'k a. m.

Friday, May 2nd, 1879, the witness Sidney W. Hopkins appearing, his examination is resumed.

Thirteenth. To the thirteenth inter'ogatory: Our firm advanced 2735 to said company a large amount in cash and acceptances before we sold any of said bonds; we thought so highly of them at the time as an investment security that we did not hesitate to make such advances, predicated solely upon our being able to sell them and reimburse ourselves for the advances so made from the proceeds thereof when realized. We also agreed to supply the company with iron rails and other materials, and I think we made large contracts therefor before selling any of said bonds. We certainly would not have made any advances to or incurred any liability whatever on account of said company had we ever for a moment suspected that said company did not own a line of completed railroad from Jacksonville westward, two hundred & fifty miles in length, as I have already stated was represented to us.

2736 Fourteenth. To the fourteenth inter'ogatory he saith: Our firm sold the 2,800 of said bonds directly to the said Collinson, and received payment for them from him at the time of each delivery of said bonds. If he had any associates pecuniarily interested with him in said purchase we did not then nor do we now know who such associates were. When he first agreed to take said bonds from us he did so with the avowed intention of reselling them, evidently believing them at the time to be such as they were represented by the State authorities and said company. I am aware that said Collinson either resold said bonds in Holland or arranged to have them put upon the market there at about the time he purchased them from our firm, and I have not a doubt but that he repeated to others the representations, documentary and 2737 otherwise. which we received from the said company and repeated to him. He was in the habit of asking for data from time to time. which he said he required for transmission to his friends in Holland.

Fifteenth. To the fifteenth inter'ogatory he saith: Our firm had no pecuniary interest whatever in the resale or negotiation of said bonds by said Collinson, but frequently from time to time during the period of his taking said bonds from our firm answered many questions and furnished a great deal of data, official and otherwise, such as we could obtain from said company and from officials in the State of Florida, which information and data he informed us he wanted for the purpose of sending to Holland, where said bonds were being placed on the market.
2738 Our firm gave him all the information we could get from said company under its corporate seal, and also from the State of Florida, for the purpose of aiding him in placing said bonds on the Holland market. These representations, we understand, he always transmitted to Holland to the parties there who had charge of marketing of said bonds.

Sixteenth. To the sixteenth inter'ogatory he saith: The governor of the State of Florida had appointed our firm to act as agents for the purpose of paying the interest on said bonds, a copy of which appointment I annex hereto and make a part of my answer, and the same is marked Exhibit M, S. W. H., J. A. S., com'r. He gave our firm various other documents and letters confirmatory to my mind of the validity of said bonds, all of which or a copy of which I believe we gave to the said Collinson, and which I suppose he transmitted to the parties 2739 in Holland who had charge of the marketing of said bonds. Such documents had evidently the effect of convincing the said Collinson, as they had already convinced our firm, of the validity of said bonds and of the high character and soundness of them as a security.

Seventeenth. To the seventeenth inter'ogatory he saith: Our firm paid out large sums from the monies we received from said Collinson in payment for said bonds under the orders and directions of the president of said company to various parties at various periods, the details of which payments are clearly set forth in the account rendered by our firm to said company, and which appears on pages 38, 39, 40, & 41 of the pamphlet annexed hereto and made a part of my answer, and marked Exhibit A.

2740 Eighteenth. To the eighteenth inter'ogatory he saith: Our firm was notified in the summer of 1870 by N. W. Woodfin that an agreement had been entered into between said company and said N. W. Woodfin, W. W. Rollins, and others, representing the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, Geo. W. Swepson, and others, under date of April, 1870, at the city of Washington, D. C., in respect to certain of the said bonds of the State of Florida. Our firm was again notified in writing on the 16 day of November, 1870, by the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company of another agreement entered into on the 10th day of the same month, in London, England, between said company and said Woodfin, representing said North Carolina Railroad Company, a copy of which letters will be seen on pages 7 & 8 of the pamphlet annexed hereto and made a part of my answer, and marked Ex. A.

2741 Nineteenth. To the nineteenth inter'ogatory he saith: Said Littlefield was in London in the fall and winter of 1870–'71; he was there in relation to the negotiation of the said bonds, and assisted our firm there so far as he was able so to do in giving information in making representations with respect to said company and said bonds, the line of the railroad, &c. He never denied to our firm while there the previous information and representations made to us by said company and by said authorities of the State of Florida, nor did he deny that the bonds were issued upon a completed line of railroad two hundred & fifty miles in length owned by said company from Jacksonville to Quincy, with branches at Monticello and Tallahassee, and that the security for the payment of the interest or the principal of said bonds was the State of Florida and the two hundred & fifty miles of the said railroad.

2742 Twentieth. To the twentieth inter'ogatory he saith: Our firm paid money by order and direction of said company to Edward Houston, M. D. Papy, Jos. D. Westcott, John P. Sanderson, and others. I never had any conversation with either of those persons as to the grounds upon which they based their respective claims, nor did I know then, nor do I know now, what the basis of any of these claims was. We made all such payments either out of our own pockets as advances or out of the proceeds realized by the sale of the 2,800 bonds.

Twenty one. To the twenty-first inter'ogatory he saith: I knew Edward M. L'Engle. I understood he was the law partner of the said Sanderson, practicing under the firm-name of Sanderson and L'Engle, and I supposed, although I did not know, that the payments to 2743 Sanderson were made for legal services. L'Engle may have visited the office of our firm in New York, but I do not remember that he took part in any such negotiations as are referred to in the 21st direct inter'ogatory.

Twenty-second. To the twenty-second inter'ogatory he saith: N. W. Woodfin was in London in the fall and winter of 1870–'71. He represented himself to our firm as acting for and representing the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company. He claimed to be entitled to a large amount of said bonds or the proceeds to be derived from the sale thereof because of the agreements then existing between himself and associates and said company and said Littlefield, of which I have before spoken. Our firm had been directed by the president of said company to hold 800 of said bonds, or the proceeds thereof, subject to the order and control of said Woodfin. We 2744 never delivered any of the 800 bonds to him, or the proceeds, though we paid him ten thousand pounds sterling on account of the anticipated sale of them, which, however, was never made.

Twenty-third. To the twenty-third inter'ogatory he saith: The said Woodfin in his official character authorized our firm in writing to sell said 800 bonds and account to him for the proceeds thereof, and he personally did all in his power to aid our firm in London in effecting the sale of said bonds.

Twenty-fourth. To the twenty-fourth interrogatory he saith: The said Woodfin never to my knowledge denied the title of said company to a line of railroad westward from Jacksonville to Quincy, or any part of it. I never heard him set up any direct claim of the Western Divis-2745 ion of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company to the ownership of any part of the said line of railroad. I never heard the said Woodfin, or any other officer or person connected with the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company deny the validity of said bonds or deny that they were a lien upon the entire line of railroad from Jacksonville westward to Quincy, including the branches before mentioned. On the contrary, as I have before stated, the said Woodfin assisted our firm, so far as he could, in our efforts to effect a sale of said bonds upon the representations I have previously stated, that said bonds were doubly secured, being an obligation of the State of Florida, and as being secured also by a first mortgage on the entire line of railroad from Jacksonville westward to Quincy, including the branches before mentioned. The said Woodfin did not deny to 2746 our firm the representations and statements contained in the endorsement on the said bonds over the signature of the governor of the State of Florida, before referred to. In all the various litigations in the cities of London, New York, and elsewhere, after our firm had sold and delivered the 2,800 bonds, between our firm and the said company, the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company and others, which lasted for a long time, I am not aware that the said North Carolina Railroad Company ever denied the ownership of the entire line of railway westward from Jacksonville to Quincy, including the branches, or that the said bonds were a lien on all of said line of railroad, nor am I aware that the Florida Central Railway Company ever intervened or set up any claim or filed any protest in any of the suits just referred to against the claim to the entire line of said railroad by said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

2747 Final. To the final inter'ogatory he saith: I cannot think of anything more.

To the cross-inter'ogatories propounded by the Florida Central Railroad Company the witness, Sidney W. Hopkins, answering, says:

First. To the first cross-inter'ogatory he saith: Our firm received in all, directly and indirectly, from the governor of the State of Florida four thousand of the bonds of said State, numbered from one to four thousand, inclusive. I cannot say definitely at what periods they were received, but I know that the whole 4,000 were received between the 6th day of May, 1870, and the 18th day of April, 1871.

Second. To the second cross-inter'ogatory he saith: Our firm sold 2748 2,800 of said bonds, and delivered the same to John Collinson, of London, England, at various periods between Nov. 19, 1870, and July 21st, 1871, at the price of one hundred and thirty-eight pounds one shilling and ten pence sterling for each bond, and payment was made direct to our firm in London by the purchaser.

Third. To the third cross-inter'ogatory he saith: I was at the time informed by the governor of the State of Florida that such a despatch as is referred to in this inter'ogatory was sent to Amsterdam by him, and he told me at the same time that said despatch was sent in reply to the despatch referred to in this inter'ogatory, which he said he had received from one Boisevain, of Amsterdam, Holland. I believe the said Boisevain was one of the parties in Amsterdam connected with the placing of the said bonds on the market there. I think he or his partner, or both, were members of the Bourse, in Holland. I cannot say 2749 what publicity was given to the telegraphic correspondence, or whether it was made known to any of the members, or directors, or other officers of the Bourse or Stock Exchange of Amsterdam. Some, but I cannot say how many, of said bonds had been sold and delivered by our firm before said correspondence by telegraph took place.

Fourth. To the fourth cross-inter'ogatory he saith: I cannot state from memory the date or amount of each payment to the parties mentioned in my answer to the 20th direct interrogatory, but I refer to pages 38, 39, 40, & 41 of the pamphlet annexed hereto and made a part of my answer, marked Exhibit A, for the details of such payments. Those payments were made by authority given in writing by the president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

Fifth. To the fifth cross-inter'ogatory he saith: I remember the 2750 fact that such a communication as is referred to in this inter'ogatory, purporting to have been written and mailed by E. M. L'Engle, at Jacksonville, Florida, to Hoji and Boissevain, bankers, of Amsterdam, Holland, or a copy of such a communication, was delivered to our firm in London, either by the said Collinson or by some one who had received the same from the said Collinson, and the paper so received by our firm in London, or a copy thereof, was mailed to and received by our firm in the city of New York. I was informed at the time that said communication was received by the person or persons to whom it was addressed, and I think the parties were members of the bourse in Holland. I know that they were bankers doing business in Amsterdam and that they were connected with the placing of said bonds on the market in Holland. They were the same parties or were connected with the same parties whose names appeared to the cable despatch received by the governor, and to whom the governor 2751 telegraphed in reply thereto. I cannot state what publicity was given to the said communication, or whether it was or was not made known to any one or more of the officers, directors of the bourse or stock exchange, in Amsterdam or elsewhere. I had already stated that it was known to the parties, or some of them, who were engaged in placing the said bonds on the market in Holland. It was known to John Collinson, because, as I have said, the communication came to our firm in London from him or from his office. It is quite impossible for me at this remote day to fix the period when the said communication was known in Amsterdam, but I should think it must have been known there about the last of February or beginning of March. I do not know what action was taken thereupon by the parties in Holland.

Sixth. To the sixth cross-inter'ogatory he saith: I remember 2752 to have seen such a communication as is referred to in this inter'ogatory, but I cannot recal' anything further than that I did see and read such a communication. I am utterly unable to make complete answers to the questions propounded in this inter'ogatory. The sale of the said bonds had been suspended because of the litigation in which they were involved. That was commenced about the period when the said communication was first seen by me, and these suits just commenced in New York, and finally continued in London, so absorbed my time and thought at that time that I cannot recal' now any of the circumstances connected with the receipt of said communication.

Seventh. To the seventh cross-interrogatory he saith: I do not remember anything more about the impeachment or attempted impeachment of Harrison Reed, the then governor of the State, than 2753 such a thing was impending at one time in the State of Florida, but I can not recal' any circumstances connected therewith that have left any impression behind.

Eighth. To the eighth cross-inter'ogatory he saith: I am utterly unable to answer any part of this inter'ogatory.

To the cross-inter'ogatories propounded by the trustees of the internal improvement fund of Florida, the witness, Sidney W. Hopkins, answering, says:

Fifth. To the fifth cross-inter'ogatory he saith: From memory of the circumstances therein testified to.

First. To the first additional cross-inter'ogatory he saith: In answer to this inter'ogatory I respectfully refer to pages 38, 39, 40, and 41, of the pamphlet annexed to my answer to the direct inter'ogatory, 2754 marked Exhibit A, which I make as this my answer to the first additional cross-inter'ogatory of the trustees of the internal improvement fund of the State of Florida.

To the cross-inter'ogatories propounded by Jos. B. Stewart, esq., solicitor for the defendant, the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, the witness, answering, says:

First. To the first cross inter'ogatory he saith: Our firm were the agents of the State of Florida as well as of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, in the years 1870 and 1871; such agency commenced on the 6th of May, 1870, on which day we were appointed by the governor as such agents, but only for the purpose of paying the interest on the bonds issued by the State of Florida to said railroad company, as will appear by reference to a copy of the document con- 2755 ferring said appointment annexed hereto and made a part of my answer and marked Exhibit M.

Second. To the second cross-interrogatory he saith: We were employed by the said railroad company to sell all the bonds of the State of Florida issued and to be issued by the said State to the said railroad company. The date of such employment was on the 13th day of April, 1870; and was in writing, a copy of said authority will be found on page 20 of the pamphlet annexed hereto and made a part of my answer, marked Exhibit A.

Third. To the third cross-inter'ogatory he saith: We received from the then governor of the State of Florida or from the said railroad company or from the agent or agents of the said railroad company 2,960 of said bonds, and subsequently 40 more of said bonds from a party 2756 to whom the said railroad company had caused the same to be delivered, and later still one thousand of said bonds from Thos. B. Coddington, esq., making in all 4,000 of said bonds which we received in pursuance of the several contracts entered into between our firm and the said railroad company on the 13th day of April and 14th day of November, 1870, and 30th day of March, 1871, a copy of all of which contracts will be found from pages 20 to 28 of the pamphlet annexed hereto and made a part of my answer, and marked Exhibit A. By the provisions of these several contracts or agreements we agreed to receive and negotiate all of the bonds issued and to be issued by the State of Florida to said railroad company. We sold only 2,800 in all of said bonds.

Fourth. To the fourth cross-inter'ogatory he saith: Any maps 2757 or copies of laws that were shown us were not, I think, in any respect different from the maps to be obtained by any one or to any other laws than such as could be found in the statute books of the State of Florida by any person who chose to examine.

Fifth. To the fifth cross-inter'ogatory he saith: We disposed of 2,800 of said Florida State bonds to John Collinson, of London, England. We sold none to any other person in Amsterdam, Rotterdam, or in any other city in the Netherlands or elsewhere.

Sixth. To the sixth cross inter'ogatory he saith: Before we sold any of said bonds, I remember that they were by some parties denounced as being fraudulent and illegal in their issue, and I remember that some party alleged that the statute under which they were issued was 2758 unconstitutional and void, and that said bonds would never be paid by the people of Florida, and I remember that these charges of illegality were published, and the publications copied in some public journals and newspapers in the United States, but I do not remember whether any such charges or allegations were published at the time in newspapers in England or Holland. I never believed in the truthfulness of any of the damaging statements made and circulated about the validity of the issue of the bonds, because I had personally examined all the laws under which they had been issued, and I came to the conclusion at the time that said bonds were properly and legally issued under a constitutional enactment, and that therefore they were good and valid securities.

Seventh. To the seventh cross-inter'ogatory he saith: In con- 2759 sequence of the charges of illegality and fraud in the issue of said bonds being so circulated, we were somewhat embarrassed in our efforts to negotiate them, and we finally agreed between our firm and M. S. Littlefield, who was at the time in London, and who was the president and agent authorized to represent the said railroad company in its dealings with our firm and said bonds, that we should sell the whole issue of 4,000 of said bonds to the said Collinson at one hundred and thirty-eight pounds one shilling and ten pence for each bond, and that we should account to the said railroad company for them when we received payment therefor at the price of one hundred pounds for each of said bonds, less five per cent., and that said difference of thirty-eight pounds one shilling and ten pence on each of said bonds should belong to and be the property of our firm, to indemnify us for such ex- 2760 traordinary expenses of said negotiation as had already been incurred, and as might be found necessary thereafter to incur, in consequence of the attacks that had been and might continue to be made on said issue of bonds. In pursuance of said agreement between said Littlefield and our firm, a letter was addressed to our firm by said Littlefield, on the 14th of November, 1870, and a letter dated November 28th, 1870, was written by our firm in London, in reply thereto.

Eighth. To the eighth cross-inter'ogatory he saith: After making said agreement with said Littlefield, we entered into a contract with John Collinson of London, and in pursuance thereof we sold, transferred and delivered over to him, and to no other party or parties, 2,800 in all of said bonds at the price of one hundred and thirty-eight pounds one shilling and ten pence per bond. Said contract or agreement so 2761 entered into by our firm with said Collinson was before execution shown to said Littlefield by Mr. Collins, the chief resident partner of our firm in London, and was by the said Littlefield approved, and authority was given by him to us to execute the same, and carry it out, with the understanding, as I have before stated, that we should account to the said company at the price of one hundred pounds for each bond less five per cent., the difference to used and appropriated as before agreed on.

Ninth. To the ninth cross-interrogatory he saith: We were not able to make any positive sale of the whole issue of said bonds at one time to said Collinson, but an agreement was entered into between John Collinson and our firm on the 14th day of Nov., 1870, a copy of which is annexed hereto and made a part of my answer, marked Exhibit 2762 E, which, it will be seen, was in the form of options for the whole 4,000 of said bonds, conditioned upon his taking and paying for certain amount from time to time at the price agreed on. We had no dealing with any syndicate. We knew only the said Collinson in all our dealings with him. Said bonds were undoubtedly held in the mean time at the risk of the said railroad company; said options extended through a period of about one year. Copies of all the agreements or contracts with said Collinson are annexed hereto and made a part of my answer, marked Exhibit E, F, G, H, J, & K.

Tenth. To the tenth cross-interrogatory he saith: The said Collinson, or some one interested in the negotiation or sale of said bonds in Holland, sought and obtained the opinion of eminent counsel in England, as to the question of the validity or constitutionality of said 2763 bonds, and I remember that J. P. Benjamin, Queen's counsel, of London, England, gave said Collinson an adverse opinion as to their validity; I know that after said Benjamin's opinion was given, said Collinson insisted upon and obtained from our firm a modified contract or agreement, which was executed on the 28th Dec'r, 1870, and of which a correct copy is annexed to the cross-interrogatories and marked Appendix A, and another copy is annexed hereto and made a part of my answer, marked Exhibit F.

Eleventh. To the eleventh cross-interrogatory he saith: It was a condition of said modified agreement, dated Dec'r 28, 1870, that our firm should procure from the supreme court of Florida a decision respecting the validity and constitutionality of the issue of said bonds and 2764 in pursuance of that condition, Charles H. Collins, the father of my partner, Frank H. Collins, was sent from London to America to consult with me on the subject; shortly after his arrival in New York, I went to Florida to procure a decision of the supreme court of the State, on the question thus raised. The then governor, at my request, subsequently called for and obtained from each of the judges of the supreme court an opinion in writing on the question of the validity or constitutionality of the several acts under which said four thousand of said bonds were issued. The opinions thus obtained, I was informed were regarded by the said Collinson as satisfactorily settling in the affirmative the question that had been raised respecting the validity and constitutionality of the whole issue of said bonds. I know that the said Collinson continued thereafter to take and pay for the 2765 bonds under his contracts or agreements with our firm.

Twelfth. To the twelfth cross-interrogatory he saith: It was subsequently arranged between the said Collinson and our firm, by an agreement entered into on the 23rd day of March, 1871, between our firm and said Collinson, a copy of which is annexed hereto and made a part of my answer, and marked Exhibit G, that out of the proceeds to result from the sale of said bonds an amount should be set aside and appropriated sufficient to pay the three interest coupons to mature on the 1st of July, 1871, and first of January and 1st July, 1872, respectively. The whole amount so set apart and applied, amounted to about three hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Thirteenth. To the thirteenth cross-interrogatory he saith: 2766 The first delivery of said bonds to said Collinson was made in London on the 19th of Nov., 1870, and the last delivery on the 21st day of July, 1871. No bonds over and above those numbered were delivered by our firm to said Collinson, under any of the beforementioned agreements. A copy of the accounts of such transfers and deliveries of said bonds to said Collinson is annexed hereto and made part of my answer, and marked Exhibit N, S. W. H., J. A. S., com'r.

Fourteenth. To the fourteenth cross-inter'ogatory he saith: All the information, statements, and publications about the fraudulent, illegal, or unconstitutional character of said bonds were as accessible to everybody as they were to our firm. We had in our possession no information that I am aware of that was not obtainable by anybody and everybody. I cannot now produce any of the published statements referring to the illegality of said bonds.

2767 Fifteenth. To the fifteenth cross-inter'ogatory he saith: I know that said bonds were offered in New York to other parties before they were offered to us. I know that they were also offered in London and that all attempts to negotiate them by our firm failed until we had come to the agreement before referred to with M. S. Littlefield, wherein we agreed to make a contract with John Collinson for the sale of the whole 4,000 bonds at one price, and to account to the said railroad company at another price; after the contract between our firm and Collinson was made the bonds were offerd to the public in Holland by means of a printed prospectus, but whether the copy annexed to the cross-inter'ogatories, and marked Appendix B, is or is not correct I am unable to say. I cannot say whether or not there was any other printed prospectus used in putting the bonds on the market.

2768 Sixteenth. To the sixteenth cross-inter'ogatory he saith: The prospectus annexed to the cross-inter'ogatories, and marked Appendix B, was printed in London, and I believe the persons named in the sixteenth cross-inter'ogatory were in some way connected with said Collinson in publishing a prospectus and placing said bonds on the market in Holland.

Seventeenth. To the seventeenth cross-inter'ogatory he saith: The governor of the State of Florida aided in the sale of said bonds by procuring the opinions of the judges of the supreme court, which, being regarded as favorable to their validity, enabled those engaged in the negotiation of said bonds to effectually meet in a satisfactory manner all the questions respecting their validity that had theretofore tended to interfere with their negotiation and sale.

2769 Eighteenth. To the eighteenth cross-inter'ogatory he saith: Some time during the month of January, 1871, one thousand bonds, numbered from 3001 to 4000, inclusive, were taken to England and subsequently delivered to our firm by Thomas B. Coddington, esq., as agent or trustee for various parties, among whom were the State of Florida, Edward Houston, and the said railroad company, from whom he had instructions respecting the disposition of the proceeds to arise from the sale thereof.

Nineteenth. To the nineteenth cross-interrogatory he saith: The 1,000 bonds taken to London by said Coddington were charged with the payments and to the persons named in this interrogatory from the proceeds of the sale thereof. The whole of the 1,000 bonds were, I believe, received by the said Coddington from the governor of the State of Florida, and I know he gave a receipt to said Houston for them, a copy of which, annexed to the cross-interrogatories, and marked Appendix C, is, I believe, correct.

2770 Twentieth. To the twentieth cross-inter'ogatory he saith: I remember that 224 out of the 1,000 bonds numbered from 3,001 to 4,000, inclusive, taken by said Collinson to England, were subsequently surrendered to the authorities of the State of Florida and cancelled. Out of the proceeds of the remaining 776 bonds, if sold at the price agreed on, there would not have been enough money to pay the sums charged against the 1,000 bond and to which they were dedicated. I know that the 1,000 bonds delivered to us by the said Coddington were received by our firm at the time subject to the same charges and conditions that were imposed upon said Coddington by his receipt given to the said Houston.

Twenty-first. To the twenty-first cross-inter'ogatory he saith: None of the bonds numbered above 2,800 were sold by our firm. Of the 2771 remaining 200 bonds to complete the 3,000, numbered from one to three thousand inclusive, two were lost, ten were surrendered to the company, and one hundred and eighty eight were by our firm delivered up to the authorized agent of the company in the city of London under an agreement for a final settlement between our firm and said company, a verified copy of which I annex hereto, and make a copy of my answer, marked Exhibit O, S. W. H., J. A. S., com'r. Of the 1,000 bonds numbered from 3,001 to 4,000, inclusive, 224 were cancelled by the State of Florida, 568 were tied up in England in the chancery court, and the remaining two hundred and eight were delivered to said Collinson in August, 1872, under an arrangement made with him to pay one or more of the interest coupons of a certain number of said bonds or of the 2,800 bonds previously delivered to him by our firm.

Twenty-second. To the twenty-second cross inter'ogatory he saith: I remember that at the time the 1,000 bonds numbered from 2772 3,001 to 4,000 were taken from Florida by said Coddington they were the subject of some kind of suit in one of the courts of the State, and they have ever since been the subject of litigation either in London, New York, or Florida.

Twenty-third. To the twenty-third cross-inter'ogatory he saith: Our firm never at any time received any money or proceeds of any kind from the sale, use, or appropriation of any of the bonds numbered above 2,800. The money we paid to Houston, Papy, and others, as provided in the receipt of said Coddington before referred to to be paid, was paid either out of the proceeds of the 2,800 bonds delivered by us to said Collinson or was advanced by our firm. I do not now remember which, but I do remember that no part was paid out of the proceeds realized from the sale of any of the 1,000 bonds numbered from 3,001 to 4,000, because we had not then nor have we since sold any of said 1,000 bonds.

2773 Twenty-fourth. To the twenty-fourth cross-inter'ogatory, he saith: When N. W. Woodfin was in London in 1870 he was there as the representative of a commission, of which he was a member, constituted by the legislature of the State of North Carolina, to seek the recovery of monies claimed to belong to, or to be due to, the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, which he claimed had been misapplied by some of its agents or officers. It was apparent that he devoted his attention pretty assiduously to the task of getting of what he claimed was due to the company he represented; and whatever he could do he did do to further the negotiation of the bonds, in order, as he said, that he might be able to collect from the proceeds whatever he could get on account of the debt which he claimed was due to the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company.

Twenty-fifth. To the twenty-fifth cross-inter'ogatory, he saith:
2774 The said Woodfin, on his return to this country, brought a suit against our firm in the supreme court of the first judicial district of the State of New York to recover from our firm the proceeds of 800 of said bonds, which he alleged we had sold in Europe, and the proceeds of which he claimed to be the property of the company he represented. The suit was subsequently discontinued by consent of both parties to the action. I annex hereto a pamphlet containing the record of said suit, which I make a part of my answer, and the same is marked Ex. P, S. W. H., J. A. S., com'r. I also annex hereto and make a part of my answer a pamphlet containing a record of the counter suit or bill in equity filed by the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company against the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, marked Exhibit 'Q,' S. W. H., J. A. S., com'r.

Twenty-sixth. To the twenty-sixth cross-inter'ogatory, he saith: 2775 I do not know whether the said Collinson was or was not interested with the parties in Holland, who were engaged in placing said bonds on the market there. I know nothing whatever of said Collinson's private or business arrangements with those parties or with any other parties in connection with the negotiating or marketing of the said bonds in Holland or elsewhere.

SIDNEY W. HOPKINS.

Examination taken, reduced to writing, and by the witness subscribed and sworn to, this 2nd day of May, 1879, before

JOHN A. SHIELDS,
Commissioner.

2776 EXHIBIT S. W. H. a.

Summons, complaints, affidavits, and orders to show cause.

Supreme court county of Kings.

against
THE JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE Railroad Company, Aaron Barnett, Calvin Littlefield, and John B. Clark.

Sewell and Pierce plaintiffs' attorneys, 170 Broadway, New York.

At the execution of a commission for the examination of witnesses, wherein J. Fred Schutte, Jan Prins, Adrianus Prins, and others are complainants, and The Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company and others are defendants, this paper writing was produced and shown to Sidney W. Hopkins, and by him deposed unto at the time of his examination before

JOHN A. SHIELDS,
Commissioner.

SIDNEY W. HOPKINS.

2777 Summons.

Supreme court.

SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, FRANK H. COLLINS. and Robert J. Carpenter, plaintiffs,
against
THE JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE Railroad Company, Aaron Barnett,, Calvin Littlefield, and John B. Clark.

To the defendants above named:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint in this action, a copy of which is herewith served upon you, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint on the subscribers at their office No. 178 Broadway, New York, within twenty days after the service hereof on you, exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said complaint, the plaintiffs herein will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

SEWELL & PIERCE,
Plaintiff's Attorney.

NEW YORK, September 16th, 1871.

2778 Supreme court.

SIDNEY W. HOPKINS, FRANK H. COLLINS, AND Robert J. Carpenter
against
THE JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE Railroad Company, Aaron Barnett, Calvin Littlefield, and John B. Clark.

Place of trial, Kings County.

The plaintiffs, by Sewell & Pierce, their attorneys, complain of the defendants, and say:

First. The said plaintiffs are, and at the several times hereinafter mentioned were, copartners, doing business in the city of New York, and having an office in London under the name and firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co.

Second. The said defendants The Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company are, and were at the several times hereinafter mentioned, a corporation created by and under the laws of the State of Florida, and the said defendants Barnett, Littlefield and Clark claim to be, and the plaintiffs believe that they are, directors of the said railroad, and they claim that they have a right to act for the said railroad and to represent it in the city of New York.

2779 Third. Said railroad has its eastern terminus at Lake City and is completed to a point beyond Quincey, in the State of Florida, and is by its charter designed to extend westward to the State line between Florida and the State of Alabama. That under certain laws of the State of Florida the said railroad was and is entitled to receive from the said State the bonds of the State for $16,000 for each mile of completed road. That the said State under and by virtue of the said laws issued $4,000,000 of said bonds to the said railroad company, one million of which afterwards came into the possession of one Edward Houston, who claimed to have liens thereupon, which will be more particularly hereinafter mentioned.

Fourth. That, in anticipation of the issuing of the said four millions of bonds and other bonds amounting to three millions of dollars more, these plaintiffs entered into a contract in writing with the said railroad company, which bears date the 13th day of April, 1870; that annexed hereto is a copy of said contract, marked Schedule A, which forms part of this complaint.

Fifth. That some time after said contract was made the plaintiffs received 2,960 of said bonds of $1,000 each; that forty of said bonds had then been delivered by the said railroad company to another party
2780 upon some arrangement with him not material to this case, as plaintiffs have been informed and believe; and that afterwards

150 of said bonds were by the direction of the said company delivered to E. E. Burras.

Sixth. That plaintiffs opened negotiations for the sale of said bonds in Europe, and were proceeding satisfactorily therewith when the war between France and Prussia broke out, which put an end to such negotiations; that such negotiations involved the expenditure of large sums of money by these plaintiffs, and when it was found impossible to resume such negotiations some months later it was not possible to sell said bonds at a price which would net the sum at which the plaintiffs were limited by the said contract marked Schedule A; that at that time the president of the said road was in Europe and knew the facts stated, and knew that further negotiations would be attended with a large and extraordinary outlay on the part of the plaintiffs, and it was then proposed to him that the plaintiffs should themselves pay such extraordinary expenses of said negotiations and that when they sold the bonds they should account therefor to the said railroad company for one hundred pounds for each bond, and that such price as they should receive from the buyer of said bonds beyond said £100 should be 2781 their own to indemnify them against such expenses of said negotiation, and that the commission of the said plaintiffs should be paid to them out of the said £100 per bond, and that said president agreed thereto. That in order to carry out that agreement or understanding a new contract was entered into, by correspondence, between the said president of the said road and these plaintiffs; that annexed hereto are the letters on that subject, one dated November 14, 1870, signed by the said president, and the other dated November 28th, 1870, signed by these plaintiffs; a copy of said letters is hereto annexed, marked Schedule B, and forms a part of this complaint. And said plaintiffs say that when they proposed to the said president to make the agreement last aforesaid the said president was informed that a negotiation was pending for a sale of said bonds at £138 1s. 10d. per bond.

Seventh. That after the agreement last aforesaid the remaining one thousand of the said bonds were delivered to these plaintiffs, and they, upon the receipt of the same, assumed to pay certain alleged liens 2782 upon the said bonds, amounting in all to the sum of $297,193.33;
that the assumption of the said liens was with the approval of the said railroad company; that the plaintiffs have paid all of said liens except $45,000 thereof, and that they are legally bound to pay the same.

Eighth. And said plaintiffs further say that on or about the 30th day of March, 1871, they entered into a new agreement with the said railroad company, designed, among other things, to ratify the said agreement marked Shedule B; that a copy of said agreement of the 30th day of March, 1871, is hereto annexed, marked Schedule C, and forms a part of this complaint.

Ninth. And said plaintiffs say that they have made contracts for the sale of all of the said bonds received by them as aforesaid from the said railroad company, which contracts contain certain options to be exercised by the buyers; and have also made a contract for the sale of the remaining three thousand bonds which it is expected said rail-2783 road will receive; and they say that under the said contract for the sale of the said first-mentioned bonds they have delivered 2,800 bonds of $1,000 each, and that the said railroad company are entitled to a credit for the price of said 2,800 bonds of $997,920, and no more, after deducting the commission of the said plaintiffs; and said plaintiffs say that this sum is the whole sum to which the said railroad company is entitled to a credit in the account between these plaintiffs and the said company; and the said plaintiffs say that they have unsold of said bonds 1,010 and no more, which 1,010 does not include the said forty bonds which the said company delivered to another person and the said one hundred and fifty bonds which they delivered to E. E. Burass as before mentioned.

Tenth. And they further say that a certain railroad in North Carolina, known as the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, and which will be spoken of hereafter as the 2784 North Carolina Company, after the issuing of the whole or a part of the said four thousand bonds claimed, that they were entitled to the same or the proceeds thereof, and thereupon on or about the 16th day of April, 1870, an agreement was entered into in form between the Florida Central Railroad, George W. Swepson, president, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, Milton S. Littlefield, president, and Milton S. Littlefield, majority owner of the stock of said companies, and also of the stock of the Tallahassee Railroad Company of the first part, and the said North Carolina Railroad Company, represented by certain commissioners, of the second part; which agreement provided for the disposition of the proceeds of the said bonds very much for the benefit of the said North Carolina Railroad Company; that annexed hereto is a copy of said agreement, marked Schedule D. And they say that afterwards and on the 10th day of November, 1870, an agreement in place of the said last-mentioned agreement was entered into in 2785 form between the said Milton S. Littlefield and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by Milton S. Littlefield, the president thereof, the parties of the first part, and the said North Carolina Railroad Company, acting through and represented by Nicholas W. Woodfin, chairman, etc., a copy of which said last-mentioned agreement is hereto annexed, marked Schedule E.

Eleventh. And the said plaintiffs say that it was represented to them, in substance, that the said Florida Railroad and their president had a right to dispose of the said 800 bonds mentioned in the said agreement marked E to the said North Carolina Railroad Company for the purposes mentioned in said agreement, and they say that they believed the said representations to be true. That afterwards, and on or about the 16th day of November, 1870, the said M. S. Littlefield, as president of the said Florida Railroad Company, caused to be delivered to these plaintiffs a letter or order in the words following, to wit:

2786 LONDON, November 16, 1870.

Messrs. S. W. HOPKINS & Co.,
58 Old Broad Street, London, and 71 Broadway, New York.

GENTLEMEN: On the 10th day of November, A. D. 1870, I made a final settlement with the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, represented by Nicholas W. Woodfin, chairman of the commissioners appointed by the legislature of North Carolina, to collect the money due said company.

The commissioners are N. W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, W. W. Rollins, W. P. Welsh, and J. L. Henry.

One of the terms of said settlement was, that it should place to the order of said company any 800 of the Florida eight per cent. gold bonds my railroad contracted with you to negotiate on the 13th of April last; therefore, you will place to the order of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company eight hundred of said bonds, and sell or dispose of the same as the said chairman may direct, but this order is subjected to the following conditions:

First. The said bonds are to remain in your hands to sell.

Second. The proceeds of said bonds are to be transferred to your New York house, and disbursed to said company upon the orders of a majority of said commissioners.

I remain, gentlemen, your most obedient servant,

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
President J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

2787 And they say that, having received said letter, the said plaintiffs accepted the same in a letter addressed to Nicholas W. Woodfin, esq., chairman of the commissioners, etc., on the said 16th day of November, in which the said plaintiffs said:

We are in possession of your favor of this day's date. covering order from M. S. Littlefield, president of Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, dated November 16th, 1870, for 800 Florida bonds. We accept the said order and agree to hold the within described bonds as agents for the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Company subject to the order of the commissioners.

We remain your most obedient servants,

S. W. HOPKINS & CO.

Twelfth. And said plaintiffs say that the said 800 bonds in the said order, and the said acceptance mentioned, are a part of the said 1,010 bonds still remaining unsold as aforesaid.

Thirteenth. And the said plaintiffs further say that since they 2788 gave the said acceptance, dated November 16th, 1870, they have been advised that the said Florida road had no right to consent or agree that the said 800 bonds, or any part of them, or their proceeds, should go to the said North Carolina road, and they say that an action has been brought against them in the city of New York by the said North Carolina road ; claiming from these plaintiffs the said 800 bonds themselves, or the proceeds thereof, in which action these plaintiffs have been, by order, held to bail in the sum of $300,000; that this plaintiff, Hopkins, has been actually arrested upon the said order and has given bail in that sum.

Fourteenth. That thereupon an action was brought by the said Florida Railroad against the said North Carolina Railroad, and these plaintiffs, as defendants, and the said Woodfin and others, such commissioners and the said Milton S. Littlefield. That the plaintiff in that suit states in substance the transactions hereinbefore referred to, and claims that there was no authority in the said M. S. Littlefield or in any other 2789 person to dispose of the said 800 bonds to the said North Carolina Railroad Company, and prays an injunction against the said North Carolina Railroad and against these plaintiffs, and the other parties defendant, against consummating or carrying out the said agreement, a copy of which is hereto annexed, marked E. That the defendant in this action, Aaron Barnett, verified the said complaint as a director of the plaintiffs therein, and, in addition thereto, swore to an affidavit, which is annexed to that complaint, and the said plaintiffs say that both of the said suits hereinbefore mentioned are still pending; that a motion has been made to discharge the order of arrest in the first suit, and also a motion for an injunction in that suit, and for a receiver of the said 800 bonds, and that a motion has been made in the second suit for an injunction, and that all of said motions are undetermined.

Fifteenth. And the plaintiffs say that before the agreement was made by and with these plaintiffs for the negotiation of the said bonds, 2790 the said Florida Railroad had made an agreement for that purpose Mr. Lawrence P. Bayne, and afterwards, as Mr. Bayne claimed from them a large sum of money for the alleged breach of said agreement with him, the said Florida Railroad gave him an order on these plaintiffs for such sum as under his contract he should be entitled to, not exceeding $200,000, which order these plaintiffs accepted, payable out of the proceeds of the said bonds. That said Bayne has brought an action against the said Florida Railroad for the breach of said agreement, in which he claims the sum of $200,000 and interest, and has brought another action for $105,000 upon another transaction and has caused attachments therefor to be served on these plaintiffs, to secure and bind any property of the Florida Railroad held by these plaintiffs. That, in addition thereto, the said Bayne has brought an action against these plaintiffs in the city of New York alleging that these plaintiffs have sold a very large number of said bonds, and have received the proceeds thereof, and that they sold the same in a fiduciary character in respect to the said Bayne, and he has obtained an 2791 order of arrest in the sum of $100,000, and has caused the plaintiff Hopkins to be arrested thereupon.

Sixteenth. And said plaintiffs further say, that annexed hereto, marked F, is a true statement of the monies paid by these plaintiffs for account of the said Florida Railroad, and, also, of obligations assumed by them upon the order of and at the request of the said railroad. That said account is from the books of these plaintiffs, and is in every respect just and true, as they verily believe, and they say that by said account it appears, and such is the fact, that these plaintiffs are creditors of the said Florida Railroad, at the present time, after crediting them with the proceeds of the said bonds as aforesaid, in the sum of $945,800.03, and that the whole of the said sum is due by the said Florida Railroad to these plaintiffs at the present time, and they are not entitled to any credit whatever in reduction of said amount.

Seventeenth. And the said plaintiffs say that on the 8th day of September, instant, these plaintiffs were served with a paper signed M. S. Littlefield, president Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad 2792 Company (the signature being in the handwriting of the said Littlefield), which paper was in words and figures following:

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., August 22, 1870.

Messrs. S. W. HOPKINS & CO.,
New York:

GENTLEMEN: You are hereby notified that the (Florida) Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company have annulled all authority heretofore at any time conferred upon you, either by the said company or any one acting or pretending to act on behalf of the said company, to act on behalf of the said company as the agents thereof, in respect to any matter or thing whatever.

M. S. LITTLEFIELD,
President J., P. & M. R. R. Co.

Eighteenth. And the said plaintiffs say that the said account marked F contains the commissions of these plaintiffs on the proceeds of 2,800 bonds, and no more, and they say that they are advised and believe that they are entitled to be paid a commission on the whole 3,960 of said bonds, and that they are in addition thereto entitled to a compensation dependent upon what shall occur hereafter in respect to the 3,000 2793 additional bonds for the breach by the said Florida Railroad of their contract to allow these plaintiffs to sell said bonds.

Nineteenth. And they further say that they are advised, and they charge, that they have a lien upon all of the bonds remaining in their hands for the balance of their account aforesaid, or for the balance as it shall be ascertained, and that they have a lien thereupon for the said commissions that they will be entitled to upon the sale or other disposition of the said bonds in their hands, and that they are also entitled to a lien thereupon for such damages as they shall be entitled to for any breach by the said Florida road, or of their agreement or agreements with these plaintiffs.

Twentieth. And the said plaintiffs further say, that it was claimed by the counsel for the North Carolina road upon the argument of the motions hereinbefore mentioned that although it should be determined that there was no authority in the president, or otherwise, to transfer the said 800 bonds or the proceeds thereof to the North Carolina road, that nevertheless these plaintiffs were liable to the North Carolina 2794 road for a sum equal to the proceeds of the said 800 bonds (they claiming that they had a right to the proceeds of the first 800 bonds sold), and that these plaintiffs were estopped from denying the title of the North Carolina Road, for whom they had assumed the position of agents, and that these plaintiffs were, in that view, so liable to the North Carolina Road, and, in addition thereto, were liable to the Florida Road for the same bonds or their proceeds; and they say that they have been informed and that they believe that the representatives of the said North Carolina Road have urged the said Barnett, representing or pretending to represent the Florida Road, to commence proceedings against these plaintiffs as their agents, and to claim therein that these plaintiffs were indebted to them in a very large sum of money, in $500,000 or upwards, and to sue them therefor, and to obtain an order of arrest for such large sum, and so to overwhelm them, with the hope and expectation declared that they would be unable to procure bail therefor, and would, in consequence, be compelled to go to jail. That thereafter the said Barnett, as plaintiffs are informed and believe, 2795 caused the said revocation of these plaintiffs' authority above set forth to be delivered to them, and caused the said suit brought by the Florida Road against the North Carolina Road and others, as aforesaid, to be taken out of the hands of the attorneys who had originally brought the same, and to be put into the hands of gentlemen who had previously appeared for him, the said Barnett, to the end that the said suit may be made use of in some manner hostile to the interest and just rights of these plaintiffs; and they say that they have reason to believe, and they do believe, that the design now is, by the said Barnett and the said defendants Littlefield and Clark, acting with him, to allege and claim that these plaintiffs are indebted to the said Florida Railroad in a very large sum of money received by them upon the sale of the said 2,800 of said bonds, and to claim that they are bound to pay a sum much larger than £100 for each bond as the proceeds of such sale, and to claim that they are not entitled to the sums paid by them and assumed by them for the said Florida Railroad, and upon a 2796 statement of of their case by affidavit, which shall not contain the whole truth, but only a partial statement of the facts, obtain an order for the arrest of these plaintiffs, and to hold them to bail in a very large sum of money, with the hope and expectation that from their inability to obtain such bail they will be able to extort from these plaintiffs unreasonable and unjust terms of settlement; and the said plaintiffs say that they will be unable to give bail in any considerable sum, beyond what they have already give' as before stated, and that if the said order of arrest is obtained, and they or any of them shall be arrested thereon, they will be compelled to go to jail; and they further say that their earnest desire is to have the conflicting claims of the various parties before mentioned adjusted upon a fair and honest basis, and to pay every dollar that they owe to any of the said parties.

And they further pray that an account be taken according to the practice of this court, and the amount ascertained in which the said Florida Railroad Company is indebted to these plaintiffs; that 2797 the said commissions to which the plaintiffs are entitled upon the sale or other disposition of the bonds still held by them shall be ascertained; that it be decreed that these plaintiffs have a lien upon the bonds remaining in their hands for the balance of their account against the said Florida Railroad, and for their said commissions on the bonds still remaining in their hands, and that the said Florida Railroad be directed to pay to them such sum as shall satisfy their said lien, and that in default thereof the said bonds be sold under the direction of this court, and the proceeds thereof paid to these plaintiffs, or so much thereof as shall be necessary for that purpose, in satisfaction of their said claims; that an injunction be issued restraining the said Florida Railroad and the said other defendants, and the attorneys, counsel, and agents of the said defendants, and of each and every of them, from beginning or prosecuting any suit whatever against these plaintiffs, or either of them, to recover from these plaintiffs any alleged claim or demand due or pretended to be due by them to the Florida Railroad, and that 2798 such further or other relief be granted as shall be just.

Sidney W. Hopkins, being duly sworn, doth depose and say that he has been for many months past the agent of the defendants, the railroad company, and knows the other defendants; and that as 2800 such agent and as one of the members of the firm of the plaintiffs he has become acquainted with the material facts stated in the annexed complaint. That as to the negotiations for the sale of the bonds, they took place in London, and this deponent was not there, but he was kept apprised of what took place and has been furnished with copies of all the contracts that were made there.

That he is personally acquainted with the suits and proceedings that have been taken and which are mentioned in the said complaint, and that the said complaint in respect thereto is true.

That the defendant Barnett asserted in the office of the deponent, as deponent has been informed by one of his clerks, and believes that the design was to commence a suit against the plaintiffs on behalf of the Florida road, and to arrest them and to hold them to bail in a very large sum of money.

That annexed hereto is the affidavit of the clerk to whom the statement was made. That deponent knows that the other defendants besides the railroad company claim that they represent in the city of New York the said railroad company.

2801 That the facts in regard to the suits and proceedings by Mr. Bayne are within deponent's knowledge.

And deponent says that he verily believes that the design of the proceedings which are threatened against his said firm is simply to coerce deponent's firm into the making of a settlement which would be unjust, and which could not be obtained by any fair proceedings.

And further deponent saith not.

2803 SCHEDULE A.

This agreement, made this thirteenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, by and between the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a corporation duly created by the State of Florida and existing under the laws thereof, party of the first part, and which said party acts herein by Milton S. Littlefield, its president, duly authorized hereto by resolution of the stockholders of said company, adopted at their meeting on January 31st, 1870, and Sidney W. Hopkins, Frank H. Collins and Robert J. Carpenter, parties of the second part, witnesseth, as follows:

Whereas the party of the first part is engaged in constructing a railroad from Jacksonville, in the State of Florida, to the city of Mobile, in the State of Alabama;

And whereas the legislature of the State of Florida did, by an act passed January 28th, 1870, grant to the said party of the first part the bonds of said State to the extent of $16,000 for each mile of said railroad to be completed;

2804 And whereas a certain number of miles of said road are now completed, and said company is entitled to receive from the said State of Florida about the sum of four millions of dollars of bonds;

And whereas said company is desirous of negotiating and selling for the best possible price the four million dollars of bonds, and all others which may be issued to it as fast as it may be entitled to receive the same, and to purchase with the proceeds of said bonds when realized iron rails and equipment for said road;

And whereas the parties of the second part are willing to undertake the negotiation of said bonds upon the terms and for the consideration hereafter set forth:

Now this agreement witnesseth that in consideration of the agreement and of the services to be kept and performed by the party of the second part hereto, as hereinafter provided, the said party of the first 2805 part has made, constituted and appointed, and by these presents does make, constitute and appoint the said firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., the parties of the second part hereto, the financial agents of the said party of the first part, in its name, place and stead to sell, negotiate and dispose of all the said four million dollars of the said bonds of the State of Florida, and all the other bonds of said State which by the act aforesaid the said company shall become entitled to, and to purchase for and on account of said party of the first part all iron and material needed by the said company for the construction and equipment of said road, and as the president of said company shall from time to time direct; but said bonds shall not be negotiated or sold for less than sixty cents on the dollar (without the permission of the party of the first part first had thereto), in currency or paper money of the United States, and all expenses of negotiation and sale are to be borne and paid by the said party of the second part.

And the said party of the first part hereby agrees to furnish 2806 and deliver to its said agents, the parties of the second part hereto, the said four million dollars of bonds, as soon as they shall obtain the same from the State of Florida, and from time to time to deliver to its said agents all such bonds as the said party of the first part shall receive the same from the State, but the parties of the second part may at any time negotiate, contract and sell the whole amount of such bonds, to which, by the act aforesaid, the said party of the first part shall be entitled, when such road is completed, to be delivered, however, as the same may be obtained from the State.

And the party of the first part hereby agrees to pay, and the party of the second part to accept in payment for said said services to be by them performed, the following commissions upon all such sums of said bonds as they shall negotiate or sell under this contract; that is to say, on all bonds sold at sixty cents on the dollar, a commission of five per cent. on the par value of said bonds; on all sold at sixty-five cents, a commission of seven and a half per cent.; on all sold at seventy cents, a commission of ten per cent.; on all sold at seventy-five cents, a commission of eleven and a half per cent.; on all sold at eighty cents, a commis-2807,8 sion of thirteen per cent.; on all sold at eighty-five cents, a commission of fourteen and a half per cent.; on all sold at ninety cents, a commission of sixteen per cent.; on all sold at ninety-five per cent., a commission of seventeen and a half per cent.; on all sold at 100 cents, a commission of 19 per cent.; and in case, with the consent of said company, any bonds may be sold under sixty cents on the dollar, a commission of five per cent. shall be paid thereon. And on all purchases made for said road said party of the second part shall be paid two a half per cent. commission, to be paid in gold or currency, as the special purchases shall be made in gold or currency, and all purchases made by said agents shall be made in open market and at current market rates.

And it is further agreed that when any purchase may be made by said party of the first part of said party of the second part of any iron or materials owned by them, no commission shall be paid to them by said party of the first part on such purchase.

And in consideration of the premisest he said party of the first 2809 part hereby covenants and agrees with the party of the second part, that the said party of the second part shall have the exclusive agency of the said party of the first part for the sale of said bonds, and the purchase of all its iron and material for equipment, and that said party of the first part will not employ any other person or firm for the said purposes while while the said parties of the second part perform the conditions of this contract to be by them done and performed; and the said parties of the second part hereby agree that they will forthwith, upon the execution of this contract, deliver to the said party of the first part, at New York, one thousand tons of railroad iron, weighing fifty-six pounds per lineal yard, at sixty dollars, in gold, per ton, which shall be delivered on board ship at New York, at the charge of said party of the second part, the party of the first part to designate the vessels to which the same shall be delivered, and at a like price and on like conditions, deliver to the said party of the first part an additional one thousand tons of railroad iron during the month of June, 1870, and 2810 also that they will, on or before April 17th inst., advance to the said party of the first part, fifty thousand dollars, in currency, and an additional sum of twenty-five thousand dollars at such times as may be required by the president of said company.

And it is further agreed that said party of the second part shall have a first lien upon all the bonds aforesaid, and the proceeds thereof, for the repayment to them of the price of said iron, and of the money advanced aforesaid, and of all other advances which may be made under this contract, together with interest thereon, and for all their commissions to which under the provisions of this contract they may become entitled.

In witness whereof the said parties hereto have hereunto set their hands and seals on the 13th day of April, 1870.

2811 SCHEDULE B.

58 OLD BROAD STREET,
London, Nov. 14*th*, 1870.

Messrs. S. W. HOPKINS & Co.,
London:

GENTLEMEN: I herewith offer you four thousand (4,000) Florida State 8 per cent. gold bonds, in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company for one thousand ($1,000) dollars, gold, each, at the price of one hundred (£100) pounds sterling for each bond, in the city of London, subject to the commission agreed as per contract dated 13th day of April, 1870, with your good selves.

I remain, gentlemen, yours faithfully,

Pres. J., P. & M. R. R. Co.,
Jacksonville, P. M. & M. R. R. Co.

[S. W. Hopkins & Co., Dec. 29th, 1870, New York.]

NOVEMBER 28*th*, 1870.

MILTON S. LITTLEFIELD, Esq.,
Pres. J., P. & M. R. R. Co.:

SIR: In reference to your favor dated November 14, 1870, offer-2812 ing four thousand Florida State 8 per cent. gold bonds, for one thousand dollars gold, each, in aid Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, we do hereby accept the said offer at the price named, viz: one hundred pounds for each bond, with any accrued interest added in your favor of one thousand gold, each, nett, in the city of London.

We remain, sir, your obedient servants,
(Signed) S. W. HOPKINS & CO.

2813 SCHEDULE C.

This agreement, made on the thirteenth day of March, 1871, between the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company of the first part, and Sidney W. Hopkins, Robert J. Carpenter, and Frank H. Collins, composing the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., parties of the second part, witnesseth:

That whereas the party of the first part heretofore by a certain contract in writing, dated on the thirteenth day of April, 1870, employed the parties of the second part to sell certain bonds of the State of Florida on certain terms and conditions in said agreement set forth, and whereas in consequence of divers claims on the said bonds by parties asserting title thereto, and in consequence of the action of the board of directors of the said party of the first part withdrawing said bonds from the market, which action has since been disavowed and annulled, and in consequence of the opposition to the negotiation of said bonds by divers persons, it has become necessary to provide for the payment of three half yearly installments of interest on the State bonds 2814 in said agreement mentioned in order that the credit of said bonds may be maintained.

Now, in consideration of the premises, and of one dollar in hand paid by the party of the second part to the party of the first part, it is hereby consented and agreed by the party of the first part that the party of the second part may and are hereby empowered to make arrangements for the deposit of sufficient of the proceeds of said bonds in the hands of reliable bankers in Europe for the purpose of paying the coupons on such bonds which shall become due in July, 1871, January and July, 1872, and the parties of the second part are hereby authorized to make such deposit as aforesaid, the sums so deposited to bear interest at current interest at current rates where deposited.

And the agreement made with said party of the second part by the president of said party of the first part to sell said bonds, four thousand bonds of one thousand dollars each to said party of the second part at one hundred pounds for each bond, is hereby ratified and confirmed, and the said party of the second part shall well and truly 2815 account with the party of the first part for the proceeds of such bonds so sold to them after they shall have realized from the said bonds and not before, at and after the rate and price of four hundred and eighty-four dollars in American gold coin, deducting therefrom five per centum on the par value of said bonds so sold as provided in the said agreement aforesaid, and the said monies retained from said proceeds for interest, and the said party of the first part hereby agrees that it will accept such accounting at the price aforesaid as a full and final accounting, without any question as to the same.

In witness whereof the said parties hereunto interchangeably set their hands the day and year first above written.

2816 SCHEDULE D.

Memorandum of agreement and settlement between the Florida Central Railroad, George W. Swepson, president, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, Milton S. Littlefield, president, and Milton S. Littlefield, majority owner of the stock of said companies, and also of the stock of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, of the first part, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, represented by N. W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, W. Pink Welch, and W. W. Rollins, commissioners appointed by an act of the legislature of North Carolina, approved by the stockholders of said corporation, of the second part, witnesseth:

That whereas George W. Swepson, late president of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, made certain investments of the funds of said company in securities of and interests in the said Florida Central Railroad, Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad, and the Tallahassee Railroad, of the said State of Florida, as per report made by the said George W. Swepson to the said commissioners, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, to bear interest from the first day of November, 1869, at the rate of eight per cent. per annum; and

Whereas the said George W. Swepson heretofore conveyed to the said Milton S. Littlefield, subject to the payment of the above-recited claim, his interest in the above recited railroads; and whereas the said Littlefield has received authority from the legislature of the State of Florida and the several railroad companies, to receive bonds to be issued by and for account of the several railroad companies, which bonds are to be exchanged for bonds of the State of Florida, to be issued for the purpose of aiding the finances of said several railroad companies all of which bonds are now in a state of preparation; and

Whereas Milton S. Littlefield has made a contract with S. W. Hopkins & Co., No. 71 Broadway, for the disposition of said bonds as the same may be issued, the proceeds of the issue of the bonds of the Florida Central Railroad Company of the said State of Florida, amounting to nine hundred and sixty thousand dollars, are to be applied to the payment of the existing liabilities of the said several railroad companies, including the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars to be paid to the commissioners aforesaid for the purpose of paying existing liabilities of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company.

It is understood and agreed by the parties of the first and second parts, that the proceeds of the sale of said bonds so to be issued by the said Florida railroad companies and the said State of Florida, are to be equally divided, dollar for dollar, between the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company and the said Florida railroads; and as the commissioners aforesaid receive by this first sale of bonds only the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, it is further understood and agreed, that out of the proceeds of the 2817 sale of the issue of the bonds of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad there is first to be received by the commissioners aforesaid a sum sufficient to be equal to the amount received by and on account of the said Florida railroads, and then an equal amount is to be received by the said commissioners and the said Florida railroads, dollar for dollar, until the entire amount of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, with interest at eight per cent., as aforesaid, being the sum reported by the parties of the first part as due to the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad, is fully paid.

It is further understood and agreed by the parties of the first and second parts, that all the interest owned or claimed by the said parties of the first part, both George W. Swepson and Milton S. Littlefield, or which they, as individuals, have a right to control in the said Florida railroads, are hereby pledged for the faithful fulfilment of this contract, without the right on the part of any party to interfere with our management or control of the affairs of the road.

2818 SCHEDULE E.

Memorandum of an agreement and final settlement made this tenth day of November, A. D. 1870, at London, England, between General Milton S. Littlefield, of the State of Florida, in the United States of America, and the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by Milton S. Littlefield, the president thereof, the parties of the first part, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, acting through and represented by Colonel Nicholas W. Woodfin, chairman of the commission appointed by the general assembly of the State of North Carolina, by an act ratified the 24th day of March, A. D. 1870, to settle with George W. Swepson, and for other purposes, which act was approved by the stockholders of the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, of the second part.

Whereas on the 16th day of April, A. D. 1870, at the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, in the United States of America, a contract in writing was made and entered into by and between the Florida Railroad Company, George W. Swepson, president, General Milton S. Littlefield, the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, by Milton S. Littlefield, the president thereof, as parties of the first part, and the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, represented by Nicholas W. Woodfin, W. G. Candler, W. W. Rollins, and W. P. Welch, commissioners appointed by the legislature of the State of North Carolina, by an act ratified the 24th day of March, 1870, which act was duly ratified, approved, adopted, and made a part of the charter of the said party of the second part, the said corporation, a copy of which contract is attached hereto, and made a part of this contract;

And whereas the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company have received certain bonds of the State of Florida, under sundry acts of the legislature of said State, which bonds, by the term of the laws autherizing the issue of the same, are made payable, both principal and interest, in the gold coin of the United States, and bearing interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum;

And whereas, by reason of the present war in Europe, all financial operations are more or less restricted, which has, up to this time, prevented the negotiation for the sale of said bonds;

And whereas the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, through and by its representative, N. W. Woodfin, chairman, aforesaid, is pressing the immediate payment, by the said party of the first part, of the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, with interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum since the first day of November, A. D. 1869; to pay or settle the said claim now will cause a great sacrifice to the said party of the first part;

And whereas the said Nicholas W. Woodfin, as chairman of the said commission for the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, for the purpose of removing embarrassments
2819 out of the way, which, in his judgment, prevented the sale of
said bonds, and to avoid litigation, did, on the 17th of October, 1870, contract with Henry Clews & Co., bankers in the cities of New York and London, to purchase a certain claim held by them against George W. Swepson, amounting to about twenty thousand dollars, lawful money of the United States of America, which contract was made with the knowledge and approval of the said party of the first part, for the reason, it was understood by all parties to the said agreement, that this would secure the full co-operation of the said Henry Clews & Co. to aid in the sale and negotiations of the said Florida bonds.

Now, therefore, be it remembered, that for and in consideration of the premises herein stated, and for various other good and sufficient considerations, and for the further purpose of aiding the said Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company to complete their road from the junction with the main line, at Asheville, to Paint Rock, at the State line between the States of North Carolina and Tennessee, and to complete their road without delay, on the one hand, and to avoid a hasty sale and sacrifice of the said bonds on the other hand, it is agreed by and between the parties of the first and second parts, that, in full compromise, payment, satisfaction and accord of the obligation of the party of the first part to pay to the party of the second part the sum of one million two hundred and eighty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty-six dollars and three cents, lawful money of the United States of America, with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent. from and after the first day of November, A. D. 1869, as per terms of the said contract made and executed at the city of Washington aforesaid, and that the said party of the first part may be fully and finally discharged from all and every liability on account of the terms and conditions of the said contract, hereunto appended, the said party of the first part agree to furnish the iron to the said party of the second part sufficient to lay a single track of railroad from the junction, at Asheville, along the French Broad River, to Paint Rock, at the Tennessee State line, and into the State of Tennessee to the present terminus of the Cincinnati, Cumberland Gap and Charleston Railroad, with turn-outs and side-tracks, provided that the whole railroad shall not exceed, including turn-outs and side-tracks, fifty-three miles in length. The iron shall be of good quality of English iron, weighing not less than fifty pounds per lineal yard, with the necessary chairs and spikes to lay the same; the iron to be shipped in the quantities, and at the times and places, as follows, to wit:

To Norfolk, Virginia, on or before the tenth day of December, A. D. 1873, three hundred tons; to the same place, on or before the tenth day of January, A. D. 1871, five hundred tons; to the same place, on or before the first day of April, A. D. 1871, one thousand tons; and the rest to be shipped to New York, in the State of New York, on or before the first day of September, A. D. 1871; but the said party of the first part may ship the iron as fast as he may wish; all duties and freights on the above described iron to be paid by the party of the first part.

And it is further agreed by the party of the first part, that he will ship, in addition to the above mentioned quantity of iron, one thousand tons of the same weight and quality as the above described iron, with the necessary chairs and spikes to lay the same, to New York, duties 2820 and freight paid, on or before the first day of September, A. D.
1871, the shipping of which iron Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co. are to guarantee.

In addition to the shiping of iron, the said party of the first part does hereby sell and deliver to the said party of the second part, by placing to the order of the party of the second part, with Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., eight hundred bonds of the State of Florida, of the denomination of one thousand dollars each, numbers of said bonds to be designated by said party of the first part; but upon the express stipulation and conditions that the said bonds are to be left with Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co. for sale, at such prices as the said party of the second part may direct.

And it is further agreed by the party of the first part that he will pay to the party of the second part two hundred pounds sterling, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged.

And it is further agreed by the party of the first part to assume and discharge the obligations of the party of the second part to Henry Clews & Co., of about twenty thousand dollars, lawful money of the United States of America.

Now, when the foregoing undertakings and agreements of the party of the first part are fully accomplished and performed, it is to be taken as a full compliance with and final discharge of the parties of the first part to this contract, as well as all parties of the first part to the said contract executed at the city of Washington aforesaid, a copy of which is hereto attached; and this shall operate as a receipt and final discharge thereof from all obligations growing out of the same.

against
THE JACKSONVILLE, PENSACOLA AND MOBILE Railroad Company, Aaron Barnett, Calvin Littlefield, and John B. Clark.

Sufficient grounds therefor appearing to me by the verified complaint herein, and the affidavits of Sidney W. Hopkins and L. L. Spring, I do hereby order and direct that the defendants above named show cause before me, at a special term of the supreme court, to be held before me in the court-house in the city of Brooklynn, on the 21st day of September, instant, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, why they, and each of them, and their and each of their attorneys, counsel, and agents should not be enjoined from commencing or prosecuting any action against the plaintiffs, or either of them, to enforce any claim or pretended claim of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company against the plaintiffs.

2827 And in the mean time, and until the hearing on this order, and until the further order of the court herein, the defendants, and each of them, and their and each of their attorneys, counsel, and agents are ordered to refrain from commencing or prosecuting any action against the plaintiffs, or either of them, on behalf of the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

To the honorable governor of the State of Florida :

SIR : The Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, having made a contract with Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., of the city of New York, dated on the 13th day of April, 1870, by which Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co. were appointed financial agents of said railroad company, for the purpose of selling the bonds of the State of Florida to which said company is entitled by law, and purchasing and providing iron and supplies for the purpose of completing said railroad, and Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co. being about to furnish to said company a large amount of money, iron, and supplies for said purpose, and being by the terms of said contract entitled to receive all the bonds of the State of Florida to which this company is or may become en-2833 titled, as well for their security for the advances so to be made as for the selling and disposing of said bonds under said contract, and said bonds being yet unexecuted, you will please deliver to said S. W. Hopkins & Co., the financial agents of said railroad company, all the bonds of the State of Florida to which said railroad company is entitled by law, and all the bonds of said State to which it may from time to time become entitled by law, accepting their receipts therefor as the financial agents of this company.

In witness whereof, the said company has caused its president to affix his signature hereto, and the corporate seal of said company, on the 6th day of May, in the year 1870.

Florida 8 per cent. State loan, $4,000,000.

Memorandum of agreement made this 14th day of November, 1870, between Messrs. S. W. Hopkins and Company, of 58 Old Broad st., London, agents for the State of Florida, of the one part, and John Collinson, of 9 Victoria Chambers, London, civil engineer, of the other part:

(1.) The said John Collinson agrees to pay to the said Messrs. Hopkins and Company, against delivery, on application in London, of each State of Florida eight per cent. one thousand dollars bond, payable on the first January, one thousand nine hundred, with coupons for the 1st January, 1871, up to maturity of the bond, inclusive, attached, the price of £138 1s. 10d. for each bond, and to pay in addition such interest as shall have accrued on such bond at the date of delivery, calculated by reference to the coupon attached.

(2.) The said John Collinson shall take from said firm on Mon-2836 day, the 21st November, 1870, one hundred and fifty of such bonds, and shall have, for ninety days from that date, the option of taking one thousand and fifty more of such bonds. In case the said John Collinson should take within that period five hundred and twenty-five, at least, of such bonds, he shall, for a period of ninety days from the expiration of the first period, have the option of taking all or any of the remaining 525.

(3.) Should the said John Collinson, by Wednesday, November 30, 1870, apply for 500 bonds at least in the aggregate, including the first 150, then he shall, for 81 days from that date, have the option to take the entire balance, viz, 3,500 bonds; and should he, at the expiration of the 81 days, have applied for 1,750 or more of the said balance, he is to have the option for 90 days additional of taking up any part of the whole of the remainder.

(4.) The said Messrs. Hopkins and Company agree to deliver to the said John Collinson, on application in London, within the periods 2837 aforesaid, against payments aforesaid, any portion or the whole of the bonds for four million dollars as the case may be.

(5.) The said Messrs. Hopkins & Co. agree that until all of the said options shall have lapsed by non-compliance on the part of the said John Collinson, they will not sell or part with any of the said bonds for four million dollars, excepting through him the said John Collinson.

(6.) The said John Collinson agrees, on or before the 1st day of December, 1870, to invite, through well known and respectable firms, subscriptions for the whole of the said bonds.

(7.) The said Messrs. Hopkins & Co. hereby certify, as fiscal agents for the State of Florida, that the said bonds have been duly and legally issued by the said State, and that they have full authority to negotiate them in manner and upon the terms herein provided.

Memorandum of agreement made the 28th day of December, 1870, between Messrs. S. W. Hopkins and Company, of 58 Old Broad st., London, of the one part, and John Collinson, of 9 Victoria Chambers, London, of the other part.

Since the agreement between the same parties, dated the 14th day of November, 1870, was signed, a question has been raised by Mr. Collinson whether the issue of the bonds which are the subject of such agreement is not invalid as being unconstitutional. Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Comp'y, although not admitting that there can be any doubt 2839 as to the validity of such bonds, have nevertheless agreed with Mr. Collinson as follows: It is therefore agreed between the parties that Mr. Collinson, in lieu of paying the Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Comp'y against delivery on application of each of such bonds the sum of one hundred and thirty-eight pounds one shilling and ten pence, shall pay to them one hundred and twenty-four pounds five shillings and ten pence, and that the difference, videlicet, thirteen pounds sixteen shillings, shall, at the risk of Messrs. Hopkins & Comp'y, be paid to the joint account of Frank Howard Collins and John Collinson, with Messrs. Drake, Kleinwort and Cohen, bankers, of Frenchurch st., London. Messrs. Hopkins & Comp'y engage forthwith to take steps for obtaining, and to produce to Mr. Collinson, duly certified by the proper officers of the State, the decision of the supreme court of the State of Florida upon the question so as aforesaid raised by Mr. Collinson.

In the event of the decision of such supreme court being in 2840 favor of the validity of the bonds, the amount in the hands of Messrs. Drake, Kleinwort & Cohen shall, upon the production to Mr. Collinson, his executors or administrators, of the official copy of such decision, duly certified as aforesaid, belong and be paid to Messrs. Hopkins & Comp. In the event of the decision being adverse to the validity of the bonds, such amount as aforesaid shall belong and be paid to the said John Collinson, his executors or administrators, as representing the bondholders. In either case such interest as Messrs. Drake and Co. may allow shall be paid to Messrs. Hopkins & Co. In other respects the agreement of the 14th day of November, 1870, shall remain in full force and nothing herein contained shall prejudice the claims of Mr. Collinson or any bondholder against the State of Florida or the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

Florida State loan for 3,283 bonds.

Memorandum of an agreement made the 23rd day of March, 1871, between Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., of 58 Old Broad street, London, of the one part, and John Collinson, of 50 Old Broad street, London, of the other part:

(1.) The requisite cash to pay three coupons on all bonds taken,
2842 to be deducted from account due S. W. Hopkins & Co. by John Collinson, in respect thereof and placed for the purpose of paying coupons due 1st July, 1871. 1st January, 1872, and 1st July, 1872, with Messrs. Drake, Kleinwort & Cohen, to the order of John Collinson and Frank Howard Collins, their executors or assigns, as trustees. The said deductions are to be made and deposited as each bond is taken by the said John Collinson. This also is to apply to all bonds taken previously, any interest that may arise from said deposits to belong to S. W. Hopkins & Co.

(2.) It is also agreed that the said John Collinson and Frank Howard Collins, their executors or assigns, shall, fifteen days before the maturity of each of the three coupons, respectively, authorize Messrs. Drak, Kleinwort & Cohen to hand over to Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., three days before the maturity thereof, a corresponding portion of the funds so deposited with Messrs. Drake, Kleinwort & Cohen for payment of such coupons.

(3.) The said S. W. Hopkins & Co. to give their personal guar-2843 antee for the payment of all other coupons, if any fall due, on all bonds already taken, or to be taken, by the said John Collinson, until the railroad is completed to the western Florida State line, supposed to be a total mileage of four hundred and fifty miles, provided sixteen hundred and forty-one (1641) bonds are taken and paid for by the said John Collinson or the bondholders against the State of Florida, or the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company.

(4.) The said S. W. Hopkins and Co. to notify, officially, the said John Collinson, every three months, the gross receipts and expenses of the said railroad.

(5.) The said S. W. Hopkins and Co. to furnish the said John Collinson monthly with the certificate of the government engineer or inspector showing the mileage of railroad opened and working.

(6.) Provided the said John Collinson shall, on or before the 1st of August, 1871, have applied and paid for 1,642 bonds of the said issue, then the said S. W. Hopkins and Co. shall furnish the said John 2844 Collinson, until two months after that date, with any or all of the remaining 1,642 bonds of the said issue, subject to the following conditions, viz: The purchase money, as heretofore agreed upon in respect of the last 1,642 bonds, shall be lodged in the hands of Messrs. Drake, Kleinwort & Cohen, to the joint order of the said Frank Howard Collins and John Collinson, their executors or assigns, subject to the following conditions, viz: Whenever each section of ten miles, in addition to the present two hundred and fifty miles, shall be completed and opened, against the certificate of the government engineer or inspector the said Frank Howard Collins and John Collinson shall pay over to the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. one-tenth of the proceeds of the above $1,642,000 (one million six hundred and forty two thousand dollars), less the three coupons referred to.

(7.) But if at the expiration of one year three hundred and fifty miles in all of the said railroad shall not have been completed, then the said John Collinson shall have the option either to return the balance 2845 of the bonds which may not be covered by the certificates in respect of the proceeds of the said one million six hundred and forty-two thousand dollars ($1,642,000) deposited with Messrs. Drake, Kleinwort and Cohen, and the said John Collinson shall then become possessed of the balance of the said principal and interest lodged as aforesaid, which shall be returned to the purchasers of the bonds in lieu thereof.

(8.) In case the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. shall receive other State or railroad bonds of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad Company, they undertake not to offer them for sale during the terms of the options set forth in the agreement and extensions hereof between the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. and John Collinson, excepting through the agency of the said John Collison, and provided the said John Collinson purchases all the three millions two hundred and eighty-three thousand dollars ($3,283,000). Any other bond in aid of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company shall be offered on reasonable terms to the said John Collinson before the said S. W. Florida State loan for 3,000 bonds.

Memorandum of an agreement, entered into this 26th day of May, 1871, between Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co., of 58 Old Broad street, London, parties of the first part, and John Collinson, of 50 Old Broad street, London, party of the second part, witnesseth :

That whereas, by a letter dated the 6th day of May, 1870, signed by M. S. Littlefield, president of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, the governor of the State of Florida has been instructed to deliver to Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co. three million dollars of the bonds of the said company when they shall become due, in respect of completed portions of the said railroad, in addition to the four million dollars already received; and whereas, by a document signed by Harrison Reed, governor of the State of Florida, dated the 6th day of May, 1870, the said governor has consented and undertaken to deliver to Messrs. S. W. Hopkins & Co. the said additional bonds as they shall become due, it is now mutually agreed between the parties to these presents, as follows:

2850 (1.) As the parties of the first part received the said three million dollars of bonds, and subject to and dependent on such receipt, they shall sell and deliver the same, or any portion of same, to the party of the second part, during the periods of six months from the date of their being in a position, in accordance with the constitution of the State and the act of the legislature, to deliver the same, or any portion of same, provided that the party of the second part shall, on or before the 1st day of October, 1871, have taken and paid for four thousand bonds in all (previously contracted for between the parties hereto) of the State of Florida, in aid of the said railroad.

(2.) The party of the second part shall pay to the parties of the first part £143, 0*s.* 0*d.* and accrued interest (less the amount which as hereafter provided shall be deducted on account of coupons) per 1,000 dollar bond for every bond of the said three million dollars so taken by him.

2851 (3.) There shall be deducted from the amount payable to the parties of the first part, under the preceding clause of this agreement, sufficient cash to pay three coupons on all bonds taken, until 350 miles in all of the Jacksonville, Pensacola & Mobile Railroad shall have been completed; and from and after such completion, the requisite cost to pay two coupons, until 400 miles of the said railroad shall have been completed; as soon as 400 miles shall have been completed, then the requisite cost to pay one coupon; and the moneys so deducted shall be deposited for the purpose of paying coupons on the said bonds, with Messrs. Drake, Kleinwort & Cohen, to the order of John Collinson and Frank Howard Collins, their executors, administrators, or assigns, as trustees. Such deductions shall be made and deposited as each bond is taken by the party of the second part. Any interest which may arise from such deposits shall belong to the parties of the first part.

2852 (4.) Fifteen days before the maturity of each of the coupons deposited under the preceding clause of this agreement, the said party of the second part and the said Frank Howard Collins, their executors, administrators, or assigns, shall authorize Messrs. Drak, Kleinwort & Cohen to hand over to the parties of the first part a sufficient portion for the payment thereof of the funds so deposited.

(5.) Nothing herein contained shall prejudice the claims of the parties hereto, respectively, under their agreement of the 23rd day of March, 1871.

In witness whereof the said parties hereto have hereunto set their hands the day and year first above written.

2853 EXHIBIT S. W. H., K.—J. A. S., com'r.

This agreement, made the fourteenth day of June, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, between John Collinson, of 50 Old Broad street, London, in England, party of the first part, and S. W. Hopkins & Co., of 71 Broadway, in the city of New York, of the second part, witnesseth:

Whereas the parties of the second part, heretofore and during the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and in the beginning of the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, acting fot and in behalf of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, a corporation chartered under the laws of Florida, and as the fiscal agents of the said corporation, made certain contracts and agreements in writing with the said party of the first part in relation to the sale and negotiation of certain bonds of the said corporation, amounting in the aggregate to the principal sum of seven millions of dollars, as by reference to the said contracts will more fully appear;

2854 And whereas at the time of the negotiation of the said bonds it was represented and alleged that two hundred and fifty miles of said railway of said corporation had been completely built and finished, and were then in actual running condition and operation;

And whereas it appears to the said party of the first part that the said railroad should have been built to the Chattahoochie River, to form a portion of the said two hundred and fifty miles; and whereas, upon such representation the said party of the first part has already purchased a portion of said bonds and made and entered into the aforesaid contracts; and whereas it now appears that the said road from near Quincy to the Chattahoochie River was not and is not complete:

2855 Now, therefore, this agreement witnesseth that the said parties of the second part, in consideration of the premises and of the sum of one dollar to him in hand paid by the party of the first part, have agreed and do hereby covenant and agree with the party of the first part, that they will, from and out of the proceeds of such of the said bonds as have already been so purchased and negotiated to and by him, as aforesaid, fully complete and put in running and working order that portion of the said railway from near Quincy to the Chattahoochie River aforesaid, with proper and usual sidings and turn-outs for the accommodation of freight and business of all kinds, on or before the first day of August next, and that this agreement shall be added to and form a part of the aforesaid contracts so made with the party of the first part for the sale and negotiation of the said bonds.

In witness whereof the said parties have hereunto set their hands and seals the day and year first above mentioned.

2860 EXHIBIT S. W. H. O.—J. A. S., com'r.

An agreement made this seventeenth day of June, 1872, between the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company by Converse L. Chase, their attorney, thereto duly authorized by a power of attorney, of which a copy is hereto annexed, of the first part, L. P. Bayne & Co. and L. P. Bayne, of the second part, Sidney W. Hopkins, Frank H. Collins, and Robert J. Carpenter, lately composing the firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., of the third part, Francis H. Flagg and Converse L. Chase, trustees under deed of trust executed by the parties of the first part to them, bearing date the second day of October, 1871, (D. G. Ambler, named in said trust deed having declined to act as trustee,) of the fourth part, and Henry J. Rogers of the fifth.

Whereas divers disagreements and differences have for a long time existed between the said railroad company and the said S. W. Hopkins & Co., in reference to the accounts existing between them, each party claiming a large balance from the other, and disputing the items and claims made or set up by the other, and said S. W. Hopkins & Co., among other things, claiming a lien for a large amount in the 1,200 Florida 2861 bonds hereinafter mentioned; and divers litigations are pending in New York, Brooklyn, and in England, in respect to the said disagreements and differences, and the said railroad company and the said S. W. Hopkins & Co. have come to a final settlement and adjustment in the premises, as is hereinafter contained; now this agreement witnesseth that the said parties of the third part (S. W. Hopkins & Co.,) in consideration of the premises, and of one dollar to them paid by the said railroad company, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, hereby relinquish and release to the said railroad company all and singular the liens, claims, and demands of the said parties of the third part, (S. W. Hopkins & Co.,) on or upon said 1,200 bonds of the State of Florida, being eight per cent. bonds for $1,000 each, and now being the subject of controversy between John Collinson and the said railroad company and others, subject, however, to the injunctions in the suits of said Collinson, and in the suits of the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, except as to 190 of said bonds, and also subject to such trusts, if any, as may have been 2862 heretofore imposed on 1,000 of the said bonds by the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or by the resolutions of the stockholders and directors of the Florida Central Railroad Company of Florida, and also release and forever discharge the said railroad company from all indebtedness, claims, demands, causes of action, and controversies which they have against the said railroad company, and also in consideration aforesaid, have simultaneously herewith executed an assignment to Milton S. Littlefield, or order, of certain rights, stock, mortgage, bonds, &c., in the hands of M. D. Papy, as per his written acknowledgment, of which and of said assignment endorsed thereon a copy is hereto annexed, marked A, and have delivered said acknowledgment and assignment to the said Henry J. Rogers, and have also, simultaneously herewith, assigned and set over to said Littlefield the certificates of thirty shares of stock, mentioned in Schedule B, hereto annexed, which assignment and transfer and certificates 2863 have been delivered to the said Rogers.

And the said parties of the first part. the said railroad company, in consideration of the premises, and of the foregoing, and of one dollar to them paid by the said parties of the third part, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, hereby release and forever discharge the said parties of the third part from all indebtedness, claims, demands, controversies and causes of action which they have against them, the parties of the third part, or either of them.

And the said parties of the fourth part, the said trustees, in consideration of the premises, and of one dollar to them paid by the said parties of the third part, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, hereby release and forever discharge them, the parties of the third part, from all indebtedness, claims, demands, controversies and causes of action, which they, said trustees, have against them, the parties of the third part, or against either of them.

2864 And whereas divers disagreements and differences have, for a long time, existed between the parties of the first part and the said L. P. Bayne, in reference to his accounts against the said railroad company, he claiming that the said railroad company are indebted to him in the sum of $200,000 and interest, and also that he, the said L. P. Bayne, has a lien on the said 1,200 bonds to the full extent of the amount of his said claim, namely, $200,000 and interest, the said company disputing a portion of the said claim, and divers litigations are pending in respect to the same, and the parties of the first part and the said L. P. Bayne have come to a final settlement and adjustment, whereby his said claim is hereby adjusted and settled at the sum of $150,000, and interest from this date, and his said lien to that amount admitted.

Now this agreement further witnesseth that the parties of the first part, the said railroad company, in consideration of the premises 2865 and of the sum of one dollar to them paid by the parties of the second part, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, hereby admit and adjust the said claim of the said L. P. Bayne at said sum of $150,000, and interest, and agree that the said L. P. Bayne has and shall have a lien upon said 1,200 bonds for the amount of his said claim of $150,000, and interest from this date.

And the parties of the second part, in consideration of the premises, and for the sum of one dollar to them paid by the parties of the third part, release and discharge them, said parties of the third part, and each of them, of and from all claims, demands, and causes of action which they, the parties of the second part, or either of them, have against the parties of the third part, or either of them; provided, however, that one hundred and ninety of the said Florida bonds, or in case there shall not be so many subject to the order hereinafter mentioned, then not less than one hundred and eighty-eight of said bonds shall be delivered to Converse L. Chase, or his order, within two months from the date hereof, in pursuance of an order for that purpose 2866 now delivered by L. Louis Spring to said Chase or otherwise; but in case any arrangement shall be made with the concurrence of the said Bayne within two months from this date with the said John Collinson by the said Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, or by said trustees, or on behalf of either of them, or by any other person, whereby the said twelve hundred bonds or any large portion thereof not less than five hundred, shall be delivered to the said John Collinson or sold under some arrangement hereafter made with the said Collinson, with the concurrence of the said Bayne, then the above condition of said release shall be deemed complied with, and the said release shall thereupon become operative; but in case no such arrangement shall be made, or in case said bonds shall not be delivered under the said order within the said time limited, then he is to return said order to the said Spring, and the release of L. P. Bayne and Co.

and L. P. Bayne will not take effect or become operative; and 2867 the said parties of the first part, however, expressly agreeing with the said parties of the second part, respectively, that the above release to S. W. Hopkins & Co., when it shall take effect, shall, in no way, affect or impair the rights, claims, and causes of action of the parties of the second part, respectively, against the said railroad company, but that the same shall remain unimpaired, with the like effect as if such release had not been given.

In witness whereof the parties hereto have hereunto set their hands and seals the day and year first above written.

2868 Schedule A, referred to in the foregoing agreement.

I acknowledge to have deposited with me, by virtue of an agreement between Edward Houston and S. W. Hopkins & Co., certificates of stock in the Florida Central Railroad Company, in the aggregate calling for four thousand three hundred and seventy shares, and which certificates are numbered 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 57, 58, 59, 79, and 80; also one hundred and three thousand dollars of the first mortgage bonds of the Pensacola and Georgia Railroad Company and of the Tallahassee Railroad Company, which, by said agreement, are not to be delivered by me, unless directed to do so by M. S. Littlefield and S. W. Hopkins jointly, or unless directed to be delivered to M. S. Littlefield by said S. W. Hopkins, or directed to be delivered to S. W. Hopkins by M. S. Littlefield, and unless, in addition thereto, the suit instituted in New York against said Edward Houston and others, by the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company and the suits brought against said Houston by T. L.

2869 Clingman, in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and by Rogers and Bayne and L. P. Bayne, in New York, shall have been dismissed.

I also acknowledge to have deposited with me, by virtue of the agreement aforesaid, for drafts of Geo. W. Swepson on M. S. Littlefield, accepted by said Littlefield, amounting, in the aggregate, to the sum of one hundred and nine thousand one and forty dollars, exclusive of interest thereon, and which are not to be delivered to said M. S. Littlefield unless and until directed to do so by said S. W. Hopkins.

May 19th, 1871.

(Sig'd) M. D. PAPY.

2870 We, Sidney W. Hopkins, Frank H. Collins and Robert J. Carpenter, co-partners composing the late firm of S. W. Hopkins & Co., mentioned in the foregoing acknowledgment or agreement, in consideration of one dollar, and other considerations, to us paid by Milton S. Littlefield, therein mentioned, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, hereby assign, release, and set over to the said Milton S. Littlefield all and singular the rights, title and interest which we acquired under and by virtue of the said acknowledgment or agreement, and under and in virtue of the agreement therein mentioned, between Edward Houston and S. W. Hopkins & Co., of, in, and to the four thousand three hundred and seventy shares of the stock of the Florida Central Railroad Company, and of, in, and to the certificates thereof, and also of, in, and to the one hundred and three thousand dollars of the first mortgage bonds also mentioned in the said acknowledgment and agreements, and we do hereby direct M. D. Papy to deliver 2871 all of the said certificates of stock and all of the said mortgage bonds to the said Littlefield, or order, upon the discontinuance and dismissal of the suits mentioned in the said acknowledgment; and the said Sidney W. Hopkins hereby, in consideration aforesaid, directs the the said Papy to deliver to the said Littlefield, or order, the four drafts amounting in the aggregate to one hundred and nine thousand one hundred and forty dollars, mentioned in the said acknowledgement.

In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hands and seals this fourteenth day of June, 1872.

Sealed and delivered in the presence of—2872 SCHEDULE B. Refer'ed to in the foregoing agreement.

We, S. W. Hopkins & Co., in consideration of the sum of one dollar, to us paid by M. S. Littlefield, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, hereby assign to him the three annexed certificates, numbered 18, 19 and 20, for ten shares each of the capital stock of the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Company, one in the name of S. W. Hopkins, with power of attorney thereon in blank, executed by him, another in the name of Charles H. Collins, with power of attorney thereon in blank, executed by the said Collins, and the other in the name of Edwin A. Hopkins, with power of attorney thereon in blank, executed by the said Edwin A. Hopkins.

This assignment being made as part and parcel of an agreement between the said railroad company of the first part, L. P. Bayne & Co. and L. P. Bayne of the second part, Sidney W. Hopkins, Frank H. Collins, and Robert J. Carpenter, of the third part, Francis H. Flagg 2873 and Converse L. Chase, trustees, of the fourth part, and Henry J. Rogers, of the fifth part, to which agreement reference is hereby made bearing even date herewith.
